TORONTO, Nov. 14.—According to schedule, the government of the Province of Ontario passed into the hands of the Farmer Coalition Cabinet, headed by Hon. Ernest Charles Drury, shortly before noon to-day, when the new Premier and his colleagues were sworn in at Government House by Lieutenant-Governor Sir John Hendrie. They then proceeded to the Legislative Buildings, where they were introduced to staffs of their respective departments, to which, in every case, each new head was practically a stranger.

Only one member of the new Cabinet, Hon. Beniah Bowman, M.P.P. for Manitoulan and Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, was a member of the last Legislature, and none of the others have ever had seats in the Ontario House. Seats in the present Legislature have yet to be found for the Premier and for Hon. W. F. Raney, Attorney-General, and Hon. Manning W. Doherty, Minister of Agriculture, but it is understood that offers of retirement from elected candidates have been received to cover these. This afternoon the Drury Council held its first official meetieng. Many matters await immediate attention. The question of electing a Speaker for the new House is still to be decided. It is stated in some quarters that Nelson Parliament, a Liberal, M.P. for Prince Edward, who also had U.F.O. backing, will probably be the man for this position.

AN INDICATION OF AGE

The ducking and peering which some women do in order to put off wearing bi-focal lenses by continuing to wear their old single vision lenses is as much an indication of age as the bi-focals which they dread.

As a matter of fact some bi-focals are so made that it is almost impossible to detect that they are two vision lenses.

We would be glad to show them to you.

OLD ROMAN ONCE GREAT BALL PLAYER WORKED UP FROM BOTTOM OF LADDER

ONLY PLAYER WHO WORKED FROM RANKS AND BECAME MAGNATE—HIS SUCCESS INSPIRED BY STICKING TO IDEAL OF CLEAN SPORT.

Charles Albert Comiskey, known as the "old Roman," president of the American League's pennant-winning White Sox, is indeed the "grand old man of baseball." Ever since he upset his father's hope, some forty years ago, by taking up baseball instead of becoming a plumber. He has been connected with baseball in various capacities, having travelled around the world with the Chicago and New York teams in 1913-14 and being instrumental in the progress of the game from the early days of the sport. Although he celebrated his sixtieth birthday in August, Comiskey is still as active as he ever was except that he does not play.

It did not require much plumbing to convince the Sox president that this was another field, so disregarding the apprenticeship under which his father placed him he joined the Milwaukee baseball club as a third baseman in 1876. He was seventeen years old and his salary was $60 a month. Before this time, however, Comiskey played sand-lot ball with his pals and became quite proficient in the art of handling a baseball.

Comiskey is accustomed to seeing his team win pennants. In fact, he started the pennant-winnings business back in 1885, when as captain and manager of the St. Louis Browns, his team won the American Association pennant in 1885-86-87-88. The Browns participated in the world's series of those years, winning one series losing two and tying one.

In 1892 he became captain and manager of the Cincinnati Reds, and while acting in that capacity met Byron B. Johnson, then engaged in newspaper work in that city. Comiskey and Johnson saw the financial possibilities of another major league and were the chief factors in the expansion of the old Western League into the American League.

Following three years as first baseman and manager of the St. Paul club in the Western Association, Comiskey became manager of the Chicago Western Association Club in 1898, and in 1900 took the club as president and owner in its first year in the American League. In 1900 and 1901 the team won the American League pennants, thus giving Chicago its first championship teams since the days of 1882, when Anson's Club captured the final National League trophy.

Since 1900 Comiskey has headed the White Sox. He is owner of Comiskey Park, styled " the baseball palace of the world," and holds the distinction of being the only player who rose from the ranks to the position as sole owner of a major league ball club.

This year as president and owner of the team, Comiskey had an opportunity of witnessing a contest for world honors in baseball between Chicago and Cincinnati as he did when a boy in 1870. In that year the invincible Cincinnati and the original Chicago White Stockings played a two-game series to determine the championship of the United States. Comiskey, then clad in knee pants, saw the Chicagos win one of the games by a score of 16 to 13. He is one of the few prominent baseball men living to-day who witnessed that game.

The White Sox president has never said whether he received his baseball inspiration at that time, but it is recorded that he began playing town ball very soon after that memorable series.

Under the leadership of Comiskey, the White Sox team always has been popular with the fans. In 1910 when he built his mammonth concrete baseball stadium, he kept bleacher seats at twenty-five cents because he said he owed loyalty to this classs of followers of the game who supported him when he first came to Chicago and he has continued to charge $1 for box seats, while the price has been raised in most of the larger cities.

PAT MORAN AS BASEBALL MANAGER

By Pat Moran, Manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

Some time after I was appointed manager of the Cincinnati Reds, a spokesman for a group of baseball experts said to me:

"Pat, you've certainly drawn a tough assignment."

'Why?" I asked.

"Because the team you've fallen heir to is nothing but a disorganized outfit of misfits and outcasts. They are the undesirables of the baseball world."

"That's the very thing that makes me rather confident as to the future," was my answer. "I'd rather manage a team of so-called misfits than one made up of the starriest of stars. All the dopesters will insist the class team must triumph ultimately—but I take different views. My experience as player and as manager has convinced me harmonious conditions rarely are possible within a team made up of temperamental stars, whereas harmony is not difficult to establish when you have a team of so-called outcasts."

"Why?" they asked.

"There's peculiar psychology in this. Star players whose names and pictures appear in papers every day are inclined to get a bit chesty concerning their ability. If things go right with them, all's well. But if not, they may sulk. There is always the possibility of jealousy. And that's a bad thing on a ball club. It has wrecked many in the past—it will continue to ruin in the future.

"But the situation is different in a ball club made up of players that other clubs deemed undesirable—by unworthy of hire. There you have men whose fighting spirit is aroused to the highest pitch. They are placed on the defensive as far as their baseball reputations are concerned. They've been charged with being mediocre players; they detest that and they are out to prove they are great.

"When men, even of ordinary ability, are in that mood, you can rely upon it that they will climb to supreme heights—that they will perform beyond themselves, whether in the baseball world the commercial world, or any other endeavor.

"Probably you base your statements on your experience in Philadelphia," cut in one of the experts. "You had a different ball team there from what you'll find in Cincinnati. You had Alexander and Killefer in Philadelphia to help your misfit infield and outfield But you haven't got an Alexander or Killefer in Cincinnati."

"It's true," I told him. "There is no pitcher on the Cincinnati club who looks like Alexander. But when Alexander arrived with the Phillies he was just about as green and wild as they come. I've been credited with developing Alexander. If I could do it with him, why not with some of the so-called castoffs and rookies now on the Cincinnati roster?"

"Pat," burst out one, "you don't mean to say you are nursing any pennant hopes—with such a gang of so-called ball players?"

"Sure—why not?" I answered.

"Because everything is against you," was the answer. "Cincinnati never has won a pennant. It has had some good teams but every time it looked as though it might triumph the jinx came along and the Reds slipped and usually never stopped until they hit the chute."

"I don't believe in jinxes."

"But you can't get away from the fact that the Reds of today look awful," they said. "Your outfield is made up of discards from other clubs. John McGraw passed along Eddie Roush, Cleveland tried out Earle Neale and found him wanting, and Sherry Magee is a veteran of veterans. He outlived his real usefulness in Philadelphia, was passed along to Boston, and they quickly gave him the gate.

"Groh, who is playing third base for you, is a star. But even Groh was a discard from the Giants. Kopf couldn't make good in Philadelphia. Lee Magee, who played second base for Cincinnati last year, has been passed around both leagues. You haven't a first baseman, but you are angling for Jake Daubert, another veteran. His legs went back on him two years ago and you never can tell when the trouble will come back.

"You haven't a catching staff. All you've got is Ivy Wingo. Reports have it that you are angling for Bill Rariden. He's another veteran. And you say you want Sallee, another old-timer. You've got Ray Fisher from the Yankees after all clubs in the American League waived on him. The rest of your pitching staff is made up of players discarded by other managers."

And then I said:

"You have mentioned all the outcasts on the Cincinnati roster but one. And that's the outcast manager—Pat Moran. The Phillies gave me the gate. Now that I'm managing the team it makes it a sort of unanimous outcast club. But that isn't going worry us. We may not show great mechanical ability at the outset, but watch us for gameness and fighting spirit."

"SAHARA" SOUL-STIRRING, THRILLING THROUGHOUT

The Allen Theatre presents next Monday and Tuesday what the management believes to be the most dramatic, soul stirring drama set in the most lavish, colorful and artistic settings the screen has ever seen. This picture is "Sahara," starring Louise Glaum.

Miss Glaum plays the role of Mignon, the darling of Paris, on whom her American husband, portrayed by Matt Moore, has wasted his fortune. He takes over an engineering job on the Sahara desert and Mignon, against her wishes but lured by the promise of a visit to Cairo, accompanies him and dwells in a luxurious tent on the burning sands. But six months of the sand and the praying Arabs drive her to such an utterly depraved state of discontent that she leaves her husband and goes to Cairo with Baron Alexis, played by Edwin Stevens.

Years later she finds her husband, demented and a victim of drugs, and her child ,begging in Cairo. He has sworn to kill the woman who wrecked his life. She, with every desire fulfilled except that of happiness, is moved to her first deed of real, loving sacrifice—the return of her husband's mind though it means death! And the day comes when she is recognized.

What then of the butterfly who found her soul? Of the man who suffered a living death for the love of an unfaithful wife? Of the child who missed a mother's guiding hand when it was most needed? The climax will grip, surprise and please you.

The reader's attention is also called to the display of photo costumes at Richard Hall & Sons' window. This photographic display shows the marvellous creation of gowns that are worn by Louise Glaum in this picture.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"ONE OF THE BLOOD"

Humor, pathos excitement and adventure are intermingled facinatingly in the feature picture at the Grand "One of the Blood", which stars Douglas Fairbanks and the capacity audience at the Theatre was warm in applause. The story is unique, that of a young man in New York who develops a mysterious love of adventure to such an extent that although surrounded by every luxury money can provide finds he must seek excitement even if assisting to rescue tenement residents from burning buildings and in bringing desperate criminals to the law. Finding New York too tame owing to a clean up made by a new Crown Attorney he seeks new fields of adventure in Mexico where he participates in the defence of a village murderer from Villa, while in his newly adopted land he receives notice to come to a little European Kingdom where he is reinstated in his rightful position as heir apparent to the throne.

The story afforded ample scope for Fairbanks to display his wonderful gifts as an actor, comedian and athlete in each scene.

Other pictures on the week end programme at the theatre are a Fatty Arbuckle comedy just as funny as the rest he figures in and a splendid educational film with some close up pictures of the Prince of Wales in Canadian cities.

AN INTERESTING LETTER FROM MISS MAUD ACKISON, WHO IS NOW IN THE FORMOSA MISSIONARY FIELD

PETERBORO MISSIONARY ARRIVED IN JAPAN ABOUT A MONTH AGO --SOME STRANGE SIGHTS.

Miss Maud Ackison, missionary from St. Paul's church to Formosa has written the following interesting letter to her parents here.

Between Yokohama & Kobe,
October 14th, 1919.

DEAR DAD:—

We arrived in Yokohama yesterday, some time very early in the morning. At five o'clock the gong rang and everyone was called to get up and prepare for inspection by the Japanese Quarantine Officers. Two Japanese Doctors came out to the ship about a mile from the docks, and everyone had to pass them. It wasn't such an ordeal as you would suppose; except the waiting for the Doctors to get through with the coolies and the passengers in the second class saloon. We were nearly starved for breakfast before we were told to pass out of the room where we were all gathered together. We just passed out as rapidly as we could be counted and the doctor glanced at us as we passed. He just stopped any who looked as though they were not healthy. Only two were stopped and finally they were passed too.

They are very particular too that no snapshots shall be taken in Japan. One man was caught using his camera and they held him until they developed the film to se what he had taken the picture of.

Then before we could leave the ship we had to pass in line before the immigration officers and have our Passports inspected. I suppose we will have to go through the same ordeals again to-morrow when we reach Kobe. At last we were free to leave and we found ourselves on the docks. Miss Clazie, one of the Missionaries from Formosa, who is in Japan studying the Japanese language, came down to meet us and we all started up street. Such a mixture as that street was. Rickshaws in great numbers and their owners calling "Rickshaw," just the same as the cabbies do at home. These Rickshaws are a little two wheeled rig. The wheels are as large almost as the hind wheels of a buggy and have nice rubber tires. There is room for only one passenger and the seats are all nicely upholstered with leather. They have a top like a buggy, with sides and a leather rug in front for when it rains. They look something like a large go-cart with a top on it and shafts in front. I believe they are very comfortable. I haven't had a ride in one yet but will to-morrow.

Queer Mixture.

Then, when we got started down street we saw a queer mixture of things. These Rickshaws drawn by big men, then you would hear a honk-honk and there would be a Ford. They look so out of place on thes quaint streets. There are no sidewalks, only once in a while, and you walk leisurely along the street, at either side, or the middle, or wherever you wish. You see all kinds of parasols, the regular Japanese parasols, the ones like we use, and the prety silks. The shoes that the Japanese wear in wet weather are very sensible. They are made of a perfectly flat piece of wood with a strap to go between the big toe and the one next to hold them on and on the sole there are two wooden pieces. I saw them with cleats anywhere from one to five inches high, but only the cleats get in the mud. Their feet remain perfectly dry. Sometimes they wear stockings with these, bue nearly all go in their bare feet. The women do their hair in the most wonderful creations, and everywhere you see women, and girls, with babies strapped on their backs. We saw one little fellow strapped on, and he was sleeping. The cloth that held him just came to the back of his neck, and his head hung right back wabbling from side to side. He looked as though his head would fall off, it wabbled so. Then again, we passed a school yard, and saw a girl with a baby, likely her little brother, on her back and she was having a swing. The baby was getting one incidentally too.

How to Bow.

Mr. Gauld and Mr. Williams went to the bank to change their money, and Mrs. Gauld and I went with Miss Clazie. She took us to a Japanese Restaurant for dinner. They call it (Gee (Soft G.) an Abbey). That's the way it sounds, but I don't know how you spell it. We went to the floor, and before we went in we had to remove our shoes. Oh, I forgot to say that we had a Chinese girl, a student in Medicine, who comes from Formosa, with us too. The other three had low shoes and it was easy for them to take them off. They were used to Japan. Then we were shown into a small room with four cushions on the floor. On these we sat, but not in Japanese fashion. Then the little Jap woman came to wait on us. Every time we wanted her we just clapped our hands and she came. When she came to wait on us she would kneel on the floor and bow, and then get what was wanted. They brought a little table, and two metal boxes, about a foot square and placed one at each end of the table in front of us. There was afire in these boxes and we cooked our beef and vegetables ourselves. Our dinner consisted of beef, rice and vegetables and tea. The cups for the tea were tiny and had no handles. Just like a small bowl. You are supposed to drink holding the cup with both hands. Then we put the rice into the same kind of a bowl, only a little larger, about the size of a big cup, put the gravey and vegetables and meat on top, in the same bowl, and eat it with chop-sticks. I enjoyed it very much as a dish but I did not care to make a meal of it. But it was all we got. When we went out we put our shoes on, and let Miss Clazie do the bowing. I'll have to learn the Japanese bow.

After our dinner we went around to the different shops. We went in to where they had a lot of beautiful silks and silk crepes in blouses, kimonas, etc. We went into a tortoise shell shop where they had beautiful things, and into many other shops but didn't buy. Mr. Gauld had our money which doubtless was fortunate. We came back to the ship at three o'clock and had a rest.

At about nine o'clock, the Empress of Japan, that left two days ahead of us from Vancouver, came into port. We went over and as soon as the gang-plank was in place we went on board. And there was Miss Crockett who went to Winnipeg with me, and seven others of our Missionaries. We didn't expect to see her here, but The Japan is a smaller boat than The Russia and slower. The storms struck the Japan prety hard, and they had a great deal of sickness and were also delayed. Our boat is so large that the storms don't rock it so much.

We started for Kobe at six this morning and will get in sometime to-morrow morning early. We expect to be several days in Kobe before we can get a steamer for Formosa. Will write you from there. I expect to find several letters in Formosa when I finally arrive. I am in the best of health except for a cold, which is getting better. It is so warm today that we are out on deck without our coats.

Love from,
MAUDE.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feed clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe on the outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful or limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify, and freshen the entire alimentary tract beofre eating more food.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

GREATER TORONTO POULTRY SHOW

UTILITY CLASSES WILL BE A FEATURE.

TORONTO, Nov. 13. — Utility classes will be a feature of the Greater Toronto Poultry and Pet Stock Show. Special classes have been arranged for these, and prize money will be the same as that paid in the purely show classes. Any variety of heavy or light breeds are eligible for these classes, provided they are standard-bred and free from disqualifications.

Prof. Robert Graham, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, will handle the utility classes, and no man in Canada is more capable of passing judgment than Mr. Graham. Fowl shown in this class will be judged for general purpose and eggs. A meat class of any variety will also be a feature. Entries are confined to males.

Eggs, in dozen lots, will be another feature of the exhibition. Prize money will be one-half that paid on fowl. They will be placed according to uniformity of size, shape and colour.

Prof. Graham will place the awards. Given fine weather, the Greater Toronto Poultry and Pet Stock Show promises to be a huge success.

"BEND A CRAB" TEN TIMES

Great Exercise to Keep Liver and Bowels Active, But if You Won't, Then take "Cascarets"

There is nothing like bending exercises, taking long walks, or chopping wood to keep the liver and bowels active, but most folks take their exercise in an easy chair. Such folks need Cascarets, else they suffer from sick headache, sour, acid stomach, indigestion, colds and are miserable.. But don't stay bilious or constipated. Feel splendid always by taking Cascarets occasionally.. They act without griping or inconvenience. They never sicken you like Calomel, Salts, Oil, or nasty, harsh Pills.. They cost so little too—Cascarets work while you sleep.

Voice Of The People

The Editor, Examiner,
Dear Sir,

Kindly permit me through the columns of your valued paper to make an appeal to all Scotchmen in the city of Peterborough to become associated with the Caledonian Club, recently organized here.

There is no better place to become acquainted with our fellow countrymen than at the regular meetings of the Club. Other cities in Canada have successful Scotch Societies, cities like Winnipeg and Fort William in the West and also Montreal have strong flourishing societies organised by Scotchmen—so why not have the same in Peterboro.

I feel that this matter only requires to be brought to the notice of our Scotch Brethren to secure their support. It is only by every one doing their little bit towards swelling the membership that The Caledonian Club of Peterboro will become a strong institution for good in the city.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for your valued space, I beg to remain,
Yours faithfully,
W. LAWSON.

Hamilton Grocer Committed for Trial —Arson is Alleged.

Canadian Press:

HAMILTON, Nov. 13.—N. Arculine, proprietor of a grocery store, destroyed recently by fire, in which two Italians nearly lost their lives, was committed for trial on charges of arson, false pretences and perjury. Fire officials testified to finding oil-soaked bedclothes on the premises. Insurance men claim the prisoner presented false claims for insurance, involving perjury, in the statement. It was shown that he carried insurance on the life of one of the men rescued from the burning house.

Deceased had recently returned to Murray township from Saskatchewan, having sold his farm there, and was on his way to visit relatives in Consecon, Prince Edward county. Today We Go Even Further Fifty years ago—before Sir Joseph Lister founded antiseptic surgery—surgical operations often were followed by gangrene and blood poisoning.

Today such consequences are rare exceptions, and medical science has so extended the idea of sickness prevention that the great plagues of the past no longer ravage the world. Serums, vaccines, anti-toxins, sanitation — all stand guard before the citadel of health.

Now science has developed an effective agent against that general condition that underlies 90% of all human disease—constipation.

That effective agent is Nujol.

Leading medical authorities agree that pills, salts, castor oil, etc., simply force and weaken the system. Nujol softens the food waste and encourages the intestinal muscles to act naturally, thus removing the cause of constipation and self-poisoning.

Nujol helps Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world. Get a bottle from your druggist today.

For valuable booklet on health—"Thirty Feet of Danger"—free, write Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), 50 Broadway, N. Y.

Warning: Nujol is sold only in sealed bottles bearing the Nujol Trade Mark as shown here. Beware of products represented to be "the same as Nujol". You may suffer from substitutes.

GOOD ADVICE FOR NERVOUS PEOPLE

What Worn, Frazzled, Unstrung, "Jumpy" Nerves Really Need.

When you are run down, out of sorts, tire easily, have lost confidence in your ability to do things, and ambition seems to have deserted you, it's a sure sign your nerve force has run down and that your nerves need a stimulant to restore to your system its old-time strength and energy, and bring back the good old pep that used to make you famous. Many of the drug stores in Peterborough and vicinity, are selling a wonderful nerve remedy called Ferro-Peptine on a positive guarantee of satisfaction or money back. It's amazing how quickly Ferro-Peptine tones up the entire system, calms and steadies the nerves, and puts vim, vigor and vitality into men and women who are dragged out, nervous, despondent and ambitionless.

Thousands testify to their remarkable value in cases of severe mental depression, nervous prostration, nervous dyspepsia, trembling, "jumps," "fidgets," and the generally unstrung nerves that come from excessive work, worry, lack of sleep or overindulgence in drinking, eating, or smoking. They never fail to benefit. If you are blue and feel as though you didn't give a hang, or are cross, irritable, and your nerves are right on edge, get a package of Ferro-Peptine right away. It comes 60 tablets to a box. Eat one with every meal for a few days, and see what a wonderful improvement they make in your whole nervous system.

BURNING UP OLD BOOTS TO PREVENT FREEZING.

Canadian Press:

SASKATOON, Nov. 14.—So acute has the fuel problem become in many sections of Saskatchewan, that farmers are burning scrap lumber, fence posts and even old boots to save their families from freezing.

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal trouble of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

ONE MILLION UNDISCOVERED TUBERCULOSIS CASES REPORTED THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES

PUBLISHED HEALTH STATISTICS SO UNRELIABLE NO TWO SETS OF FIGURES FOR SAME TERRITORY AGREE, SAYS PHILIP P. JACOBS, EXECUTIVE OF ASSOCIATION

NEW YORK.—"There are not as many cases of tuberculosis reported as there are tubercular deaths each year."

That is the statement of Philip P. Jacobs, executive of the National Anti-Tuberculiais Association. He says our national health bookkeepering is away below what should be its par.

"I have compared health statistics for the same territory taken by the city, state and national agencies," said he, "and each of the three differed from the other two."

Therefore the National Anti-Tuberculosis Association wants to take account of stock. It wants to find out how many cases of tuberculosis Uncle Sam has on hand. Mr. Jacobs believes that there are 1,000,000 active cases in the United States and perhaps another million that may be classed as inactive or under-developed or just waiting their chance. These figures are largely in excess of the estimates made by laymen, but experience has shown that estimates based on published figures are apt to be away off.

Wasting Time, Nurse Told

"One of our visiting nurses went to a little town up-state," said Mr. Jacobs. "It was a nice, commonplace, healthy little town. Nothing about it that differed materially from any other litle own. The resident doctors told the nurse that if her heart were really in her work she would move on, because there was nothing at all for her there:

" 'Not a single case of tuberculosis in town,' said they triumphantly. "Yet in six months the nurse had found 106 well-marked cases."

The National Anti-Tuberculosis Association had a similar experience at Framingham, Mass. This is the town in which the association recently demonstrated to the world what it can do in creating public —health. It was a typical New England town, no worse than most and far better than many when the association began its work. It had always considered itself a healthy town.

Death Rate Decreasing.

The association was permitted to examined into condition and to correct them as far as possible. Framingham had been reporting an average of fourteen cases of tuberculosis. The survey found 250. Since then the medical survey conducted by the association has examined approximately 12,000 of the 17,000 people in Framingham and the death rate had slid down hill.

"That is what we want to do everywhere," said Mr. Jacobs. "We must find the cases before we can cure them. We would, if we could, conduct a national health survey."

That does not mean that the people of the United Staes would be ranked in long lines before doctors' doors, sticking out their tongues until those members ached. A national health survey would be an inspection by groups and ages and cities and occupations, until the T.B. fighter learned precisely the strength of the enemy. They do not know it yet, but they do know that it is far greater than the layman suspects.

Many Draft Men Tubercular

"During the war," said Mr. Jacobs, "almost one hundred thousand young men were rejected because they were tubercular. That is a high percentage coming from one age-group, most members of which had passed other tests for health. The vast majority of these rejects had not had the slightest suspicion that they were tubercular."

Money is needed to make the necessary national T.B. survey, which is why the T.B. seals will soon be placed on sale everywhere in the nation. Incidentally it is cheering to learn that the sale-of-the-seals campaign is being conducted at a smaller relative cost than it the rule in most large organizations. It has been suggested that the cost of getting a dollar into the coffers of certain other large associations has run as high as thirty cents. The National Anti-Tuberculosis Association hopes to do it at a positively ridiculous figure.

Most of the dollar will remain at home to work, too. Only eight per cent. of the moneys to be collected by the sale of seals is to be sent to the parent organization. The remaining ninety-two cents will be retained in the local field to pay expenses there. Of the export eight per cent. half will be sent to the American Red Cross for the tuberculosis work, and the remainder will be used for the maintenance cost of the National Anti-Toberculosis Association.

Schwab Once a Lunger.

In spite of Mr. Jacobs' belief that there are four or five times as many T.B. patients in the United States as has been suspected, there is cheer in his assurance that tuberculosis can be cured, if the patient works at the job and does not lose heart. He has a list of people who could not have secured life insurance on forged papers at one time, but who are active as cats now. Charles M. Schwab is one of them. Once he was turned out to graze as a hopeless lunger, but he beat Old White Chops. The other day Admiral Fisher of the British navy outlined a job of railroad and shipbuilding for Great Britain which he said was about the hardest job any man could be given.

"If I had my way about it, I'd give it to that man Schwab," said he. "He would do it."

Another ex-lunger is Charlie White, nee Charlie Anchowitz. He was a kid in the slums when T. B. seized him. Because he had courage he beat it, and in a little while he will fight for a ring championship. Mr. Jacobs isn't afraid that the T.B.'s cannot be saved if they are found in time. But they must be found.

When you get the chance, buy a seal.

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

Weak, thin people—men or women—are nearly always nervous wrecks; thus conclusively proving that thinness, weakness, debility and neurasthenia are almost invariably due to nerve starvation. Feed your nerves and all these symptons due to nerve starvation will disappear..

Eminent specialists state that one of the best things for the nerves is an organic phosphate known among druggists as Bitro-Phosphate, a five-grain tablet of which should be taken with each meal. Being a genuine nerve builder and not a stimulant or habit-forming drug, Bitro-Phosphate can be safely taken by the weakest and most delicate sufferer, and the results following its use are often simply astonishing.

By strengthening the nerves, weak, tired people regain energy and vigor; thinness and angularity give way to plumpness and curves; sleep returns to the sleepless; confidence and cheerfulness replace debility and gloom; dull eyes become bright, and pale, sunken cheeks regain the pink glow of health.

CAUTION—Bitro-Phosphate, the use of which is inexpensive, also wonderfully promotes the assimilation of food, so much so, that many people report marked gains of weight in a few weeks. Those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh, should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

VON CAPELLE ON U-BOAT FAILURE

FORMER HEAD OF NAVY SAYS HE KNEW THEY COULDN'T STARVE BRITAIN.

HAD 810 SUBMARINES

BERLIN, Nov. 12.—Vice Admiral Von Capelle, former Minister of the Navy, was bombarded with questions yesterday as to why more submarines were not built so as to have made the submarine campaign successful.

Hecklers at the National assembly sub-committees' investigation into the war, have failed to get much information as to why the submarine campaign was not avoided, changed their tactics to questioning the former Minister of the Navy on submarine construction.

The Admiral replied succinctly, in an endeavor to prove why submarine construction was retarded in 1916, and why it jumped enormously in 1917 and 1918.

A summary of his contribution to U-boat construction was read by Von Capelle at the start of the session.

HAD 810 IN ALL.

"Eight hundred and ten submarines were built before and during the war," said the former Minister of the Navy. "Of these 45 were constructed before the war, 186 were built during the administration of Admiral Von Tirpitz, and 579 were built by me in the two and a half years I was in office.

"I took office in April, 1916, and in the nine months remaining in that year, I ordered built 90 U-boats, in 1917 I ordered 269; and in the nine months I was in office in 1918 I ordered 220."

It was here his questioning began. "Why was there such a discrepancy between 1916 and the two following years?" demanded Herr Gothen, Von Capelle replied sharply:

"There are a number of reasons why so small a number was ordered in 1916—first, the Reichstag took an overwhelming stand against the submarines ,and I could not start to build, because I saw myself in opposition to the Government; second, I had been out of the naval service and was unaware of the technical improvements in U-boat building, and had to give intimate study to the subject: and third, the Skaegerrak battle caused serious damages to our boats. Their repair held up the construction of other boats."

AIMED AT BRITAIN.

Germany had decided to live up to international law, and not sink merchantmen without warning, continued Von Capelle, but he said he thought that in the fall of 1915 the Admiralty had issued a second oredr to attack British ships, because Great Britain, "poisoned against us," had made the work of U-boats very difficult by mines which covered the entire North Sea. There was a demand for mine searchers, torpedo boats and motor boats, which further reduced U-boat construction, he added.

Admiral Von Capelle asserted he had been approached three times with regard to submarine construction by Von Bethmann Hollweg, the first time when Herr Struve (a member of the Reichstag), had presented to the Chancellor a memorandum urging increased U-boat construction which had been signed by George Gothein (another Reichstag member), the second time when in 1917 the Chancellor wrote, saying U-boat construction must be left out of consideration, showing Von Capelle said, that the Chancellor counted on a long war, and third, when Von Bethmann-Hollweg telegraphed that Deputy Fischbeck had expressed doubts whether Germany had enough U-boats, whereupon Von Capelle said he visited the Chancellor and assured him that everything was going well.

Herr Struve wrote to General Von Ludendorff urging more U-boats, Von Capelle added, Ludendorc replied in this matter that there was unanimity on this opinion in upper army circles, in the Admiralty and among the general staff.

PINNING HIM DOWN.

Herr Sinsheimer attempted to elicit the exact purpose of the submarine whether it was the intention to crush Britain or merely to compel her to agree to a "usable peace."

Von Capelle replied: "We believed we could force England to a 'usable peace' within five months."

"Was the submarine planned to make feeding of Britain impossible and therefore make impossible the reaching by Britain of her goal," asked Herr David.

"There was no hope in the Navy that food or ammunition could be kept from Britain," replied Von Capelle, sarcastically. "We should have been more suspicious of Britain."

Herr David asked where the expression "Force Britain to her knees' originated and what it meant.

Von Capelle made an evasive reply saying: "The expression can be interpreted in several ways. I interpreted it to mean making England pliable and war-tired."

DOES MONEY EVAPORATE?

Money spent on medicinal preparations often does! In this way—You buy a preparation, use perhaps a third of it, and put the remainder on the shelf. When next you need it?—unfit for use! Two-thirds of the money value of your expenditure has "evaporated."

Just there is where Zam-Buk is so different—so superior! Zam-Buk is not only 100 per cent. medicine, but, owing to its freedom from animal fat, it never becomes rancid, but will keep indefinitely. Buy a box to-day, use what you require, put the remainder away, and when you have occasion to use it again, you will find its healing, soothing and germ-destroying powers just as effective as the day you bought the box!

Zam-Buk stops bleeding, ends pain, draws out soreness and prevents blood-poisoning in cuts, burns and scalds. Without equal as a remedy for eczema, sores, piles, ulcers and blood-poisoning. 50c. box.

Girls Should Marry at 18, Says Dutch Woman Physician

For physical romantic and social reasons, girls should marry at eighteen, because they have better children, and are more happy—they and their husbands growing together with the years. For the sake of their nerves and general health women after marriage should continue to work and should never marry a man who thinks it a reproach for his wife to work.

Dr. Ada Potter, of Utrecht, Holland, suggests these things for the betterment of womanhood.

Early Marriages Love Marriages.

Early marriages are being encouraged in Holland because it is rapidly becoming the general belief that these unions are more likely to be love matches rather than marriages for economic or social reasons, according to Dr. Potter, who summed up her entire talk with the advice to "start right, love right, work right."

The woman who marries for a solely economic reason is making a big mistake, in Dr. Potter's opinion, for the married woman has three positions to take care of. She is the homemaker, she is the manager and she is the general worker in her household. Almost any woman could make a far easier living in some other manner than marriage.

Make Easier Living Unmarried.

"A woman needs to be three times as strong and well to be married as in any other occupation," Dr. Potter said. "In efficient, happy marriage she is working at three jobs. She is the wife, the loving comrade of her husband and she is the understanding mother of her children; she is the homemaker, the manager and the worker in her household and surely these three jobs are enough to make her realize that, outside of wedlock, she could make a far easier living.

"The best age for a woman to marry, physically, economically, and romantically, is eighteen," continued the physician, with a self-confident emphasis. "Romance is the flower of youth and if a woman waits until she is twenty-eight or thirty before marrying her marriage is probably a matter of economics rather than love.

Divorces Few in Holland.

"When a girl and a man marry young they have better children and a better chance of happiness, for they grow together with the years.

"In my country divorces are very few, and I think it is because after marriage, our women work. After love, I consider this is the fundamental reason for happy marriages. If our women do nothing else they manage their own households and their children. I believe we average larger families in Holland than you do here, although doctors in good standing are permitted, in my country, to limit families if they consider the health of the woman demands it.

"The healthy woman who marries for love chooses the ideal life, for it is the most completely rounded and satisfying career she can select. Her love makes it possible to satisfy all the intricate requirements, but she must continue to work to be happy. When she weds in order to obtain an easy means of support she is making a big mistake because, in almost any other line of work she could make an easier living.

"Why, in Holland, many of our women continue after marriage the business or professional work in which they had previously engaged. We have very few idle married women—what you people call' parasites."

Dr. Potter blamed women's nervous—mental wear and tear—upon loveless, idle marriages. Throughout her task she persisted upon work, work, and more work for the married woman, flayed men who insisted upon idleness, and consistently harped upon the ideal conditions surrrounding young marriages.

Dr. Potter is a young woman herself, who received her M.D. in 1911 at the Municipal university in Amsterdam.

MET HIS MATCH.

It was at Blackpool. He was a foppish-looking young man, with an everlasting simper, loud plaid clothes, a gold-topped stick, red necktie, straw-coloured gloves and a small-brimmed hat. He walked into a tobacconist's and slammed half a crown on to the counter, saying:

"Well, this is the worst town I ever saw. I am utterly unable to see how a person of fastidious taste can live here. I say, Mr. Shopkeeper, can you sell a fellow a decent cigar?"

"Yes, sir," said the cigar man meekly, "what kind of cigar would you wish?"

"Now look at me, sir, a moment, and see for yourself what kind of cigar would suit me," said the knut, as he drew himself up proudly and gazed down at the shopkeeper.

The man looked across the counter, then, going to a box, took out a cigar and handed it to the knut with two-and-fivepence change.

The knut looked at the shopkeeper, then at himself, then at the cigar, and walked out of the shop.

DON'T JUMP TO CONCLUSIONS.

What is the difference between remedy and cure? Any disease which is liable to recur cannot be indefinitely "cured." You may dispel the germs from the system—but that is simply remedying it.

A man suffers for years with Rheumatism. After trying numerous treatments without success, he takes Templeton' Rheumatic Capsules, and is restored to perfect health again.

A year or so later Rheumatic symptoms appear again. What does he immediately conclude? That it is his old trouble returned; that the medicine he took had only a temporary effect; that he will never again be well. This impression is the one we wish to eradicate—because it is entirely false. Whenever Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules are given a fair trial they remedy Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuritis, Neuralgia, or any of their kindred diseases.

T.R.C.'s won't make you immune from the above diseases. They will remedy them and drive them from your system, but whenever you feel an attack coming on, start using T.R.C.'s again.

Ask your Druggist or write us for our new booklet; it is interesting and costs you nothing (Templetons, 142 King West, Toronto). We mail T.R.C.'s anywhere on receipt of $1.00.

RED TAPE AND TRAGEDY IN A PARIS HOSPITAL

CITY OFFICIALS' REFUSAL TO ALLOW ELECTRIC LIGHT INTERRUPTS A CAPITAL OPERATION.

PARIS.— Your Frenchman loves his Paris streets brilliantly illuminated. Because he does few results of the coal shortage cause more complaints than the lack of lights along the boulevards during the hours of noctural play. That wounds the Frenchman's sensibility and leads him to demand, a year after the cessation of hostilities, "Who won the war?"

But what a different chord of emotions is struck by the appeal made by a French surgeon in yesterday's Temps, which is taken up to-day by all the French press. his distinguished man of healing, Dr. A. La Pointe of the Hospital St. Antoine, was in the midst of an operation when the lights went off without notice and without rhyme or reason, as is the custom in French officialdom, where so many things are done at the personal whim of minor officials. Let the surgeon tell his story:

"On Thursday afternoon a young woman, almost dying, was brought into the operating room of the hospital. She had a grave hemorrhage in the abdomen. An operation which was urgent was begun at once by the light of day. But night came on. The electric light was switched on, and then, while the operation was in progress and without any notice, the Western District officials brutally cut off the current.

"See the sombre drama—a woman, pale and panting, under the knife and everything suddenly plunged in darkness while her life blood flowed. Quick, the telephone! 'If you please, a little light. Here is a surgeon trying to save the life of a woman under operation. Give only fifteen minutes of light to save her life.' But the station was without pity. A lack of coal, the eight-hour day!' 'We cannot give you any light until 7 o'clock. An operation, a surgeon, what has that to do with us?'

"The operation was resumed by the pale light of several candles, and as he worked the surgeon pondered. Until midnight this evening the cinemas, tango parlors, cafes, and other places will be warmed and lighted brilliantly. And my poor little patient may die. But what matters a human life? Is it not a war of the classes? And so long as the barrooms, tango parlors, and cinemas can go on without restrictions Paris will keep her smile and put her little tribulations into song."

PORTUGAL'S WAR LOSSES

8,367 KILLED, 4,160 MISSING.

PARIS.—Portugal's war losses amounted to 8,367 men killed of the 200,000 who fought during the war, while 4,160 are listed as missing, according to a statement issued by the Portuguese Legation here. The 200,000 men mobilized formed four per cent of the total population of Portugal.

EX-CONTROLLER J. O. M'CARTHY GAVE AN ADDRESS ON "WORLD BROTHERHOOD"

RELIGION OF THE TRENCHES— A CAUSE FOR INDUSTRIAL UNREST.

The Brotherhood movement which ...taken hold of the five continents was explained to a large audience of men by Ex Controller J. O. M'Carthy, General Treasurer of the movement, at Trinity Methodist Church last night. Mr. Alpine Macnab was chairman and a small choir of men contributed to the programme. Mr. Newton Staples sang. On the platform besides the speaker of the evening were Rev. F. E. Hiscott, Rev. Robert Pogue and Mr. Howell, General Secretary of the movement. Most of the clergy of the city were present and also Mr. James Toomey, Labor member for West Peterboro.

Mr. Howell explained that the meeting was not to advocate the organization but to get men, inside and outside of the Church, to realize that they have a mission in life. "It is the business of the King of God we are here for."

Mr. McCarthy.

Mr. McCarthy is a man of vision with a love of God and a message that inspires men, a programme and objective for men. He said, "If I could end this unrest to-day I would not do it, because it is but the dawn of a new day and era.

Religion of the Trenches.

"Men have talked much but no one has portrayed the religion of the trenches" declared Mr McCarthy. "It was the greatest brotherhood the world has ever seen. The first great need is to get some idea of the great expression of religion that came from those trenches yonder. What memorial can we build worthy of their sacrifice?

"There are severe days ahead of us. The present unrest will not pass but be the same as it was in June. The world will be born in a new order. The unrest of the world to-day will find an outlet through the channels, either recognizing the Master in everything or red handed revolution. We've got to get it in our heads that God is our Father and that all men are brothers, even the Hun and the Brahmin."

The League of Nations.

"The League of Nations will not have any effect unless back of it is the real force of great brotherhood. There will likely be a day next month set aside when all men will be asked to pray for brotherhood. What can the Brotherhood do for the Church? There is an army of men on the street that the minister has no point of contact with and we should organize and get in touch with them. These men must be brought into the establishment of the Church, and the life of God behind the minister will do the rest. It is the same story all over the world. There would be a might gathering in the churches. The Church has not preached the doctrines denominationalism and creed. The church wants men to get to Heaven but they want them to get There in their own peculiar mold. The average man on the street is not bothering his head about quibbling creeds, denominations and creeds. I can not recall two men in all my career who do not believe in God and the Bible. The street man is hungry for a great Christ doctrine, but the Church hasn't been giving it to him.

I recognize that the Church has been the great factor in holding society together. I am not ont of sympathy with the Church, but men everywhere are waiting for the Church to come with a great love story. The religion of the trenches should cause us to put less emphasis in creed and denomination.

Industrial Unrest.

"The worst canker in the industrial world to-day is the absent shareholder" declared Mr. McCarthy. There is nothing that can solve the present industrial unrest in Winnipeg or any other place than the spirit of Christ."

HUNTERS RETURN TO PETERBORO

PETERBORO HUNTERS SAW TWO BEARS.

With the best three deer, two bucks and a doe, that the Express Company which brought them down has seen this year, Messrs. Edward Freeman, Herbert Vance and J. E. Fowler returned to the city this week. The party, the Buck Lake Hunt Club, who took with them Tom Roberts as guide, centred their hunting pursuits about Buck Lake, 18 miles north-west of Haliburton and report that the deer are exernely plentiful in that section of the country and that they could have brought in several had they been allowed to exceed the allotted number, and that moose tracks were seen also by them. They also saw two bears running and three in traps and any amount of partridge. The weather was a great drawback to successful hunting, as the ground is not frozen enough to walk through the woods with any comfort.

LEEDS TEACHER'S INSTITUTE

BROCKVILLE, Nov. 11. — At a meeting of the Brockville and East Leeds Teachers' Institute, the question of salaries was discussed. A schedule for the Province was proposed and ordered to be forwarded to the Ontario Educational Association. For rural teachers and urban assistants a minimum of $900, increasing yearly to $1,700 was suggested; for principals of from two to five rooms, a minimum salary of $1,600, increasing to $2,400; principals of more than five rooms a minimum salary of $2,400, increasing to $3,300, was also suggested. In the opinion of the meeting now that the cost of living has more than doubled, the minimum salary of $900 was considered too low, and it was felt that a teacher receiving $500 in 1914, should be paid over $1,000 now.

ANNUAL PETERBORO DISTRICT MEETING

point out the great point that the Sunday School is the one great organization in connection with the church that covers human life from the cradle to the grave. Beginning with the cradle roll for the infant, it follows right on through life.

Mr. Beckel in order to see what the representation was, called the roll and found a considerable number of circuits represented. He regretted the absence of Miss Emma Reid of the Apsley circuit who is superintendent of a Sunday School and doing splendid work. He had hoped to meet Miss Reid at this conference.

Sunday School Help

The question of Sunday School helps was discussed and the Sunday School Times was not advocated as a sound assistant for Sunday School teachers. The question of American helps vs. Canadian was made a point of discussion. Mr. Dixon regarded it as a patriotic duty to take Canadian helps which are quite as good as the Yankees and present our own national viewpoint. He was not disparaging the Yankees but we are Canadians. He did not approve of the Sunday School times which produced many articles so fanatical as to be heterodox.

The net point Mr. Beckel brought out was the church's duty regarding amusements. If the church does its full duty by its Young People in providing for their social need, safe and sane amusements there will be no necessity of prohibiting certain questionable forms of amusement. Many of the churches have their doors closed from Sunday night till the next Sunday morning and then they wonder why the young folks stray away. Mr. Beckel stated that personally he was not narrow minded but he knew a Bible class teacher who lost her grip on her class and had to give up because she went to dances. He personally, had no time for dancing and cards even if he had an inclination for them.

Mr. Knox asked if it was the church's duty to provide amusement for the public. Mr. Beckel's answer was "Yes".

One of the lady delegates advocated that the church provide the right kind of amusements and then the young folks would have no taste for low pleasures.

Mr. Knox feels that in present time the Church is reaching out too far to provide amusement and would advocate that we do all to the glory of God. People are readier to provide amusement in these days than of provide a prayer meeting.

Clean Sport.

Mr. Beckel advocated clean sport as a way of getting in touch with the young men. The new point was very briefly dealt with "should the business of an organized class be discussed during the lesson period?" The answer was "most decidedly not".

The next point took up the teacher training work and it was here that the Epworth League ewhich is so closely linked to the Sunday School could do a great deal to help. The League which ministers to the social side of church life has a very wide sphere of influence. Rev. W. H. Clarke of Cavan spoke in the teacher training classes.

Mr. Beckel called on Rev. S. F. Dixon to lead the devotional exercises. Three verses of "Onward Christian Soldiers", were sung after which Rev. J. D. P. Knox led in prayer. An offering to defray the expenses of the conference was taken up.

Rev. J. F. Chapman

Rev. J. F. Chapman of Peterboro spoke on the part to be played by the Sunday Schools in the great united National Campaign.

To his mind it is the finest challenge ever presented to the church of God since our Lord's own time.

While the speaker is heartily in sympathy with the movement he feels that there is not enough time allotted to it.

To the Christian every day should bring higher experience. Let us not be like a church he had heard of where a certain progresive movement was under discusion and all but one old brother were in favor of it and the preacher besought the old man to relent and make it unanimous and the old brother replied, "There'll be nothing unanimous in this church while I'm in it."

The Sunday School is one of the most important orgahizations in the church and in the future he saw that we would have trained leaders for this work but that will take money and a good deal of it and we are not equipped for these great times.

Grand Old Ontario has just contributed two hundred million dollars to the Victory Loan Campaign and one third of that sum came from Methodists so can we not raise the four million dollars required of us. The need is very great.

The moral leper is a greater menace in our midst than the physical leper. Last summer speaker visited Lakefield for a rest and kept his identity as a preacher concealed as he desired rest. The Presbyterian preacher of the village preached in the Methodist church and it was an excellent sermon and one of his points was that "some men passing along life's thoroughfares leave behind them a black trail." To combat the evil we must provide the good. In the question of literature, the country is filled with literature which degrades the youthful mind so it is in our Sunday School with the finest and best literature we can get and put into the hands of our Young people.

Then there is stewardship. The old days when all mention of money was hushed up, are passed and the church openly and boldly asks for it to-day as a necessity.

Recruits Wanted.

The man, who boasted of being a Christian and a leader in the church for twenty five years and that all he had paid was twenty five cents, is out of date.

We must have more recruits for Christ's work and that is what we are looking for and praying for to-day. The demand for young men to enter the ministry far exceds the supply so it is our duty to work and to pray that Christ's work may be carried on.

Mr. Beckel took charge of a brief "Forward Step Service". He called on all the ministers present to step forward and he spoke of the responsibility resting on them in their work: then he asked the Sunday School superintendents to come forward also and to them he said a word of council. Then the Sunday School teachers were called to the group and lastly all assistants and Sunday School officers. Then Mr. Clarke let the group in a prayer for the help and guidance of God for help in their stirring times in the church's history.

Mr. Beckel closed the meeting with the Benediction.

PETERBORO FORESTERS MET LAST EVENING AT A SOCIAL GATHERING

ABOUT FIVE HUNDRED MEMBERS TOOK PART IN INTERESTING FUNCTION—ASSISTANT SUPREME CHIEF RANGER PRESENT

To promote the principle underlying fraternity co-operation, to broaden the community spirit and to enable the members of the lodge to become better acquainted and incidentally to entertain the returned brethren from overseas, Court Chemong, 530, I.O.F., last evening entertained at a concert and social evening, which was attended by about five hundred of the members of the lodge and their friends.

In order to make the entertainment particularly attractive the Lodge secured some of the best talent from Toronto who, with their splendid musical numbers, kept the audience entertained from the opening of the programme until the last entertainer was reluctantly allowed to retire.

Instructive Address.

The chairman of the evening, Mr. Fred Oxley, gave a brief and interesting address, introducing some appropriate and new humorous stories which made a big hit with the audience. He was followed by the speaker of the evening, Mr. George A. Mitchell, Assistant Supreme Chief Ranger, who gave an instructive address, embodying a retrospect of the work of the I.O.F. and what the Society is doing. In the course of his remarks he gave some interesting I.O.F. figures, amongst which the pointed out that $8,000,000 has been paid out to widows and orphans in lots of $500 and $1,000, and that in the home at Oakville 900 orphans are being entirely supported by the I.O.F. He also gave a description of the Sanitorium in the Adirondacks, at which any sick member is cared for free of charge. He spoke of the strange fact that of all the orphan boys who enlisted 100 per cent. came home. The Order, which has a membership of nearly 900,000, gives benefits of from $8 to $10 a week to take care of the dependents as well as the brethren. In conclusion he outlined the aim of the organization, which is the uplift and benefit of mankind, and spoke of the head office, which is at Toronto, with branch offices in Great Britain, Ireland and the United States.

Compared to Foch.

In seconding a vote of thanks to the speaker, which was moved by Brother G. W. Powell, Brother J. W. Byers spoke of Brother Mitchell's tireless efforts in furthering the fraternity and compared his principles to those of Marshal Foch in the fact that no matter how tired he and his confreres might be, he "carries on."

Brother Wm. Madill moved a hearty vote of thanks to the ladies for their work in preparing the dainty refreshments. This was seconded by Brother Andrew Webb.

The Dance.

Following the refreshments the floor was cleared of the chairs and a bright little dance was held, with music supplied by Miss Cora Peters. During this and during the entire evening, Mr. S. B. Lynds, I.O.F. organizer, left no stone unturned in making the evening a most enjoyable occasion and was responsible in no small way for the success of the affairs.

Programme.

The following programme was presented:

Piano solo—Miss Martha Hoag.
Humorous song—Harvey Lloyd.
Soprano solo—Miss Margery Wilson.

GETTING READY FOR DOMINION CONTEST

FARMERS PARTY WARMING UP FOR THE FRAY—MEETING TO-DAY.

Special to the Examiner:

WINNIPEG, Man., Novfl 14.—The United Farmers' party to contest the Federal elections was born at a meeting of the Canadian Council of Agriculture to-day. In addition to opposing old political parties at the Provincial elections, the Farmers' party will launch out into Dominion politics at the coming general election. The first from the organization will include inter-Provincial federation of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Ontario parties. Later the Dominion organization will spread out to include all provinces in the Dominion it was planned. A resolution to this effect was passed yesterday afternoon.

PRESENTATION TO MR. AND MRS. WOOD

A very interesting meeting was held at Miss E. Smith's hairdressing apartments on Friday evening, when the Friendly Bible Society of St. John's Church met to present Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood with a beautiful mahogany centre table, on the occasion of their taking up housekeeping after his return from the front.

A very pleasant evening was spent. Mrs. May read an address, as she has always taken a great interest in the class, of which she was teacher. The room was prettily decorated with flags, etc. The evening was spent in cards and singing. Mr. H. Fowlers kindly entertained the company with some splendid musical selections.

STEAMER RAISED.

KINGSTON, Nov. 14.—The Donnelly Wrecking Co. succeeded in raising the steamer Iona which went aground a few days ago in the Morrisburg canal. The vessel is being towed to Kingston.

BRITAIN URGED TO FOLLOW U.S. STRONG ARM WAY

LONDON PRESS WONDERS WHY THE GOVERNMENT DOES NOT SEIZE RABID AGITATORS.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—America's strong arm methods of collaring revolutionaries continues to evoke English bravos, while the press wonders why the British Government does not take the tip and act likewise. There is sharp criticism of the authorities for failure to suppress the British Socialist party's turbulent meeting commemorating Bolshevism's second anniversary, with the warning that, unless anarchist aliens are deported, there always will be danger of bloodshed.

It is regarded as dangerously significant that on the platform from which rabid anarchists spoke were several well-known Labour leaders.

In this connection the press asks how Robert Williams and C. T. Cramp can square their professed constitutional Labour attitude with the anarchist harrangues which they heard and even sponsored.

At this meeting one speaker demanded that English Labour emulate Russia. Another asserted that America was "toppling Japan next and was coming to England." He urged "get your guns ready."

The English press is unanimous that the surest way to eradicate such a germ is for the rank and file of enlightened Labour to disavow such leaders, failing which the Government should emulate America.

Lord Northcliffe's Evening News, speaking editorially, says:

"The arrest of a hundred Russian and other agitators in the United States is the commencement of an anti-alien policy there. It appears that the unrestricted flow of aliens from anywhere and everywhere into the United States has been stopped—we think for good. Deportation will now commence, and, like everything else American, will be on a big scale.

"So long as aliens in the United States spent their time and money damning European countries, Uncle Sam didn't care a cent, but when these aliens start damning the United States then Uncle Sam lifts his foot and boots them out—and quite right, too."

NEGRO WAS SHOT IN RACE RIOTS

United Press:

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 14.—Police patrols took precautions to-day to prevent the renewal of last night's race rioting, in which one negro was shot and several negro homes partly wrecked. The trouble grew out of the murder of Patrolman Tom L. Zebley by Samuel and John Price, negroes.

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

She Kept Her Locks Dark and Glossy, with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

HAD ECZEMA For Over 28 Years

Eczema or Salt Rheum manifests itself in little round blisters, which contain an extremely irritating fluid. These break and subsequently a crust is formed, and the intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the part is exposed to any strong heat is almost unbearable.

The success which Burdock Blood Bitters has met with in skin diseases of such severity is due to its wonderful blood cleansing and purifying properties, and we know of no other remedy that has done or can do as much for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture.

Mr. James Walker, 188 Niagara St., Hamilton, Ont., writes:—"I have been using Burdock Blood Bitters for some months past and find it an excellent remedy for skin eruptions. I have suffered with eczema for over 20 years, and have tried almost everything you could think of. I was recommended to use Burdock Blood Bitters, and I am now clear of all skin trouble. It is certainly a good remedy and I shall recommend it to all my friends."

THE PRINCE WITH THE NORTH WEST MOUNTED POLICE.

There was a riot of color, sensational riding and fun at the R. N. W. M. P. barracks at Regina following the inspection of the famous force by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. Drawn up on the square were the depot division, the physical training class and a squadron of mounted men for inspection. The Prince passed slowly through the lines, stopping here and there to speak with men with overseas service and displaying a decided interest in the winter dress and different types of uniforms on parade.

Addressing the officers, N. C. O.'s and men, following the inspection, His Royal Highness complimented them on their smart appearance. In the course of his remarks he showed himself to be familiar with the history of the force, which, he declared, was as famous as the Dominion itself. He referred to the work of the R. N. W. M. P. in the Klondike in the first days of the gold rush, and the respect the uniform had gained in the West. The record of the force, he said, was known in England, and the name was famous in all parts of the world.

Immediately after the inspection a bunch of untrained horses were brought in, and for a time there was real excitement.

It was evident that the Prince wanted to get into the crowd and get a better view of what was going on, but each time he managed to get in the danger zone some official led him gently to one side.

The mounted squad put their mounts through stunts. The horses lay down, played dead, and did all sorts of things. The action was fast; rider after rider would break loose and dashing across the square would lean far from the saddle and pick up some object from the ground.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKETS

Special to the Examiner:

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Stock Market to-day opened steady. Most of the leading issues were higher at the opening.—Those which were lower than the previous close were off only fractionally. Bethlehem B opened at 97 3-4, off ⅛; Studebaker at 119, unchanged; U.R. Stores at 98, unchanged; Crucible at 223¼, off 2¼; U. S. Steel at 106 1-8, unchanged; Mexican Pet 212, unchanged; U.S. Rubber at 124¼, up 1¼; Central Leather at 100 1-8, up ¼; Baldwin at 113, up 1¼; and General Motors at 322, up 2. After early steadiness the market re-acted. General Motors dropped from 322½ to 303, and then rallied to 311 on subsequent sales. At 205, Mexican Pet was off 7 from the opening; Baldwin was off 3.

This early selling was largely by people who hesitated to buy during the low prices of Thursday. They were taking in profits of from 20 to 30 points, hoping to pick up the stocks on a secondary re-action. The total sales for the first hour reached 402,000 shares.

After profit had taken of the first forty-five minutes of trading, the market hardened under the leadership of Southern Pacific, which sold close to 109 before 11.15. After dropping to 105, Mexican Petroleum rallied to 110. Shares of the leading oil-producing companies are being carefully priced up around current levels on the belief that such levels by no means represent the true level of the respective companies.

Shortly after 11 o'clock, call money, both classes, was quoted as London and renewing 14 per cent.

German markets, which at par are slightly more than 24 cents in the morning. Money on the New York money market made a new record low at 2.64 cents.

The feverish movement of speculative shares indicated that the market was still in a state of transition. General Motors was a striking example, falling from 324 to 304, rallying to 316, followed by another set-back to 307. Reversals of 2 to 7 points marked the early course of other motors, also oils and steel equipments.

Unwise To Delay

Every indication points to an unexampled holiday buying this year. This buying, if it should follow the precedent of other years, would be largely concentrated in the weeks just preceding the holiday.

But it will be very unwise to delay holiday shopping this year. Conditions are abnormal. Holiday gifts of the right kind are not as easy as usual to obtain, and will be less easy later on. Neither will it be easy to supplement our sales force during December.

Therefore, we must strongly urge the necessity of doing the ordinary holiday shopping so far as possible in November. We have done our part by assembling our holiday stocks several weeks earlier than customary.

Holiday Shopping in November will mean larger and better assortments to select from, and the best possible individual attention and service

The more exacting the taste the more certain you are of finding the article that will please here.

As a further encouragement to easy shopping, we will lay aside any article selected for those who wish to arrange their purchases in this way. Shop in November is the new watchword.

A quiet wedding took place at Christ Church, Omemee, on Tuesday November 11th, when Mattie B. Foster, of Omemee, became the bride of Edgar Ralph James, of Peterborough. The Rev. E. R. FOLEY—McMARTIN
A quiet but pretty wedding took place at St. Patrick's Church, Toronto, Nov. 10th at 8 o'clock when Gertrude McMartin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McMartin, Peterboro, Ont., was united in marriage to Mr. John Francis Foley, Rochester N.Y.

The bride, being very becomingly attired in a suit of Navy Blue, Taupe hat and a corsage bouquet of white carnations, entered the church on the arm of Mr. Weir, a friend of the bride; to the strains of the wedding march and appropriate hymns.

She was assisted by her sister, Miss Catherine McMartin, who wore a Burgundy suit, Black hat and a corsage bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. Thomas Foley, a brother, assisted the groom.

The gift to the bridesmaid was a beautiful gold pearl rosary and to the groomsman a gold watch chain.

After the ceremony the bridal party, betook of a dainty wedding breakfast at the Queen's Hotel, Toronto.

They then took their departure on one o'clock train, to the bride's parents, Peterboro, where a reception was held and were the recipients of many numerous and costly presents.

The young couple will reside in Rochester, N.Y.

Government Will Change the System Censoring Films

THE PRESENT APPEAL BOARD WILL LIKELY BE ABOLISHED--- A CASE IN POINT.

PUBLIC PROTEST

Special to the Examiner:

TORONTO, Nov. 15 — The new government will make a change in the system of censoring moving picture films. Complaints have been made against the present methods, which have led the Attorney-General, Hon. W. E. Raney, to frame a plan for its improvement. This plan Mr. Raney does not wish to disclose at present, but it probably involves the abolition of the appeal Board, to which the picture exchanges are now privileged to appeal from the Board of Moving Picture Censors. The complaint is made that over sixty films which were condemned by the censors were passed by the Appeal Board and allowed to be shown in the theatres of Ontario. Mr. Dr. McTavish has made a public protest against the system under which he says unfit films have come into use. He exonerates the Board of Censors as being a conscientious body of men, and lays the blame on the Appeal Board, alleging that the censoring by the Appeal Board has often been done by an inexperienced clerk in the office of the Provincial Treasurer. The Board of Censors consists of Messrs. G. E. Armstrong, J. J. Burns and R. Wilson. From the Board the appeal may be taken to a body, consisting of the Provincial Treasurer, the Provincial Treasurer's Secretary, C. Mattes, and O. Elliott, who is also inspector of moving picture theatres. One suggestion is that the first-named body be enlarged from three to five, and that the latter appeal be abolished. "That matter," said Attorney-General Raney to-day, "will have my immediate attention. I have outlined a plan in my own mind, but I want to know both the law and the facts before I uphold it. The matter being considered." Mr. Raney is proposing placing the matter under the Attorney-General's department or the Department of Education, but it will probably be the latter.

YOUNG PEOPLE TO HOLD CONVENTION

This week-end promises to be a red letter one in the history of the young people of the local S. A. Corps. Commissioner Richards, who has charge of the Army's work in Eastern Canada will, with a large staff of officers assisting him, personally conduct the Annual Young People's Convention. The programme of events starts with the welcome to the visiting officers to-night, followed by a concert given entirely by the younger portion of the Corps.

To-morrow the meetings will be held in the Woodmen of the World Hall, and will be open only for young people between the ages of thirteen and twenty-five.

On Monday a splendid programme has been arranged, again entirely under the auspices of the young people. The public are cordially invited to the Saturday and Monday night entertainments. Every minute of the time will be packed full of interesting items. Instrumental and vocal music, recitations and dialogues, etc., will be included in the programme. Be sure and come to at least one of the sessions, and bring some one with you.

YOUR EYES DESERVE GOOD CARE.

It is a mistake to abuse your eyes. Don't expect them to be just as strong as the eye possesses so much natural strength; after that is used up, it wants artificial aid for the rest of your life. Why not attend to your eyes before they reach this stage? Glasses for a while will probably relieve them. Consult W. H. Lacey, Optical Specialist, 40 George street. Open Wednesday and Saturday evenings. dtf

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 15. — Plans are being made by the Public School Protective League of California to submit to the voters of the State in the November 1920 election a constitutional amendment prohibiting vaccination as a condition precedent for the admission of any person to a public or private school or for employment in any public or private business.

MASQUERADE WAS A BIG SUCCESS

OVER TWO HUNDRED PEOPLE SPENT AN ENJOYABLE EVENING.

Over two hundred of the young people of All Saints' Church and their friends attended the masquerade held last evening in the Parish Hall, and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent by all present. The costumes worn by the young people were many and varied, representing practically every nationality and age, and the comic costumes were revelations of the ingenuity of the wearers. Mrs. E. V. Frederick, Mr. Louis Dobbin, Mr. Thomas Hooper and Mr. Wm. Buller, the judges, had considerable difficulty in distinguishing amongst the costumes, but finally awarded the prizes to the Indian Chief, the Irish Vagabond, the Indian Princess and Mickey. The presentation of prizes was made by Rev. R. B. Grobb.

The Programme.

Dainty refreshments were served, and a splendid programme presented, to which Miss Tims, Miss Melton, Mr. Melton and Mr. Herbert Rush contributed solos, which were keenly appreciated. At about 10.30 the young people formed a ring and sang "Auld Lang Syne."

Longshoremen Want 80c. An Hour.

(Canadian Press.)

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 15.—An advance of twenty cents an hour in wages is demanded by the Longshoremen of the port of St. John for the coming winter. The present rate, fixed a year ago, is sixty cents an hour, and the men now ask for eighty cents. As a counter offer the steamer men suggested sixty-five cents an hour. The coal handlers, who now receive 75 cents an hour, are also asking for higher wages.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Operators and miners again faced each other to-day in an effort to settle the controversy which led to the recent naion-wide strike of soft coal miners. Secretary of Labour Wilson, by whom the conference was called here yesterday, in an address told both sides just what should have to be done for an adjustment of their disputes. When the conference reconvened at ten o'clock to-day the suggestions outlined by Mr. Wilson were the first thing to be discussed by both factions.

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. — The acceptance without qualification by the mine workers of Secretary of Labour Wilson's proposal for the negotiation of a nation-wide scale agreement, was announced at the conference to-day by John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America.

Winter has set in unusually early in practically all the western section of the Dominion, and quite low temperatures have been frequent. FINANCIAL SITUATION

INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL CONGRESS CALLED TO DEVISE MEANS FOR REGULATION OF EXCHANGE.

CONDITIONS SERIOUS

(United Press.)

ROME, Nov. 15.—The world financial situation has become so serious that an International Financial Congress has been called to sit here in the near future to devise means for the regulation of exchange rates, according to a news agency despatch to-day. Stabilization of the American gold dollar will be taken up, the agency said.

The present rates of exchange are proving detrimental evn to such favourd nations as Spain, Sweden and Switzerland, the agency declared, pointing out that experts of all these nations have declined. The Inter-Allied Economic Council also will sit here November 21-28, it was announced. G. H. Roberts, British Minister of Food Control, Clementel Locheur, French Minister of Reconstruction, and the Italian Ministers, Schanzer and Ferraris, will attend the conference, according to the announcement.

D'ANNUNZIO LEAVES FIUME

Goes to Italy to Conduct Campaign in Coming Elections.

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Nov. 15.—D'Annunzio, who has left Fiume, was said to have been followed by an Italian warship, which was merely observing his movements. The debarkation point on the Dalmatian coast is not known. Advices to the Peace Conference were from the American Vice-Consul at Trieste. He forwarded a report that D'Annunzio had left on the "Valo" and had effected a landing on the Dalmatian coast line. Special importance is attached in Peace Conference circles to D'Annunzio's movements because of the fact that Sunday is election day in Italy, with Fiume the chief issue. It is generally thought that D'Annunzio is seeking to carry ut a spectacular operation to strengthen the Fiume party, which is reported in Paris to have lost considerable ground in Italy.

EIGHTEEN RETURNED SOLDIERS OF OTONABEE HONOURED LAST EVENING

PRESENTATIONS TO THE RETURNED MEN AND NEXT OF KIN—ADDRESSES BY REV. FATHER PHELAN, REV. C. ROSS, REV. JAMES ROLLINS AND OTHERS.

Eighteen returned soldiers of Otonabee Township and seven next-of-kin were presented with tokens of esteem and affection by their neighbours in Otonabee in the Sons of England Hall last evening. Those honoured were Messrs. Stanley Garrett, Albert Armstrong, Thomas Casey, Victor Sedgwick, Samuel Carpenter, Arthur Carpenter, Bryer Carpenter, T. Dalton Johnston, Oswald Curtis, Harold Hall, Albert Wood, Michael Corkery, William C. Brown, Fred. Bradfield, Harold Conroy, Bert Beck, Alfred T. Mills and Joseph Fitzgerald. The next-of-kin were: Mrs. George Carpenter, for Bert. Carpenter; Mrs. Geo. Curtis, for Howard Curtis; Mrs. T. Nelson, for Ray Nelson; Mrs. Curtain, for William Curtin; Mrs. Patrick Doherty, for Thomas Doherty; Miss Edith Craft, for Chester Craft; and Miss Annie Long, for William Long.

Lieut.-Colonel T. J. Johnston, the commander of the 93rd Battalion, was the chairman of the evening. The Salvation Army Band was to be present, but through some misunderstanding, they did not arrive.

Never Behind.

Rev. Father Phelan mentioned that Otonabee was never behind in any good enterprise, and he also said how happy he was while working among the men of the 93rd Battalion of his own faith.

Rev. Mr. Ross, of Mark Street Church, spoke of the splendid work of the men of Canada to the defence of the Empire, and how those at home contributed so largely.

"I believe the war came because the world and the Church got away from God," he said. He showed how everything started in Germany ... many was the Mecca. English professors sat at the feet of German professors and Canadian professors bowed to the English academician. He said that Germany insulted Jesus Christ, insulting His divinity. Higher criticism was imported from the German professors. "The war came because we forgot God." He stated that there were five million atheists in France before the war. He thought that the world is a greater brotherhood than ever before. There is nothing too good for the soldiers. If the Government will give them a $2,000 gratuity it is not enough, if we could only arrive at some arrangement, whereby those who suffered most would receive the most.

Read the Address.

Miss P. Petrie read the address to the soldiers, and Miss L. Sargent made the presentation of a signet ring to each man. Colonel Johnston replied suitably for the men.

Rev. James Rollins, of St. Andrew's Church, told a number of stories of the war and the good fellowship that existed there, and how animosity and hatred among each other was laid aside. He said that the great mistake of the Germans was the cultivation of hatred, one great reason why they lost the war. Rev. Mr. Rollins said that he had no envy for the man who made money out of the war. The splendid work of the women was mentioned.

Miss G. Casey read an address to the next-of-kin of those fallen in battle and Miss Hazel Chamberlen presented each with a gold locket.

Mr. F. D. Kerr said that one thing that the war has brought home to us is fair play, honourable dealings between creeds, classes and nationalities. England must retain this sense of justice and fair play. Mr. Kerr, urging the returned men "to carry on," said that they must fight for civilization in our own community.

"Love will carry this world to heaven and hate will carry it to hell."

The speeches were interspersed by ... by Mr. Princess and a song ... by Mr. Thomas Petrie.

Searching the Lake For Missing Steamer

THE "JOHN OWEN" WAS LAST SIGHTED WEDNESDAY--CARRIED A CREW OF TWENTY

SURF BOATS OUT

(Canadian Press.)

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Nov. 15.—As the hours passed without a word from the lake steamer John Owen, marine men here clung to the hope to-day that the ore carrier had put into one of numerous harbours. Between the Soo and Kewenaw Point and outridden the storm that for three days has lashed Lake Superior into a sea of mountainous waves, accompanied by a blinding snow storm. Most land communication lines were paralyzed, but all points reached by the coast guards reported that the Owen had not been sighted. Vessels on the lake were searching for her by wireless, while they kept a sharp watch for wreckage. Surf boats from Eagle Harbor coast guard station were despatched to Manitou Island in an attempt to identify the wreckage reported in the vicinity by the steamer Wilpen. The Owen carried a crew of twenty and was last sighted Wednesday.

On his observations he bases the message for Sunday night.

GOOD ROADS FOR PETERBORO

The Secretary of the Peterborough Automobile Association has received from the President of the Ontario Motor League a communication in which he says in part:

It is of the utmost importance that the plans which have been made for the building of a complete system of highways in Ontario be put into effect and roads constructed throughout the Province, designed to serve the interests of all classes of the community being adequate to meet the requirements of the traffic they may be expected to bear.

The Department of Public Highways so far this year has collected over $1,500,000 in automobile license fees from the owners of the 135,000 motor vehicles in use in this Province. All of this money is available for road building purposes. The Dominion Government this year set aside $20,000,000 for expenditure on roads during the next five years. While this money is to be divided among the provinces in proportion to population, its payment is to be conditional on a Provincial expenditure on main rads. The Dominion Government will pay forty per cent of the cost of constructing these highways within the limit of its grant. Ontario's share of this Federal aid will be about $1,000,000 per year, if the annual expenditure on main roads in this Province is not less than $2,500,000. The revenue from automobile license fees alone, it will be seen, if spent on main highways, would earn the full amount of the Federal grant.

The benefits which would accrue to town and country alike from a complete system of improved highways, scarcely need be emphasized. From the motorist's standpoint, however, it might be pointed out, that since automobile license exchange with the United States was inaugurated there has been a great increase in motor tourist travel with the result that about 100,000 cars from the States now enter Ontario annually, the owners spending on a conservative estimate $2,000,000 each year in this Province. With the improvement of our highways tourist travel will increase and still larger sums will be spent by the tourists. The development of rural motor express and wayside markets, are further evidences of the effect of highways improvement.

The utility aspect of automobile use is nowhere more marked than in Ontario. The small car predominates. Of a total registration of 101,845 passenger cars in this Province last year, 84, 018 were of twenty-five horse power and less. There were only thirty-one cars of over twenty-five horse power registered. Farmers who in 1913 owned but 966 cars, in 1918 headed the occupational list with 37,758 cars. Merchants and manufacturers took second place last year with 27,144 cars, while skilled trades comes third with 6,634 cars.

Recommends Internal Bathing for Piles and Constipation.

If people who suffer from constipation, piles and the many ills resulting from accumulated waste in the intestines would realize what the J.B.L. Cascade is doing for thousands of people who are being daily restored to perfect health by its use, there would be a J.B.L. Cascade in every Canadian home.

Mr. E. Nighswander, of Green River, Ont., writes: "I purchased a J.B.L. Cascade from you about ten months ago and consider it the best money I ever invested. For years I have been troubled with constipation, ulcers in the bowels and piles, which all the money I spent on medicines and doctors only relieved temporarily. My J.B.L. Cascade has completely cured these troubles, and I feel it a duty I owe to my fellow-men to endorse the Cascade in the very highest terms. No amount of money could estimate the value it has been to me. No home should be without one.

The J.B.L. Cascade is the only perfected invention for internal bathing. Keeps the system sweet and clean, cures constipation, headaches, rheumatism, and keeps you fit at all times. It is shown and explained at Warne Drug Co.

Phone or ask them for free booklet all about it—or write Tyrell's Hygienic Institute, 163 College St., Toronto.

SALARIES OF FISHERY INSPECTORS WERE NOT CHANGED DURING WAR

MR. TOOMS OBTAINED INFORMATION FROM GAME DEPARTMENT THAT SUGGESTS REASONS WHY THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE LAW HAS BEEN UNDER CRITICISM.

NO DISTRICT WARDEN

From the information obtained by Mr. T. Tooms, M.P.P., in regard to the administration of the fish and game laws, it appears that the Department has eight overseers in the Peterborough district but not one warden. This alone is an arresting fact. Of the ten district wardens, Toronto and Kingston each have two, and the others are at Simcoe, North Bay, Sault Ste Marie, Windsor, Gravenhurst and St. Thomas. However, there are three inspectors, and one of them, Capt. Alf. Hunter, is located at Belleville, and, it is understood, has jurisdiction over this territory.

This lack of a director for the overseers in this district seems, upon a cursory consideration, to be one cause of the reported laxity in the enforcement of the game laws along the Trent.

Salaries Stood Still.

Even more striking are the miserable salaries paid to the overseers. For example, Edward Fleming, of Hastings received the munificent sum of $35 a year, and Wellington Lean of Apsley $50 a year. William Clarkson, of Lakehurst, J. E. Haggart, of Peterborough, and Levi Payne, of Warsaw, are each paid $200 a year. J. S. McFarlane, of Keene, who is resigning on November 31st, received $50. Capt. R. W. Carson, who has had a roving commission from Lake Simcoe south, was paid $70 a month, and F. J. Moore, of Lakefield, $150 a year. Although the Hearst Government kept the salaries of its Ministers and of the members of the Legislature in pace with the advance in the cost of living, it completely ignored such employees as the remote overseers of the Fisheries Department. Their allowances are just as they were "in the beginning is now and ever shall be" -- had not the Seven Sleepers been suddenly tossed out of their well worn and featured berths.

Another fact Mr. Tooms learned was that no reports of illegal fishing have ever been made to the Department. Mr. D. McDonald, the Deputy Minister, stated that the Department is anxious to protect the supply of fish in the Trent waters. He said that parent fish had been put in Clear Lake and in another adjoining lake, but owing to the high water and warm water they did not produce the expected results. From time to time Kawartha Lakes have been re-stocked.

"I asked Mr. McDonald whether good permanent inspectors, young men perhaps, with some ambition, would be more satisfactory, and he replied that he believed they would, but any change would have to come from the Minister," Mr. Tooms said. And the new Minister of Public Works is F. C. Biggs.

Some Change Needed.

From this information the conclusion seems obvious that the administration of the game laws in this district should be established on a new basis. There is a general belief that political patronage exerted its baneful affects in this as in nearly every department in which it operates. The fishery overseers held appointments that were responsible and that should have drawn decent and encouraging salaries. There has never been any reflection upon such men as Mr. Haggert, and it is a wonder now that he or the other overseers never protested against the neglect this Department has been subjected to, in so far as the Peterborough waters are concerned.

It is not suggested that a remedial course lies simply in increasing salaries. That is surely essential, but to bring efficiency into the local administration of the game laws there should be a careful investigation of the local situation and its needs. It is not difficult to propose some needed changes, but until the Department takes the initiative there seems little hope of bringing about any improvement.

INCOME WILL BE $440,000 PER YEAR

Widow of Frank W. Woolworth Notified of Share of Big Estate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Mrs. Frank W. Woolworth, widow of the late head of the chain of five and ten cent stores, will receive an income of $440,000 a year from her husband's estate. This was revealed to-day when Supreme Court Justice Giegerich signed an order requiring Hubert T. Parsons, head of a committee of Mrs. Woolworth's property, to file an additional bond of $2,600,000. His original bond was $50,000.

The order was issued upon receipt of a report from Mr Parsons that fifty thousand shares had been transfered to the wodw by order of the directors, and that the income at 8 per cent. would amount to $400,000 a year.

The remainder of her income will be from the interest on Liberty bonds and the rental of property in Brooklyn. Mrs. Woolworth is the sole legatee under her husband's will.

CROWNS GOING BEGGING.

There are in Europe to-day thrones without occupants, but there is no lack of applicants for the post. Several times in the world's history, however, crowns has been so promptly rejected as thought they were very damaged and worthless articles indeed.

Early in the last century the crown of Greece was offered to Lord Bryon who died before he had a chance to accept it. Later on, Queen Victoria's second son, the late Duke of Edinburgh, was invited to become King of the Hellenes, but the jealousy of foreign powers decided his refusal. Then it was offered in turn to Mr. William Gladstone and Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield, but neither was attracted by the honour.

Napoleon anticipated the patriotic Hungarian by wishing to seperate Hungary from Austria in 1809, when he offered the separate crown to the great Hungarian Count Esterbarz. But the Count refused and went into temporary exile.

Early in the history of Russia, when it was scarely acknowledged as a part of civilized Europe the Imperial throne was offered first to Prince Mstislavski, and then to Prince Pozharski, but they feared to undertake such a difficult task.

Finally a youth of sixteen, Michael, was elected on condition that he swore that he and his descendants should reign as constitutional sovereigns. He was the first Romanoff—and now once again there is no Tsar reigning in Russia.

Later on, when Tsar Alexander I. died in 1825, his brother Constantine was the heir, but he preferred the security of private life, and handed it on to his young brother, Nicholas I.

George Washington's army wished to make him a king, but he preferred to be the first President of the U.S.A.

THE LAST TIME.

For the last time. Buy Victory Bonds.

A SAFE BET.

It was a safe bet that the Toronto Star would say that Ontario could not be sure of a dry Government with a Raney Attorney-General.

FIRST AS USUAL.

The first call Premier Drury had after being sworn in yesterday was a local man, Mr. H. B. Cowan. Another case where Peterboro led the Province.

A CHANCE FOR A WRITER.

If Mr. "Pussy-foot" Johnston, the American temperance worker now in England is an author he should be able to turn out a very interesting book on the subject "Through London By Rail."

MOPPING UP.

The "Mopping Up Squad" goes over the top to-night. If you did not hop the bags with the first or second waves, you still have a chance to go over.

STILL A HARDY RACE.

The claim that the people of the present day are not as hardy as their ancestors is disallowed after last night's Victory Loan "hop." Did you ever hear of a dance on the public street in the midst of a blizzard before?

THE NORTH ON TOP.

Although Peterboro's Victory Loan record is a grand one, the city folk will have to doff their hats to the people of the Northern Townships of the county. The official summary up to last night shows that Bob Shaw's territory has sold 108 per cent. of its objective and won the Prince of Wales flag and 4 crests.

ATHLETES IN THE WAR.

Mr. H. J. P. Good, the veteran Toronto Sporting writer, who for fifty years has been connected with the press and who for forty years has been sporting editor has undertaken to prepare a record of the part played by Canadian sportsmen in the war. Such a story would be of interest for Canada's athletes representing all lines of sport have covered themselves with glory. No one is better qualified to write this record than Mr. Good whose intimate knowledge of Canadian sportsmen enables him to speak authoritively upon such a subject. He is appealing to the secretaries of all sporting organizations to send him the names of the members who enlisted, together with the rank, casualties sustained and decorations won. Peterboro clubs no doubt will be glad to assist in the compliance of this information. Particulars can be sent to Mr. Good, whose address is 643 Bathurst St., Toronto.

THE VICTORY LOAN DANCE.

The community spirit—an asset that should receive more attention than it does—is developed by such events as the street dance last night under the auspices of the Victory Loan committee, which was a remarkable success in the face of most discouraging weather conditions. Snow and cold could not deaden the enthusiasm of the people and they entered into the spirit of the occasion so thoroughly that the unkind attentions of the weatherman were completely overlooked. The bringing together of the citizen-hood in a community affair of this kind is an innovation that could profitably be respected in other entertainments. The originators of last night's event deserve credit for the success that was scored while the action of the Great War Veterans Band in giving their services free of charge and in providing an attractive programme for the dancing earned for Bandmaster Hughes' organization the gratitude of those who participated in the dance and of the spectators as well. It was a happy, jovial, orderly throng, well handled by the police and with not the slightest sign of rowdyism to mar the pleasure of the occasion. Peterboro could stand more public events of the same kind.

MODEST MINISTERS.

The spirit in which the members of the New Cabinet have taken hold of their offices will serve to give them a good start in the gaining of public confidence and respect. 'Let the deeds speak' was the answer of Hon. R. H. Grant, Minister of Education, when asked for an interview and other ministers have been reticent as far as promises are concerned. The sudden development of the farmers' movement has evoked a new and refreshing type of cabinet ministers,—one who does not deal in lavish promises of what he is going to do. Mr. Drury's selections are content to be judged upon their record in office. They are not loading the newspapers with elaborate plans of what they intend to carry out. They will endeavor to be of service to the Province, declare the new ministers. And that is all. It is an attitude that will win them respect from the people whose

GOOD ROADS.

The communication on good roads from the President of the Ontario Motor League, which appears elsewhere in this issue should be of interest to all who have occasion to use the highways of Ontario. The fact that the amount collected from automobile license fees, totalling over $1,500,000, this year would be expended on road work on main highways in the Province be sufficient to secure for Ontario the full amount of the Federal Government's grant is an important factor in the consideration of the good roads question. The treatment of this problem by the new Ontario Government will be awaited with considerable interest. Many farmers have been opposed in the past to the Ontario good roads system, but in view of the remarkable increase in the number of automobiles used by farmers, it is not likely that the new Government will be less progressive in its good roads policy than its predecessor. It is significant that while the number of farmers who owned cars in 1913 was only 966, the figures for 1918 show that farmers headed the occupational list with no fewer than 37,758 farmer-owned cars. That in itself should be a guarantee that Mr. Drury's Government will be alert and sympathetic in its handling of the good roads question.

TO THE LIMIT.

If you have not yet invested in the Victory Loan you have one more opportunity. The Victory Loan Headquarters will be open until a late hour this evening and the city banks are remaining open for the benefit of last minute investors. Every dollar will count. Peterboro needs your investment to put this city in the van in the Victory Loan roll. Canada needs your investment to help pay for the demobilization of the army and for the carrying on of industries. You need the investment as a splendid form of saving. Pride in Peterboro, love of your country, self-interest all should be inducements sufficiently strong to lead to the purchase of Victory Bonds. Peterboro can achieve the objective alloted to this city if those who have not yet invested and are in a position to do so will take the opportunity that is yet available. Take the last chance that is offered and Buy Bonds to the limit to-night. A proper response to this present appeal should see the Peterboro total reach 100 per cent. above the original objective and the aggregate subscription for the county over the three million dollar mark. For the last time Buy Victory Bonds, TO THE LIMIT.

THE LAST CHANCE.

If you have not already done it get in on the Victory Loan this afternoon or to-night, it is the last chance.

NOT A "BONE-DRY" LAW.

The general use of the term "bone-dry legislation" in reference to the liquor laws passed by Parliament before prorogation cannot fail to mislead many citizens who have not studied the measures. There is a widespread belief that Parliament has supplemented the prohibitory laws against the retail sale of liquor as a beverage now in force all over the Dominion, save in the Province of Quebec, by the adoption of a statute preventing the importation of liquor by any citizen of a dry Province for his own use. The supposition is that empty cellars must remain bone-dry under the new law.

This is not the case. Parliament has provided machinery under which the people of any Province that wishes to prevent the importation from another Province, or from abroad, of liquor on the order of a private citizen for his own use may do so by majority vote. To secure the adoption of such a law the Legislature of the Province interested must request the Dominion Government to take a popular vote of the electors on the issue. This request may not be set aside by the Government, but must be granted within three months. Upon the taking of the vote, in which women shall have the same right to participate as men, a bare "Yes" majority will be regarded as a mandate to prevent importation. The Dominion Government, which has sole jurisdiction over interprovincial and foreign trade, will have to cooperate with the Provinces in the enforcement of bone-dry laws, and for this provision has been made. The fear is expressed by representatives of the Dominion Alliance that the new Federal laws which are intended to secure greater respect in wet Provinces for the prohibitory laws in force in adjoining dry Provinces may cause confusion rather than provide beter facilities for law enforcement. Until the text of the new Federal laws is available for comparison with the Provincial laws judgment on this aspect of the case must be reserved.

The fact of most immediate interest is that there is likely to be a period of at least six months' duration, after the declaration of peace and the removal of the existing Federal war restrictions on the shipment of liquor into the country or from a wet Province to a dry, during which period the depleted cellars in the dry Provinces may be stocked up.

The Federal Government may endeavour to continue war-time prohibition for a year after the actual signing of Peace under existing orders-in-Council, but in face of the refusal of the Senate to agree to legislation confirming these orders-in-Council it is doubtful whether any attempt will be made to interfere with the interprovincial traffic in liquor after Peace is formally established with all the belligerent nations.

This being so, the people of Ontario must be prepared for the importation of a good deal of liquor for private use before a vote can be taken to prevent importation permanently. Much of the liquor so imported—ostensibly for private consumption—will find its way into the possession of whisky pedlars. The result will be seen in increasing difficulty in the enforcement of the Provincial law against the sale of intoxicating liquor. One of the big tasks of the Drury Government until a Referendum can be had on the issue of importation—the result of which is not at all in doubt—will be to make sure that the liquor brought into Ontario for private consumption is not intended for the use of the vile law-breakers who make a fat, if precarious, living by the illicit selling of liquor to victims of the drink habit. That will be the most urgent duty of the Provincial law officers until the Legislature can take the steps necessary to the passage by popular vote of a real bone-dry law.—Toronto Globe.

The Hacking Cough
Strains the Lungs

The terrible, hacking, lung-wracking cough that sticks to you in spite of everything you have done to get rid of it is a great source of danger to your health, and the longer it is allowed to stick the more serious the menace becomes.

You can easily get rid of the cough or cold at its inception by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, a remedy that has been universally used throughout Canada for the past 30 years.

Mrs. Samuel Matthews, Portage, P. O., writes:—"Last winter I caught a heavy cold, and was laid up for sometime. I had such a hacking cough I could not sleep at night, and did not think I could ever get over it. One day a friend dropped in to see me, and was surprised to see how bad my cough was. She advised me to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, so the next day I sent for a bottle and soon got relief, and by the time I had taken two bottles, my cough was all gone. I doubt there is anything to equal it."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 25c. and 50c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The Promoter's Wife

BY JANE PHELPS

NEIL'S LIFE'S JOB

CHAPTER CXVII.

Neil really was very brave. He had a staggering load of debt facing him after all was settled. Scott and one or two others whom he owed large amounts were to take payment in installments with interest. When I thought of it I was frightened but never let Neil think I doubted his ability to pay them.

"A life job," he had said once when he spoke of what he owed.

All the small investors had been paid. We had taken a tiny home on Long Island, near enough so Neil could commute cheaply. I was doing my own work, and happy in helping all I could. It had been more of a wrench than I had thought it was going to be to leave our lovely home, and at the end I shed a few tears. But now I was resigned and tried by keeping busy to forget that we had not only lost home, but friends as well. Of all the society people wth whom we had mixed only two or three had called upon me, or noticed my existence in any way after the papers had aired Neil's troubles.

Strangely Mrs. Powers was one of them. It seemed her husband had met Neil in the street, had stormed and spoken with him. Neil had told him he was trying to satisfy his customers ,and Mr. Powers had immediately become interested, and had asked him many questions. He must have seen how penitent Neil was, how anxious to make reparation, and it had softened him toward us Mrs. Powers said, he had told her that Neil was more sinned against than sinning, and tha the had faith in him. She only remained a few moments, but nothing could have happened to give Neil more pleasure. But she and Lorraine Morton were about the only women who sympathized in any way with me. All save Blanche Orton. You see Blanche had lost too. She had lost what Neil had paid her for providing entertainment and suppers for his following.

"I guess I shall have to take boarders," she had said with some bitterness. "I have to live, and can't do anything but manage servants and set a good table. Really it is a crime to bring up a girl to know nothing she can put to use if the necessity arises. Boys are taught something by which they can be independent and earn a decent living. While girls—most of them, are taught they must marry, and a few silly accomplishments on the side."

She looked so lovely even in this petulant mood that I replied:

"You will probably marry again some day."

"You bet I will if I get a chance!" was her astonishing answer. "I'd be a fool not to. But I was going to tell you something. I would like to marry a man I could love. I never really loved Orton, altho he was very good to me. But I married him for his money. I hated poverty always. I guess the Bible is right when it says that "Money is the root of an evil." It has caused all my unhappiness—the love of it I mean, and the lack of it. Oh, well, something will turn up I suppose."

"There surely will. And Mrs. Orton it is wonderful what one can bear and still go on living. It has seemed to me at times that I couldn't bear another single thing. That I must give up. Then something would happen to give me courage again, and I would wonder how I could be so foolish as to think there was nothing but trouble left for me."

She came to see me several times before we left for our new home, and each time I liked her better, discovered new in her. She was capable, clever, and was wasting herself. I told her so, and she while laughing at me, admitted that it was so.

"I eat, sleep and am NOT merry," she misquoted. Then told me she had rented her house for a good price, and that she was going abroad. "One can live on what they would starve on here. I have a little saved. I shall stay as long as my money lasts, then come back." Someway I envied her her careless taking of things which came to her while I knew very well I never could do the same.

I bade her good bye the day she sailed with real regret. As I turned away from the dock I thought what a queer world it is. My eyes were misty at parting with the woman who had at one time made me so miserable—simply because I had misjudged her. I wondered if it were not often so. If we were more charitable, would we not be happier.

To-morrow—Neil is Grateful for Frederick's Help.

WANT ORDER RESCINDED MAKING HULL BONE DRY

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—Mayor Archambault's edict to the effect that Hull must go bone-dry on November 15 and that the sale of beer and wine will no longer be tolerated has caused quite a commotion among the hotel fraternity.

Petitions are in circulation with a view of having Mayor Archambault rescind the order making Hull bone-dry till the first of May, 1920.

WOMEN DOFF TIGHT SKIRTS TO PAINT COLONY CHURCH.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Removing their tight skirts and other ultra-modern apparel which was designed more for fashion than utility, women colonists at Martinsville, in the Watchung Mountains, a few miles from Plainfield, donned old clothes and set to work to paint the Methodist Church, which has weathered many winters with its sombre sides.

Mrs. Harvey J. O'Higgins, wife of an author, led the women painters, and they stood not on order of their going, but climbed forthwith to the topmost rung of the ladder.

Nor did they hesitate because of the masculine jibe that women can't climb, and the church looked spick and span when worshippers arrived. The men of the church, arriving on the 5.15, gave them a supper.

Labour is scarce at Martinsville, and money is needed for other things so far as the church is concerned.

Our Master Instrument— The Organola

THE test of the control Pipes of the Organola is a Band Record or a Quartette.

The ordinary talking machine will reproduce a record of band instruments or quartette as one co-ordinated sound and in doing so loses the beauty and character of the individual instruments or voices. The tone control pipes of the Organola are so tuned that each individual sound—instrumental or voice—is distinctly reproduced because the pipes embrace every note in the scale and vibrate in sympathy as their notes are given forth by the record which happens to be playing.

"Phonola"

Our magnificent "Organola" model is the only phonograph equipped with a full set of tone control pipes. The aid of these pipes in the true and harmonious reproduction of tones has made the Organola the master instrument of the phonograph world and a triumph to the true lovers of music.

If you have not heard the "Organola" an artistic treat is awaiting you.

Hear it at our dealers, or write us.

EDISON PRAISES TEDDY ROOSEVELT

Inventor Issues An Appeal for Support of Memorial Fund

ORANGE, N.J.,—This appeal been issued by Thomas A. Edison for support of the Roosevelt Memorial Fund:

"Our country has never produced a greater American than Theodore Roosevelt. In every phase of his official acts he typified the very spirit of America. A virile manhood from first to last, courageous in his convictions and fearless in action, he stood as a sturdy representative of the essence of Americanism. His memory should and will be perpetuated to all time as a shining example to the people of the country he loved so well."

HEALTH FOR THE BABY

The baby of to-day is the man or woman of to-morrow. Thus the success of the future man or woman depends upon the baby's present welfare. If the baby is sickly and ill-nourished it is not to be expected that he will grow into a strong, active man who will hold his own in the business world a few years hence. Mothers it is a duty you owe the future to keep your little ones well now. This can be easily done if Baby's Own Tablets are kept in the house. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus make baby healthy and strong. Concerning them Mrs. W. Orser, Elginburg, Ont., writes: "I have a fine healthy boy three years and have used Baby's Own Tablets for him ever since he was a small baby. I certainly think them a splendid medicine." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WAR PROFITS FOR CONFISCATION

LONDON.—Papers of every political opinion are supporting Lord Beaverbrook's campaign in favor of taxing war profits to a point of confiscation. His prediction in to-day's Express that such a levy would produce $5,000,000,000, finds general agreement. Most of the organs consider the argument irrestible that a war-fortunes tax would both reduce luxury-spending and help bring down prices.

It is broadly hinted that Lord Beaverbrook's attitude is governmentally-inspired, and that the Express campaign is intended to test financial opinion. Viscount Northcliffe's Daily Mail urges haste, as there is reason to believe that much capital is leaving the country. The treasury is asked to enquire into the status and ownership in Canada of what are known as "holding companies," which, with relatively small capital, are used to take over securities of rich men and thus conceal a great deal of income which may be liable to the war-fortunes' tax.

The Mail says it is known in Canada that a considerable number of wealthy Britishers are evading the income tax by this means. An ordinary capital levy, which is an alternative to the war profits' tax, now finds little support outside of labor circles, it being considered too dangerous a precedent to pass on to a socialistic government which would enforce this levy in times other than those of national emergency.

NO FARM LABOUR AT $5.00 A DAY.

JACKSON, Mich., Nov. 13.—Five dollar a day and board is being offered for farm labour in Jackson County, and there are no takers. The labour situation, so far as the farms are concerned, is the most critical in the history of the county.

The lure of the city and the high wages paid by factories is taking the younger men from agricultural pursuits. It is asserted that the return of soldiers from overseas has not helped the labour shortage. Farmers are compelled to handle their work without help, and much of it is undone.

It is predicted that unless aid is forthcoming, prouce prices are going higher.

Solve this Puzzle!

FOR Johnny's birthday his mother presented him with a dandy rifle, and Johnny took the four targets that came with the rifle and went out to the back yard to try his skill. Shortly after, his mother goes out too to quietly marvel that Johnny knew how to use his gun. Upon examining the targets showing all the holes made by the bullets, and being a quick-thinking woman, she exclaimed: "Why, Johnny, what a good shot you are—and do you know that you have made every target spell a word! Can you tell me what each target spells?"

Can YOU Puzzle It Out?

Johnny couldn't, so his mother told him HOW TO DO IT. Each target spells a word. Each circle of each target shows a number of bullet holes, one in each circle represents a letter. The number of holes indicates the position of that letter in the alphabet. For instance: "A" would be represented by one hole, "B" by two holes, "C" by three holes, and so on.

After you have worked out all the letters that are represented in each word, you will find that they are not in their proper order. Put them into their proper order to spell out correctly the names of the four things wanted.

In order to help you, we will tell you that the letter represented by the middle circle of first target is "A," because "A" is the first letter of the alphabet. This is not as easy puzzle, but with perseverance you can work it out—and the prizes are worth trying for.

Copy your answer upon a plain white of out of paper as neatly as you can, because neatness, spelling, handwriting and punctuation count if ranks them and counted in contest. Put your name and address in the top right-hand corner of the paper. If you have to write a letter, or show anything else, put it upon a separate sheet of paper. We will write as soon as your answer is received and tell you if your solution is correct, and also send you a complete illustrated list of the grand prizes that you can win.

THE PRIZES:

First Prize - Genuine Culver Chummy Racer, value	$200.00
Second Prize - Magnificent Gold Watch and Chain, or Girl's Wrist Watch, value	25.00
Third Prize - Genuine Autographic Kodak Folding Camera, value	20.00
Fourth Prize - Solid Gold Ring for Boy or Girl, value	15.00
Fifth Prize - - Moving Picture Machine, with Films, value	10.00
Sixth to Tenth Prize - Self-Filler Fountain Pens, value, each	2.50

And 2,000 Extra Special Prizes Valued at $3,000.00.

What Others Have Done, YOU Can Do!

Here are the names of only a few of the boys and girls to whom we have already awarded big prizes:

Shetland Pony and Cart—Helen Smith, Edmonton.
Shetland Pony—Emerson Hughes, Moosomin, Sask.
$150.00 Cash—Lyle Benson, Hamilton, Ont.
$50.00 Cash—Helen Bennett, Junction, Alta.

$25.00 Kastman Kodak—Frankie Kirby, Three Hills, Alta.
$11.00 Bracelet Watch—Mary Procter, Vancouver, B.C.
$10.00 Doll and Carriage—Eva Gamas, North Bay, Ont.

We will send you the names of many others too. Only boys and girls under 17 years of age may send answers, and each boy and girl will be required to perform a small service for us.

The contest will close on June 30, 1920, at 5.30 p.m. Send your answers this very evening.

OKLAHOMA BOOSE FATAL TO MANY

MADE FROM A RECIPE FURNISHED BY LOCAL DRUGGIST—THE LATTER IS IN PRISON.

SULPHUR, Okla., Nov. 14.—Two deaths at Purcell, three at Mariotta, one in Oklahoma City, one in Kay County, and several others in different parts of the State have resulted from drinking booze made from a recipe of an Oklahoma City druggist, according to claims of officials here.

The disclosure was made at the hearing of Bob Churchill, who was bound over to the District Court on a charge of selling wood alcohol for human consumption.

Police officers promise sensational facts at the trial scheduled for next month.

The recipe calls for one gallon of wood alcohol and a cube of magnesia the mixture is allowed to age twenty minutes, after which a match is touched to the stuff. After filtering, it is ready to drink.

The State chemist testified at the hearing that one ounce was sufficient to cause death in twenty minutes.

The liquor is alleged to have been sold by the druggist in almost every county in the State.

INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESSES AT PETERBORO DISTRICT EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENTION

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR THE ENSUING YEAR—SESSIONS HELD YESTERDAY AFTERNOON AND EVENING—MISSION SCHOOLS.

PLEA FOR MISSIONS

At the annual convention of the Peterborough District Epworth League held yesterday the officers elected for the ensuing years were:

Hon. President—Rev. A. J. Thomas
President—Rev. A. McLauchlin, B. A.
1st Vice President —Mr. J. Kennett.
2nd Vice President—Mr. T. D. N. Kelly.
3rd Vice President —Miss Grace Burke.
4th Vice President—Harold Lee.
5th Vice President—Miss Pearl Burnham, Millbrook.
Secretary—Miss Elliott.
Treasurer—Mrs. Morton.

The Sections

The day was divided into three sections; each devoted to important Epworth League business. Part of the afternoon was occupied by a meeting of District Committee of Religious Education with the president Rev. J. E. Beckel in the chair; part with the conference of the Epworth League with Mr. G. H. Griffin in thechair and lastly the District Epworth League Convention with Rev. A .McLauchlin in the chair.

Evening Session

At the evening session at which a rally of all young people's societies was held Rev. F. E. Malott occupied the chair and the evening's programme proved a most interesting, uplifting and instructive one. After the opening exercises a series of four ten minute departmental conferenee were held and many valuable hints were given to the members of the different organizations. In the course of his remarks on Citizership Mr. G. H. Griffin of Belleville, President of the Conference Leagues spoke of the need of a wider knowledge of the municipal, provincial and federal laws to fit the young people for the positions in the government that they would posibly take in later life. He stated that he is a personal friend of the new Premier of Ontario and feels sure that Premier Drury wishes that he had a wider knowledge of the laws of Canada in taking his new position.

Following Mr. Griffin's address and a solo by Miss Succee. the new officers of the District Epworth League were introduced by Rev. Mr. McLauchlin.

Interesting Address

Mrs. E. W. Hibbart of Chentu, China, who has recently returned from the mission fields gave a most interesting talk on conditions in China and the way in which the young people's societies might assist in correcting the objectionable practices in the country. After congratulating the Epworth League upon the strides it has made even in the years she had been in China, Mrs. Hibbart made a strong plea for workers in the mission fields. In speaking of the laws of Confuscius, she said, that he thought very little of women—that they are not even considered worth educating. But not withstanding this their lives are not as hard as those of the Turkish women, the Chinese women having a little more light and freedom. There are, however, two factors which make the life of Chinese women hard; the binding of feet of which cruel custom nobody knows the origin and the marriage laws which compel women to marry who ever her father ir gaurdian desires. Marriage is made on a money making basis, she said.

Mission Schools

In speaking of the mission schools in China and what they have done towards Christianizing the country she told of the two things she would have of the Epworth League. First she said their prayer is needed, and second money. She concluded by reminding all societies that they have an opportunity for service in co-operating with the mission endeavours in China.

At the conclusion of her address Mrs. Hibbart was presented with a bouquet of chrysanthemums.

Plea for Missions

In a stirring address Mr. C. S. Applegath of Port Hope, made an earnest plea for missionaries in the home and in the foreign fields and emphasized the fact that there is today a call greater than ever before for service and sacrific. He said in conclusion that the call to the Epworth League to-day is "God Wants You" and asked the members to listen to the summons.

AN INDICATION OF AGE

The ducking and peering which some women do in order to put off wearing bi-focal lenses by continuing to wear their old single vision lenses is as much an indication of age as the bi-focals which they dread.

As a matter of fact some bi-focals are so made that it is almost impossible to detect that they are two vision lenses.

We would be glad to show them to you.

A Summary of the Election Results

THE HEARST CANDIDATES RECEIVED MORE THAN THE COMBINED VOTES OF THE U.F.O. AND LABOUR CANDIDATES.

Special to the Examiner:

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—The Hearst candidates in the election a month ago secured more votes than the combined votes of the U.F.O. and Labour candidates. That is one result of the most peculiar election ever held in Ontario. Official returns have been received at the Parliament Buildings from all but six of the 111 ridings, and by including with these the unofficial returns for the ridings not reporting, the following grand totals are secured:

	Number Candidates	Candidates Elected.
Cons.	102	26	386,786
Liberals	70	14	[illegible]
U.F.O.	73	44	256,874
Laborites	22	11	127,006
Independent	15	1	46,086
Totals	282	111	1,153,567

Eight of these were candidates endorsed by both the U. F. O. and Labour. According to these figures, the Conservatives throughout the Province secured 2,936 more votes than did the Coalition candidates, who received a total of 383,970. The two old parties between them received 723,711 out of the 1,153,567 votes polled, but secured only 54 seats, while the Coalition, with 383,970 votes, captured 56 seats, the popular majority of the old parties over the Coalition candidates is 339,741. The explanation of these remarkable facts lies in the fact that a much smaller number of votes will elect in the rural than in the urban ridings, also the Conservatives had candidates in nearly every riding, while the U.F.O. and Liberals alternated, the latter withdrawing their candidates or not naming any in 41 ridings.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth); then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, this mixture saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. FAMOUS PAINTING SOLD IN LONDON FOR BIG SUM.

BRITISH PRISONERS STARVE.

Red Cross Official Says Their Plight at Moscow is Terrible.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 14. — The head of the British Red Cross here tells me that some 350 British prisoners of the Bolsheviki are in a terrible state of hunger and destitution at Moscow. An attempt to get two tons of food supplies through to them via Finland, being so far blocked at the Finnish frontier. He added that unless exchanged speedily none would survive the winter.

Opinion here outside of Socialist circles appears unanimous that there will be no industrial peace in the world until the Russian Soviet Government is eliminated. Asked what he thought of M. Scavenius's assertion that Red propaganda was aimed rather against the workmen's leaders than the employers, a member of a great transatlantic company said:

"There is no doubt whatever that this is the case. The dock strike here, which was proved beyond question to have a Bolshevist origin, affords a close parallel with recent troubles in New York in that the aim was to cause rioting and military intervention, which would intensify the cleavage between the easily manipulated labour masses and their more conservative organized chiefs."

VICTORY LOAN DANCE WAS HELD IN SPITE OF STORM

SEVERAL HUNDRED CITIZENS TOOK PART IN THE EVENT—THE HOT DOG BRIGADE.

The Victory Loan Committee's big Community Dance was a howling snowstorm. One right after another they came but not hard enough to quench the enthusiasm of Young Peterborough. Once the Great War Veterans hand under the baton of Bandmaster Hughes, got the dance music well underway, few there were who could resist the temptation to weather the storms and glide along the asphaltic and snowy way. It was a great night for young folks—and many of the older ones, and the official chroniciler of the event would right here thank His Worship Mayor Duncan for geting the hop off to a right royal start by making a short speech through medium of a megaphone, and Ald. Harry Phelan who helped in the festivities to the extent of snow-plowing with fair partners and encourage others to do likewise.

The Old Pep.

Early in the evening, there were doubts that the 'dawnce' could be put on but the same old spirit that helped win the first Prince of Wales flag for Peterborough and will bring the Victory Loan subscriptions for all Peterborough up to the three million mark, won the day, and it was decided to carry on. City Engineer Parsons was early on the scene with a number of men, and the police officers were there too. Lads who were having the time of their lives on the highly "waxed" floor joined the sweeping brigade and soon most of the snow of one of the storms was packed away in the gutter.

Then another situation arose. It was too stormy for the band to do justice to themselves, so Mr. Harry Dahn, chairman of the "stunts" committee of the Victory Loan organization, had to arrange for a room. Mr F. H. Dobbin was reached by telephone and the headquarters of the Patriotic Fund were secured, and there the musicians lodged for the evening. At half time, they were treated to "hot dogs" by the members of the Business Girls Club. Incidently it might be said that the Business Girls and the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E., did some good work towards the success of the affair.

A Good Time.

Now to return to the feature event. It demonstrated that there is nothing new under the sun—especially in dance steps. If there are any others, dancing masters have yet to produce them. What the dancers lacked in originality, the snow and the slippery floor contributed, and the several thousand spectators laughed till their sides hurt them. But slips and spills didn't worry the revelers a bit; they only added to the fun. One and all one-stepped, side-stepped, walsed and fox-trotted to their heart's content. When it was all over, each and every one agreed that it was a good night's fun, and when Mr. W. H. Bradburn, county chairman of the Loan organization went to the Patriotic Fund rooms and cordially thanked the band for their contribution, the bandsmen said they had as much fun as the dancers.

TONIC TREATMENT FOR THE NERVES

Neuralgia and Other Severe Nervous Disorders Cured Through the Blood.

In many severe nervous disorders the best remedy is often a tonic. The most active tonic treatment is recommended by the highest medical authority to arrest the progress of such disease. Dr. Williams Pink Pills are a tonic that acts on the nerves through the blood, which carries to the nerves the elements needed to build them up and restore them to a normal condition.

Neuralgia, sciatica, nervous headaches and a number of more severe nervous troubles are properly treated by building up the blood with Dr. Williams Pink Pills and are often entirely cured in this way. If you are nervous you can help yourself by refusing to worry, by taking proper rest and sleep, by avoiding excesses and by taking out-of-door exercise. For medicine take Dr. Williams Pink Pills and you will soon notice the beneficial effect of this tonic in every part of the system. Miss Annie L. Johnston, R.R. No. 1, Listowel, Ont., is one of the numerous sufferers from nervous troubles who has found a cure through Dr. Williams Pink Pills Miss Johnson says:—"For a long time I was a severe sufferer from nervous troubles, with the result that I grew very pale and weak. Medical treatment did not help me, and various medicines had no beneficial effect until a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills. I began their use and took the pills regularly for several months with the result that I not only gained in weight but have recovered my full health and strength. I cannot praise Dr. Williams Pink Pills too highly for what they have done for me."

To build up the blood there is one remedy that has been a household word for a generation, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They tone up the entire system, make the blood rich and red, strengthen the nerves, increase the appetite, put color in the cheeks and lips and drive away that unnatural, tired feeling. Plenty of sunlight, good wholesome food and fresh air will do the rest. You can get Dr. Williams Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FRENCH SEE NO WRONG IN DEMANDING COWS

GERMANY HAVING TAKEN 500,000 FROM THEM THEY THINK THEY SHOULD HAVE 90,000 BACK.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—People here are regarding with amazement the sympathetic consideration given by Lord Parmoor and the British committee to the German plea that the enemy be not compelled to restore any of the cows stolen from France during the war because of the suffering that would be caused to German babies. The French argue that as the war was the direct result of the unprovoked attack on the peaceful neighbors by the fathers of these German babies the first call on the cows belongs to the French babies who are dying today because the Germans rendered it impossible for them to get milk.

The Ministry of Agriculture informed me to-day that during the war Germans carried off over a million horned cattle from the occupied districts of France. Of these 320,000 were milking cows. The Peace Conference imposed on the Germans the obligation of handing back 90,000, or less than one for every eighteen they stole from France.

"The German plea," said an indignant Frenchman to me to-day, typical of the middle class refugee from St. Quentin, who has lost every cent he owned, "is as impudent as it is hypocritical. The American do not even realize the terrible conditions in North France as a result of the war. The vast majority of our children, in spite of the magnificent work the American committee is doing, do not taste fresh milk once a week. Here and there one finds a milch cow that has been sent to us from America or England, but the principal sustenance of the thousands of children is condensed milk. Even that is by no means always obtainable. TThousands of prisoners, too, who have come back from the horrors of German prisons, nothing but skin and bones, have died through want of milk and other nourishing foods which are indispensable to them to regain their strength. Occasionally it is possible to buy a chicken, but never under between $4 or $5.

"In both America and England, I am afraid, you have heard so much about our ruined houses you have got tired of them. I believe the actual physical misery of our people in regard to food, clothing and shelter, especially now that bad weather has come, is far worse than is generally realized by the happy people of uninvaded America. The fact that there can be a single person in England to lend an ear to the plea that it is their duty to preserve the lives of the children of our enemies at the expense of French children seems incredible. The Peace TTreaty calls for only 90,000 anway, and they stole over half a million ofour cows. Some of these stolen cows were used to feed the German troops but the greater proportion was carried into Germany and now forms a part of the national supply bf cattle. The Germans not only deprived us of immediate milk and butter but ruined our breeding stocks. They had, moreover, the benefit of calves bred from our cows during the past five years.

"The fact that German babies may be deprived of milk if these cattle are restored to France is, even even from a humanitarian point of view, a matter of entirely secondary importance in view of the much more heart-breaking fact that French babies are dying to-day for want of the very milk the Germans are getting. Remember that these pitiful babies are all we have to look to to replace so far as possible the million and a half men, the flower of our race, who were killed in the war. Lord Parmoor and his committee seem to think Germany, not France, is their ally. If the German babies want milk that is the fault of their fathers. Ours have indisputable prior claims".

COMPLETELY GRIPPLED

Terrible Experience of Mr. J. Harrop

It is seldom that anyone who has been continually exposed to every weather condition does not contract some form of Kidney or Rheumatic trouble. In many cases, cold, settling in the kidneys, so weakens these important organs that they are unable to filter the waste and poison out of the blood. The latter is carried throughout the body, causing uric acid to accumulate in the joints, with consequent rheumatism, stiff joints, swollen ankles, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, constipation, torturing pains in back and side and head. These ills can all be made right. Gin Pills give quick, certain and sure relief. Read what Mr. J. Harrop writes to us:—

"I have been crippled up so completely that I could not stand. Work was out of the question. A few doses of Gin Pills put me right. I cannot praise Gin Pills too much, and every home should have a box."

Gin Pills can help you. If you suffer from backache, or have that dreadful feeling of lassitude, with floating specks before the eyes, highly-colored urine, stone in the bladder and general debility, get Gin Pills at once. At all druggists or dealers, 50c. Money refunded if you are not relieved. A sample large enough to demonstrate the value, free on request.

A Pealing Anthem Swells the Note of Praise

From Music Dealers, and from hundreds of people who have bought Curtiss Aeronolas since we placed them on the market a few weeks ago, there has come to us a spontaneous note of praise for its musical quality and artistic beauty. The is a fine talking machine. When you see and hear it you will agree with us. We can best express it, perhaps, by saying that every refinement in the talking machine art has been successfully incorporated into the design and manufacture of the Curtiss Aeronola.

The Reproducer, the Tone Arm, the Tone Chamber, the specially designed Horn and the motor are the finest that money can buy. And they have been so blended with perfect cabinet-making as to insure a musical instrument that is truly "The Last Word in Talking Machines."

But there is nothing that can be said about any musical instrument that can do justice to its qualities or defects. It must be seen and heard to be appreciated.

We urge you, therefore, to go to the music dealer you ordinarily patronize and ask him to demonstrate the Curtiss Aeronola to you. Don't be put off with any other machine. Insist on seeing and hearing the Aeronola.

If it so happens that he hasn't any in stock, ask him for us that we will ship all four models to him on the day his order is received at the factory.

ADVANTAGES OF GOOD SCHOOLS

Fifty, perhaps twenty-five years ago, people were discussing the debt which the school owed to the community. It was not an uncommon thing for a bragging taxpayer to boast of the fact that the teachers of the schools were indebted to him for their wages mainly thru the charity of the community in which they taught. The schools in the small towns and villages were rude structures with no conveniences. The people would have considered it a sinful waste of money to put in modern improvements, such as scientific laboratories, gymnasiums and special vocational courses. Even in the cities when these things were granted it was usually with the air of humoring a few foolish dreamers.

But how these ideas have changed in the past few years; A good school is a live wire in any community. They have a greater connection with the outside world than almost any other unit in the community and their spirit is more widely felt. If that spirit is a boosting spirit the results are surprising. After graduation the students go their various ways—some to college or professional schools—some to farm or otherwise make their living in other communities. If they go with a spirit to boost their home town what a tremendous advantage it is for that town. Think of the people they will meet who are perhaps looking for just such a town. And the teachers what of them? They are constantly changing their positions, and if you have treated them as you should and they see that your town is a live and gowing thing they are not going to keep still about it when they go to another community to teach. Neither will they keep still if the opposite condition is true.

This is only one of the advantages of good schools—and we might say a minor one. Think of the good citizens your school gives you. Think how it builds up your young people's civic pride—how it teaches them right thinking and right living. And it is only by right thinking and right living that we can ever hope to achieve success for ourselves or for our town or for our country. Don't grow "hard-shelled" toward the blessings of a good school in your community for they are many and varied.

Many young people, and older ones too for that matter, take a very strange attitude toward their work—thier jobs, perhaps we should say In the first place, since those of us who have to work for a living spend the greater part of our lives at it, our work should interest us. Most of us are actually working at least eight hours a day, and eight hours we spend in sleep supposedly. That leaves us eight hours to eat, tend to a few necessary things, and get what amusement we can out of life, supposing that we find our work uninteresting. Knowing this, why is it that so many people take work simply for a job and they do not seem to care particularly whether it interests them or not. It is merely a job, and they look forward to closing time as if it meant a release from prison. Now there are plenty of jobs in the world, jobs to fit all kinds of people, and you might just as well be enjoying those eight hours that you spend each day working, as to have them drag their slow and uninteresting way to an end. Get a job that fits you and then keep it.

This idea of changing jobs is a very wrong one but it is evidently quite common. It is a poor recommendation to any employer. Even though you may have left all your positions voluntarily it looks a little strange to him, and also he may not wish to hire anyone who is likely to "jump his job" at any minute. Then in the second place if you change jobs so often, you never give one job time enough to develop so that you can really tell whether you like it or not. And you never give your employer time enough to develop you. Though you may have the greatest faith in your own powers, he knows nothing about them, and he's not going to take your word far it. You have got to show him by actual work what you can do and that you are able to fill a higher position and claim a higher wage, before he is going to give it to you. So don't be in such a hurry to change. Get an interesting job and one for which you are fitted and you won't want to change.

True happiness is not found in one's hands tearing one's flesh to reach some coveted goal away up on the rocky moutain side. It is found in stopping now and then to pluck a flower that grows beside the upward way. To-day holds many beauties for those who will stop a minute to analyze and enjoy them. To-morrow they may have fled away.

If people allow themselves to grow old at heart, they must not complain if youth and enteprise push them aside. A young man at seventy is a possibilty, and since the possibilty exists it becomes a duty.

ANY WOMAN'S STRUGGLE FOR GOOD HEALTH QUICKLY REWARDED

A SIMPLE HOME TREATMENT NOW ADVOCATED THAT GIVES FINE RESULTS.

When a woman's face grows haggard and pale, when she is tired all day and ready to cry when night comes, she ought to now something is wrong.

Putting off only make matters worse. The best advice we can give any sickly woman is to test out the following treatment.

At the close of every meal, with a sip or two of water, take two chocolate-coated Ferrozone Tablets. This seems to be the best thing going for folks that are tired out, run-down and in need of a strengthening, building-up medicine.

Ferrozone's action aids the three principal functions of the body—digestion, assimilation, eliminition.

By strengthening digeston it forms an abundance of rich, red blood—this gives good color.

By perfecting assimilation, Ferrozone supplies nutrition—this gives strength, vim, stability.

Elimination is assured because Ferrozone quickens the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels—this guarantees the maintenance of vigorous health.

Ferrozone puts you on the right road—the one that leads to health.

Not a man, woman or child needing blood, vigor, endurance—not a person who is weak, nervous or sickly, not a person in ill-health who won't receive immediate help from Ferrozone.

As a tonic and restorative, as a health-bringer and body-builder, Ferrozone is unrivalled. It cures because it feeds and nourishes, because it contains the elements that build up and strengthen. Try it yourself—sold everywhere in 50 cent boxes, 6 boxes for $2.50, or by mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Edith—Dear Jack is so forgetful.
Maud—Isn't he? I had to keep reminding him that it's you he's engaged to and not me.

FEARS LOSS OF PRESTIGE

PARIS, Nov. 11.—To-day, one year after the roar of cannon died down along the line which stretched from Switzerland to the North Sea, peace has not yet come to the world. Then the Allies were united in the common cause of world justice; now, according to opinion here, they are divided by their personal interests.

Backstair politics and intrigue, it is felt have halted the work of the Peace Conference until it stumbles along day after day and gets no nearer the solution of the problems that confront it. Common faith has been replaced by common suspicion and war of diplomats has split Europe into many more parts than the war of armies did.

A year ago Europe looked to America as a saviour and guide. To-day ready for peace and needing a peace, Europe fumes and frets at America because the Senate withholds action on the treaty, and the uncertainty of the Washington situation reflects itself over here in indecision and confusion over what should be done. The Allies dread going ahead with the treaty enforcement without America, and they fear America will not give the help they counted on.

It was France that paid the biggest price in the winning of the war, and it is France that pjays the biggest price in waiting for peace. France needs most the fruits of victory and of the resumption of normal life in Europe. Having paid the price of nearly two million men to gain victory, France finds herself to-day crippled, financially and economically.

The spirit of France, the spirit that won the war, is being adulterated with the poison of Bolshevism. Strike follows strike in monotonous consistency. Silent factories and darkened streets and stilled tramways and shivering thousands mark the fuel shortage. Mounting prices that never cease climbing strain the economic situation day by day.

France looks in vain for the fruits of victory that a year ago to-day seemed almost within her grasp.

Lausanne Sees Victory Lost.

Stephane Lausanne, editor of Le Matin, has written for publication to-day a solemn warning to his country. A strike in the newspaper printing establishments prevented its wide circulation.

"A year ago at 11 o'clock in the morning," he writes, "the tumult which had filled four years of history stopped suddenly. Blood ceased to flow.

"To the sudden silence upon the battlefield there was the answer of the great shouting of joy in the cities. People kissed one another, they danced they sang in all the cities.

"It was joy like no other joy. It was joy mixed with tears for the people who had succeeded in hiding their grief since 1914 let themselves weep. It was joy which seemed to mark the end of an era, to change a people of conquered into a people of conquerors, and which should repay France for all her sorrows.

"To-day we do not celebrate the anniversary of victory.

"The Govehnment has not wished to do so.

"Does it fear to emphasize the disillusionment of a people which no longer believes in its victory?

"On the eleventh of November 1918, the pound sterling was worth 26 French francs. On the eleventh of November 1919, it is worth 38. The American dollar was worth 5 francs 40. Now it is worth more than 9 francs.

"The 11th of November 918, France was the first nation of the world. She seemed destined to father a civilization around her and to resume her historic mission, which was always to mark the road for the peoples of the world.

"Had not her soldiers at the Marne saved the world? Had not she supplied the chiefs who had just led the Allies to victory?

"There remained for her only after having succeeded in the strategy of war to succeed in the strategy of peace. It seemed she was prepared by her history for this. She is the country of equilibrium and balance.

Says Her Prestige Has Vanished.

"She had the prestige that the defeat sof 1814, of 1815 and of 1870 could not destroy, that the victory of 1918 has just renewed.

"It was her revolution, it was her code, it was her art which had renewed, refreshed, and charmed the universe. Her inventions has nourished all sciences, her ideas had served all free intellects, there was not upon earth a summit where she had not played her role, not a Calvary whose steps were not marked with her blood.

"And here she is the year after alone upon the Rhine, having solved neither the Russian problem nor her own problem, since she awaits still the first reparations from Germany, since she is yet in ignorance of the sum which will come to her from the first twenty-five billions, which should be paid before 1921 by Germany to the Allies.

"There is something sorrowful in this incertitude," writes Louis Perchau. "Yes, because our troubles increase, And one asks—if we were not able to obtain our rights day after day when our allies were upon our territory, before our ruins still warm before our wounds still open, of what account to-day are the declarations of Ministers who promise us our rights to morrow when the international agreement shall have been reached less bloody but almost pitiless than the war?

"For if this day inclines to meditation, on that degree, it inclines us to despair.

AEROPLANE IS ON THE BOOZE ROUTE.

A despatch from Ottawa says that an aeroplane has been making regular trips between Montreal and Gatineau Point carrying liquor for a bootlegging distribution headquarters at that place. One hundred gallons of alcohol are brought each trip and that means over three hundred gallons of moonshine after manipulation by the bootleggers. Publicity will likely spoil the aerial trade, as far as Gatineau Point is concerned at least.

SOME MYSTERIOUS THEFTS OF DIAMONDS.

$400,000 worth of precious stones, in transit between London and Ceylon have disappeared. This is said to be the biggest robbery of its kind between London and the East, though there have been many greater between other places. The famous pearl necklace case between London and Paris of a few years ago, in which the pearls were replaced by lump sugar, involved an amount of $740,000.

There is a remarkable resemblance between this case and that on the Nagoya, which occurred last July. On that occasion diamonds worth $250,000 were stolen from the vessel in transit to India.

"The Water of Eternal Youth"

The beauties of the Austrian court of bygone days used a lotion which was so effectual in keeping the face smooth and free from wrinkles, even in the aged, they named it the "water of eternal youth."

Some one recently has divulged the secret of this wonderful, though exceedingly simple, wrinkle lotion, which in her gratitude she has similarly dubbed a preserver of youth: One ounce pure saxolite (powdered), dissolved in a half pint witch hazel—that's all there is to it. Any woman can get these ingredients at her drug-store, put them together, and use the solution with entire safety. To bathe the face in the same brings immediate results, even in case of the deeper wrinkles and furrows. This is also effective for hanging cheeks and double chin.

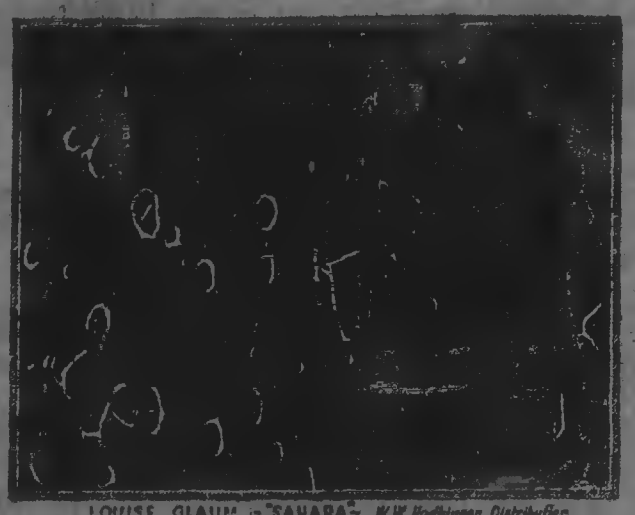
CAIRO'S STREET OF BEGGARS VISUALIZED

In Cairo, in the magnificent Palace of the Dawn, lived Mignon, the butterfly creature who craved admiration. Every material want was hers, yet she was unhappy. Around the corner was the Street of Beggars, where dwelt stark poverty, deadly disease and filth beyond description, and there, in that terrible hovel of sorrow, the woman who sought happiness in giving to the poor found in it a begging child and an old demented, hasheesh-drugged man whose one idea was to find and kill the woman who deserted him. These miserable creatures are her husband and child.

So beautiful are the lighting and tinting effects in "Sahara," starring the magnetic Louise Glaum, that even the morbid scene described above is made an artistic picture that pleases the eye as much as the scenes of splendor in the Palace of the Dawn.



LOUISE GLAUM in "SAHARA" W. W. Hodkinson Distribution

"Sahara" will be shown at the Allen Theatre on Monday and Tuesday. To conceive an idea of the magnificent gowns and splendor of the scenes, attention is called to the photographic display at Richard Hall & Sons' window and at the Allen Theatre display window.

MARY PICKFORD HERE ON MONDAY

WILL APPEAR AS "JUDY" IN "DADDY" LONG LEGS"—LEARNS LESSON FROM HARD CIDER JUG.

Quaint Humour Injected into Screen Version of Famous Story and Play by Director Marshall Neilan.

One of the funniest of all the humorous things with which Mary Pickford's new and best feature, "Daddy Long Legs," which will be seen at the Grand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, is loaded in a series of scenes in which Mary, as Judy Abbott, takes too much hard cider.

The funny little "drunk" is not indulged in by Judy Abbott, the orphan child Miss Pickford plays, with malice aforethought. It happens that she and a funny little orphan with a very freckled face have just lead a "prune strike" in which they have sought to obtain better food for the children of the asylum, who are fed on thin soup and prunes.

Prohibition Matron Spoils "Jag."

The tyrannical head matron has won the battle, being a large woman able to dominate the cowering little waifs who are charges of the institution, and to punish Judy, and the little boy who aided her in encouraging the children to strike, the matron puts them out in the yard with nothing to eat. A thief who has been stealing from a passing waggon throws over the fence a jug of hard cider, and some sandwiches.

Judy and the boy have been praying for food. They think this dropped from Heaven, and proceed to eat and drink without inquiring into the nature of the donation. So it happens that in the most innocent way both children become "happy." Miss Pickford's portrayal of the surprised Judy, who punishes her enemies, gives jam to all the children and defies the ogre of a matron is wonderfully done.

It is only one of the masterful "bits" she does in this picture which carries Judy, the orphan from her birth to her marriage to a rich man who sends her to college.

"EXPERIENCE"

The spectacular morality play, "Experience" which has been aptly called "America's Pilgrim's Progress", will be presented by P. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest at Grand Opera House, Thursday evening only.

Certainly George V. Hobart achieved a new classic when he adapted the framework of the ancient morality play to the modern stage, but instead of imitating the old begies of Bunyan's day,—"The Giant Despair" and "Death on a pale horse," he peopled his play with modern types, who talk up-to-date "wise chatter" instead of the doleful stilted blank-verse dialogue of the old times.

Youth, instead of "Christian," starts out on the pilgrimage of life, but instead of being befogged by doctrinal doubts and seeking salvation, he is frankly in pursuit of happiness, a right guaranteed to everybody by the American Declaration of Independence. He meets such real perils and temptations as beset the average youth of to-day from any small town who goes to the big city to seek his fortune. These influences are named after their leading traits—for instance: Pleasure, Slander, Fashion, Beauty, Deceit, Excitement, Frivolity, Passion, Intoxication, Poverty,—but if they were labelled with conventional patronymics the play would be a regular drama, instead of a spectacular allegory in true dramatic form.

Impersonated by the specially selected cast of character actors and stage beauties who typify all the feminine graces, the ... rivals the finest Follies for its color, comeliness and comedy, while on the dramatic side it is as tense and thrilling as Shakespeare while retaining many old stage favorites, the management has reinforced the cast with a number of an-coming young recruits.

Messrs. Comstock and Gest, original producers of "Experience, have provided for its sixth season revival a complete new equipment of novel scenic and lighting effects, and, what will interest the ladies more, Grand new costumes of the latest imported Paris and London models, such as have not been seen even on Broadway as yet.

CHECKING HATS A PAYING GAME

MORE PROFITABLE IN NEW YORK THAN RUNNING TRACTION LINES.

NEW YORK.—There is a very pretty blonde at the hatrack in one of the big uptown dining rooms. She has a lure—oh, she has a wicked lure!—in her eyes of cerulean blue. She smiles never so sweetly. The man who can regain his hat from her without slipping her a dime is a hard-hearted, soulless, emotionless wretch, who never knew what it is to have his pulses stirred by the vision of pure womanhood. Some of the men who dine there often press a quarter into her soft palm. The touch of her tender little fingers fills them with vague aspirations. For at least an hour they feel the uplift.

Of course, the girl doesn't keep the dime. She drops it into the slit in the lid of a box provided for that purpose, it not being practicable to provide pocketless clothes for the hat-check girls, as in the old days of the Greek slaves. Or else she steps into the shadow of the rack and passes it to a dark gentleman lurking there.

SYSTEM OF ESPIONAGE.

The house detective watches the dark man to see to it that no one stops long enough in his vicinity to make a dime transfer possible. Then the spotter watches the house detective. Each is an item in New York hat-check organization which produces considerably more profit each year than do the traction roads of New York.

"That sounds high," I said to the statistician who gave me these facts.

"Hat checking in New York is paying 5 per cent. on a capitalization of at least fifty million dollars," said he. "The traction roads are not."

HAT-CHECKING COMPULSORY.

There are at least sixty dining rooms of the so-called better class in New York City. They operate along about the same lines. You may not carry a hat into the dining room. It will be taken from you if you commit this social error. If you stand on your rights as a citizen and refuse to give up the hat you will not be shown to a table. If you sit down at a table anyhow you will not be served. If you sit too long at a table the headwaiter suggests that your room is to be preferred to your company.

"Check your hat or get out," is the order of the day.

One company operates a string comprising seven hotels and restaurants. Hat-racks formerly existed in these places for the convenience of the patron. No doubt the recipient of the tip had to divide that tip with some one, but at least a part of it stuck to the original palm. In these seven places there are now about thirty stands where hats must be checked.

FORTUNE IN FRANCHISE.

The total net revenue from the hat-checking in this string alone is estimated at $200,000 annually. That is five per cent. on a capitalization of four million dollars. Consider the total value of the Hat-Check Company of New York if the exclusive checking franchise could be obtained in each of the sixty better class places. Fifty million dollars would be little enough.

Some men do not tip the hat-check girls. They are the birds of passage, the roamers, the butterflies who flit from flower to flower, so to speak. Because there are ways of bringing the regular patron to heel. The New York restaurateur figures that the man who will not pay for his hat-check is not a desirable customer anyhow. He belongs to that undesirable under class which always howls when it feels the prong. The true New Yorker submits to the harpoon with languid grace. He knows he'll get it anyway.

"We got orders to lose the hats of them birds," said Lucille, the heaven-eyed beauty of a few paragraphs above. "They gotta come across. About the second time they get the razz they get wise."

SMILING IS HER BUSINESS.

"What difference does it make to you whether they pay or not? You do not get the money?"

"Whadda yuh think I'm smiling at these fish for?" asked Lucille angrily. "Do yuh think I'd waste a tender glance on a party with a face like a parlor lamp if it wasn't for the job? I'm here to get the dimes. If I don't the doors will open outward for my fairy feet."

There is just one redeeming feature about the hat-check hold-up. It proves the overwhelming superiority of the American brain. Ten years ago hat-checking was the exclusive province of leather-covered foreigners. Restaurant hired little boys and put them in little pocketless pants and then searched them carefully at the end of each day of toil lest the guileless youth contrived to hide dimes behind their tonsils.

In those days the American affected a haughty superiority to the hat-check pirates. He checked or he did not check, just as he took his whiskey or let it alone. One a small alien pursued a native born into a dining room, howling:

"Givva da hat! I gotta havva da hat! Givva da dam hat queeck!

Whereupon the native born slapped him and was commended for it by the judge. The court held that the slap was the proper punishment for an act compounded of insolence and graft. But in those days you could carry your hat to your table with you, if you wished. There was a silly theory that the patron was to be more or less catered to. An effort was even made to please him. Now the hat check barons wear some of our oldest American names and hat-checking has been placed on a business basis. The slipshod methods of Europe are no longer tolerated. Business is business.

GENERAL COAL ORDER MAY BE NECESSARY

Mr. C. A. MaMgrath in Charge of Canadian Situation Again.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15.—Although the general situation, insofar as the Canadian coal supply from the United States is concerned, looks brighter following the conclusion of the strike, it is still the object of careful attention by the authorities here.

M. C. A. Magrath, Dominion Fuel Controller, who has not been taking any very atcive part in fuel matters since last March, is again in charge. In the event of the United States insisting on the adoption of a similar distribution system here as prevails there, the Fuel Courtoller will probably issue an order to this effect, applicable to the whole Dominion, leaving its enforcement to the provincial authorities.

The complaints of coal shortage so far received here are not many.

assed the French littoral and in 1690 he became rear-admiral. Subsequently he served in the West Indies, where he met his end as vice-admiral in command of the squadron opposed to the French under Du Casse. His last battle was eminently glorious to himself, although the misbehaviour of some of his captains robbed him of success. It was a five days' fight, begun on Aug. 19, 1702, and carried on by him almost unsupported, after his desertion by those who should have seconded his valour. In the course of it, he was wounded in the face and arm, and had a leg shot away, but he continued to command from a cradled seat on his quarter-deck, until he contrived to extricate his ship and got away to Kingston, Jamaica. His wounds, however, proved fatal, and he succumbed on Nov. 4, 1702, though not before he had taken steps to have justice done upon those of his subordinates who had betrayed their trust, their commander and their country. Four of them accordingly were brought before a courtmartial, two were condemned and shot, one was cashiered, and the fourth died before the trial ended. It was Benbow's misfortune to live in an age in which political intrigue had sapped the loyalty of some of the Navy's higher officers; but the inspiration of his life and his death helped in no small degree re-establish the great traditions, and to restore that high sense of duty by which the Navy was animated in the age of Nelson, and which it has displayed so conspicuously in the present age.

FAMOUR BRITISH ADMIRAL.

John Benbow occupies a high position in the glorious roll of England's admirals. Born in 1653, he lived in an age of strife and won his way by hard fighting. In 1690 he had a prominent share in the battle off Beachy Head, and two years later he distinguished himself at Barfleur and La Hogue. Later he commanded a squadron that burned Dieppe, bombarded Havre and Calais, and ha-

PETERBORO CHEESE YIELDED $285,000 TO FARMER PATRONS OF FACTORIES

PRODUCTIONS TOTALLED 1,022,960 POUNDS AND AVERAGE PRICE WAS 27 9-10 CENTS—TEN SALES HELD DURING SEASON.

The value of the cheese sold on the Peterboro Cheese Board this year was approximately $285,000. There were ten sales with the heaviest boarding on July 2, when 1724 cheese were sold. The first meeting realized the highest price of 31 cents. From a summary taken from the records of one of the salesmen there were 12,787 cheese produced by the factories selling at Peterboro. Allowing 80 pounds to the box this was a total production of 1,022,960 pounds of 511 tons.

The average price was 27 9-10 cents at which the season's output realized for the farmers $285,411.84. A more careful accounting of the value of the year's work however, shows that the total sum received for the Peterboro cheese was slightly less than that computed on the basis of the average price.

Practically all the local factories are co-operative in their organization and it is for that reason that the promoters of the provincial co-operative company hope to lay a sound basis for their big co-operative dairy scheme. It was admitted at their meeting here that they expected to meet opposition in those districts where the factories were privately owned.

MR. T. TOOMS, M.P.P., ON BROTHERHOOD

It is interesting to observe the action being taken by the churches to institute the Great World-wide Brotherhood movement. There is a desire for something tangible in our make-up, one towards another. Being present at some of the Brotherhood meetings it became apparent to me that there are two factors we have to face, namely "The Rise of Democracy" and the "Decline of Ecclesiasticism." The former is a tidal movement, for there is no speech or language today where its voice is not heard, as to the other factor proofs are equally abundant, nine tenths of the preachers of today are almost discouraged in every nation alike, and this fact cannot be treated with contempt or punishment. Quite a proportion of the workingmen are out of touch with the churches. The religious world with its organizations, is something far removed from the labor world with its organizations. The church seems to be losing power in the moral and civil life of the nation. Why is this? I believe the Democracy detect an unmistakable languor in the churches going. The church places her faith and hope in charity, yes, millions for charity and not a cent for justice.

Submissiveness; this charity; submissiveness does not help the spirit of self-respect in the man. The new religion should be one of self-respect. This antagonism to the church does not carry an antagonism also to Jesus; but on the contrary, Jesus probably never stood higher in their esteem and affection. Among the working class only one quality of religion remains and that is respect and reverence for Jesus Christ. But an unhappy situation is ahead of us; unless a halt is called, that is industrialism and religion will become divorced from each other. They were meant to be mates. Industrialism needs the spiritual note to impart to its conscience zest. Religion likewise needs the industrial note, lest its dreamings become sickly fermentations of the brain; meant for each other, each incomplete without the other. Cet there is coldness, distrust, creminations. We have got into a state of mutual compatiability. The solution is human brotherhood. Major-General Williams sounded the note at the G.W.V.A. this week, as he sat in company with the private, and they enjoyed the human side of life together. Did that detract anything from General Williams, I say no, it added to his prestige and respect. The men could go and meet him with a hand, and heartfelt gratitude. He did not necessarily go down to the men but the men came up to him. It had its elevating effect on morals, that is Brotherhood. I make these remarks, with but one desire, to state the facts as I see them in order to further the interests of Brotherhood and sincerely hope it will cause some thought that will bring the church and labor closer together. The Democracy asks but one thing of the church, that she stick to the Gospel, for with christianity once democratized, it would not be long before democracy would be christianised, for this the Prince of Peace was born, it was hailed with a peace on earth, good will to men, and fittingly so, and with the same phrase on our lips we call for our mate the church to wed and work for the common good, then we shall have the Brotherhood so much desired.

DOG FIRED THE GUN.

And Young Toronto Man is Badly Wounded in Thigh.

LINDSAY, Nov. 14.—A young returned man named Pringle, whose home is in Toronto, met with a bad accident at Lochlin, Ont., Haliburton county, Tuesday. He was visiting his uncle, the station agent, and with a friend started out for a hunt, when the dog chain caught in the trigger of his gun, causing the gun to go off. The charge entered the young man's right thigh.

Constipation or Costiveness

Constipation, although generally described as a disease, can never exist unless some of the organs are deranged, which is generally found to be the liver.

There is nothing more productive of general ill health than constipation of the bowels, and a regular action is absolutely essential to general health. One of the most common, painful and troublesome troubles caused by constipation is piles, and unless the bowels are kept open by the use of a good laxative such as Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills the whole system will be poisoned and many different complications of diseases arise, so if you would be well, keep your bowels regular.

Mr. A. Roder, Hastings St. E., Vancouver, B.C., writes:—"I desire to express my thanks for what Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills have done for me. I had been suffering from constipation for two years, and also had a bad cough and headaches. I tried all sorts of cures and remedies, but got no relief until I was advised to try your pills. I got great relief after the first few doses."

Get Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills when you ask for them or send 25c. and they will be sent by return of mail by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

DRY CRUSADER HAD FUN, HE SAYS, IN MAULING

Sends Students a Message—His Eye is Painfully Hurt.

Canadian Press:

LONDON, Nov. 15. — William F. Johnson, the American prohibition worker and anti-saloon league organizer, who was dragged from a platform and badly handled by the crowd while making a prohibition speech, discussed his experiences with a reporter yesterday. He admitted that when he was first attacked he attempted to fight off the crowd, but when he found it was only a students' lark he entered the fun and enjoyed himself.

"The boys were all right," he declared. "The police handled the situation well; if they had tried to force things a lot of people might have got hurt. I am sending this message to the students: 'You had a good time. I had a good time. I have no complaints, but if you want fun get into the game against the greatest enemy of the human race—drink.'"

Mr. Johnson hopes, when the injury to his eye is better, to visit the college and address the students. The injury to Mr. Johnson's eye is a painful one, and is said to have been caused by a missile thrown by an unknown person. He will consult a specialist.

'FINISH IT SOON," SAYS BLINDED BANK ROBBER

JOHN PUTWAIN TREMBLES AS HE ASKS MAGISTRATE BRUNTON TO TRY HIM.

TORONTO, Nov. 14. — Blind, trembling and exceedingly nervous, John Putwain, who was shot while trying to rob the Agincourt branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, was led up the stairs by Constables Myers and Dennis to answer two charges before Magistrate Brunton. The man, who is of slim build, continued to tremble during the court proceedings. When asked how he wished to be tried on a charge of entering the bank with intent to burglarize, prisoner, who was assisted to his feet, said in a low voice: "Finish it as soon as you can."

"You are also charged with unlawfully shooting Robert Laing with intent of doing bodily harm," said the Magistrate.

"I had no intention of doing so, Your Worship," said accused. "I prefer to be tried by you."

Magistrate Brunton, however, sent the case to a jury.

"Is the man blind?" asked His Worship, whereupon accused nodded his head. "I am taking a plea of not guilty in both cases," said the major.

Robert Laing, the bank manager, was then called and related the story of the Agincourt shooting.

"I had my revolver ready. He shot, then I shot. The prisoner was hit, reeled over against the desk. He was shot just below the eye. I didn't fire any more shot at him," said Mr. Laing.

Good For Young And Old

Amongst foods none can compare with the delicious, stimulating pasteurized milk from the Peterboro Creamery. None can be used so often, in so many ways. None so economical for young and old. Milk cuts down "the high cost of living".

Prof. Rosenam of Harvard says you would have to buy and prepare 3-4 lb. of beef, or 8 eggs, or 2 lbs. of chicken or fish to get nourishment contained in a single quart of milk.

Milk should be part of the meal—used plentiful in every course, from soup to pudding.

Begin to-day. Double your regular milk order. And be sure of getting milk that is extra rich in cream—that comes from the finest farms in Ontario, that is made safe by scientific pasteurization in the best equipped dairy in the country.

Pasteurizing makes raw milk safe. When you drink our milk and see the rich creamy ring left in the glass, you know you are getting REAL clean milk. All sediments and dangerous impurities are removed. You are protected against contamination from infected cows, as well as other dangers liable to arise from raw milk.

HAVE YOU GOT "MANDY"?

"Mandy" is one of the new victrola records for October, obtainable in the Victrola Parlors of Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co., Limited, George and Hunter Streets, Peterborough. It is a halting, eccentric, ragtime rhythm, of a kind that puts a curious little catch in your walk when you hear it on the street. It is by Irving Berlin, and is one of the successes of Ziegfeld Follies of 1919. It and "Breeze" and "Our Yesterdays" are three of the several new vocal records that you will want to have.

TEMPERANCE ORATOR MOBBED IN LONDON

IS DRAGGED FROM PLATFORM BEATEN AND PARADED ON PLANK.

RESCUED BY POLICE

LONDON, Nov. 14.—William E. Johnson, an American prohibition worker and Anti-Saloon League organizer, familiarly known here and elsewhere as "pussyfoot," was dragged from a platform from which he was speaking yesterday, severely beaten, and paraded through two miles of crowded West end streets on a plank.

His assailants, for the most part, were medical students, and against them at times he put up a strenuous fight, receiving a badly-damaged eye and other injuries, so that finally, owing to his weakened physical condition, he was obliged to submit to the indignity.

Eventually Johnson was rescued by the police, who, during the early part of the march simply kept the crowd moving. He was rushed to Bow Street Station, where his injuries, were dressed, and he was then able to go home.

The occasion of the attack was a meeting in Essex Hall, just off the Strand, at which a debate had been arranged under the auspices of the Overseas Club and Patriotic League, being between Mr. Johnston and R. Mitchell Banks, a lawyer, an "the how and the why of American prohibition." The chairman of the meeting was F. A. McKenzie. He, too, was seized by the crowd, but was soon released. The meeting had no sooner opened than there was an uproar, due to the activities of a few young men who immediately engaged in heckling, both prohibitionists and anti-prohibitionists pleading for order.

Potent Signs of Trouble.

Outside the building there were potent signs of pending trouble. A great crowd of students had gathered, and after Mr. Johnson began to speak, hundreds of the students, who evidently were organized ,broke down the iron gates of the entrance of the hall, brushed aside the police, charged down the aisles and seized Johnson and McKenzie. These two they pelted with bags of flour. They hoisted them into a wagon and drove to the college, where they made them explain themselves on prohibition.

The rioters then discarded McKenzie and mounted Johnson on a plank. This a stalwart group mounted on their shoulders and marched through the Strand, Convent Garden, Leicester Square, Piccadilly Circus, and Oxford Circus to Portland Street where the police intervened, and effected a rescue.

As the procession passed through the streets, with banners adorned with black cats, pictures of beer steins and other decorations, there were frequent cries of "we've got pussy foot."

Americans Criticise Police.

But Londoners, accustomed to students' marches recently, did not really believe that it was Johnson and march did not cause as much excitement in the streets as might be expected. Some of the prohibition campaigners, mostly Americans, declared to the Associated Press that they did not believe the police had made a sincere effort to break up the crowds, and contended that they could have rescued Mr. Johnson much sooner if they had so desired.

THE FRENCH ELECTIONS

CLEMENCEAU IS VICTORIOUS, TERRIBLY AND APPALLINGLY VICTORIOUS," DECLARES THE SOCIALISTS' NEWSPAPER.

RETURNS INCOMPLETE

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Nov. 18—Complete returns available this noon from all but about districts, confirm indications that Sunday's elections to the Chamber of Deputies resulted in a notable triumph for Clemenceau and his Conservative, Moderate and Nationalist elements. In the 568 districts for which returns are in, these elements elected 494 members, as compared with 54 seats won by Extremists. In its noon edition the Socialist newspaper "Bon Soire" acknowledged defeats of its party. "Clemenceau is victorious, terribly and appallingly victorious," it said. "The republic, however, is not so victorious as far as can be judged by results now known." The results of the elections just held were the most conservative since the National Assembly of 1871 was elected.

ARCHDEACONAL CONFERENCE

At yesterday afternoon's session of the Archdeaconal Conference being held in St. Luke's Parish Hall, following Archdeacon Warren's address, Dr. Archbold delivered a splendid address, dealing with the present problems in town and country parishes. The greatest problem, he said, is present indifferencey to spiritual and religion in general. He traced the spirit of the different ages from the time of Christ to the present day. The main characteristics of our age, contended, are superficiality, luxury and pleasure and restlessness. The remedy, he said, is the striving of the church, through the clergy, by every means, for the regeneration of the soul. The discussion of the paper read by Dr. Archbold lasted until 5.30.

Evening Session.

The open meeting of the conference, held in the evening, was fairly attended, and a masterly address on Industry was given by Dr. Blagrave, who was followed by Rev. J. A. Eliott.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 18. — Five hundred general chairmen of the four great railway brotherhoods will meet here on Monday to consider the offer of Rail Director Hines for payment of overtime service. The general wages increase demands will probably be considered as well. Wm. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, said to-day. As the other two brotherhoods would also have to consider the same plan, it was decided to have all four pass jointly on the offer.

PETERBORO BUSINESS MEN INTERESTED IN IT AND WILL BE IN OPERATION WITHIN A MONTH—DO NOT ASK FOR CITY'S HELP.

HAVE WIDE MARKET

A new company that will manufacture paper boxes, cardboard and various other paper products will begin operations in Peterborough within a month, Mr. G. N. Gordon informed the Examiner to-day. Several local business men are interested in this new industry, which does not intend to ask the city for any assistance or concession.

Mr. Gordon stated that the company have secured a building and ordered their machinery, and have been quietly proceeding with their plans. The market for paper boxes and other articles made of paper and cardboard is an exceptionally wide one, and this new company are launching their enterprise with every confidence of success and expansion.

Mr. Gordon said that he could not announce all the particulars just now. The citizens would be interested in the fact that local men have invested in this industry and that its promoters are not asking the city for any aid.

SEVEN KILLED IN A RAILWAY WRECK

SIX NURSES WERE AMONG THE VICTIMS.

(United Press.)

BUFFALO, N.Y., Nov. 18.— Seven people were hurled to death this morning when a New York Central passenger train struck an automobile at the Harlem avenue crossing. Six of the victims were nurses at local hospitals. The dead: William Mummery, Buffalo; Doris Mummery, Buffalo; Myrtle Hodgins, St. Catharines, Ont.; Jennie McMillin, Tavistock, Ont.; Myrtle Nunn, Fenwick, Ont.; Jean Scott, Galt, Ont.; Fannie Breeze, Buffalo.

Last night they attended a party at Lancaster, a western suburb, and were returning to Buffalo in Mummery's automobile when the accident occurred. An east bound freight train held the machine at the crossing of the main line of the New York Central and Harlem avenue, Cheektowaga. As soon as the last car of the freight cleared the crosing Mummery sent his machine ahead, unaware that a passenger train was approaching on the next track. Mummery attempted to clear the crossing when he realized the danger, but it was too late. The pilot of the engine caught the automobile between the front and rear wheels and carried it down the track a quarter of a mile, spilling out the occupants and crushing them to death. All seven were dead when members of the train crew found them.

City in Sadness.

ST. CATHARINES, Nov. 18 — This city is in sadness to-day because of the tragic death of Mabel Hodgins, youngest daughter of former Alderman Joseph Hodgins, killed in an automobile accident near Buffalo last night. She was one of the most popular girls in the city, born here about twenty years ago, and it was thought she had a brilliant future as a nurse. With her class she had graduated only last Saturday at Buffalo Hospital, and was preparing to come home to St. Catharines and take a rest before entering upon her duties of trained nurse. The grief-stricken father went to Buffalo this morning to bring the body of his loved daughter home.

PRESIDENT WILSON STILL IN DANGER

United Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — Although President Wilson is showing steady improvement, he is not yet completely out of danger, a relapse it was learned to-day. His physicians are still exercising the greatest care. However, his convalescence is most encouraging to them. He is sleeping more rapidly than had been expected. His pulse and temperature are normal this day to-day.

BOLSHEVIKS CONFER WITH DELEGATES

MOVE MIGHT LEAD TO AN ARMISTICE AND PEACE WITH THE REDS.

(Canadian Press.)

DORPAT, Nov. 18.—M. Litvinoff, former Russian Ambassador to Great Britain, and head of the Bolshevik delegation conferring with representatives of the Baltic States here, had his initial meeting with the other delegates this afternoon, credentials being exchanged.

Although the present discussions cover merely the exchange of prisoners, they are regarded as most important, as the attitude of M. Litvinoff on that question will probably indicate the position of the Bolsheviki on the subject of an armistice and peace.

SOCIALISTS WON MANY NEW SEATS

RESULTS OF THE ELECTIONS IN BELGIUM—SEVERAL PARTIES IN THE FIELD.

(Canadian Press.)

BRUSSELS, Nov. 18.—From 25 to 27 seats in the Belgian Chamber of Deputies have been gained by the Socialists, according to the estimates by the neutral newspaper Le Soir, which says, "This thrust toward the Left must be taken into consideration."

Little success was achieved by the Flemish Activists, while the Nationalist Party of Regeneration, as well as the Middle Class Party elected few representatives. This is considered significant, as the latter organisation had the support of the Alcoholists' League or "Anti-Dry" partisans.

Catholics still retain a majority of the seats in the Senate.

GREAT WAR VETERANS ASK FOR INVESTIGATION

PRESS COMMENT ON PREMIER'S SPEECH

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Morning newspapers express sharp disappointment with Premier Lloyd George's statement in the House of Commons yesterday regarding Great Britain's policy toward Russia.

The London Times says it is most ashamed to comment on the debate, "which went far to undermine the prestige of the British name in eastern Europe."

The Telegraph says it awaits with misgiving the political consequences of the policy, which means an immediate accession to prestige of vilest tyranny in Europe.

The Morning Post says Mr. Lloyd George announces in fact the defeat of the Allies in the East.

HARRY C. NIXON

(Special to The Examiner.)

ST. GEORGE'S, Ont., Nov. 18.—Twenty-eight years of age, the daddy of three children, and Provincial Secretary of Ontario.

Many men have attained the age of 28 years, some have become fathers of families, but Canadian history offers no precedent to the career of the Hon. Harry C. Nixon, who has crowned the achievements of his "twenties" with Cabinet rank.

Hon. Mr. Nixon was born on the outskirts of the little village of St. George, some twelve miles from Brantford, on 1st April, 1891. In 1914, when the U. F. O. movement began to sweep rural Ontario, he became one of the leading spirits in the Brant County organisation. Soon he was appointed secretary of the local U. F. O. Co-operative Branch, and subsequently became county director of the U. F. O. clubs.

When the youthful farmer was called upon by the Hon. E. C. Drury, the new Premier, to assume the portfolio of the Provincial Secretary, he evinced considerable reluctance to accept, particularly on the ground of his lack of years. However, this objection was overcome by the insistent demand of the U. F. O. Chieftain. The new Minister withdrew all others, and made plans to fill the office. It was not, however, without many keen regrets, especially as it meant the partial breaking up of his home to the building up of which he has devoted the past five years.

Even yet Mr. Nixon holds no political ambitions, and views his appointment solely in the light of a public duty which he must fulfill, as his share of the responsibility he assumed when he contested the North Brant Riding.

Canada's youngest Cabinet Minister, who is also the youngest member of the Ontario Legislature by at least five years, is the embodiment of the U. F. O. spirit and ideals which, during the recent Provincial campaign, led the farmers' movement, the halo of a spiritual crusade, against the established party system of politics.

ASKS INVESTIGATION OF ALLEGATION THAT BAD FOOD WAS SHIPPED TO WAR.

ALLEGE DIRTY FACTORY

Canadian Press:

OTTAWA, Nov. 17.—The G.W.V.A. intend to request an investigation into the charges made in the House of Commons against the Dominion Canners that food alleged to be unfit for human consumption was canned and shipped to the soldiers in France. The charges were made by D. D. McKenzie, Leader of the Opposition, who asked for an investigation, but the Government took no action.

Call It Diabolical.

The Dominion Command of the G.W.V.A. now intends to press the charges and ask for an investigation. The Dominion Command has in its possession some documents bearing on the case, and in the current issue of The Veteran prints the charges under the heading, "Was Gravel and Corruption Canned for Soldiers?" It characterizes the story, if the charges are true, as being "the most diabolical and cold-blooded dividend-raising plot ever hatched by souless profiteers."

A facsimile, published for the first time, of a letter written by the Milton Hersey Company, Ltd., Montreal, industrial chemists, is printed in The Veteran. This is an amazing document. It is written from the Milton Hersey Company to an official of the Dominion Canners. The letter, dated May 18, 1917, is as follows:

"With reference to inspection yesterday at the factory of the Dominion Canners, Simcoe, we have brought the following points to your attention:

Brought to Their Attention.

"(1) Zinc-soaking tanks with a coating of slime on the interior lining. These to be cleaned in your presence.

"(2) Soaking barrels in a sour condition. These to be replaced or given a thorough scalding with hot water.

"(3) Deposits of slime on the floor and decayed material between the floors at points where the flooring has given away.

"(4) Packing belt sour. This belt must be cleaned with hot water, and should be attended to nightly.

"(5) Condition of the floor in the blanching room and also the lower floors as a result of the drippings from the soaking floor. These floors to be thoroughly scalded nightly, with a view to doing away with this sourness.

"(6) Pork to be removed from the corner where water is dropping on it, and to be placed on papers on the floor in some dry position.

"Kindly let me hear from you in this respects. We understand Mr. Innes is in town to-day, and will see the War Office. We have already reported to them with reference to this plant."

TOBACCO INCLUDED IN CHURCH "COLLECTION"

Three boys who are familiar to the police took up a special collection in the coat-room at Trinity Church on Sunday. Their illicit receipts included two dollars in silver, some candy, matches and profaning tobacco. The oldest thief, seventeen years of age, was remanded to jail for a week, and the others were allowed to go home. They are thirteen and fourteen years respectively.

WINTER IN ALGONQUIN PARK.

As a winter panacea for coughs and colds Algonquin Park cannot be equalled. Two thousand feet above the sea it is always dry and cold. Days spent in snow-shoe tramps, tobogganing or ski-ing and in skating, together with evenings spent in social converse around the cosy warmth of an old fashioned log fire; these slip away unnoticed but those who have once experienced them return to their avocations with renewed energies. The "Highland Inn" owned and operated by the Grand Trunk Railway offers comfortable accommodation at reasonable rates. For all particulars apply to N. T. Clarke, Manager, Algonquin Park Station, Ontario.

WITH FINGERS!

CORNS LIFT OUT

Freezone is magic! Corns and calluses lift right off—

Doesn't hurt a bit

A few cents buys a tiny bottle of the magic Freezone at any drug store. Apply a few drops of Freezone upon a tender, aching corn or a callus. Instantly that troublesome corn or callus stops hurting, then shortly you lift it out, root and all, without any pain, soreness or irritation. These little bottles of Freezone contain just enough to rid the feet of every hard corn, soft corn, corn between the toes and the calluses on bottom of feet. So easy! So simple. Why wait? No humbug!

A PROPER HANDICAP.

A well-known comedian who is noted, among other things, for his ability to stow away highballs without outward evidences of the same was standing before a New York bar stirring the ice in his glass.

Another actor, who cannot take many drinks without showing the effects, drifted in.

"Hello, Hank," he hailed. "How about you and I taking a drink or so together?"

"Charley," said the other, "I'll spot you five."

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash Poisons and Toxins From System Before Putting Food Into Stomach.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each ady, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the alimentary canal before eating more food.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside bathing.

We Have Made Real Service A Feature of This Progressive Store

WHY have we a reputation second to none in the city for efficiency in the selling of goods—efficiency in the keeping of stocks, and efficiency in the dozen and one other ways—and the answer is found in the fact that we realize people will buy where they get SERVICE—and with a capital "S". But with all this there is no increase in prices here, rather we believe that in many instances our prices are lower than those found at other stores, for efficiency means increased business and increased business means lower prices.

MAJOR GIFFORD TELLS OF VOCATIONAL TRAINING

OFFICER IN CHARGE OF LOCAL BRANCH EXPLAINS HOW THE SYSTEM OPERATES—SAYS THERE ARE FEW NON-GENUINE CASES HANDLED—23,300 CANADIAN SOLDIERS WILL BE RE-TRAINED.

Editor, Peterborough Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In reply to your editorial on vocational training in your issue of Nov. 7th, 1919, following is a resume of the work of the Vocational Branch of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment for your information.

Would you please give this publicity for the benefit of those who are interested in the work of re-training.

In the fall of 1915 Canada, realizing that war meant broken men, first set about problem of vocational training. By the end of 1917 considerably over 1,000 ex-soldiers had been taught new trades and re-established in industrial life. To-day that number has increased to 9,000.

Canada's contribution in men to the battlefields of Europe can be reckoned as half a million. Leaving out those gallant sons who will never return, at least 155,000 of this number have figured in the casualty list as wounded, or have been incapacitated by sickness from service. In two of the allied countries for instance, France and England, it has been estimated that 10 p.c. of the casualties will require retraining, whereas in Canada the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment has found that approximately 15 p.c. of the casualties are in need of re-training in order to return them to a position of self-support in civilian life. This points to a total of 23,300 men who will in all probability benefit through Canada's provisions for the re-training of disabled men. These figures are exclusive of training to be provided for minors.

The First Link.

The first link of the vocational chain is forged in the hospitals—the ward occupational work—which experience has demonstrated to be a most powerful factor in bringing the disabled soldier back to the stern realities of life he must face, after leaving the hospital.

The occupations consist of basket work, embossing letter work, weaving, wood carving, etc., and, being primarily curative in their design, are carried on under medical direction, though first place must be conceded to the Ward Aides, who give the instruction in the various classes. These young women — they now number nearly 400—after being trained in Toronto University, are allocated, on graduation, to hospitals and sanatoria, where they impart the knowledge of the crafts in which they have specialized.

Then you have the curative workshops in the hospital also, where wood carving, machine shop work, clay modelling, telegraphy, and a variety of other occupations are taught.

This occupational therapy, like that of ward occupation, is under medical direction, the medical officer designing the treatment and the Vocational Branch seeing that it is carried out.

Men whose muscles have been impaired by injuries, or by long sojourn in a hospital cot, are put at work where these muscles will be awakened into normal activity. Often enough a man suffering from bullet wounds in the hand will find after he has worked a few days at shoe repairing that, unconsciously, normal movement of the muscles has returned to him, while at the same time, he has been learning something of a new occupation. Thus, bit by bit, the man's physical and mental condition is built up.

It does not follow that, because a man learns cabinet making in a curative workshop, he will pursue this trade on discharge, or be permitted to take training in it. The main thought is to get his mind away from matters military and his own disabled condition, and to re-awaken in his mind, so long accustomed to army routine and the discipline that goes with that routine, the desire to do the best taht he can in making a success in his new life. But, if the hospital course can be so directed that the training fits profitably into the soldier's future means of livelihood, so much the better.

This phase of the work is looked after by vocational officers resident in the hospitals. Theirs is an important task and the utmost care is taken in their selection. Besides having a knowledge of industrial conditions, they must also have a knowledge of the soldier, and be competent to meet him on equal ground.

Industrial Re-Training.

It is not until the soldier is finally discharged from the Canadian Expeditionary Force that the question of his Industrial Re-Training, or what form it will take, can be definitely considered. Hitherto his re-education has been directed along curative lines, with the Army Medical men having a large say. Now, that he has exchanged his army suit for one of blue serge, the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment takes him entirely in hand to perfect the re-moulding process, which is to make him a skilled worker, and to make him lose the army mind.

The question of eligibility for re-training can be summed up as follows:

First—Is the soldier so disabled as a result of his army service, as to be unable to resume his former occupation?

Second—Did the soldier enlist under the age of 19, to suffer a severe interruption in his preparation for his life's work?

When these questions are answered in the affirmative by the Director of Vocational Training, the rest is a matter of routine until he commences his instruction. Speaking of routine, do not let that familiar office term depreciate the immense importance of the work of the Interviewers and the Disabled Soldiers' Training Board for the selection of a new career is a weighty matter and none are more aware of its portent than those who interview the veteran. It is done in a spirit of comradeship, understanding and help.

Choice of Occupation.

While the soldier is permitted an almost free hand in the selection of his training course, yet wise suggestion plays an important part in the right choice. They never talk a man into a course; on the other hand, they often talk him out of one; for, although, as far as possible, a man's own inclinations are followed, it is necessary at times to query his choice.

For instance, to endorse a proposal to grant a course in book-keeping to a former labourer in his fortieth year who has forgotten all he ever knew of the three „R's" would be obviously absurd, although the man might not share this opinion. To talk the applicant out of his plan and shepherd him into a more suitable line of training and to send him away satisfied is more difficult than it seems. Tus a fair amount of quizzing and delving into the man's attitude of mind is necessary before a decision can be arrived at.

The interviewers have before them the candidate's hospital records and military history, but the man-to-man confab counts above all.

Was the vocational officer at the hospital correct in his initial summing up of the applicant, was the training undertaken there merely a passing whim, was it for curative measures solely?

What is the best disposition for this particular case, having in view his disability, his pre-war occupation and his age. (Remember that the ages of these veterans run all the way from 18 to 70.)

What prospects does the trade offer; what will it offer six months hence.

Will that crippled shoulder, or wounded knee, or missing hand, or gas affected lung, handicap the man to too great an extent in his selected vocation, or will he, despit this disability, be able to compete with the 100 p.c. physically efficient civilian worker. Can his pre-war occupation be used as a foundation on which to build the new career. All these questions come up and have to be settled to the mutual satisfaction of interviewer and applicant before a recommendation can be made.

How is the retraining carried out? The answer to that is that there are two systems. The first is to place the student in a Technical or University Trade School. The second, to place him in a factory, business house, or industrial plant. Out of these two systems spring a third which has much to commend it; a combination of educational institution and industry. By this method, the soldier student is given preliminary ground work for, say, half his course in a trade school, and then placed in a plant or commercial house to complete his training. Experience has shown that the man trained in an industry, or in a trade school and an industry, has a better chance of employment and of remaining in that employment than a man whose sole training has been confined to a trade school.

The Technical and Commercial Schools throughout the country have been extensively used for the re-training of disabled soldiers, and, in addition, the Universities have co-operated to a considerable extent with their fine equipments.

A Striking Feature.

But the training of soldiers in industries is one of the most striking features of the work. By many it was regarded as an audacious step; possibly an injudicious one. It was argued that the opportunity would prove a tempting one for the unpatriotic employer desirous of exploiting the soldier; that rather than give him training he would put him at some form of labour which would mean a profit to the employer and a waste of time to the soldier bent on learning a new trade. Fortunately, these fears have proved unwarranted, mainly because of the patriotic attitude of the average employer.

To get in touch with these local industries and ascertain what openings existed for re-training, is a task assigned to a sub-branch termed the "Industrial Survey Department." Its first step is to survey the leading industries, interview the men at the head of affairs and get them interested in this 20th century plan of re-establishing the disabled soldier. They explain their mission to the manager of the industry and sound him on his attitude towards the re-training of the returned soldier. It is emphasized that his plant or factory will be under no financial obligation, as the Government will pay the man during his course of training. All that is required from the head of the industry is the simple agreement to train the man in a stipulated time to such a point of efficiency that he would be self-supporting. The preliminary interview with the manager, before commencing the actual work of surveying the factory, often results in the obtaining of useful information that could be obtained from no other source. The surveyor is then introduced to the superintendent of works and thereafter taken through the industry for the purpose of meeting the heads of the various departments. Each department is then inspected and written up.

An Immense Task.

A momentary examination of this surveying task shows its immensity. First of all, there is the interesting of the employer in the re-education of the crippled veteran. Then the study of each occupation in the factory concerned, with a view of ascertaining what relation it bears to the handicap of a physically below-par veteran. The limbs of labour, the mental and nervous strain involved in the various tasks. The length of time it would take the student to become a worker capable of earning a competent wage and the prospect of steady employment after he has completed his re-training.

The utmost care must also be exercised in seeing that a man is not trained for an occupation which would overtax his reduced physical powers. Employers of labour and their executive subordinates, with an eye to output, are inclined to display impatience at the slow methods of a green man. Some disabled soldiers present no outward appearance of the wounds which have incapacitated them. This is particularly noticeable in the case of head, flesh and abdominal wounds. The long hospital sojourn has given them little opportunity for exchanging unnecessary adipose for necessary muscle; on the other hand, it has often given them a false look of robustness. Consequently, a superintendent or foreman, seeing an apparently physically perfect worker struggling with a light task, is inclined to use harsh words to the unwitting slacker. When that happens the sparks fly, though in fairness to the soldier, experience has shown that only in rare instances will he try to play on the sympathies of his employer on account of his battle wounds.

These surveys have brought to light the rather astonishing fact that there are many opportunties for the disabled man to train himself in technical occupations requiring various degrees of skill. The man with an amputated arm, instead of being pitchforked into a night watchman's job at a meagre wage, can now fill quite a number of positions where the loss of his arm will not prove a handicap.

The soldier disabled by abdominal wounds, for instance, can be taught a trade where he can sit down for the eight or nine hours that he has to work in the shop. All that was necessary was to get positions listed and, with the consent of the manager of the particular plant or factory, have the soldier placed, there to be taught his new occupation.

The Surveying Work.

All this work of surveying is never completed. It grows in volume every day, for, with the cessation of hostilities, many plans and commercial concerns which had gladly taken on disabled soldiers for educational purposes were forced to close down. It is now the most earnest task of the Industrial Survey Department to find other firms to take their places and and, as the number of men granted courses is still increasing and will not reach its peak for some months, the problem is serious.

When it is decided to place a soldier in a certain industry to learn a trade, a member of the Industrial Survey Branch, completes all the preliminary work incidental to the introduction of the student. He takes him down to the plant and introduces him to the foreman or superintendent, or fellow employee who will have charge of his training. He is given sound advice as to his future line of conduct, and emphasis is laid that he is there for the purpose of applying himself diligently to the learning of his new trade, and that he is in all reality the moulder of his own future. He is visited weekly, if possible, by the inspector, who reports on the man's conduct and progress and also on the opportunity which is given to him to absorb his training.

Should the inspector not be satisfied with the conditions, or should he come to the conclusion that the man's labour is being exploited, or should the man himself complain and the complaint be found unjustifiable, the Department reserves the right to transfer him immediately. The Industrial Survey Department maintains control of the man until he completes his course, but with this exception, that when he is actually engaged in the factory or shop, he is under the jurisdiction of his employer. While he is under instruction, he draws the following rate of pay, monthly:

A single man	$60.00
A married man without children	85.00
A married man with one child	95.00
A married man with two children	103.00
A married man with three children	110.00

And $5.00 for any child in excess of three.

The development of industrial retraining brought into being an important sub-department for the investigation and adjustment of complaints of the veteran during his instructional period. The disabled soldier who has become pro tem a ward of the State, and who is now being guided and assisted back into indus-

THE NEXT DUTY.

Having successfully carried out its part in the Victory Loan, Peterboro should now turn its attention to the next important matter—buying Christmas presents.

AN EXPLANATION.

The article in these columns yesterday entitled "This Hard-Time Talk" was taken from "The Financial Post," the name of that publication being inadvertently omitted from the bottom of the article.

THEY ALL KNOW IT.

The Kingston Whig says that Unionism is doomed. The trouble is the members of the Government so thoroughly realize that fact that they are determined to defer an appeal to the country until the last possible moment.

GIVE THEM "A FAIR CHANCE!"

The greatest difficulty Premier Drury will have with his Cabinet is their lack of Parliamentary experience. Nor will mere willingness alone or even ability offset this inexperience. Nevertheless, as General Ross well put it, they must be given "a fair chance" to show themselves and not be eternally annoyed by petty political pin-prickings."—Kingston Standard.

MR. BURNHAM'S ADDRESS.

The meeting of the Great War Veterans on Thursday night when Mr. J. H. Burnham is going to discuss the gratuity question with the local returned men should be of more than usual interest. The war bonus problem is a topic that in itself is important and timely and when it is to be discussed by Mr. Burnham in the light of his attitude towards it in the House of Commons, Thursday's meeting promises to be a memorable one. Mr. Burnham when the report of the Special Committee was before the House, talked strongly in favour of more assistance for the soldiers, and suggested a Victory Loan as a means of raising the necessary funds. When an amendment was introduced calling for the matter to be further investigated by the Special Committee Mr. Burnham however, failed to support this endeavor to have the gratuity question given a longer consideration. His explanation of his failure to vote as he talked will no doubt be listened to by the Peterboro veterans with a good deal of interest

THE PROPER TEST.

The Kingston Standard in discussing the coming municipal elections in that city touches upon an angle of the question that exactly applies to the situation in Peterboro. The Standard takes the position that the only test of the candidates for the different municipal positions should be citizenships and in that belief our Kingston contemporary announces its intention of supporting men that give promise of being the best men for the jobs and not because they belong to any special organization or to any particular political party. "It is ability that should determine: not strength of any organization but the qualification of the candidate himself," declares the Standard.

There is common sense and logic in the attitude so expressed by the Kingston paper. In Peterboro there are indications that candidates representing a number of different groups will be placed in the field. The ratepayers will be asked to support Jones because he is the Standard-bearer of the Trades and Labour Council, or Smith because he is the nominee of the Board of Trade, or Mrs. Robinson because she represents the Council of Women or ex-Sergeant Brown because he is the selection of the returned soldiers. These may seem excellent reasons to the members of the members of these particular organizations mentioned but the question that should be answered by the ratepayers. If Peterboro is to have a worth-while civic government in which one of the four, Jones, or Smith, or Brown, or Mrs. Robinson possesses the best qualifications for the position. People would not in their private business engage a manager sumply because he happened to belong to this or that organization. They would investigate the qualifications and experience of the applicants for the position, and on the result of their findings make their choice. Is there any reason why in the selection of a managing board to handle the city's affairs, there should be any different course followed? It should be the aim of every organization that intends to place candidates in the running to see that the best men available are selected and after this has been done, the electors should study the field carefully and judge the candidates on their fitness for the position, not on their application with one or other of the different groups.

THE CHRISTMAS TREAT.

For the past couple of years the Peterboro branch of the Great War Veterans Association with the assistance of a number of generous citizens have entertained the children of local soldiers at a Christmas treat—an event that has been a red-letter one in the history of the youngsters. Hundredsof children were the guests of the Veterans in the armories last Christmas and the affair is still talked of by the little folks. The public will be interested in learning that a similar treat is being planned for the coming Christmas. Mr. G. N. Gordon who is the father of the idea and who has on each occasion opened the subscription list is once more giving the treat a good start by a donation of $50, while the G.W.V.A. has voted a similar sum to the fund. The co-operation of the public in providing the balance of the money needed to make the affair a success is now asked for by the Veterans. The citizens were generous in their attitude towards the Christmas entertainment last year and the Veterans have that they were satisfied with the manner in which their donations were expended and that they will be willing to assist again this year. A subscription list has been opened at the newspaper offices and those who would like to help in giving the soldier's kiddies a Merry Christmas are asked to leave their donations with the Review or Examiner or at the G.W.V.A. rooms. It is a splendid couse and no doubt last years record will be equalled.

THE PATRIOTIC FUND.

The members of the Great War Veterans' Association at their regular meeting last night did not take kindly to the suggestion in these columns that the distribution of the Government fund for distress cases among the returned men be entrusted to the Canadian Patriotic Fund. Several members vigorously opposed such a course and a resolution from the Dominion command protesting against soldiers having to go to the Patriotic Fund for assistance was unanimously carried. The trouble with the resolution, however, is that it is not constructive. There is no solution offered as to how the money voted by Parliament at the last session is to be dispensed to those who are in need of aid. The Veterans object to the Patriotic Fund officials being given charge of the distribution, but they do not themselves suggest an alternative plan. The need is urgent. Winter is at hand, outdoor work is closing down; a period of unemployment is before many returned soldiers. There are cases now where assistance is needed and it is to be feared that such cases will rapidly increase in numbers. At present there is no machinery available for the handling of emergency cases. Before an organization could be arranged and could begin to function there would be it is feared much distress among returned men and their families. For those reasons the Examiner suggester that the Patriotic Fund with its officials still available and its offices still open, and its experience of dealing with similiar emergencies might at once be given authority to handle the Government fund. This does not meet with the approval of the local veterans who join with other branches in protesting. That is their privilege of course, but they would have been of more service to the returned men generally if they had included in their plan that could at once be put into effect for dealing with the problem. The Patriotic Fund could begin work immediately, but the soldiers do not want this organization to act. What is to become of the emergency cases in the meantime?

THE MISLEADING DOLLAR SIGN

There is nothing quite so misleading as figures. The fact that the savings bank deposits of the United States have doubled seems to afford some people the great relief that, despite the war and labor unrest, the country is after all saving and thrifty and twice as wealthy as it was before the war. It would be if we could eat the dollars, and wear them and burn them for fuel. But we can't. We have to see them to buy these necessities and when we use them we find they do not count for as much as they once did. It takes two of them to do the work that one could formerly do.

So these statistics on savings deposits—and all other deposits— are not only misleading, but dangerous as they permit us to sleep in a fool's paradise.

The income of the American people as a whole was estimated by the federal government in 1914 to amount to 35 billion dollars. This meant a per capita wealth of about $340. Today the income of the people as a whole is estimated to total around 70 billion dollars or a per capita wealth of about $630. By the dollar sign this would mean that every man had twice as much money to-day as he had before the war. But the figures of the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor present an interesting parallel with this.

In 1914 the index number of the department on practically all the necessities of life showed at 99, or one point off the normal of 100. Today that index figure according to the last reading of the average cost of all such commodities was 226, or 127 points in advance. Food that in 1914 would cost a family man $335.02 now costs him $643.83, an increase in cost of 92 per cent.

These figures show that the dollar sign does not mean anything and is a stupid barometer to follow. In 1914 the Russian rouble was worth 51 cents in American money. Today in Russia you couldn't buy a ham sandwich with a bushel basket full of them.

Yet bank deposits are being talked about boastfully as proof of our prosperity. War does not bring prosperity except the hysterical and unhealthy make-believe prosperity by which the future is eaten up to have an orgy at the present. Real wealth of the world is not in dollars but in economic goods. Economic goods are the stored up energy of the world created by hard work and put away to be consumed.

The world cannot engage in four years of destruction with all energy turned either toward direct destruction or toward the creation of machines to simplify destruction and expect at the end of the spree to be wealthier than it was before it started.

The world has been on a riotous drunk for four years, its house is a wreck and it has reached the headache stage. After awhile it will sober up, begin to think clearly again and go back to work. The creative energy which for years had sought to build up an economic surplus has been wasted, and it must start all over again with hand up-raised and a never-again pledge in its heart.

Until that time of contrition comes let us not fool it by any vain talk that we are "wealthier to-day than we were before the war."

We won't be a bit wealthier until men realize that they must work if they are going to continue to eat and we won't grow a bit more saving until the extravagant learn they cannot have their cake and eat it, too. The hardest lesson for the world to learn seems to be that two and two still make four.—Detroit News.

ARRAS WAS ORIGINAL HOME OF TAPESTRIES

Arras is a name to conjure with. And not because of its sanguinary interest, nor its martial renown in the stormy centuries. And not because of the magnificent record from 1914 to 1918 of the stubborn British bull dog and of the French leopard, holding on with their teeth to dripping edges of blood, while 30,000 of their offspring fell per day at Arras, as the bull dog and the leopard blocked with their dying bodies the road of the Hun to the English channel. Around Arras circles forever the charm of pure beauty and stately majesty, although to-day the place itself is a dismal wreck. That beauty and the charm of Arras lay in the one word "tapestry." The first tapestries in Europe were made by Flemings, and made in Arras. Indeed, so noted were the weaves of Arras that the word itself became a synoym for "tapestry". Shakespeare uses this in Hamlet, as when "Hamlet stabs Polonius behind the arras" —meaning the great curtain, or tapestry, hung in royal apartments.

The art of tapestry-making was first introduced into England in 1620, the year of the sailing of the Mayflower from Plymouth, and introduced by William Sheldon. He established looms at Mortlake. Now "tapestry" is the art of painting by the weaving of colored threads intertwined on lines stretched vertically high warp eapestry) or horizontally low warp), which become one web, combining lines and tones. The skilful tapestry weaver is himself an artist; he interpret: and he creates designs ,called cartoons, which are the soul of his work. Tapestry weaving was known to the ancients, to the Egyptians, and to Grecian women. Tapestries figure in holy writ. They were so costly that they could only be owned by kings. The Saracens, or Arabs, who founded an art, a religion, and an empire, introduced tapestry into Europe. The largest and most complete tapestry weavings are the great textile pictures, or storied wall hangings, of the 15th and 16th centuries, made in Arras and Brussels. The stories of tapestries ranged, in subject, from the Greek myths and gods to the doings of kings and to scriptural subjects and lives of the saints. When the Spanish persecutions overflowed the Netherlands and Arras, tapestry weaving was driven into France, where the grand monarque, Louis VIV., a lover of splendor and patron of the arts, immediately purchased the house of Jean Gobelin, 1622 A.D.—who was a genius in weaving, and the king turned the house into a factory, in which tapestries for th adornment of palaces should be made. Thus, the great name was born, from the name of their maker, for the noblest tapestries in the world— the Gobelins.

One century earlier, in 1519, the Pope Leo X. paid from the vatican exchequer 1000 pounds ($5000) each.

The maker's name means a lot on what you buy these days!

THE FRENCH FOR HOTEL.

One of Messmore Kendall's friends ook a trip to Europe not long ago — is first trip abroad. After he reach- d London unexpected business took im to Paris. Upon his return he was elling Kendall about his experiences. "I don't speak any French," he aid, "and I didn't know the name of ny Paris hotels. So when we land- d at Calais I bought a lot of postal cards of Paris views, because I figured there'd be a picture of one of the big hotels anyhow. Sure enough I found a postcard showing a great big stone building with flags on it, and it was called 'Hotel de Ville.'

"'That'll do for me,' I says to myself. So when we got to Paris I climbs into a taxi and asys 'Hotel de Ville' to the driver.

The Promoter's Wife

BY JANE PHELPS

NEIL IS GRATEFUL FOR FREDRICK'S HELP

CHAPTER CXIX.

Gradually Neil became so engrossed in his business that he grudged every minute spent away from it. Even his garden was neglected, and I did the best I could with it in the little time I could spare from my care of the house and other work I had taken upon myself. My flowers suffered, but vegetables just at that time were very expensive, and more necessary to health than flowers. The cost of living had risen rapidly, and all we could save would mean that we would more quickly be out of debt.

I was always tired in those few weeks of unaccustomed work. My arms and back ached so I could scarcely sleep. But not one penny would I spend for household help. Neil was struggling, working all day and half the night to gain a foothold in the business world again; to make men forget that he had only escaped arrest by the skin of his teeth as he expressed it. Why should I not do my share? I had unquestioningly accepted his wealth, he spent his money lavishly, had lived an easy life when he prospered. Why should not I take my share of the burden?

Neil had insisted upon giving me an allowance. It was a fairly generous one considering everything.

"It will be better," he had said when I objected. "I can plan more satisfactorily if I know there will be no unforseen demands. But make it do for everything, Bab. Thank goodness we both have clothes enough for some time."

We had, but Robert grew so fast that he was constantly in need of something. I added sewing for him, making everything he wore save only his coats and trousers. I economized in every way. I did the washing and ironing as well as the cleaning. When Neil—who supposed I hired a woman for the rough work spoke of my hands— I laid their changed appearance to gardening, and laughed because he complained of their roughness.

It may seem that, when so great an amount was owed, the little I could save would not materially help. But it was surprising how fast it counted up. Three people with no servants and a fine garden to supply all vegetables can live very reason ably if the housekeeper is economical. Many times a day I felt grateful that mother had made me learn to cook: and that I had practised that accomplishment in the first years of my married life. I made tasty dishes out of cheap cuts of meat, and my warmed-overs Neil declared were better than the first eserving. I cut out sweets save occasionally, using fruit for dessert—when we had it.

But I was troubled. Neil had begun to lose his ruddy color gained when he worked in the garden. He had great dark circles under his eyes, and seemed tired, too tired to talk often. I argued with him, telling him if he became ill it would only take him the longer to pay off his debts. He replied:

"I haven't said much Bab, but I can't stop thinking how nearly I ruined your life and Robert's. I know that had it not been for Frederick I should now have been in jail serving my sentence like any other criminal. Sometimes I wake up in a cold sweat thinking about it, dreamigning myself in behind prison bars, while you and Robert are ostracized because I wanted to get rich quick Not that so much as by the riches I gained I wanted to show what I could do. I guess it is worse to have a great ambition directed into wrong channels, than it is to have no ambition at all."

"But you are doing all you can to repair the wrong— you did yourself as well as others," I tried to comfort.

"Yes ,I am doing all I can. But someway Bab I feel as if my soul had been seared. I guess my conscience is waking up. It was dormant all those years. I never thought or—cared how I was hurting others, how I was damning myself. But I have begun to see myself as I was: selfish, arrogant, thinking only of self, and self-aggrandizement. Even you and the boy were second, tho I loved you. I am beginning to hate myself, Neil Forbes, the jail bird—almost."

When he talked this way I was almost frantically anxious to soothe him. Yet I now know that he was at that time going thru a process of regeneration, and had it not been for his awakening our future would hve been very different. So I worked, waited, and trusted that all would come right some day. I knew my husband's ability was unquestioned. I felt sure his honesty would never again be impeached.

We were the first to make known the qualities of the now world-famous ASSAM teas.

And we are now the first to adopt a new package for the better protection of these fine quality teas.

The lead package has served its purpose well for generations, but it was easily broken or torn, allowing not only a loss of tea from the package but exposing the tea to the air, odors and dust that it was so necessary to protect the tea against.

Our new package—the waxed board carton—is stronger, more secure and more completely air tight; altogether the best container for tea that has yet been devised.

THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

Failure can more often be attributed to fear than inability.

There is a backneyed saying that "beauty is only skin deep." And yet a good appearance will help one advance a long way in this world of ours. However, it is not a doll-like useless beauty that is desirable, but a pleasing personality made up of bright intelligent eyes, a cheerful smile and neat, trim clothes. And this sort of beauty is within reach of all.

To most men, the pleasantest part of the day's business is the taking in of money in payment of work honestly performed. But do these same men stop to consider what happiness they might also give to their wives by coming to them at the end of the day, or the end of the week or month, and saying, "Here, my dear, is some money for you in return for all the little things you've done for me." Don't you think our wives deserve a little "cash payment" occasionally?

Work—the surest way of drowning sorrow and gaining happiness. Idleness—the road to misery, unhappiness and sin.

If we do not help rid the world of temptations, how can we expect our own household to be preserved from them?

Fear is the cause, either directly or indirectly, of a large share of human distress, worry, and unhappiness. A fearful disposition invites ill luck. A person who constantly expects trouble has little difficulty in finding it. And if fear brings about no definite misfortune, at least it always makes the person who holds the fear unhappy and a burden on all those who are associated with him.

Advantages of country life—plenty or meat, butter eggs and milk. No street car strikes. No rent profiteers. A movie that shows regularly, with no fear that the actors will strike, No race riots. Plenty of room for children, dogs and cats.

seems beyond you. You are just as seems beyond you. You are jus tas capable of performing it as the next man, and if you only do what you are sure you can do, you will never advance to a higher position.

We cannot live our lives alone. We are born into families, into communities, and every little word and deed has its influence upon those about us. Often we cannot see the good or evil we are doing, but nevertheless we do have influence, and ought therefore to be careful of what we say and do.

A word of appreciation often does more to cheer a tired and weary heart than many gifts unaccompanied by loving good-will. Appreciation is cheap and brings immediate returns. Try it.

Get into the habit of waking up in the morning with an eagerness to get at the day's work. Start the day with zest, and you will be surprised how much you will accomplish before night.

Don't let yourself grow old. The person who, as the years go by, becomes careless of his appearance will soon find that others are not treating him with proper respect. Dowdyism will repel both friends and business. A young cheerful face on the other hand, even though framed with silvery hair, will always attract admiration and win friends.

VAIN AND VISION.

We accomplish but little if we go about our work in a half-hearted way, lacking vim and vigor. We need energy, "pep," enthusiasm, in order to keep things moving. Yet vim alone will not give success. How often have we seen a man dash into an undertaking with all his energies, only in the end to perish on the rocks. What was it that was wrong? He lacked vision. He failed to look ahead, to judge the outcome of his acts, and to choose the wisest course. For success we need both vim and vision.

Hope is requisite for life. Each morning we awake with hope for what the day may bring forth, and each night we go to sleep with the hope that the next day may bring less of sorrow and more of happiness. If it were not for hope, our troubles might often seem unbearable. And unhappy indeed, is the man who looks forward to nothing. Life to him is drear and monotonous. But hope in good to come gives zest and purpose to life. And this faith in the future is not illusory hope which is never fulfilled, but is a hope capable of being fulfilled and, by its every existence, promises fulfilment.

When a true woman promises to marry a man it is because she loves him, and it doesn't make a fraction of difference what he does he will always live in her thoughts. If he sins, she will forgive him. If he is divorced and she is surrounded by other friends, yet will she constantly be reminded of the tender smile which once he had for her. And if he is dead, he will still live in her memory, coming back to fill her lonely hours with his dear, loving presence, no less real to her because unseen.

CORDIALY INDORSED.

Bayard Veiller, the playwright, says a candidate for citizenship came to the naturalization bureau in New York to take out his final papers. The applicant was a Pole who spoke broken English and was apparently eager to become a voter in the shortest possible time. With him was a friend and sponsor from the East Side.

Under examination the candidate betrayed a great lack of knowledge of national history and institutions and public men. Finally the examiner turned to his companion:

"Here," he said testily, "this man's ignorance is appalling. Take him away and explain something to him about the government of the United States and of the state of New York. Don't bring him back until he is better qualified."

The East-Sider led his crestfallen fellow-countryman away. Within twenty minutes they both returned. "Hello," said the examiner; "back so soon?"

"Everything is all right," stated the East-Sider. "I took my friend out and read him the Constitution, and he says he likes it first-rate."

SAFETY IN FRILLS.

Two East-Siders were making their first trip to Europe. On the first night out the sea grew rough and the liner pitched like a chip in the big waves.

One of the travellers, coming to his state-room to retire, found his friend just getting into bed, and was astonished to note that the second man wore a woman's frilly nightgown and had a lace-and-ribbon-trimmed boudoir cap tied upon his head.

"For heaven's sawe, man," he gasped, "what's the idea?"

"Well," said his friend, "you know the rule: In case of disaster, women and children first."

SUSPICIONS WELL GROUNDED.

An English caretaker was showing a party of American visitors through an ancient English cathedral.

"Be'ind the altar," he said, "lies buried Richard the Lion-'earted. In the churchyard outside lies Queen Rosamun'. And 'oo"—halting above an unmarked flagging in the stone floor and addressing a man from Pittsburgh—"'oo do you think, sir, is a-lyin' 'ere on this spot?"

"Well," said the American, "I don't know for sure, but I have my suspicions."

MONAGHAN COUNCIL WAITED IN VAIN FOR APPOINTMENT AT THE CITY HALL

CONFERENCE WITH THE BOARD OF WORKS DEFERRED BY URGENT MEETING OF MANUFACTURERS' COMMITTEE—WILL GET PICTURES OF BRIDGE.

While the manufacturers' Committee of the Council last night intently discussed of an industrial proposition, Warden McIntosh and the other members of the North Monaghan Council waited an hour in the anteroom at the City Hall for an appointment they had made with the Board of Works. When Ald. McIntyre's committee finally adjourned and gave way to the Board of Works the representatives of the township had departed, and the question of adjusting accounts with the city was again posted in the column of unfinished business.

"I am sorry this has happened" Ald. Phelan remarked, but the Committee was confident that when the importance of the business that had been suddenly thrust upon the Manufacturers' Committee was explained the North Monaghan Council would not feel slighted.

Plant Trees Next Year.

When the Board granted permission for the removal of a number of trees in different parts of the city, City Engineer Parsons stated that the Council should decide upon a definite plan of planting trees. Many of the streets were almost bare of trees, especially in the south end. In other sections of the city had beautiful trees. Mr. Parsons agreed with Mayor Duncan that it was too late now to undertake a programme of planting. Ald. Phelan suggested that Mr. Parsons present to a memornda early in the new year for the consideration of the incoming Council.

Mr. Parsons replied that he had already prepared and submitted a report on tree planting, but no action had yet been taken

Firemen to Trim Trees.

Ald. Morrison moved, seconded by Ald. Hamilton that the trimming of trees be done by the Fire Department under the supervision of the City Engineer.

Ald. Gainey urged that lights be placed along the north approach to the Hunter street bridge on the Ashburnham side and if possible that a board walk be laid there at once until the temporary bridge is opened to the public.

Pictures of the Bridge.

Dealing with Mr. M. L. Campbell's offer to provide picture of the Hunter street bridge showing the progress of its construction, Ald. Edgar moved, seconded by Ald. Hamilton that City Engineer Parsons produce photographs of such parts of the bridge as he may deem to be useful to the Council.

Ald. McIntyre moved, seconded by Ald. Crowe that notice be given of the Council's intention to construct a sewer on Dublin street westerly from Aylmer street for a distance to be determined by City Engineer Parsons.

OLD BRITISH STAMPS OF HELIGOLAND SEEN

Relics of Tenure Are Shown By Philatelic Society.

London.—Postage stamps bearing the portrait of Queen Victoria are among the few remaining relics of the British tenure of Heligoland. Their political associations, combined with their delicate designs and beautiful colors, have made them highly popular with British stamp collectors. The Heligoland section of the King's stamp collection was exhibited before the Fellows of the Royal Philatelic Society, of which the King is honorary patron, by the President, Mr. E. D. Bacon, who is also Curator of the Royal Stamp Collection.

The display was accompanied by some interesting notes, descriptive of the various issues, in the course of which it was stated that the difficulties of diffierentiating between the original stamps and then numerous re-impressions, both official and private, are no nearly so frormidable as is generally supposed by the vast majority of stamp collectors, and resolve themselves into the mere recognition of three main types of the Queen's head, which are characterized by variations in the shape of the chignon.

The first Heligoland stamps were issued on April 15, 1867, and bore the head of Queen Victoria embossed cameo-like upon a colored ground. Up to that time the island's post office had been under the control of the Hamburg postal administration, with the result that the values of the Queen's head stamps were still indicated in the currency of the Free Hanseatic port. The dies were engraved and the stamps printed by the Prussian State Printing Office to the order of the Secretary of the Heligoland Government. Beginning on February 15, 1875 however, the values of the island postage stamps were denoted in both English and German moneys, although the printing of the stamps was still carried out in Berlin.

A new design introduced on May 1, 1876, showed an escutcheon surmaunted by a Crown and emblazoned with the national colors. Following the transfer of the island to Germany on August 9 1890, the stamps of the British dominion were replaced by those of the German Empire. The original plates of the British issues were disposed of to a stamp dealer in Germany, on whose behalf frequent postrumous impressions were taken from them at Berlin, Hamburg and Leipzig. These reprints may be distinguished from the originals by differences in color, paper and gum, and therein lies the main problem that confronts the philatelic specialist in Heligoland stamps. It is a remarkable fact that in certain instances the reprints are scarcer than the genuine issues.

THE BEST WAY.

Just to be tender, just to be true
Just to be glad the whole day through;
Just to be merciful, just to be mild,
Just to be trustful as a child.
Just to be gentle and kind and sweet,
Just to be helpful with willing feet;
Just to be cheery when things go wrong,
Just to drive sadness away with a song.
Just to forgive when wrong is done,
Just to forget what's done in fun,
Just to remember old friends are best,
Just you be sure they'll stand the test.
Just to "believe' in that old man,
Seemingly fallen as far as he can,
Just to look in his saddened face
And see my picture but for grace.
Just to be thankful for strength and health,
More to be envied than greatest wealth,
Just to be thoughtful of those we love,
Whose lives are in His hands above.
Whether the hour is dark or bright,
Just to be loyal to God and right,
Just to believe that he knows best,
Just in his promises ever to rest.

STOPS RAISING COTTON; STARTS RAISING HOGS

PART OF THE PERSONAL TRIUMPH OF A SOUTHERN EDITOR.

GETS THEM AWAY FROM THE ONE-CROP SYSTEM

NEW YORK—C. P. J. Mooney has been an editor for years. He edited in New York and Chicago and many other places. He has been editing in Memphis for a number of years. Down there he is considered an institution. If Mooney does not get into a political fight with both hands up to the elbow that light withers and dies. People thing it never did amount to nothing nohow.

During his period as an editor in Chicago he wandered down to the railroad yards one day. No one knows why, unless it was to rejoice a pair of true-bred southern eyes by the sight of railroad rails running south. He leaned against a post. On the other side of the post another man leaned. The other man wore a greasy jumper and a cap and had cinders set in his complexion.

Railroad Man's Statement.

"You're a railroad man?" asked Mooney. The other man nodded.

"Where are all those trains going?" asked the homesick southerner.

"Down south," said the railroad man, "carrying lard and pork and beans and corn to feed a lot of southerners who are too lazy to raise that stuff themselves."

Mooney knew that part about the laziness wasn't true. But he was interested in the rest of the railroader's statement. Before he deprived himself of the support of the post he had counted fourteen trains bound south with food.

Had Hard Row to Hoe.

When he got back to the office he resigned his job and started for Memphis. He determined to correct that condition if it took all the rest of his life. By and by he became an editor and then he began to hammer at the southern farmer. He told the southern farmer all those things for his good that he felt like telling. But the southern farmer acted as though he were deaf. If Mooney wrote an editorial about the loathsome insect that headed the opposition ticked he got an immediate response from his clientele. But if he wrote about farm topics his very finest language got nowhere.

So he began to advertise. This is not the least remarkable part of the Mooney story. The average editorial writer tries to direct the universe from the editorial chair, and when the universe doesn't gee-haw he mourns about it. Mooney knew his editorials were all right, but also they were not being read. So he fixed is so they must be read. He had them set in black face type, advertising fashion. Some of them he ran in the editorial columns. Realizing, however, that there are canny folks who cannot be trapped into reading editorials, he stuck them all over the paper. Sometimes there were on the first page. Sometimes they were back with the cotton prices.

Advice to the Farmer.

"Plough deep," advertised Mooney in black-face. Don't raise so much cotton and raise more corn. Fertilize your fields. Clean out your wells. Raise pigs."

The southern farmer for a long time regarded this as merely an amiable oddity of Mooney's. But the constant dropping of advertising will wear away popular concrete, you know. Mooney pursued farmers with his annoying advice. He induced many southerner editors to clip these advertising bits from his paper and run them as their own.

The boll weevil helped him from time to time. A farmer would go so utterly broke trying to raise cotton and would take the Mooney remedy on the theory that he could not do worse. One day a bulky planter from the wonderful alluvial bottoms of the Mississippi came in.

"Well," said he. "I followed your advice and raised pigs. I've got a carload of 'em out here now."

Wanted To Say More.

"Fine," said Mooney heartily. He was going on to say more, because he had some things he wanted to get rid of, when the planter held up his hand.

"Fine, thunder," said he. "What will I do with 'em? No one will buy them."

It was a fact that no one in Memphis was at that time willing to buy a live pig except as a pet. All meat came from Chicago. But Mooney put on his hat and sold the pigs. The southern farmer had begun to pay attention. Today diversified farming has the call of the south. Cotton is no longer the be-all and end-all of rural existence south of the line. There are pigs, and corn, and chickens, and cows everywhere. Except for the yielding of the southern farmer to the Mooney plan of editorial-cum-advertising, the south could not have come through the war as it did. Nor would the Allies have eaten as much American pork and flour.

Refused $10,000 For Pig.

But, getting back to that personal triumph which Mooney won the other day. His first convert—the bulky planter who brought in the carload of unsalable pigs—has become a pig fancier emeritus. And at the tri-state fair in Memphis he refused to accept $50,000 for the boar that heads his heard. Fifty thousand dollars is a lot money. Time was when Memphis was fond of race horses. But even at the top of that time one could buy a good many thoroughbreds for $50,000.

So there is C. P. J. Mooney's personal triumph. Or was it a triumph for persistend advertising?

"John, I need a new dress. All I have are out of style."

"Everything's frightfully high, my dear. Better go in for literature awhile and pretend to be superior to the fashions."

MEN OF MONAGHAN HURT BY THE CITY'S RUDENESS

WARDEN M'INTOSH DECLARED TODAY THAT PETERBORO COUNCIL WILL HAVE TO GO TO MONAGHAN IF THEY WISH TO SECURE A SETTLEMENT OF A DOUBTFUL ACCOUNT.

EXPECTED COURTESY, AT LEAST

"The next time the city will come to us," said Warden McIntosh this morning in reference to the North Monaghan Council's disappointment last night when they kicked their heels for an hour in an ante-room at the City Hall, waiting for an interview with the Board of Works that had been arranged for eight o'clock.

"Ald. Phelan asked our Council to meet the Board of Works in connection with the settlement of the account for the repairs to the Monaghan Road," Warden McIntosh continued. "We waited for twenty minutes, and then made a try to get into the Committee Room, but Ald. Edgar told us not to come in for a while. Another quarter of an hour passed, and we decided that nine o'clock would be our limit. That was one whole hour. When that time passed we left. The least they could have done was to have explained to us why the Board of Works could not keep the appointment they had made with us."

Warden McIntosh asked The Examiner what committee was meeting, and when informed, remarked that some member of the Council could at least have explained the situation to the visitors.

"We shall not place ourselves in that position again," declared the Warden, who said that the Council of North Monaghan at least deserved a little courtesy from the city.

"We have been trying to foster better relations between the two municipalities," he said, "but every effort we make meets with some kind of rebuff or other. I was very sorry because of the inconvenience our Council had been put to in coming in from the country."

Warden McIntosh didn't say so, but he left the impression that the city's representatives had been inexcusably discourteous, and that the Township's Councillors resented the city's indifference to their presence and feelings.

HAD TO GO TO BED HEADACHES SO BAD

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS MADE HER WELL

When your liver gets sluggish and inactive, your whole health suffers. Your bowels become constipated, your head aches, your tongue is coated, breath bad, specks float before the eyes, you are bilious, have heartburn, water-brash, pain under the right shoulder, muddy and brown spotted complexion, etc.

Help the liver to resume its proper function by removing the bile that is circulating in the blood and poisoning the system.

Mrs. E. Bainbridge, 50 Maple Ave., Amherst, N.S., writes: "I take pleasure in writing you of the good I received by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for headaches. I was so bad I had to go to bed, and could not sit up. A friend told me about your wonderful medicine, and two vials have made me as well as I can be."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are small and easy to take, do not gripe, weaken or sicken, do not leave any bad after-effects. Price 35c. a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THE WINNER OF THE $50 VICTORY BOND

The $50.00 Victory Bond offered by the "Walk-Easy" Shoe Store for the nearest correct estimate of the total subscriptions to the Victory Loan, was won by Mr. William R. Casey, R. R. No. 1, Omemee.

Mr. Casey's estimate was $3,300,974 while the correct amount was $3,350,000. His Worship Mayor G. H. Duncan did the judging.

Other estimates which stood a good chance of winning the prize were as follows:

W. A. Wood, Fraserville, $3,425,800.

C. H. Williamson, 335 Rogers Street, $3,275,250.

James Jackson, 504 Bolivar Street, $3,197,242.

A. M. Williams, 502 Bonacord Street, $3,151,000.

OTHER CITIES HAVE FEWER CROSSINGS TO HELP PAY FOR

Replies to the Railway committee's enquiries as to how other cities in Ontario are affected by railway crossing gates and the cost of maintaining watchmen, were received last night when Ald. Edgar convened his committee. Brantford has no gates to keep up, St. Catharines has two railways at one crossing for which both are equally assessed. Toronto has thirty-one gates for the protection of eleven, of which the city pays nothing. Two of them are maintained altogether by the city, and the cost of other crossings is divided between the city and the companies. At fifteen crossings, where there are watchmen but no gates, eleven of the men are paid by the railways and four by the city.

The C.P.R. wrote the committee that the Hydro-Electric Commission and not the railway should be held liable for the cost of a watchman at the new crossing on Simcoe street into the gas plant, if one is ever required. The committee replied that the responsibility shall be either the C.P.R. or the Hydro-Electric Commission.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

DADDY LONG LEGS.

Grown-ups and children alike were delighted with the feature picture, "Daddy Long Legs," with Mary Pickford in the leading role, at the Grand yesterday, and at both the afternoon and evening performance the house was crowded to capacity. Combined with the feature picture, which is conceded to be the best Mary Pickford picture ever made, a special Charlie Chaplin comedy and a splendid British-Canadian review picture, are shown on the unusually generous programme, which will be repeated to-day and to-morrow.

The feature picture has universal appeal because it is filled with children, their humor and their pathos, and while a comedy, it puts up a strong plea for the waifs and strays.

As Judy Abbott, a name given her from a telephone book and a tombstone, Miss Pickford has the role of a waif lodged in an orphanage, full of life and fun, who dodges the punishments of the matron and is self-appointed good angel and mother to the rest of her orphaned brothers and sisters. The picture abounds with humor, some of it old, and some distinctly new. Among the latter may be mentioned the headquarters of Dan Cupid, and Freckles' and Judy's experience with the hard cider, not to mention the shocking example they set the dog.

Coming to later scenes, where Judy blossoms into a sweet girl graduate and determines to find her benefactor, Miss Pickford is deliciously coquettish and demure.

The story is well told and the identity of the mysterious John Smith, Judy's benefactor, well preserved, so that suspense is not wanting on this account. It is a picture calculated to please from any angle, and to the kiddies offers a veritable feast.

The school children took their part in the afternoon's activities by rendering the opening chorus of "O Canada."

"I SEE ALMOST TOTAL PASSING OF PARTY SYSTEM IN ONTARIO"

SUCH IS PREMIER DRURY'S PROPHECY, PROVIDED POLICIES OF EXTENDING REFERENDUM AND PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION ARE "PROPERLY DEVELOPED"—INVOLVES GROUPING OF CONSTITUENCIES.

TORONTO, Nov. 18.—The relegation to history in Ontario of party Government—no less a vision holds a place in the mind of Premier E. C. Drury, and no less a purpose will actuate some of the activities of the Drury Government, according to a statement by Premier Drury.

"Will the voters of Ontario, at the next election, be called upon to vote under the proportional respresentation system?" Mr. Drury was asked. The Premier smiled, obviously debating whether any pronouncement on the subject would be premature.

Then he said: "I should say that it is altogether probable that at the next Ontario elections the present system will be superseded by the one you have mentioned. There is most certainly room for this electoral reform in this Province. No reasonable man, in my opinion, would oppose such a move. Why should there be a Government and an Opposition? What is the necesaity of such a system as that of party Government?

"Proportional representation would ensure some measure of representation to the minorities of the Province. Who can reasonably object to the referendum, as well as to that? The present Government, mind you, is not the ideal form of Government. It is, it must be admitted, but a modification of the party form of administration, but there seems to be justification for further progress towards what must be conceded to be a more perfect system.

"In this connection the extension of the use of the referendum must be considered. I am certainly committed to the policy of extension of proportional representation. If the two are properly developed, I can see in the near future the almost total elimination of the party system in this Province."

"Does the system suggested include the enlargement of the present Provincial constituencies" "Yes. It would involve the grouping of constituencies, as they are at present constituted. Under the new system there would probably be four or five candidates to be elected from each group of ridings. The voters would not vote with the traditional "x," but would vote for the men in the order of their preference. The vote would be registered in figures, the elector writing the figures 1, 2, 3, 4, etc., opposite the names of the candidates. The ones would be counted first, the twos second, and in this way the successful candidate would be determined. It would then be possible for an elector to vote for several of the candidates, indicating his preference by the figure opposite the names. He could select the most outstanding men from all parties they represented."

CONTRACTS FOR SNOW PLOWING WERE LET BY BOARD OF WORKS

COST OF THE WORK THIS WINTER WILL BE $1258, OR $39 MORE THAN LAST YEAR — TENDERS RECIEVED FOR EVERY DISTRICT.

The removal of the snow from the sidewalks of the city this winter will cost $1258 as compared with $1219 last season. These sums exclude the cost of the work done by the city in district No. 1, down town.

The following statement shows the cost of the work in each district last winter and also the contracts let by the Board of Works for the winter of 1919-1920;—

District	1918	1919

Ald Edgar asked why the lowest tender should not be accepted, and it was stated that nothing was known of Mr. Deal. It was important in this work that the contractors should have heavy horses otherwise their work was almost certain to be unsatisfactory.

Districts Nos. 5 and 6-south ward, George Sexsmith, $135 and $150 respectively. Only tender.

New York Court Called on to Decide Divorce Suit of Orientals

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Justice Vernon M. Davis of the Supreme Court will within a few days decide what is said to be the first Chinese divorce suit brought in the State of New York.

Ex-Alderman Frederick A. Ware, author of the "peace treaty" between the On Leong and the Hip Sing tongs of Chinatown ten years ago, appeared as counsel for the complaining husband, Lue Won.

Main Guy acted as interpreer in the court proceedings, and Lue, who is 45 years old, testified that he had married his wife, Ange Line, in Canton, China, in April, 1917. He had previously lived in New York, and after the mariage returned to the city and opened a restaurant in Bayard street, bringing with him his twenty-one-year-old bride.

Shortly after arriving in New York the plaintiff's wife left him, and according to the husband's testimony, went to live with another Chinese restaurant owner, Ung Low, in Eighth avenue, near 125th street.

The papers show that when the process was served on the defendant she was in company with Ung, both being greatly interested in a Chinese baby which the defendant wife held in her arms.

C. T. U. National Convention to hold its session in the Assembly Hall of the Anheuser Busch Brewery.

The invitation was extended several weeks ago, Miss Gordon said, and the invitation was not accepted, as a more central location was desired.

MANCHESTER, England, Nov. 17.—The Manchester Chamber of Commerce desires a nickel coinage. The members are of opinion that it is advisable to employ nickel instead of silver for all new coins between the [illegible] and sevens.

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

NEW HARDWARE STORE FOR CHARLOTTE ST.

The announcement has been made that Mr. Bert W. McClennan, a well known young hardware salesman, will open a new Hardware Store on Charlotte street, near the corner of Aylmer Street, about the middle of this week. The new stock has arrived and is being placed in position in the store premises, which has been completely remodelled to suit the special requirements of the hardware business. The new proprietor is no stranger in Peterborough, having been connected with the local hardware trade for years, acquiring his first practical knowledge with the Peterborough Hardware Co., and more recently with the Kingan Hardware Co.

With Peterborough the centre of a rich agricultural district, as well as a growing manufacturing city, there would seem to be wide scope for a large hardware trade. Each of the old established hardware stores in the city, 'tis conceded are of a steady, substantial and growing business, so that there should be plenty of room for the addition of Mr. McClennan's new store, especially in that section of the city, which is growing to need the service of this line of business.

WAR VETERANS WILL VOTE UPON QUESTION OF ENTERING POLITICS

MATTER WAS DISCUSSED AT REGULAR MEETING—G.W.V.A. OPPOSED TO PATRIOTIC FUND HANDLING EMERGENCY GRANTS FOR SOLDIERS — MORE NOMINATIONS ARE MADE.

The Peterborough branch of the Great War Veterans' Association had a varied bill-of-fare at its regular meeting last night, the program running all the way from politics to a consideration of the question of whether or not members should be allowed to play billiards in the recreation room while a business meeting was being held in the main hall. The Examiner was taken to task for suggesting that the government fund for emergency should be handed over to the Patriotic Fund. Comrade Canon Davidson was criticized for certain remarks said to have been made at a recent banquet in St. Andrew's Church, the Union government came in for its usual condemnation, this time more pronounced than usual, and altogether there was an unusually interesting session, although the attendance was below normal.

President H. J. Staunton presided. Owing to irregularities in the nominations for the officers for 1920 at the previous meeting it was necessary to re-open the nominations last night, on a ruling from the Provincial President.

There were only a few changes in the list, the majority of the nominations made at the last meeting being allowed to stand. The name of Comrade R. E. Layfield was added to the list of those in the field for second vice-president, and Comrades Cooper, Primeau, Layfield and Batley were included in the executive nomination list. The election will take place at the first meeting in December.

Comrade Geo. Findlay tendered his resignation from the executive as he is leaving the city in a short time. In accepting the resignation the meeting passed a hearty vote of thanks to Comrade Findlay for his services during the year.

An Important Referendum.

The instructions from the Ontario Provincial Command as to the plebiscite to be taken on the questions of amending the rules so that the G.W.V.A. can enter the political field, and of throwing the membership open to all men who had served in His Majesty's forces either in this or in previous wars, were read to the meeting and there was considerable discussion as to the best means of taking the vote. It was decided to suspend business for ten minutes in order to discuss the political question, and Secretary Whatley made a vigorous plea for an affirmative vote on both questions. It was necessary, he contended, for the Veterans to go into politics to get their just rights and it was also necessary if they decided to do so to increase their membership.

At a meeting of the executive afterwards it was decided that the voting on these two questions will take place on Thursday evening, Nov. 27, Friday evening, Nov. 28, and Saturday afternoon and evening, Nov. 29. All members in good standing are urged to express their opinion by means of the ballot.

The Chaplain Question.

There was a peculiar development when the question of a chaplain for the branch was under discussion. At the last meeting Comrade Canon Davidson was unanimously chosen for this position. Last night the re-opening of nominations threw the question open again, and Comrade Rev. James Rollins was proposed, while several members urged that in addition a Roman Catholic chaplain should be appointed.

Comrade Muir said that there would be trouble over the appointing of a chaplain because his duties would be to attend funerals, and if there happened to be a funeral on Sunday he might come into conflict with the Ministerial Association, which was opposed to Sunday funerals.

Comrade Milby proposed that the nominees for the position be asked to state their position.

Comrade Davidson was not in attendance, but Comrade Rollins took exception both to being asked to give a pledge of this kind, and to the statement in regard to the Ministerial Association.

Just then President Staunton pointed out that the official list of officers did not provide for a chaplain, and he therefore ruled that it was not constitutional to appoint one. That ended the matter and the debate on the subject was brought to a termination.

THE PATRIOTIC FUND

Comrade R. H. Muir read an editorial which appeared in the Examiner recently advocating that the Patriotic Fund should be used for distributing the Government's emergency assistance and proceeded to jump on the editorial and the Patriotic Fund at the same time. Comrade Muir's description of the Patriotic Fund as a place where :"Soldier's wives were insulted" was a feature of his address. He was utterly opposed to the idea of any needy soldier having to go to the Patriotic Fund for assistance.

At this stage a resolution from the Patriotic Fund being employed for this purpose was unanimously endorsed.

It was Comrade Muir who also led in the attack upon Comrade Canon Davidson for remarks made at a Soldier's banquet in St. Andrew's Church. Comrade Muir objected to a member of the Association giving public utterance to remarks that appeared to give the impression that the returned men were satisfied with the gratuities that had been received.

Secretary Whatley spoke along the same lines and thought that no member of the Association, without authority from the G.W.V.A. should discuss in public matters of this kind.

Comrade Kilbrick remarked that Comrade Davidson should be asked to resign from the position of Chaplain.

Comrade James Rollins at whose church the speech complained of had been made, said that Canon Davidson's remarks had not made any such impression upon him as upon some of the other speakers. There was too much sensitiveness among some of the members. Comrade Rollins thought that it was not fair to judge Comrade Davidson on the extracts that had been published. The speaker took exception to the suggestion that members be orderd not to give their own opinions in public discussion. It was infringement on free speech.

President Staunton explained that there was no objection to a member discussing any matter in public as long as he made it clear that he was expressing his own views and not speaking as a member or officer of or by the authority of the G.W.V.A.

It was decided to ask Comrade Davidson to give an explanation of his address at the next meeting.

The Social Committee

The names of Comrades W. Perks E. Mesley, C. R. Ackerman, Johnston and Oxley were added to the Social Committee of which Comrade W. A. Primeau is chairman. A request from a number of members for the use of the hall one night of each week for the purpose of holding a social dance was debated for some time and finally was turned over to the Social Committee to investigate and report upon.

At the conclusion of the meeting there was a short discussion on politics. The members who spoke were unanimous in advocating going in to politics and the majority also favoured throwing the membership doors wide open. Comrade Rollins suggested that if the Association decided to embark into politics, there must be a wide and comprehensive national platfrom prepared, a statement that found favour. The majority of speakers seemed to favour a letting down of the bars as far as membership is concerned.

SPEAKER PUT IN COLD STORAGE

APPLETON, Minn., Nov. 18.—Ernest Lundeen, former Minnesota Congressman, was seized by a crowd of men when he attempted to speak against the "British Wilson League" at Ortonville, Minn., last night, and locked in a refrigerator car. He was rescued an hour later by the crew of a freight train who heard screams coming from the car.

QUEEN MARY CIRCLE HELD A MEETING

DR. MALCOLM M'CULLOCH ADDRESSED THE TEACHERS AND PARENTS.

On Friday afternoon a largely attended meeting of the parents and teachers circle of the Queen Mary School was held. Dr. Malcolm McCulloch gave a very interesting address on the work of the School Medical Officer. This is an innovation for Peterboro schools, Dr. McCulloch said the doctor in charge was supposed to notify the parents of any infectious diseases also of any trouble which needed the care of the care of the family physician and also any tooth trouble requiring the attention of a dentist. Each child is to have an examination and a report if necessary, sent to the parents. Dr. McCulloch said so far he had noticed a large number of children having enlarged tonsils and adenoids also decayed teeth. This system well carried out should improve the health of the boys and girls. It was suggested that the King Edward Circle be invited to social evening on Friday November 21sct at the Queen Mary School which was decided upon.

MISINFORMATION.

There was a dance in the lobby of one of the big apartment houses in Washington. A man who rents an apartment came in, saw the crowd, and asked one of the negro elevator boys:

"What's going on out there?"

"Why," the boy replied, "that is a dance given by one of the maternities of Georgetown University!"

IF THIN AND NERVOUS TRY BITRO-PHOSPHATE

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals, it is a well-known fact that the lack of phosphorous in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition.

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorous may now be met by the use of Bitro-Phosphate, which can be obtained from any good druggist in convenient tablet form.

In many instances the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue soon produces a welcome change—nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy and the whole body losses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION:— White Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

JANITOR OF BUSINESS BLOCK BROKE INTO ONE OE THE STORE

P. C. THOMAS MADE CLEVER CAPTURE OF THIEF WHO STOLE BLANKETS AND WAISTS FROM SUKLOFF'S DRY GOODS STORE.

While trying the doors of the stores on his beat on George street south of Charlotte street last night at ten o'clock, P. C. Thomas caught a glimpse of a dim figure moving in the rear of N. Sukloff's store in the Lundy block. P. C. Thomas immediately turned on the outside switch and in the flood of light saw a sweater clad figure climbing through a window at the back of store. The policeman ran down to King street and in the lane behind the block of buildings cornered the burglar.

"Is there no way this can be fixed" the man pleaded.

"Only by coming to the police station and explaning everything to the sergeant in charge", replied P. C. Thomas.

The prisoner, who has been janitor of the Lundy block, pleaded guilty in police court this morning to a charge of having broken into Sukloff's store at 293 George street, and also to another charge of having stolen a pair of blankets from the same store on a previous prowl.

Sergeant Deannard and P. C. Thomas visited the apartment last night, where they found the blankets and two silk waists which the prisoner confessed to having stolen.

He was remanded for a week by Magistrate Dumble this morning.

"EXPERIENCE"

"Experience" George V. Hobart's morality comedy drama will be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest at the Grand on Thursday evening only. This drama now in its sixth season, is one of the most successful of recent years and in every city where it has been presented it has met with a tremendous success and has been endorsed by the clergy of all denominations.

"Experience" shows the adventures of Youth—the average young man of to-day—who leaves his boyhood home to go out into the great world and win success in the turburient ways of life. He begins his journey with a pure heart, an innocent mind and a soul inspired with high and noble purpose. Soon he meets Temptation, the temptations that beset every young man when he leaves the protection and shelter of his parental roof to take his place in the busy marts of trade and commerce. Youth succumbs to the allurements of Vice, until he finds himself on the very brink of crime and lowest degradation, when he is recalled to a sense of better things by hearing the words of a hymn which brings back to his mind tender recollections of his dear mother and his boyhood home. Youth turns from his follies, retraces his steps and courageously begins life anew with Love, Hope and Ambition guiding his footsteps.

A noted critic has said: "It is almost impossible to describe the play it must be seen to be appreciated." The characters are personifications of virtues and vices and are known accordingly. The story is really fascinating and it is told in a way that holds the audience in rapt attention from the opening of the first episode until the close of the tenth and last.

The scenery is the acme of stage settings and the producers have specially selected the cast which wil appear in this city.

DESERT SANDSTORM A "SAHARA" THRILLER

A most enthusiastic audience greeted the presentation of "Sahara" at the Allen Theatre last night, and their remarks heard on going out stamps it as a photoplay marvel of beauty.

Among the many brilliant scenes is an evening on the Sahara desert and Mignon (played by Louise Glaum) was planning to make the supreme sacrifice, to leave her husband free to accept the love of one whom she thought he loved. Then the wind came up carrying with it a cloud of stinging sand that obscured the setting sun. The tall date palms swayed drunkenly, tents were uprooted and abode walls caved in. The sandstorm swept on its way for hours and the dawning sun glared red on the smooth, wind-swept sands.

The sandstorm is one of the dramatic as well as spectacular episodes of "Sahara". Miss Glaum portrays the role of Mignon in a way that stamps her as one of the greatest emotional stars of the day.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS

BRINGS A SUITCASE FULL OF NEW TRICKS IN "THE KNICKERBOCKER BUCKAROO."

Douglas Fairbanks has a suitcase full of brand new stunts that he introduces in his picture, "The Knickerbocker Buckaroo," which will be shown at the Allen Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

Doug has been in constant training with Bull Montana, Spike Robinson and Kid McKoy and, to quote the screen athelete, "I was in the pink of condition when I made this film."

His latest picture takes him out west, wheer in an effort to be unselfish and do things for other people, he gets into various melodramatic mix-ups that create their own comedy incidents.

He purchased a new horse, having retired "Star" from active service and was in daily practice with it before the start of the regular day at the studio, getting acquainted and trying new stunts.

"GLORIANNA"

Characterized on Broadway as the most "whimsical and fascinating American musical productions ever staged," the great musical comedy success, "Glorianna" comes to the Grand on Saturday, matinee and evening, with a splendid cast of principals and a bevy of pretty girls. The management has spared no expense to duplicate identically the production which had so successful an engagement at the Liberty theatre in New York.

"Glorianna" which was written by Catherine Chisholm Cushing and set to music by Rudolph Friml ,composer of "Katinka," "High Jinks," "Somebody's Sweetheart," "You're In Love" and "The Firefly," fairly bubbles with mirth. It furnishes more than two hours of good, clean, wholesome and diverting entertainment.

The cast is metropolitan in its entirety and some of its principals are as well known abroad as they are in this country. The costumes are gorgeous and imported. The colourful paintings of Urban also constitute a pretty sight for the eyes as the settings are both elaborate and realistic.

The story around which the comedy is constructed is refreshing in every respect. It tells the amusing story of two young women, both in financial straits, Glorianna Gray, the heroine, makes the acquaintance of a young widow and when she declines to claim her husband's fortune which legally belongs to her, because her marriage was a secret, daring Glorianna impersonates her. The other girl on the other hand, impersonates Glorianna. With this agreement the fun starts and funny situations, far funnier than either had looked forward to, develop, but the story is amusingly worked out to the happiness of all concerned.

Musically "Glorianna" is full of tuneful numbers that will be whistled long after the company leaves the city. Among some of the more popular songs are "Love, Love, Love," "Why Don't You Speak Yourself, John," "Nannette and Rintintin," "Frocks and Frills" and "Chianti."

GREAT FIGHTERS TO RETIRE FROM ARENA; KILBANE AND LEONARD LAY DOWN MITTS

Johnny Kilbane, featherweight ng, and Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, are riously considering retiring from squared circle. They will step wn from their thrones, according reliable information at the end of present year.

It has been known for some time t Kilbane intended to retire and enter business in his home town, eveland, Ohio, but the announcent that Leonard would retire mes as a surprise. Benny is in prime of life and he can go indefinitely winning battles, for stands alone to-day in his class. Benny has been considering retir-, it became known this week, for the past year. He states the only reason he did not retire before this was Billy Gibson, his manager, who insisted upon him remaining in the game, for Billy finds promoters willing to bid high for Benny's services, and he does not see where Benny can make the money in retirement that he can in action, and as there are no boxers in sight who appear likely to give the champion any trouble, Gibson thinks Benny should remain in the ring.

Leonard has plenty of money and he doesn't need to fight. He is interested in several paying propositions and he intends to devote all his time to these. Kilbane is also well fixed financially, and money matters should never cause him any worry.

With the retirement of these two champions the question arises, who will get the crowns of featherweight and lightweight champion? The public will not stand for either of them giving their titles away.

An elimination tourney will have to be staged to settle the question. The man who emerges victorious will be the champion. In the lightweight division Lew Tendler, Willie Jackson, Johnny Dundee and Eddie Fitzsimmons are the leading candidates. In the featherweight division Joe Wolfe, Joe Lynch, Benny Valger and a few others will be the contenders.

WILDE HAS MADE HIMSELF SOLID IN THE STATES

NEW YORK.—America would like to own Jimmy Wilde.

The little flyweight champion of the world has become so popular during his short time here that American fans envy England's right to him.

Perhaps the unassuming attitude of the wee Britisher, the absolute lack of anything pretentious about him, his winning smile and his unwillingness to take upon himself any glory for his wonderful fight record have made a hit with the Americans because his general characteristics have been so lacking in the type of champions that the Yankees have rubbed elbows with.

Wilde was presented publicly for the first time to 8,000 fight fans in the armory at Jersey City, N.J., Monday night just before Lightweight Champion Benny Leonard fought eight rounds with the Soldier Bartfield.

WILDE'S MESSAGE.

He was given a rousing reception when introduced but the house broke out into a din of bedlam when the little champion had the announcer deliver this message for him: "My first message is to thank the United States for the assistance given in winning the war."

Many false impressions of the champion have been corrected since he arrived here with his wife and two trainers. Fans on this side of the water had heard that he was a puney, weak, little, diminutive of the tubercular type. Tales were told that medical experts marvelled that such a weak speciman of manhood could fight the way he does.

Nothing seems farther from the truth. He is but a mite of a man, standing but five feet, four inches, and weighing only an ounce or two above 100 pounds. He resembles more the jockey type than a fighter. But he has broad shoulders, unusually long arms, a well developed muscular chest and a pair of nimble legs that get him around like a dancer. He has rosy tinted cheeks on a face that no one would take for a fighter's. A scar on his nose, inflicted by a bump from Pal Moore's head comes closest to telling his profession.

While he had declared that his visit here is primarily for pleasure, the little battler lost no time in announcing that he was willing to mix a little business with his pleasure and that he would meet anyone within ten pounds of his class.

He has three matches in sight. The first in Milwaukee on Thanksgiving Day with Benny Vogel, one of Tom Andrews' little fellows: the second at St. Paul on Christmas or New Year's Day and probably one on the Pacific Coast.

O THE RETURNING MEN FIND HOME GIRLS MERELY GRAFTERS?

AS SIMPLICITY OF ENGLISH GIRL AND ECONOMY OF FRENCH GIRL OPENED THEIR EYES AT LAST?—WHAT WILL THE GIRLS DO ABOUT IT?

Is the girl of the new world a para-e?

Have the changes of war opened eyes to what foreign visitors for ars have been telling us, that the l of the new world, "a spoiled eature, demands more, gives less, an any other woman in the world?" For years I have been hearing this ticism. Now, reiterated by the re-rning soldier, and the mothers of se men, I am almost beginning to lieve it.

I asked the head of a family what thought about the allegations that girl of the new world is a "ma?-al grafter." He said this:

"Perhaps she isn't any more 'nat-ally' a grafter than other folks, but has been brought to the grafting siness by tradition and training. ing good at anything she sets r mind to, she is as clever and ccessful a grafter as you can imag-. Of course, women don't have asons for things. They just do m. So that there is no way of tting at their motives. You get a mpse of her state of mind when ask her about a given case. She ys she likes to have a good time, d why shouldn't he pay it? —he ing the man in the case."

My head of a family gives me this of dialogue as typical:

"Why do you take money from at young man"

"Money? I never took money m him."

The One Who Buys

"Doesn't he pay money for the nches and dinners? Doesn't he pay for everything?"

"Of course. Why not?"

"Why should he pay for your food?"

"Don't I give him my company?"

"Doesn't he give you his?"

"What an idea !His company!"

"Well, then, if you don't think his company is as good as your own lunch with him for the money he spends. Doesn't that put you in a rather funny position? Doesn't that mean that you sell your company?"

"The idea!"

"You see," said my head of a family, "it couldn't get into her head at all. The average girl feels no shame in taking money from a man — from any man. She claims that she is man's equal. She claims economic independence. But she continues to regard him as her prey when it comes to supplies. Even women who work for a living and have their own income—often as big as his—will take money from a man without a blush. She considers that all that is lavished on her is her right and his privilege. Her attitude is much like that of a dependent child. But she doesn't consider herself a dependent child. It would be only a joke if a tragedy didn't so often lurk behind it. You get the tragedy in the way earnest-minded young fellow feel about it without ever being able to say it to a girl. No man feels graceful raising such a question with women. And then pretty disastrous things happen to the lives of young men as a result of grasping women —both before and after marriage."

As a Woman Sees it.

Analyzing the present situation, moved by war changes, Mrs. Julian Heath, proud mother of a handsome sailor son, perpetual hostess to scores of entertainments and affairs given for the men in uniform, voices a strong appeal to the young woman to consider the great problem at hand with the return of soldier and sailors.

Said Mrs. Heath:

"There is a type of girl all too numerous—a girl who moves in highly respectable society, who would be offended to be called anything less than honorable, yet who has in her the making of a parasite, or perhaps what one might call, in plain terms, a general all-round grafter."

"For years," said Mrs. Heath, "young men have tolerated her, have even indulged her and encouraged her extravagance, her selfishness, in marvelously generous, good natured fashion.

"She is the same sort of girl to-day who can think of men acquaintances only in terms of theatre tickets, handy escorts to cabarets and givers of flowers and candy. Well," said Mrs. Heath, "I'm afraid she will have to change her views or be compelled to confine herself to less desirable male society. Of course," she added, "there are still plenty of the sensible old-fashioned sort of girls, but I often wish there were fewer of this other kind.

"The fact of the matter is the great big idea that is written large and uppermost in every man's thoughts to-day is the word HOME.

"The boy who has been tossed about at sea for months, the boy who has been deprived of all the little homely comforts in the dugout of France, the boy who is wearied of the bleak hospital walls of this and other countries, have one definite object in mind when they disembark in port here, and that is—HOME.

"There is no more important question before the country to-day than the reclamation of the home," said Mrs. Heath. "Women who have been doing all kinds of war work, particularly the big number who have given such splendid volunteer service, ought to permit this work to be taken over now by paid workers if necessary, and they ought themselves to return home to do their duty as homemakers to the boys who need their helpful, stimulating society and sympathy at this time when they are trying to adjust themselves to normal life again.

"Always Had Their Hats on."

"At one of the big Saturday evening dances given by a war camp community service, I thought it odd to hear boys speak of visiting girls in the suburbs rather than in the city.

"I said, 'Can't you find any girls in the city to visit without going so far away?'

"What they told me only confirms my observaions of the parasite girl. Their explanation bore a touch of pathos," said Mrs. Heath.

"The convalescent hero of an engineering corps, in his answer to me, reflected the reply of the other."

"'It's nice to be invited to a girl's home for the evening,' he said. 'It's been so long since I was in a home. At their invitation I called on some girls in the city, but they always had their hats on waiting for me to take them out to some place of amusement. I don't know why some people have homes. They don't like to stay in them. All these girls care about us is what we can do for them. They're grafters. If we don't bring them candy when we call, or take them out to a movie or a cabaret, they've got no use for us.'

"I know from my own experience," said Mrs. Heath, "that these boys speak the truth. During the past winter I threw open my house every Sunday afternoon and evening to men who had leave from nearby camps. I interested a number of girls to come every Sunday to help serve refreshments and sing and entertain the boys. The boys enjoyed it immensely, but I observed that the girls would became restive; that is to say, many of them would, and would ask to be excused so they could kep an engagement to go to the movies or some lively entertainment.

Seeing Girls Differently.

"The boys, too, who used to look good naturedly upon the girls who used rouge and powder plentifully, now ridicule this fashion or show their contempt for it. It seems they saw a good deal of this in their foreign war experience, and they like to think of the girl at home something different.

"Speaking of a group of girls they met one day, I heard the boys remark of them: 'Why they were painted up like blue monkeys.' Now," said Mrs. Heath, "is this type of girl, who represents a large class in the country ,going to permit herself to remain a back number, a part of a past program, a past life in this country, or is she going to wake up and realize the possibilities of the greatest service a woman can render at this time ,of being the right sort of companion to the man struggling to regain a new foothold in the life to which he has been stranger for many months?

"For the boys, I can say, and I have met and talked with hundreds of them," said Mrs. Heath ,"they are not asking any favors; they have shown a splendid spirit of independence, as in one case of many that I can recall. I observed a growing friendship of a rich young woman and a returned soldier of good family, but no means .I remarked this to him, jokingly one day. 'If I had money,' he said, 'I should be the happiest fellow alive to marry her, but in my present position, it is unthinkable.'

"Another was a hospital instance—a boy who had lost the sight of one eye and was wounded in the leg. He spoke of his mother's death while he was in France. 'There is nobody I write to now,' he said, 'but my father. There was a girl, but——'

The Returning Soldier ..

"'But what?' I asked. 'Well,' he said, 'she's written to me lots of times, but I don't answer, I shall not inflict myself upon anyone in my condition. I have no right to.' Such is the spirit of our returning heroes, for heroes they are in every sense of the word, and boys that any girls may be proud to number in their acquaintancees, not for what they may get from them in presents and entertainment at theares and cabarets, but for what they may offer them in friendly encouragment and homely companionship at this time when they are trying to get on their feet, as it were."

Mrs. Heath's remarks find echo in every gathering where a group of soldiers and sailors are to be found discussing the future of each.

"Every fellow since he has been in France appreciates the home girl more, I believe," said a youthful Adonis in khaki.

"There are lots of nice girls we meet, that we'd like to ask to the theatre or entertainments, but as no man to-day could risk inviting a young woman to the theatre and supper on less than $8 or $10, we boys who are just back from war can't afford it, Most of the girls we meet are this sort. In France one can go to a cabaret, and spent say a couple of dollars on wine and some sandwiches or salad, and dance and listen to the music and have a pleasant evening, but unfortunately the same thing is not true here at home. The home girl is the finest girl in the world, but I do wish she would cut down expenses."

Tired of Housework.

"The boys in the army and the boys in the navy are tired of housework," said a young business man, who has just been discharged from the navy. "I have a fine home to go to, and wife who is an excellent housekeeper. But I can tell you that all the boys who served in the war are tired of making beds and sewing on buttons, and washing dishes, and the girls they pick out to marry, take it from me are going to be girls that they are assured will make good homemakers." his is what I have heard hundreds of boys say, and they are in deadly earnest. Whereas in peace time, the average boy never considered whether the pretty blushing girl he proposed to could make a bed or cook a meal, his war-time training has taught him otherwise, and out of the depths of his experience I believe he is going to choose a wife who shows signs of domestic interest; not the silly butterflies he knew before he went away to fight the Hun.

"Only recently," said he, "it was my painful duty to be called upon by an old friend, a returning aviator engaged to a pretty girl, to listen to the story of a discontented fiance. It is one of many. The girl came to meet him upon his return from France. She was the same silly girl he had become engaged to with such heart throbs of interest two years ago. But he had changed.

"He complained to me, 'I just can't go on with this. She bores me to distraction,' he said. "She is much more interested in having a good time than she is in me. All she talks of is t' next show, the next dance, the next thing on the amusement program. No, what I am looking for, Bill', he said, 'is a home: not public entertainment.'

Learning True Values

"You see, he had changed; he had learned the true values of life; the vital things that make like worth while: the fine friendship of men who faced death together: the fine loyalty to comrade and country, the splendid sense of service; all these things that give life a new meaning. He knew that all the rest— the lights the music, the crowds were just camouflage of life."

No less interesting was the comment of a young aviator, the son of a succesful businessman. "I'd like to have a home of my own," he said. Every fellow who has been knocking around France for some time feels like this. In my dad's business I can earn $5,000 a year." but he asked wistfully, "How can a fellow support a girl on that? She demands so much these days. The girl of the new world has much to learn from the simplicity shown by the French girl. They are satisfied with so much less, and in many instances, I believe they are much happier."

So, girls, here's the situation. What are you going to do about it?

THREE HUNDRED CASES SMALLPOX IN QUEBEC

MONTREAL, Nov. 14.—Three hundred cases of smallpox are scattered over the Province of Quebec, all of a non-virulent character—a number not above the ordinary, said Dr. J. A. Beaudry of the Superior Board of Health yesterday, when questioned regarding precautions being taken against the spread of the disease from Ontario.

There are only five cases in the city infectious hospital at the present time.

Dr. Beaudry laid stress upon the enforcement of the Provincial by-law as to vaccination. The by-law he said, had for the most part been well observed, but there are still schools in which it has to be carried out.

A YOUNG PESSIMIST.

Extreme longevity such as Dr. Voronoff promises us with the aid of monkeys' "tunards," has its drawbacks. In 1888 Janos Meryessi, who was 84 years of age, jumped off the suspension bridge at Budapest, into the Danube. He was rescued and explained that he wished to end his life as he was becoming too decrepit to support his father and mother. This extraordinary statement proved to be true, Meryessi's parents being aged 115 and 110 respectively. A public subscription was organized to set them all three above want.—Manchester Guardian.

Buyer Protected By Advertising

Manufacturer Must Maintain Quality of Goods Bearing His Name

His Reputation at Stake

Man Who Buys Standard Brands From Local Merchant Knows That He Is Getting Full Value For His Money

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

Time was when advertising did not occupy the place in the world of trade that it does to-day. It has not been so very many years ago that the people were suspicious of advertising. They were inclined to believe that the merchant was trying to "fool" them with his advertising, that he exaggerated the value of the merchandise he advertised and took that method of trying to get them to buy goods that he could not sell by the old established methods of merchandising.

Those days are gone. The public now realizes that it is the greatest beneficiary of advertising.

Advertising has done more in a decade to establish certain standards in merchandise than could have bee nacomplished in a hundred years by any other agency. The manufacturer who a few years ago merely made and sold clothes now makes and sells the Blank brand of clothes. The man who formerly just made hats now makes Blank's hats. And so it is with everything that one buys to-day. The manufacturer, by his advertising, has built up his business around a trade name and if he is to continue in business he must protect that trade name by maintaining such a high standard of quality that people, when they buy his products wil know just what they are getting. The consumer, when he goes into a store to-day, does not buy merchandise blindly, with the HOPE that it will prove to be worth the money. He buys standard goods that bear that trade-mark of the manufacturer and that are backed by the reputation not only of the merchant who sells them but the manufacturer who makes them. This has been brought about by advertising.

No Reputation to Protect.

All this applies to the retail merchants as a class but it does not apply to the mail order business. The man or woman who buys goods from a catalogue house is not protected by the manufacturer of the goods for the reason that most manufacturers who sell goods to the mail order houses do not place their names upon the goods and therefore have no reputation to protect.

The great majority of articles listed and illustrated in the mail order catalogues are included in what is known among manufacturers as "stencil" stuff. These articles bear the name of the mail order house which sells them instead of that of the manufacturer who makes them. It can readily be understood that any manufacturing concern which turns out goods that do not bear its name or trade mark is likely to be a very unreliable institution. It is not building up any reputation on the quality of its goods for its products have nothing to disinguish them from the products of any other concern .With no reputation to sustain and no chance of creating a general demand for its goods the only concern of a manufacturing institutionof this kind is to make stuff as cheaply as possible in order to obtain the largest possible profit on its products.

Same Price World Over.

These facts are chiefly responsible for the generally prevailing idea that the home merchants do not sell goods as cheaply as the mail order house. They do sell the same quality of goods that the mail order house sells as cheaply as the mail order house sells it but they cannot sell the standard, guaranteed products of responsible manufacturers at the same price at which the mail order house sells its nameless, unbranded merchandise. Standard goods bearing a registered trade-mark sell for the same price the world over and the manufacturer's guarantee stands back of them when they were sold in the smallest village in the country just the same as when they are sold in the stores of the largest cities.

This is what the national advertising of the manufacturers has done for the consumers of the country. It has enabled them to go into their home stores and buy merchandise which they know from past experience or from the reputation and guarantee of the manufacturer will give them satisfaction. They are not buying blindly and hopefully when they buy buy from the merchants in their home towns. They are buying with the knowledge that they are getting their money's worth. When they buy advertised brands they are getting double protection, that which is afforded by the responsibility of the retail merchant and that which is given by he reputation and guarantee of the manufacturer. When they buy the unknown brands of goods that are offered by the mail order houses they are getting neither kind of protection.

There are about 22,000 deaf and dumb persons in the United Kingdom, between 3,000 and 4,000 residing in London.

DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING EARLY.

One of the greatest shopping follies is to refrain from doing your Christmas shopping until the week before Christmas. Now is the time to do it when the clerks have more time to show you in many cases more serviceable articles than you will likely think of in a hurried shopping expedition.

Any one could go into the well-stocked Peterborough stores at the present time and cover any list of Christmas presents in a most appropriate manner.

Out of town shoppers as well are particularly requested to take advantage of the early shopping suggestions.

There is every convenience in Peterborough to make shopping easy. Good accommodation for motors, or rigs, plenty of lunch room and restaurant service, and well-stocked stores giving good service and as fair prices as can be had in the Dominion.

The greatest advantage is to be gained by the shoppers themselves if they shop early for Christmas.

ADVERTISE IN THE EVENING EXAMINER.

Major Gifford Tells of Vocational Training

trial life, encounters many difficulties, most of which can be straightened out by practical assistance and advice.

All complaints are carefully investigated, and wherever possible adjustment is made. Assistance is also given in securing information regarding pensions, land settlements, and the non-payment of moneys due by the Government. In the case of a man absenting himself from his training class, or industry where he is taking training, an official from the Adjustment Department calls on him and finds out if the absence is due to wilfulness or to sickness.

After-Care Department.

When the period of re-training has come to an end, the student is transferred to the After-Care Department, which is charged thenceforth with the duty of "following-up" his case and recording how he acquits himself in civil life. Monthly reports are furnished which record the particulars as to his present employment, his salary and his prospects of advancement.

The method of making the first contact with the vocational student on the completion of his course is to write him stating that his final cheque of an extra month's pay is available if he will call for it. When the man drops into the office he is told in a friendly way, as between man and man, that the Department's interest in him has not come to an end with the termination of his training course, but that his alma mater will continue to keep in touch with him until he feels confident that his position is permanent.

There are three methods in which contact is maintained with the re-trained men. The first is by visiting them at their homes; the second, by visiting them at their place of employment, or else seeing their employers; the third, by correspondence. The first method is preferable, and the second resorted to when it is found that reliable information cannot be obtained from the man's home or place where he boards.

The Department of Soldier's Re-establishment receives the disabled soldier, cures and reanimates him to the bounds of medical and surgical possibility, remoulds him for a calling wherein his physical shortcomings shrink to a minimum, procures him a situation where he should be able to barter his training for adequate cash equivalent, in a word, "older-brothers and fathers" him back to independence and self-control, with all that these terms imply. Then the Department, realising its full function, essays a yet further duty, after-information concerning the man who suffered for his country's weal.

A moment's consideration will show, setting aside totally the fact that "follow-up" service is simple justice to the man, revealing whether he is well and happily reinstated in civilian life free from apprehension of the future, how it is absolutely essential that data should be secured whereupon to found judgment on actual re-establishment results and thereby secure those figures so necessary to the completion of a comprehensive profit and loss account.

It is a rule of the After-Care people that, where possible, information should be obtained by direct converse with the man, rather than from his employer, to obviate any suspicion that he is being dogged on return to civil life. It should be remembered also that the Department has absolutely no strings on the re-trained soldier after completion of his course, and, therefore, any information that he elects to give is entirely a matter of his own volition.

Information Never Refused.

The fact that information is never refused demonstrates the kindly feeling men maintain for their treatment during instruction and also speaks for the tactful manner is which they are handled thereafter. In the course of this following-up process, instances come to light of men who are unable to carry on as re-trained. Some find that the work taxes their physical endurance to too great a degree; others, that indoor employment does not suit them, while a minority suffer from a recurrence of their war disability, and are unable to work steadily. It is in cases such as these that the need of After-Care work is shown.

An endeavour is made to suit the job to the man, rather than the man to the job, and he is encouraged to call at the Department to talk over his troubles. As a personal card is kept of every graduate, on which is recorded every interview with him, the Department is in possession of the latest information as to his movements so that it is an easy matter to size up a genuine case of unemployment or hard luck. Where the recurrence of his war disability clearly places the re-trained man outside the labour market, his case is brough: to the attention of the Medical Services with a view to obtaining adequate treatment for him, or of getting his pension increased. It is the experience of After-Care people that quite a number of men who take re-training in the various Departments of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment centres drift to points outside. When that happens, a communication is sent to the graduate's last-known address, to which he is asked to reply. The letters are written, as far as possible, in a man-to-man tone, and the spirit of officialdom is strictly tabooed.

When he receives a letter couched in friendly spirit inquiring into his welfare, he thinks that the only decent thing to do is to reply forthwith and give the information asked for. There are cases of men who have gone to Great Britain, California, the Southern States, and even to Brazil, but who still, in spite of the miles that separate them from their former training centre, maintain a fairly faithful correspondence.

That they are grateful for the opportunity afforded them by retaining is evidenced by the large number of appreciative letters received. Here is one from a young French-Canadian, who was granted a commercial course:

"Your letter of the 7th inst. received to-day, asking if I had secured a gotd position in Montreal. Yes, sir, Ihave, and better money than I earned before I enlisted. The head of my firm is an American, Mr. ——, and he is pushing me ahead and giving me special training so that I have a real good future in front of me. I wish to thank you for the trouble you have taken in my case."

Here is another from a man who was granted a course in Mineralogy at the Toronto University:

"My salary is $100.00 and board. The position I am now holding is due entirely to the training I received, and I sincerely thank one and all for what they have done for me."

A great number of letters such as these are on hand.

What It Has Done.

Vocational Training has done something when it has turned a farm labourer earning $20.00 a month and board before the war, into an adding machine repairer at a weekly salary of $30.00; an apprentice carpenter, who has lost four fingers off his right hand, into a draughtsman earning $125.00 a month; a Newfoundland fisherman, with his right arm amputated, into an architectural draughtsman earning $150.00 a month; an apprentice carpenter, who sustained the loss of his right leg at Passchendaele, into an electrical engineer at $1,600.00 a year; a plasterer into a laboratory assistant at a handsome salary; and a locomotive engineer, whose right leg was amputated below the hip, into an architectural draughtsman at $1,800.00 a year. Other cases are those of a farm hand who was badly wounded in the right leg, and who is now a railway operator at a monthly salary of $125.00, and a former motorman on the Toronto Street Railway who suffered double amputation of his legs, and is now working for the C. P. R. as an operator at $105.00 monthly.

Many more cases similar to the above can be quoted.

Not every man granted a course benefits by it—sometimes through his own fault, sometimes because of his disability, sometimes, and this only in rare instances, because the mistake was made in the initial selection of the re-training course. A generous view is taken of these cases, where it is clearly shown that the recurrence of the man's disability precludes his working at his vocation, or that the selection of his training was ill-advised.

The latest figures for the Province of Ontario show that 68 per cent. of those trained are employed in the vocations they were trained.

Regarding the abuse of privileges of vocational training, admittedly there are a very few cases, but in view of the large number of genuine cases handled it is not surprising that a very few non-genuine cases manage to get by. The percentage of non-genuine cases is so small that there is little ground for the impression as mentioned.

Figures relative to local men who have received training are not at present available as, until lately, all men in this district were handled either from Toronto or Kingston, but on receipt of these figures from headquarters an opportunity will be given you to publish them,

Thanking you for kindly interest shown in the work of this Department,—Yours truly,

F. D. GIFFORD,
District Vocational Officer,
Peterborough Branch.

COMB SAGE TEA IN FADED OR GRAY HAIR

If Mixed With Sulphur it Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural colour and beauty to the hair.

A well known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural colour and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

FOCHS AND ROBERTS.

It is not generally known that Marshal Foch during his recent stay in England made a special journey out of London to visit the Countess Roberts—daughter of his old friend and fellow-soldier, of honored memory. In the course of his visit the marshal asked of his hostess permission to walk around the garden with the officer of his staff who accompanied him. He explained that he had a particular purpose for his request. "I want" he said, "to walk where before the war I walked with Field Marshal Lord Roberts, and I want to tell to this officer of mine just what Lord Roberts told me in those days of what he believed Germany intended and what has since taken place."—Montreal Herald.

DRURY WILL DO UTMOST TO STOP BOOT-LEGGING

HAS SAFE ARRANGEMENT WITH LABOUR ON THE EIGHT-HOUR DAY.

TORONTO, Nov. 18.—The temperance plank in the platform of the United Farmers is fast assuming definite shape and definite action in the minds of the U.F.O.-Labour Government. The election pledges of the U.F.O., coupled with the people's expression of opinion through the referendum, have led the Premier and his colleagues to a decision to move promptly and effectively. When the Legislature sits in February next, stated Premier Drury, the Ontario House will without delay apply to the Federal Government to have a referendum taken in the Province on the question of the importation of liquor.

Owing to the fact that the importation of liquor is solely under the jurisdiction of the Federal Government, such action will be the most progressive step towards the realization of a "dry Ontario" that the Drury Government can take under the law as it is at present.

"Beyond question the party of which I am leader will throw its weight at the next session for an application to the Dominion Government for a referendum," stated the Premier. "We will apply without delay. It is the only way to make the present law effective, and will go a long way. I hope ,towards stopping the "bootlegging" that must prevail as long as imporation is permitted. I do not anticipate any change in the law of the Province. Such as we have will be properly enforced. The only thing left for us to do is to make the application to Ottawa, and that will be done very early in the session if the Government has its way."

No Trouble With Labor Probable.

Those opponents of the U.F.O.-Labor coalition Government, who hope to see it stranded during the coming session on the question of the eight-hour day are doomed to disappointment. It has been whispered in many quarters that from the ranks of the Liberals or Conservatives, if not from their leaders, the subject of the eight-hour day would be introduced into the House in the hope of securing a disagreement in Government circles which would seriously embarass the Premier and his Ministers.

"The Labor party and the United Farmers have reached a very definite agreement on this subject," stated Mr. Drury to-day. "The arrangement is very thoroughly understood by the Labor members, and particularly by the representatives in the Government of the Labor Party. I stand in no fear whatever of the Government disagreeing upon any motion introduced from any source upon the subject of the eight-hour day. The Labor members have taken a most sensible and praiseworthy attitude towards this The members-elect of both the U.F.O. and I.L.P. have contemplated this very possibility and our agreement was arrived at with that in mind.

"The Labor members, very wisely too, have concluded that it is very much better to stand in power with a party who agree with them on eighty per cent. of the matters in their political platform than to be jockeyed out of power on a question involving only a small percentage of the ideals for which they are striving. They would have nothing to gain by way of realizing better conditions, by being caught in such a trap, and would have a great deal to lose. I am looking forward with confidence to any such attempt on the part of anyone to split the present coalition."

The Premier stated that he realized the people were looking to the new Government for clean, progressive administraiton. "I stated to the members of the Government at the first Council meeing on Friday that we had yet to make good," said Mr. Drury. "I feel that very keenly myself, have endeavored to impress it upon my colleagues, and have found that they feel very keenly that that is the situation. We have a mandate from the people for sane reforms and honest government. Although in most instances the majorities by which our members were returned ran well over the 1,000 mark we have not the slightest intention of resting on our oars. We expect to be, and wish to be, judged by our acts of government while in office."

ALL CIVIL EMPLOYEES TO "PUNCH CLOCK."

OTTAWA, Nov. 14.—Civil servants employed in the Departmental Offices may soon find themselves called upon to "punch the clock" on their arrival at and departure from work.

Of late, Government employees have been required to report times of their comings and goings by signing books, of which the deputy heads of departments are custodians. Now the Civil Service Commission has reported in favour of the installation of time clocks in Government offices, and an Order-in-Council has been passed by the Cabinet instructing the Public Works Department to make inquiries as to the cost of the necessary clocks.

ANSWERED.

In answer to the question that has been put so many times to those at the Bible, book and tract trade in the Market Hall on Saturday morning. "What denomination are you?" we would say that this work is undenominational and that the work is carried on in an effort to further the Gospel, and any profit made is put to help in the Lord's word. For those who do not know about this at all, we might say that every Saturday morning we have a table in the Market Hall selling Bibles, testaments, mottoes, children's books and a good assortment of other religious literature, also a free tract depot.

MR. JAMES EDGAR DIED TO-DAY

Mr. James Edgar, postmaster in Peterborough during the last seven years, died of heart failure at noon to-day at his home, 451 Weller Street. Death was not unexpected by his relatives and friends, for Mr. Edgar had been unwell for two years, and in recent months had been so seriously ill that hope of his recovery was practically abandoned some weeks ago.

James Edgar was born in County Down, Ireland, 51 years ago. In his sixteenth year he came to Canada and worked for a time in the general business conducted by his brothers, Messrs. Alexander and Joseph Edgar, at Lefroy, Ontario. He moved to Sundridge and shortly afterwards to Toronto, where he carried on a small grocery business for three or four years, and where he met and married Miss Iva Wells.

About twenty years ago Mr. Edgar came to Peterboro and engaged in a wholesale paper and jobbing business which he developed until March 1912 when he was appointed Postmaster for Peterboro. This position he held until his death and in that office he proved himself diligent, unobstrusive and efficient. His administration of the local postoffice has been thoroughly successful and the public always found in Mr. Edgar a true servant who sought to provide them with all the facilities and services of the post office.

In politics Mr. Edgar wes a staunch Conservative and a member of the Anglican communion, associating himself with All Saints church, of which he was the first warden when the mission was severed from St. John's and entered into the fulness of its own responsibility. During his tenure of the office of People's Warden the present splendid church was built, and his deep interest and untiring efforts contributed largely to the progress and flourishing state to which All Saint's has ben raised.

Mr. Edgar was an Alderman in the City Council in 1910 and 1911, and throughout his life endeavoured to serve the public in whatever capacities that offered to him.

The funeral arrangements will be made later upon the arrival of his brother, Mr. Joseph Edgar.

The Executive of the 57th Band is asked to meet at 7.30 o'clock this evening before the regular practice.

ANSWERED.

In answer to the question that has been put so many times to those at the Bible, book and tract trade in the Market Hall on Saturday morning, "What denomination are you?" we would say that this work is undenominational and that the work is carried on in an effort to further the Gospel, and any profit made is put to help in the Lord's word. For those who do not know about this at all, we might say that every Saturday morning we have a table in the Market Hall selling Bibles, testaments, mottoes, children's books and a good assortment of other religious literature, also a free tract depot.

MR. JAMES EDGAR DIED TO-DAY

Mr. James Edgar, postmaster in Peterborough during the last seven years, died of heart failure at noon to-day at his home, 451 Weller Street. Death was not unexpected by his relatives and friends, for Mr. Edgar had been unwell for two years, and in recent months had been so seriously ill that hope of his recovery was practically abandoned some weeks ago.

James Edgar was born in County Down, Ireland, 51 years ago. In his sixteenth year he came to Canada and worked for a time in the general business conducted by his brothers, Messrs. Alexander and Joseph Edgar, at Lefroy, Ontario. He moved to Sundridge and shortly afterwards to Toronto, where he carried on a small grocery business for three or four years, and where he met and married Miss Iva Wells.

About twenty years ago Mr. Edgar came to Peterboro and engaged in a wholesale paper and jobbing business which he developed until March 1912 when he was appointed Postmaster for Peterboro. This position he held until his death and in that office he proved himself diligent, unobstrusive and efficient. His administration of the local postoffice has been thoroughly successful and the public always found in Mr. Edgar a true servant who sought to provide them with all the facilities and services of the post office.

In politics Mr. Edgar wes a staunch Conservative and a member of the Anglican communion, associating himself with All Saints church, of which he was the first warden when the mission was severed from St. John's and entered into the fulness of its own responsibility. During his tenure of the office of People's Warden the present splendid church was built, and his deep interest and untiring efforts contributed largely to the progress and flourishing state to which All Saint's has ben raiseed.

Mr. Edgar was an Alderman in the City Council in 1910 and 1911, and throughout his life endeavoured to serve the public in whatever capacities that offered to him.

The funeral arrangements will be made later upon the arrival of his brother, Mr. Joseph Edgar.

TORONTO AUTHORITIES PROVE THAT EPIDEMIC IS SMALLPOX

SCIENTIFIC TESTS HAVE BEEN MADE WITH CONCLUSIVE RESULTS—A VERY MILD FORM OF THE DISEASE

(Special to the Examiner)

TORONTO, Nov. 9.—Not one ...a of doubt exists in the minds of ...onto's Health Authorities that the ...esent epidemic is smallpox and not ...icken pox as many people still ...m to believe. To prove beyond doubt though clinically convinced these mild cases were small pox, the Health Authorities took the contents of a vesicle of a doubtful case and injected it intradermilly into the shaved skin of rabbits which had previously been vaccinated against smallpox. Twelve days being required to produce immunity in a rabbit by vaccination this period was allowed to elapse before the test was made. The result showed an area of redness at the site of injection. This is taken as proof that the material taken from the vesicle of the doubtful case was smallpox virus will give a marked intradermal re-action with smallpox vesicle contents in from 24 to 48 hours, but will not give a re-action with the chicken pox vesicle contents.

SITUATION SERIOUS

(Canadian Press.)

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 19.—It is reported here that 20,000 troops of General Yudenitch's north-western Russian army have gone over to the Bolsheviki.

AUSTRALIA SUFFERS FROM A DROUGHT

Thousands of Settlers have Been Ruined—The Loss will be Heavy.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, November 19. — Australia, especially new South Wales is suffering from a devastating drought, the worst since white men have resided in the country, even the drought of 1902 being surpassed according to a Sydney despatch to the Daily Mail.

Stock and crops have been destroyed and it is doubtful if there will be enough seed wheat for next season's sowing. Hundreds and perhaps thousands of settlers have been ruined. Northwestern New South Wales is described as a desert being stripped of everything green. Paddocks are littered with the skeletons of cattle and even the rabbits are dying in large numbers.

COAL OPERATORS AND MINERS WILL COME TO AN AGREEMENT THIS WEEK—THE WAGE PROPOSAL.

JOINT SESSION

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. — Coal operators and miners will come to an agreement this week, Labour Department officials predicted to-day before the opening of a joint committee called by Fuel Administrator Garfield. The possibility that the government would have to take over the mines and operate them, pending negotiations to insure a supply of fuel, has been discarded by the government, Labour officials explained unofficially.

Operators to-day were expected to bring out and place before the miners the wage proposal on which they have been working since Saturday. This will be done at Garfield's conference.

Operators completed this proposal yesterday. They planned to call the miners into a joint session to explain it. Then came Director Garfield's invitation to confer, and the operators decided not to reveal the proposal until after hearing the Fuel Administrator.

Garfield will tell the miners and operators they must hasten an agreement. It is understood he first called the conference for late yesterday, but all the mines could not be reached.

MUST HAVE COAL.

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. — Speaking with the authority of President Wilson's cabinet, Fuel Administrator Garfield met to-day representatives of bituminous coal operators and miners here to-day.

He said that the people of the United States need, and must have, and will have coal and as long as the government stands they will not be prevented from getting it by anything "the operators or the miners may do."

Dr. Garfield explained that his purpose was to furnish the conference with data which he would use in determining what wage advances, if any, agreed to by the operators and miners, could be borne properly by the public.

ACT INDEPENDENT OF UNITED STATES

Great Britain and France may find it necessary to Act in order to facilitate Peace Operations.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, November 19. — Great Britain and France are considering whether they are not compelled to proceed with carrying out of the German peace treaty and operation of the League of Nations independently of the United States, pending the decision of the American Government on its course.

It is pointed out that matters are continually arising under the treaty which needs immediate attention — such as operation of the plebiscite commissions, and it is considered that because of this fact it is no longer possible to delay making the pact operative.

TAKING CARE OF THE WAR CHIEFS

(Canadian Press.)

BERLIN, Nov. ' - German Government fears for the lives of Feild Marshals Hindenburg and Ludendorff, who are here testifying in regard to the responsibility for the recent war.

They are surrounded by armed guards and escorts night and day, and guns and rifles bristle from all the nearby windows.

The former Kaiser in his visits to the capital was never so guarded as these two war loards are to-day.

WET GOODS CONFISCATED

TRANSPORTED THROUGH ONTARIO INSTEAD OF QUEBEC, AS EXPECTED

TRIAL TO-MORROW

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Nov. 19. — Thirty-five cases of champagne and sauterne, consigned to the Country Club, an exclusive institution on the Aylmer road, Quebec, were seized by License Inspector J. C. Enright at the Central Station, Ottawa, on Saturday last. On instructions to-day, the inspector ascertained from Miss Lynch, who was in charge at the club, that the liquor had been ordered from the Boivin-Wilson Company of Montreal, but it had been expected the shipment would have been made via Dominion Express through the Province of Quebec, instead of via Canadian Express to Ottawa, as had occurred.

Mr. Enright returned the liquor to the Express Company this afternoon, and it was immediately seized again by Inspector Thomas McLaughlin of the Ottawa Police Force under the order in Council of February 24, 1919, which provides that no liquor shall be transported in a prohibition Province.

It having been claimed that liquor could be transported through Quebec, Inland Revenue Inspector Laflamme of Hull, communicated with Quebec to-day and ascertained that this was not the case, especially as the county of Hull, in which the club is located, is under local option.

An action will be taken in the Police Court to-morrow against the Canadian Express Company under the Dominion order in Council.

12 O'clock Noon.

(Special to The Examiner.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. — Another selling movement set in around 11 o'clock and carried many stocks below the lows of last week. Some of the issues hardest hit were Bethlehem B, Royal Dutch, Baldwin, Southern Pacific and American Woollen. It seemed as if every effort was being made to pick out stocks that had given a fairly good account of themselves during the decline last week.

Call money, both classes, was quoted at 12 p.c.

Crucible re-acted at 177 shortly after the opening, off 9 points from the previous close. General Motors dropped to 800, then regained to 810. Reactions, except in the case of some high-priced stocks, were not large during the first half hour.

New Low Records.

(Special to The Examiner.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Two new low records were established on the foreign exchange market at the opening to-day. Demand sterling opened at $4.0875, off three-fourths cents, a new low record ,due to accumulation of commercial bills. Franc checks made a new low record at 9.70, off 1 centimen. Marks were quoted at $.0814.

At 1.30 still lower prices attended the further outpourings at midnight, the losses in stocks recently favored by bull pools ranging from 5 to 33 points. Temporary rallies of two to ten points followed the decision of the federal reserve bank not to increase the present re-discount rates.

Sterling broke to $4.03¼ to the £, and the German mark to 2.12 cents.

DECLINE OF GERMAN MARK

MARK HAS DEPRECIATED IN VALUE FROM 22.84 CENTS TO YESTERDAY'S QUOTATION OF 2 1-5 CENTS.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Nov. 19.—No matter who won the war, the present price of the German mark indicates, at least, who lost the war, because the mark, of which the par value is 22.84 cents, was quoted yesterday at New York at 2 1-5 cents.

At this time, when the mark has established a new minimum value, it might be of interest to review the history of the German coin during the war.

The following table will indicate the value of a mark in cents at New York from July, 1914, until March, 1917, after which time no exchange rates were quoted at New York until last June:

Month.	1914	1915	1916	1917
January		22.6	19.2	18.2
February		21.8	19.3	17.7
March		21.0	18.3	17.3
April		20.8	19.1
May		20.8	19.3
June		20.7	19.2
July	24	20.5	18.5
August		20.5	18.0
September	24.1	20.1	17.7
October	23.4	20.3	17.5
November	22.1	19.8	17.5
December	23.1	19.8	18.1

Declining History.

It is observed that the closing quotation of the mark in March, 1917, at New York, upon the eve of the entry of the United States into the war, is 17.3 cents. Two years pass, and the mark is again quoted at New York on 5th June, 1919, at 7.0 cents.

The ever-declining history of the mark in New York funds since then in the following table is to prevent an attempt at speculation.

During the month of July, 1919, no quotations were issued.

As in the previous table, the value is given in cents:

June 5	7.0
June 11	7.0
June 19	7.0
June 26	7.9
July 24	6
August 1	5.87
August 14	5.75

August 28	7
September 4	4.5
September 11	5.0
September 18	3.8
September 25	4.55
October 2	4.15
October 9	3.95

DOWNEYVILLE PARISH HALL FINE COMMUNITY CENTRE

FORMALLY OPENED TUESDAY NIGHT, IT IS REGARDED AS ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE AND BEAUTIFUL IN THE DOMINION --REV. FATHER GALVIN IS PARISH PRIEST.

A RURAL ATTRACTION

The new parish hall and community centre at Downeyville was formally opened last night, realizing the high hopes and ambitions of the people of St. Luke's congregation and the inspiration with which Rev. P. J. Galvin infused them in their big undertaking. The audience of nearly five hundred persons was representative of Emily and adjoining townships, and included many visitors from Peterborough, Lindsay, Enniskmore and other places.

Rev. Father Peter McGuire, former parish priest, was chairman, and with him on the platform were His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, F. G. Sandy, M.P.P., Reeve Wilson of Emily, Monsignor Casey of Lindsay, Professor Putnam of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, representing the new Minister, the Honorable Manning Doherty, who was unable to be present, Rev. Fathers Phelan, McAuley, Guiry and Costello, Senator McHugh and Mr. L. V. O'Connor of Lindsay, Rev. P. J. Galvin and Messrs. Carroll and O'Leary of the Building committee.

Building Is One of the Best.

St. Luke's hall is acknowledged to be one of the finest and most complete rural community centres in the Dominion. Built of white brick, on a concrete foundation, and embodying a Gothic design, it has a seating accommodation for five hundred persons in its main auditorium. The basement provides a reception or recreation room, also a dining hall and furnace room. The main floor is an expansive assembly hall with a wide deep stage and dressing rooms. The seats are new and comfortable, and every detail of the equipment and furnishings emphasizes the general effect and impression of adequacy and thoroughness. Its main dimensions are eighty by thirty-five feet, and its exterior surroundings are in keeping with and enhance the beautiful Gothic lines of the building.

Parish Has Good Talent.

The musical programme was presented by Downeyville talent with the exception of one number. It included selections by the Downeyville orchestra, a chorus of welcome by the choir of St. Luke's church a song by Mr. Arthur Allin of Lindsay, violin solo by Albert Carroll, vocal solo by Mrs. P. Perdue, violin duet by Mrs. Perdue and Miss Herlihey, recitations by Miss Regina Costello, and a chorus, "O Canada," sung by the school children.

Congratualted the Parish.

The addresses touched a common note in the congratulations and praise unreservedly given to Rev. Father Galvin and his parishioners upon the splendid success of their efforts, upon the purpose they set out to accomplish and the objects that bred their enthusiasm to provide their community with a social centre that would be a credit to large towns and cities. The important place that a parish hall occupies in the lives of a people was also dwelt upon. Especially in these days it was essential that the social spirit in the country should be given every advantage of development and that to counteract the movement from the country to the city there should be rural community centres where the intellectual, artistic and social natures of the people could be cultivated. In dealing with this paramount problem of rural life such splendid buildings as St. Luke's parish hall would fill a great need and would offer to the people some of the attractions that cities were holding out.

The audience gave Bishop O'Brien a very cordial greeting and also warmly received Rev. Father McGuire and the successful U.F.O. candidate, Mr. F. G. Sandy, M.P.P., who thanked the people of Downeyville for their almost unanimous support in the recent election. Only one vote was recorded against him there.

A Co-operative Achievement.

It has been most gratifying to Father Galvin and his congregation that their new building was almost paid for before it was completed. From the very beginning it was a community effort. The farmers undertook their ambitious scheme with an enthusiasm that promised the fullest success. Working "bees" were held between the busy seasons in the spring. Material was drawn to this site, and time and labour were given freely. To-day there are no worying encumbrances and Father Galvin's constructive leadership should find full play in supplementing the spiritual needs and desires of his congregation with social assemblies, literary and musical meetings and conferences for the discussions of agricultural questions and other practical problems of rural life, in all of which he himself has taken a keen and intelligent interest and has shown himself a wise and constructive leader.

PETERBORO MAN SEEKS A FORTUNE AMOUNTING TO SEVERAL MILLIONS

MR. EDWARD QUINN, OF THIS CITY MAY OUTRIVAL DAVID KIDD BYRNE—ESTATE IS LOCATED IN IRELAND.

In Ireland a fortune amounting to several millions of dollars, left by a resident of Galway, named Tom Quinn, who died without heirs several years ago, awaits a claimant, and a little family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Quinn, 129 Rubidge street, have good reason to believe that they are the rightful owners of the vast estate. Little dreaming of the good fortune which may be his, Mr. Quinn pursued his trade as a carpenter until a few of months ago his attention was drawn to an item in one of the Peterborough papers concerning the unclaimed millions.

Mr. Quinn had little trouble in identifying himself almost positively as the missing heir, and having in his home several heir looms which almost conclusively prove him to be one of the family of the millionaire, he immediately put his case with a lawyer in the city, who is endeavouring to prove his right to the money.

Far from having his head turned at the prospect of becoming one of the richest men in Peterborough and immediately, as would be perfectly human, starting an orgy of automobile and house buying, Mr. Quinn is carrying on his trade and working in Campbellford at present. Inquiries at his home found that although fairly certain of the money, the family is little excited, and extremely reticent about speaking of the hoped-for fortune.

AMERICAN EXPORTS WILL BE SHUT OFF

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Rising rates of exchange will "inevitably choke off" American exports to the European countries. France will not long continue to pay 100 per cent. premium on the New York Exchange. These were the conclusions expressed to-day by George E. Roberts, vice-president of the National City Bank, commening on to-day's quotations on pounds sterling, francs, and marks.

Sterling demand opened at $4.06 1-4 off 2 cents. Franc cheques at 963 off 7 centimes, and marks at $.0216—new low records.

A Coated Tongue? What it Means

A bad breath, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, languor and debility, are usually signs that the liver is out of order. Prof. Hemmeter says: "The liver is an organ secondary in importance only to the heart."

We can manufacture poisons within our own bodies which are as deadly as a snake's venom. The liver acts as a guard over our well-being, sifting out the cinders and ashes from the general circulation. A blockade in the intestines piles a heavy burden upon the liver. If the intestines are choked or clogged up, the circulation of the blood becomes poisoned and the system becomes loaded with toxic waste, and we suffer from headache, yellow-coated tongue, bad taste in mouth, nausea, or gas, acid dyspepsia, languor, debility, yellow skin or eyes. At such times one should take castor oil or a pleasant laxative. Such a one is made of May-apple, leaves of aloe and jalap, put into ready-to-use form by Doctor Pierce, nearly fifty years ago, and sold for 35 cents by all druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

TO SECURE COAL RECIPROCITY IS AIM OF TRADE COMMISSION

OTTAWA DOES NOT THINK ACTION OF LICENSING EXPORTS TO U. S. WILL RESULT IN RETALIATION—OLD GOVERNMENT FORCES REVIVED TO CONSERVE SUPPLIES.

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—Government forces which have been practically dormant for months have been revived to cope with the bituminous coal shortage now facing Canada. Not only has Fuel Controller Magrath bidden the Provinces resurrect their Fuel Administrations and to prepare sworn statements of the actual need of the districts, but the Canadian Trade Commission created under the War Measures Act has been revived and is working in co-operation with the Fuel Commissioner. The board as at present constituted comprises Sir Charles Gordon, R. D. Fairbairn, and H. B. Thomson, the latter of whom, however, has not been active for some time past. The power to prohibit exports or imports which had pretty well expired some months ago has also been revived and it is ordered (under the War Measures Act, which is still in force) that no Canadian bituminous coal whatsoever shall be exported to Europe, and that none shall be exported to the United States excepting under license.

No Coal Since November.

The reason for revival of the War Measures Act in the matter of coal is that since November first, Canada has received no bituminous coal from the United States, owing to the strike among the bituminous coal workers. Ontario, a portion of Quebec, and eastern portions of the Western Provinces are dependent upon the United States for this kind of coal and so far have not received more than seventy per cent of the normal supply, with little hope at present with the close of navigation in sight of receiving a full and adequate amount.

Just as Canada in its central parts is dependent upon the United States for its coal supply so is the United States on the Pacific and Atlantic partially dependent upon Canada. The Canadian miners are still at work and likely to remain at work. In the West they have an agreement which stands until there is a change in the United States' schedules. In the Maritime Provinces, the situation is a little more acute though no strike is anticipated.

The License of Export.

It may be said that the placing of an embargo on the export of Canadian coal into the United States is an invitation to retaliation on the part of the latter country not only in the matter of bituminous, but anthracite coal. Export, however, is permitted under license, and the action of the Trade Commission has been taken with the purpose of securing "reciprocity" on supplies. It is desired that for every ton Canada exports to Atlantic and Pacific States she shall receive from across the border an equal amount for her central Provinces, and vice-versa. On the other hand, in order that the Canadian coal supply may be conserved to meet the double demands, export to Europe has been stopped altogether. Bituminous coal stocks in central Canada are getting low, and as nothing has come in from the United States for some time past and reserves are being drawn upon the situation is critical. It is obviously necessary for Canada to take precautions in the matter.

It is, however, hoped that through the measures adopted, and by dint of conservation, supplies may be resumed. Affidavits are required as to actual needs, so that the United States authorities may be satisfied that the best of good faith exists in the Dominion and that under the circumstances the only desire is to fill actual needs, and not to pile up reserves.

MEDICAL INSPECTION OF SCHOOLS BY DR. DONALD MUNRO OF WARSAW

SUBJECT OF INTERESTING ADDRESS AT THE WARSAW WOMEN'S INSTITUTE—WARSAW NEWS OF INTEREST.

WARSAW, Nov. 18.—It is very much to be regretted that the attendance at the Women's Institute, last Thursday was the smallest it has been for a long time. As the number of mothers present was not great, Dr. Donald Munro did not say all he had planned. Nevertheless, the address he did give was excellent.

He gave a talk, rather than a paper on the subject of "Medical Inspection of Schools." He was pleased to have an opportunity to address the Institute, as the Institute had taken an interest in and tried to promote what was good, and would be much missed in the community.

Medical Inspection of Schools has not really been tried, but, in rural schools, in larger towns and cities it has. There are difficulties in the way. In rural schools, few of the school houses, have a room where a proper inspection could be made, let alone treatments. Consolidated schools are much talked of now, and medical inspection could easily follow with building such as would be required.

Proper Accomodation.

Of course a certain amount of examination and advice could be given in any school but the work could not be well done when there is not a proper room, nor can it be tackled and kept up unless there be provided examinations, and that cannot be done without legislation, and the institutes should try to stimulate legislation, probably the Educational Department would be the best department to act. Time was when a doctor's business was to cure. More and more, now, it is getting that a doctor's work is to show people how to keep well. It is much easier to keep well, than to get well. We speak of the resources of our country, minerals etc., but the greatest resources are the people, and the greatest part of the people is the mind, therefore we want a sound mind in a sound body, for the greatest good of the country, and when for the country's good, it should be looked after by the State. Therefore there should be a legislation to do all in its power to have a healthy, intelligent race. The 2½ billions of dollars spent on the war is nothing to the 60,000 of the most verile of our young men who were lost. It was only the physically fit men who were taken. More were turned down as physically unfit than were fit, and we are considered a healthy race. Medical inspection would point out defects and remedy them, if at all possible and it is the duty of the state to do it.

Country Schools.

Conditions of our country—extreme heat in Summer, extreme cold in Winter, and some other things make it difficult at times to maintain health. Heredity plays a part. The parents have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge. As Oliver Wendell Holmes said, we should be very, very careful about our ancestors. Medical inspection would look after teeth, their eyesight, cases of curvature, etc. One treatment will not do, new pupils are coming along, new conditions arise, so examination and treatment must be frequent and regular, and it can be done so only by the State.

Dr. Munro spoke of enlarged tonsils, when there was breathing space versus diseased tonsils. He also spoke of adenoid, and that sometimes they interfered with breathing, and are better removed. We should take an interest in trying to keep a verile race. When all is said and done, the parents should take an interest and be able to detect defects in their children, and have them remedied. The ideal condition would be for all people to know to detect defects and have them remedied.

Girls' Club.

This Fall the attendance at the Girls' Club has been rather irregular, so irregular that no classes could be carried on satisfactorily. There have always been good reasons for the absentees. At the meeting held last Friday, it was decided to hold the meetings fornightly; the next meeting to be on Friday, Nov. 28th, when the club will be re-organized, and less attention paid to classes, and more to the social side. Miss Dewart will address the girls on the 2nd Friday in December.

The Churches

The congregations in the different churches were fairly good. At the morning service in the Presbyterian Church, Rev. H. Brown preached from "Remember Lot's Wife."

In the Anglican church, Rev. Archibald preached from "Almost Thou persuadest me to be a christian." Mr. Archibald emphasized the fact that "almost" showed something incomplete, and carried with it its own condemnation. He spoke in no uncertain terms of nominal christians, who did no real work of a Christian kind, and who were afraid to stand up for their principles.

Rev. Knox, in the Methodist church asked for a collection to help pay this township's share of the costs of the Referendum vote.

To-day's thaw is giving the farmers a little chance to finish Fall plowing.

Attended Concert.

Many attended the Fowl Supper and Entertainment at South Dummer on Monday evening, and reported a nice supper and a good program.

Quite a number from Warsaw and vicinity attended the Dinner and Entertainment given by the Lakefield Presbyterian church, on Monday evening, and considered the trip well worth while.

Threshing in this district is all done and roots are all in.

This has been a mild Autumn for Mr. Mark Edwards had a few ripe strawberries a few days ago, freshly picked from his garden.

Some of the hunters returned Saturday, after having spent one of the most pleasant seasons they ever did. So far, reports are that the hunt is good.

Insure Better Belt Traction

The adhesion of a belt on a Dodge Wood-Split Pulley is greater than the adhesion on a metal pulley at equal belt tension. The reason is that there is less slippage over the smaller surface than over the metal surface.

This Gain also in less weight, relation between the Dodge Wood-Split Pulley is so much lighter and can much better balanced. It may be run at high speeds without jarring.

The interchangeable bushing system makes it adaptable to any standard shafting.

It is a mighty good all-round standard service pulley that will meet the demands of all ordinary—and most extraordinary—shop practice. In addition to which it costs less to buy.

Try a few Dodge Wood-Split Pulleys in your plant. They will justify your decision without.

CAPTAIN ADAMS WAS TAKEN BY SURPRISE

IMPROVEMENT SO REMARKABLE AFTER TAKING TANLAC HE HARDLY KNEW HIMSELF.

"For one whole year before I took Tanlac there was hardly a day that I didn't have a severe headache and hardly a night that I got over an hour or two of sleep," said S. B. Adams, when he called at the Owl Drug Store in Vancouver, B. C. Mr. Adams served as Captain in the English army, and at the time he made this statement he was registered at the St. Frances hotel, 600 Cordova West, Vancouver. Mr. Adams further stated that he would leave for the Orient in a few days to accept a managing position with an English firm in Japan.

"For the past year," continued Mr. Adams, "I had gastritis in its very worst form, and gas would press against my heart, and make it palpitate so bad that I would get dizzy and sometimes while I was eating I would get to feeling so dizzy that I would have to get up and leave the table without finishing. My appetite was almost completely gone and even the smell of food would sometimes turn my stomach, and I had to be extremely careful about what I ate so as not to suffer from gas. My nerves were shattered and the least little noise out of the ordinary would upset me completely.

"I tried medicine but nothing would do me any good, and I was about to give up trying to find anything else when my attention was called to a testimonial in the paper about Tanlac. I decided to try it, and I want to say right here that it took me by surprise and that it is simply remarkable how I have been restored to health. I had a splendid appetite and no matter what or how much I eat I never suffer from stomach trouble in any form. My nerves are quiet and steady, and I can sleep all night long. I am not troubled with headaches or dizzy spells any longer, and I feel so different in every way that I hardly know myself. I am leaving for the Orient in a few days and before I go I feel it is my duty to make this statement and let the people know that Tanlac is a great thing and that it will do every bit of what they say it will."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

EPIDEMIC WELL UNDER CONTROL

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Nov. 18.— Forty new cases of smallpox were reported to the Health Department in the past 24 hours, bringing the total number of cases so far reported in the city to 457. The total number of people now under quarantine in the city has reached $1,891.

While there are no very encouraging symptoms of the malady abating the cases continue to be of the mild type, with recoveries comparatively speedy. So far no deaths have been reported to the Department.

Dr. Hastings, Medical Officer of Health, is of the opinion that the smallpox epidemic is pretty well under control and with a proportionately large percentage of the population newly vaccinated the dangers of an epidemic have been incalculably reduced.

"Good health is priceless."

Whatever may be thought of Dr. Edwards' judgment there is no question about the moral courage of the member for Frontenac-Addington in refusing to give an explanation of his attitude on the gratuity question was an unusually frank statement.

THE COMING LEGISLATION.

According to the statement of Hon. Walter Rollo, Minister of Labour in the new Ontario Government. A comprehensive programme of legislation will be considered at the coming session of the new legislature. Pensions for widows and mothers, state insurance against unemployment and possibly against sickness, these are some of the questions that are to be considered. The majority of these are undoubtedly advanced by the Labour members and their reception by the farmers will be awaited with considerable interest. Only a short time ago the Farmers' Sun which is the recognized official organ of the U.F.O. condemned such policies as have been outlined by Mr. Rollo as socialistic in their tendency. Was that opinion only the personal views of the esteemed edition of the Sun or was it an expression of the views of the United Farmers' generally. Unemployment insurance, especially presents the possibility of a difference of opinion between agriculture and labour. With the farmers unable to secure sufficient help there is no unemployment problem to worry the rural sections and the farmers are rather inclined to welcome a measure of unemployment in the cities as an incentive to men to accept work on the farms. A system by which the Province would provide insurance to take care of the city's unemployed and prevent a drift country-ward in search of work can hardly be expected to commend itself to the U.F.O.

THE CANADIAN ANNUAL REVIEW.

The Canadian Annual Review of Public Affairs by J. Castell Hopkins, F.S.S., F.R.G.S., has recently been issued and is probably the most interesting volume yet prepared by this experienced writer.

There is no other publication to which The Canadian Annual Review may be compared, for there is nothing else like it in any country of the world. Perhaps the nearest approach to it is the British Annual Register, which has been published for a hundred years, an extremely useful work, but more a compendium of facts than a thoughtful, readable, and logical-presented review of the year's history. The United States has no such work as The Canadian Annual Review. Almanacs and year-books there are in abundance, valuable and useful in their way, but The Canadian Annual Review resembles none of these.

The Canadian Annual Review is lucid, smooth-flowing history. That is, instead of masses of undigested facts, it is narative, page following page, and division following division, in a sequential way. It is history in the sense that it is impartial and non-partisan—a faithful story of the year, intimate and comprehensive. The Review, in short, is a current history of Canada, appearing annually, and bringing the story up to the hour; and so is a needed supplement to all the ordinary histories. And, for the average citizen—parliamentarian, editor, teacher, banker or business man—it is the recent and current history of Canada that is needed most.

The Review which is a standard work upon Canadian affairs and their relationship with world-issues, as well as in their purely Canadian environment, deals with the great events and serious conditions which face Canada in this vital year. These great issues are treated by Mr. Castell Hopkins with a skill and knowledge born in 18 years' experience and study of Canada and its place in the world. He touches, in their treatment, all the essential and interesting points of daily discussion and the daily needs of intelligent citizenship; he affords full information as to all the topics which are a part of our Municipal, Provincial, National and Imperial life.

THE VICTORY LOAN.

The statement was heard several times yesterday when the announcement of the Victory Loan total was being discussed that the huge sum raised, one hundred millions more than double the original objective, was evidence that it would have been possible for Canada to have granted the soldiers' request for more gratuities, because the Loan had been so generously over subscribed. But as a matter of fact the amount of the Victory Loan just about coincides with the money needed to carry out prospects already adopted by Parliament and to complete the re-establishment plans that have been decided upon. Before the present campaign was inaugurated Canada owed the chartered banks the sum of $300,000,000 and it was announced at the begining of the drive that to meet the obligations in connection with demobilization, gratuities for soldiers, land settlement, vocational training, highway improvements and other expenditures authorized by Parliament an additional $350,000,000 would be needed. On the top of this is the vote of $60,000,000 provided at the last session for re-establishment work and for assistance to unemployed soldiers during the winter. The figures indicate the fallacy of claiming that the Victory Loan over-subscribed would enable Canada to adopt a larger scale of gratuities.

On the other hand the campaign should have secured to impress upon Sergeant Flynn and his "$2,000 or bust" coterie just how great a sum would be needed to have carried out their gratuity means. When they considered that backed by the entire press of Canada, and with an organization of the best ability and talent selected from the bond dealers of the country, combined with enthusiastic and energetic local committees the Victory Loan drive only realized three quarters of the amount that the Flynn scheme would call for, they should realize the impossibility of the Calgary gratuity plan.

THE VETERANS AND POLITICS

Although the referendum of the Great War Veterans' Association on the question of amending the constitution so as to permit the entrance of the Association into politics is yet to be taken, there is practically no doubt as to the result. The Veterans angered by the failure of the Union Government to meet their requests in regard to the Currie re-establishment of Canada's soldiers will vote almost unanimously in favour of political action. It is significant that at the same time the members were asked to express their opinion on the question of throwing open the doors so that all men who served with His Majesty's forces in this or any previous war shall be eligible for membership.

The object is apparent the G.W.V.A. to gain voting strength is willing to drop the bars. Men who served in the Canadian army in Canada and who did not get overseas and who have hitherto been debarred from becoming members of the Association have gained a new value and a new standing. They all have votes so the G.W.V.A. policy of the past couple of years is to be scrapped and the doors thrown wide open. Ability to exercise the franchise over military records, if the majority of members so declare by their votes in the coming plebiscite. In other words the G.W.V.A. is approaching the question of politics as any other body with similiar aspirations would do with the question of getting out the largest possible vote as the main object to be obtained.

In adopting this policy the Great War Veterans' Association will necessarily have to expect to be viewed in a new light by the public. Their status will be that of a political party rather than the original conception of the G.W.V.A. as an organization of veterans of the present war. They will have to harden themselves to more criticism than they have had to met in the past and accordingly will not need to be so sensitive as to what is said of them. They will be regarded more or less as any other group that is seeking political power and the public will obviously pay more attention to the platform upon which they will appeal for support than to their record in the war.

This is the price the Association will have to pay for entrance into politics. No doubt the members are fully cognizant of what will be entailed by a decision to take the plunge into the political arena and are satisfied that with success at the polls they will evidently gain more than they will lose. But as a pure and sincere political body with the memberships redeemed for voting purposes so as to include practically everybody who wore a uniform in the present war, no matter how he got into that uniform and what he did when he wore it, the Association cannot expect to be treated by the public with the same consideration and generosity as before the change in the status of the organization. This is an aspect of the situation over which it is well to be frank and it has apparently been ignored by the veterans in their consideration of the question.

CONSTITUTIONAL METHODS.

The menace of Bolshevism is passing away on this continent. There is a perceptible improvement in the Labor situation in the United States, and the vigorous campaign now being conducted against the "reds" there—especially the alien breed—should have the effect of stamping out those venomous enemies of society. The abominable outrages at Centralia, Washington, in which four American soldiers were murdered by presumed members of the I.W.W., have served to cement opposition to the activities of this pestiferous body in a way which could not have been so thorough under any other circumstances. By their insane and dastardy act, the revolutionaries have driven the final nail into their own coffin, and their interment will be attended with universal satisfaction.

In Canada, the last trades and labor congress gave the death-blow to all radical tendencies. Not only was the One Big Union condemned in the strongest and most unequivocal language, but it was debarred as a subject of future consideration. With Mr. Rollo at the head of the new provincial Labor department, the moderate policies which have brought such prestige to industrialism in Ontario will be rigidly maintained. Working men realize that they hold in their hands, under the present system of constitutional government, every weapon essential to democratic victory. Providing their ambitions are such as to commend themselves to the community's sense of justice, there is no limit to the power for reform which rests in their hands. To tear down the constitution which thus protects them, and seek to gain through the precarious method of direct action what cannot be denied them by parliamentary means, is to betray the industrial citadel to the reactionary forces.

That old fighter for popular rights, William Cobbett, long ago perceived the true path to democratic liberty: "There is no principle, no precedent, no regulations (except as to mere mafer of detail), favorable of freedom, which is not to be found in the laws of England, or in the example of our ancestors. Therefore, I say, we may ask for and we want nothing new. We have great constitutional laws and principles, to which we are immovably attached. We want great alternation, but we want nothing new. Alternation, modification to suit the times and circumstances, but the great principles ought to be and must be the same, or else confusion will follow." And the sample truth is just as valid to-day.—Hamilton Spectator.

REPATRIATION THE BIG THING.

Winter has come in the North and in the West. Snow begins to fly in Southern Ontario. Much of the outdoor work that has been in progress during the summer and fall is being shut down. Building activity slackens, railway construction and renewal gangs are laid off, street paving and sewer work is suspended. Except in the lumber camps and in the mines the demand for out-door workers is greatly lessened, and thousands of unskilled laborers begin to drift into the cities to spend the winter months.

Among them are many returned soldiers, mustered out at intervals during the past nine months, who were quick to take advantage of the opportunity of laying up something to carry them through the seasonal period of unemployment. The fortunate among them, and the thrifty who have no dependents, may be able to get through the winter on their own resources, but there must be many others who have not been able to save much money. In addition there are in the larger centres of population thousands of returned men unaccustomed to outdoor life—men who before the war were clerks, warehousemen, factory hands—who have not been able to secure permanent positions, and who, especially in the case of men with families, will find it difficult to get through the winter without serious privation unless the Government comes to their help.

It must be remembered that during the past five years, while the bulk of the Canadian people have been earning wages sufficiently high to enable the careful among them to save a good deal of money, the men overseas and their families at home have not participated in war prosperity. Pay and allowances have been on such a scale as to preclude the making of provision for a period of unemployment during the first winter after their return to civilian life.

Parliament, recognizing the country's obligation in this respect to the returned men and their families, has appropriated forty million dollars to be expended in caring for necessitous pension cases under arrangement with the Patriotic Fund, for loans to disabled men in connection with retraining, and for carrying through the winter returned men who have been unable to secure employment. In connection with this last-mentioned provision there is need for immediate action. Department inertia is always difficult to overcome. There has been no public announcement as to the method to be followed in reaching the unemployed returned men and in the investigation of their circumstances. The officials of the various Soldiers' Associations and Leagues protest vehemently against anything that savors of "charity" in the working out of the plans to help the returned men through the winter. It is evident that there must be some form of inquiry as to the need for an allowance. It will not do to pay every single man who says he is out of work through no fault of his own seventy dollars a month, and every married man a hundred dollarse. Reasonable assurance should be forthcoming that efforts have been made to obtain employment, and that work of a suitable sort has not been and will not be refused.

Such inquiries, involving many thousands of men, cannot be made in a few days. The Government should at once disclose its plans for distributing out-of work allowances, and provide the requisite machinery for the carrying out of these plans The need becomes urgent.—Toronto Globe.

THE PROMOTER'S WIFE

By JANE PHELPS

BARBARA VISITS NEIL IN HIS NEW ENVIRONMENT

CHAPTER CXX.

While we saw so little of each other at this time —he often came home just in time to go bed— I think Neil and I were closer together in spirit than we ever had been since the first days of our marriage. He talked freely to me of his business, what he hoped to accomplish beyond what was expected of him. In all that was personal he let me share, while never talking of things which he thought belonged entirely to his employer. He had developed a nicety of discrimination and was not diverted from it in any particular.

One day I visited his office. I seldom went into town. It was not necessary, and so an extravagance. I was really surprised at the difference in the appearance of this and the old office so immaculate There the desk was clean, everything licked away. Here the desk a large table, strewn with papers, pigeon holes all bulging, a work desk indeed. Neil and the office force all working together in harmony.

Someway the difference impressed me more than anything that had happened with the stability of Neil's work as compared with his promoting projects. Here was real business, work that had no need to be hidden, because no false representations were made. Office doors were not locked, altho they were so busy one had to be announced. In every slight est detail was the contrast impressed upon me. I wondered why I had not suspected long before I did that all was not right. Had I, I might have tried to persuade Neil to—here my thoughts halted, I realized that —as Neil was then— nothing I could have said would have made any difference. As he was now, he would have sen the wrong and righted it himself without my interference.

Neil had charge of the manufacturing end of Mr. Frederick's business. It had grown enormously since he took charge, partly owing to the war. His commissions amounted to far more than his salary, far more than either of us had dared hope. But if his health should fail under the strain what good would it do At times I thought I should have to appeal to Mr. Frederick, so anxious did I feel. Then I could not bear to ask anything more of him, and simply pleaded with Neil to be careful— to no avail.

Meanwhile the days and weeks were slipping by and Fate or whatever we may call it was quietly, steadily, persistently working out her own ends and our salvation, as is her wont. Then all suddenly we, United States were in the war. It had hapened almost over night, at least the realization of it had to those of us who had scouted the idea that we could have by any possibility be drawn into the frightful vortex consulsing the Allied nations.

Among the first to offer his resources to our government was Mr. Frederick. His vast manufacturing plants were turned into munition works his immense fortune put to work to save the world. And because of his quick grasp of affairs Neil was made chief of his many lieutenants. Fredericg had said to him:

"You have vision Forbes, and that is what we need. You are executive, that is also what we need, and you have patriotism, which we must have. I believe you are the man for the place. Will you undertake it?"

The salary was very large, but Neil earned every bit of it. He would have liked to have joined the army, had his obligations not prevented; also the belief that he could do more for his country by remaining at his post. We talked it all over, and both agreed he was needed at home. He was too old for the draft so would notbe taken.

If he had worked and slaved before he worked and slaved a hundred times as hard now. He had no thought of self, no care save to make good. His life was often endangered because of his business, and his outspoken views. Robert and I lived on in our little home, sometimes not seeing Neil for days together. Often the mills were threatened, they had found more than one bomb, and he kept a constant surveillance over all Frederick—who was now in Europe—had intrusted to him. When men who were working for the best interests of our government were mentioned, Neil's name was invariably near the top of the list. Men were forgetting he had been blacklisted because of his schemes. Events crowded one upon another so swiftly that yesterday was forgotten. It was to-day, now, that counted.

What Nuxated Iron Is Made From

Sworn Statement of Composition of Its Formula

It increases the strength and endurance of delicate, nervous, run-down folks in two weeks' time in many instances.

The Board of Directors have authorized the broadest publication of the sworn statement of the composition of Nuxated Iron, one of the most widely used tonic, strength and blood builders in the world, so that the medical profession may examine it for themselves and judge as to its merits.

It is conservatively estimated that this remarkable formula is now being used by over 3,000,000 people annually in America alone. Among those who have used and strongly endorse it are many physicians formerly connected with well-known hospitals, former United States Senators, members of Congress, and former Health Officials.

Newspapers everywhere are invited to copy this statement for the benefit of their readers. It is suggested that physicians make a record of it and keep it in their offices so that they may intelligently answer inquiries of patients concerning it. Everybody is advised to cut it out and keep it. A copy of the actual sworn statement will be sent to anyone who desires such. It is as follows:

Iron Peptonate (Special specific Standard) Quantity given below.
Sodium Glycerophosphates U.S.P. (Manganate.)
Calcium Glycerophosphates U.S.P. (Manganite.)
P. E. Nux Vomica U.S.P.
Cascarin Bitter
Magnesium Carbonate
Fe. Ginger U.S.P.
Oil Cassia Cinnamon U.S.P.
Calcium Carbonate Precip. U.S.P.

Each dose of two tablets of Nuxated Iron contains one and one-half grains of organic iron in the form of iron peptonate of a special specific standard which in our opinion possesses superior qualities to any other form of iron. By using other makes of Iron Peptonate we could have put the same quantity of actual iron in the tablets for less than one-fourth the cost to us, and using metallic iron we could have accomplished the same thing at less than one-fiftth the cost; but by so doing we must in our most certainly impaired their therapeutic value. Glycerophosphates used in Nuxated Iron is one of the most expensive tonic constituents known. It is especially recommended to build up the nerve forces and thereby increase brain power, as glycerophosphates are said to contain phosphorous in a state very similar to that in which it is found in the nerve and brain cells of man.

As will be seen from the above, two important ingredients of Nuxated Iron (Iron Peptonate and Glycerophosphates) are very expensive products as compared with most other tonics.

Under such circumstances the temptation to adulteration and substitution by unscrupulous persons, is very great and the public is hereby warned to be careful and see every bottle is plainly labeled "Nuxated Iron," by the Doe Health Laboratories, Paris, London, and Detroit, U. S. A., as this is the only genuine article. If you have taken other forms of iron without success, this dose not prove Nuxated Iron will not help you. We guarantee satisfaction to every purchaser or your money will be refunded.

In regard to the value of Nuxated Iron, Dr. A. J. Newman, late Fellow Surgeon of the City of Chicago, and former House Surgeon Jefferson Park Hospital, Chicago, says it has proven through his own tests of it to excel any preparation he has ever used for creating red blood, building up the nerves and strengthening the muscles. Dr. J. W. Armistead, Green Hill, Ala., graduate of the University of Alabama, School of Medicine, Mobile, 1903, says: "In the cases I used Nuxated Iron I have found more beneficial results than from any preparation I have ever used in 34 years' practice." Dr. E. B. Keogh, Pulaville, Miss., graduate of the Memphis Hospital College, Memphis, 1899, says: "I always prescribe Nuxated Iron where a reconstructive tonic is indicated." Nuxated Iron often increases the strength and endurance of delicate, nervous, run-down folks in two weeks' time.

ONE GREAT ESSENTIAL TO A WOMAN'S HEALTH IS HER NERVES

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy as the day is long, instead of being sick and wretched. But how can any woman be healthy and happy when the whole nervous system is unstrung. The trouble is they pay more attention to their social and household duties than they do to their health. Is it any wonder then that they become irritable and nervous, have hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells, become weak and nervous, and everything in life becomes dark and gloomy.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the very remedy that nervous, tired-out, weary women need to restore them to the blessings of good health.

Mrs. P. H. Ryan, Sand Point, N.S., writes:—"I have been a great sufferer from nerve troubles. I was so weak and nervous I could not sleep at night and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling. I had hot flushes and fainting spells. When I was on second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I began to feel better and kept on until I had used six boxes when I felt like a different person. I am never without them in the house and recommend them to all who suffer with their nerve."

WILHEM WOULD SELL FAMOUS YACHT 'METEOR.'

Wealthy New York Yachtsmen are Invited to Purchase Vessel.

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Herr Wilhelm Hohenzollern, erstwhile Emperor of Germany, is seeking an American purchaser for his famous schooner yacht, Meteor III., after apparently having failed to dispose of it in Scandinavia, where it was advertised for sale last July for $45,000. This became known to-day when forty wealthy New York yachtsmen received letters from one of the ex-Kaiser's agents announcing that the craft is on the market. Terms of sale would be sent on request, the letter added.

The Meteor III., conspicious for many years at the regattas of Kiel and Cowes, was built at Shooter's Island and christened by Miss Alice Roosevelt in 1902 with champagne from the former Kaiser's private cellars.

THE UNUSUALLY COLD WEATHER HOLDS UP OPERATIONS IN THE WEST.

Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics estimates the total area sown to fall wheat in Canada for 1920 harvest to be 776,400 acres last year. Ontario, with 717,000 acres shows an increase of 10 per cent.; Alberta, 38,400 acres, a reduction of 12 per cent.; Manitoba, 6,400 acres, against 6,100 acres last year. The condition of fall wheat on October 31 is reported as 10 per cent., or 4 per cent. above the decennial average, as compared with 102 per cent. last year. Ontario has the highest percentage with 107.

Unusually cold weather during October was reported from the West. Thrashing and fall plowing were held up; large quantities of potatoes were frozen in the ground, and in British Columbia thousands of boxes of apples were lost. Several places in the Prairie Provinces reported below zero weather before the month closed.

Owing to these conditions, only 30 per cent. of fall plowing was done in Saskatchewan, and in Alberta only 24 per cent. Manitoba shows 64 per cent. as against 54 per cent. last year. British Columbia reports 56 per cent. as against 51 per cent. last year. In the Maritime Provinces the proportions are higher. In Quebec 75 per cent. was completed, and in Ontario 77 per cent. as against 64 per cent last year. The average percentage for the whole of Canaa is 66 per cent., or 10 per cent. better than last year. The area under summer fallow for all Canaa is about 6 per cent. less than last year.

5,284 OF 8,779 DEFECTIVE.

ONE YORKSHIRE PIE FOR THREE THOUSAND

Enormous Dish Costing $1,200 Was Baked in 1887.

In the village of Denby Vale, in Yorkshire, it has long been the custom to celebrate any national event by the baking of an enormous Yorkshire pie for the villagers and those coming from all the countryside around. In 1786 the first pie was baked to celebrate the return to health of King George III., the second was made at the conclusion of peace between England and France in 1815; the last and largest of all was baked in the year 1887 for the Victoria Jubilee.

This enormous pie weighed two tons and cost about $1,200. The contents consisted of 600 pounds of beef, 650 potatoes and 600 pounds of flour. Three thousand persons partook of it. Now the villagers are in a quandary. They desire to celebrate the signing of the peace treaty but the high cost of food forces them to greatly reduce the size of the pie, despite the rule that each pie shall be larger than the last.

INTERESTING ADDRESSES AT YESTERDAY'S SESSION OF ARCHDEACONAL CONFERENCE

REV. R. C BLAGRAVE DEALS WITH SOME OF THE PRESENT DAY UNREST AND ITS RELATION TO THE CHURCH—THE CROSS SECTION OF PUBLIC OPINION.

At yesteday's session of the Archdeaconal Conference which is being held in St. Luke's church, Rev. R. C. Blagrave, D. D., of Toronto, delivered a very able address on "The church and the present unsettlement in industry, finance and politics." Mr. Blagrave said that owing to the war our attention has been focused upon matters and we see things more clearly. The world is just as sinful as before. Speaking of the soldiers religion the Speaker said that it must not be isolated. It is a religion not much better and not much worse than our own. The problem of today is a thing not to be solved but to be grappled with.

Continuing he pointed out that socialists have crept into the ranks of labor and the danger of this was realized in the Winnipeg strike. The Ottawa Labor Conference is a thing for which men should be thankful in fact it brought about an understanding. Things are going to be settled eventually but not without the help of the Church. There is no section in life in which the power of Christ is not recognized. The The Church's position to-day is stronger than ever before in spite of timidity on one side and radicalism on the other, and there is a genuine effort to reconcile differences. The Church has dealt strongly, sympathetically and successfully with industrial questions.

Labor and the Church.

That labor is hostile to the church is imaginary, some of the Churches most devoted sons are in the ranks of labor. The impression that the Church has stood as a friend of the moneyed interests, and not as a friend of labor is false. The Church vitally requires leaders of industry to be leaders in Church life.

The teaching that is touching the heart of the world to-day is that of the Bible concerning the good will of God to man.

The Cross Section.

Canada will not stand despotism from any quarter. Labor seems to be threatening democracy and the only safety for the Government is the cross section of public opinion.

The world is in a state of unrest. Divine discontent tends to become otherwise than divine when the hand of selfishness comes in, even clerical unrest.

Followed by Rev. J. A. Eliott.

Dr. Blagrave's masterly address was greatly appreciated and well received. He was followed by Rev. J. A. Eliott of Port Hope whose main points were the matter of supporting Dr. Blagrave's address. He stated that the Church should remember that she stands in the world as a school master teaching the application of the divine truth to apply to all walks in life. There are few people ... the world he continued who are not working people, therefore the world belongs to the working people andth e present condition of restlessness so prominent in industry, finance and politics is not to be regarded altogether as a problem but rather as a symptom of a desire for advancement.

The morning session opened by Holy Communion at 8 o'clock followed by an address by Rev. N. H. Noble on "The Second Coming." Breakfast was served in the Parish Hall. Later Rev. C. P. Muirhead read a practical paper on "Practical Ideas and suggestion for the Parson and his people for Church Work." The discussion which followed was led by Rev. G. E. Stet and taken part in by Rev. Walter White, R. B. Grobb, Canon W. C. Allen, Canon Rigby, Rev. E. R. James, Rev. T. A. Nind and others. Archdeacon Warren closed the discussion in a very able way.

MENTAL WORK NEEDS A STOMACH

Great Mistake to Imagine You can Work Better and Faster on the Starvation Plan. Eat What You Like but Follow With Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Mental work uses up energy fast. And energy comes from food. To eat little or nothing in order to do more work is a fallacy that has created an army of dyspeptics. A better plan is to eat the regular portions of food such as make up the average meal and follow each meal with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

You will then get a double benefit—energy from food and socialbility from meals, for as a rule the light eater or those who skip meals, get into a bad habit, a rut, of hermitlike isolation. Do not be afraid of gassiness, sour stomach, heartburn, heavy feeling or coated tongue after your meals. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets arouse the stomach to secrete the juices necessary to relieve these troubles that so frequently distress the mental worker. They contain harmless ingredients which act with an alkaline effect so you may eat the rich things of the banquet or the savoury sausage for breakfast with the utmost freedom.

Get a 50-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store, eat freely of what you like and you will do more and better work than on a skimpy diet. Try this plan.

WEALTHY HUBBY, 86, GETS DIVORCE FROM BRIDE OF 26

SAMUEL H. RUNDLE'S BRIEF ROMANCE OFFICIALLY ENDED BY CONNECTICUT COURT.

DANBURY, Conn.,—A decree of absolute divorce, without alimony, was granted to Samuel H. Rundle, eighty-six years old, formerly president of the Danbury National Bank and widely known capitalist of this section, in the Superior Court of Bridgeport here. The decree was issued by Judge Charles Webb.

The disposition of the case of Mr. Rundle ends one of the most sensational matrimonial adventures in this section in recent years. On October 16, 1918, the aged banker wed Miss Gladys Austin Brown, twenty-five years old, who, it was announced, was the daughter of a wealthy Southern banker. Miss Brown until the day of the wedding never had been heard of in Danbury.

Ten days after the wedding Mrs. Rundle sued for divorce, declaring that she had been cruelly treated by her husband, and asking $500,000 damages.

In his cross complaint Mr. Rundle said that his wife had left him on the day of their marriage, and claimed that she had been married before, had lived in New York most of her life and had gone back to her first husband, Sidney A. Toovey, of New York, from whom she had obtained a divorce.

He also declared that he believed Miss Brown had sought marriage with him for the purpose of obtaining his fortune.

It was brought out in the proceedings that followed that Miss Brown had obtained the marriage license in Bridgeport, had gone to the Court House alone to get it, and had attended to most of the matters of the wedding herself.

In court today there was no one to defend Mrs. Rundle. A note was received, it was said, from her attorney, Jacob G. Goodhart, of New Haven, explaining that she wished to submit notice of withdrawal of appearance in the case.

According to attorneys for Mr. Rundle, the divorce was granted "without strings on it."

The Plague of Pimples

Body Covered With Them

The primary cause of pimples arises from the blood not being in a good condition. When the blood becomes impure you will find that pimples will break out all over the body, but more particularly on the forehead, nose and chin, and although they are not a dangerous trouble, they are very unsightly. What you need when pimples or boils break out is a real good blood purifying medicince such as Burdock Blood Bitters.

This preparation has been on the market for over 40 years and is the most reliable remedy for all troubles arising from a bad condition of the blood. It removes all the impurities from the system and will leave a clear, healthy skin.

Mr. Emerson G. Goodwin, Cambridge, N. B., writes: "For nearly two years I suffered from boils and pimples on my neck and nearly all my body was covered with the pimples. I tried most everything but got no relief. One day a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after using three bottles the pimples and the boils had all left me and there is no sign of them returning. I can strongly recommend B.B.B. to anyone who is troubled with skin disease."

FAMOUS NIGHT-LIFE CAFES RAIDED BY POLICE IN BERLIN

Fifty-one Cabarets Was Officials, Limit for One Night.

BERLIN—Fifty-one of the more notorious of Berlin's famous, or infamous, night-life cafes and cabarets, where all closing regulations were ignored, electric lights were burned until morning, and scenes of drunkenness were enacted, were raided recently by the new safety police and squads of the old force. Countless arrests were made. The proprietors of 60 other cafes were notified that their turn was coming. There were so many that all could not be raided in one evening.

The bands were playing, and all was joyous, when one lone police officer in plain clothes entered each of the 51 resorts. At first he was greeted with laughter, but when the exits were closed most of the patrons and many of the managers dived for the cellars, where they were easily rounded up. As fast as they could be herded together they were placed on motor trucks guarded by police or soldiers and taken to the police stations.

The scenes were exciting, as women became hysterical, and men offered huge sums of money for their release.

It was a variegated throng that was gathered at the police station and finally at police headquarters at the Alexander Square. Some tried to laugh the affair away, others were angry, and all seemed to be ashamed at being caught. The throng included not only a number of illicit traders and their women friends, but several socially well-known people as well. The police announce the raids will continue.

With the raids the authorities have, incidently, accomplished a lessening of the illicit trade in food, for the cabarets and cafes and gambling clubs were the prime offenders, and boldly offered either free meals or meals at ridiculously low prices to prospective customers.

MENTAL WORK NEEDS A STOMACH

Great Mistake to Imagine You can Work Better and Faster on the Starvation Plan. Eat What You Like but Follow With Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Mental work uses up energy fast. And energy comes from food. To eat little or nothing in order to do more work is a fallacy that has created an army of dyspeptics. A better plan is to eat the regular portions of food such as make up the average meal and follow each meal with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

You will then get a double benefit—energy from food and socialbility from meals, for as a rule the light eater or those who skip meals, get into a bad habit, a rut, of hermitlike isolation. Do not be afraid of gassiness, sour stomach, heartburn, heavy feeling or coated tongue after your meals. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets arouse the stomach to secrete the juices necessary to relieve these troubles that so frequently distress the mental worker. They contain harmless ingredients which act with an alkaline effect so you may eat the rich things of the banquet or the savoury sausage for breakfast with the utmost freedom.

Get a 50-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store, eat freely of what you like and you will do more and better work than on a skimpy diet. Try this plan.

Peterborough and Lindsay members of the Green Island Hunt Club returned from the woods in the district of Parry Sound on Saturday night, having been absent the entire two weeks. Many of the huntsmen have been back with the Green Island Hunt Club for several years past, and they like it better every year. FARM CONDITIONS FOR NOVEMBER

NEW FALL WHEAT HAS A VIGOROUS APPEARANCE.

The following is a summary of reports made by Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:—

The new fall wheat has a vigorous appearance although there are a few complaints of injury from the Hessian fly. The acreage is decidedly larger than that of last year. Rye also looks promising.

Roots are nearly all up and shelter ed. Middlesex states that turnips are being marketed at prices ranging from 25c to 40c a bushel, the lower prices being those paid under contract rates. Middlesex reports potatoes being shipped to United States points at $2.15 and $2.25 a bag.

The tobacco crop in Essex has been practically all sold at 35c to 43c a lb., for Burley; 60c to 75c a lb., flue cured.

Grey reports that sweet clover seed is selling at from $14 to $15 a bushel, but that sales are slower than they have been.

Live stock are nearly all stabled, and are in fair general condition owing to good fall pastures. Carleton reports many steers having been recently marketed off the grass. A dealer in Prince Edward is sending weekly shipments to Buffalo. The milk supply all over the Province has kept up remarkably well for the season. Milch cows are in good demand at from $120 to $200.

Hogs are being steadily marketed but too many brood sows are going. Prices for bacon hogs at local points have ranged from $15.50 to $16.75 a cwt. Little pigs are selling in Brant at from $8 to $10 a pair.

The marketing of grain has been slow, as much of it will be kept to feed on the farm. Hay and silage is more than sufficient for carrying stock over, but straw stacks are fewer than for years. Hay is selling at from $20 to $30 a ton.

Threshing is practically completed. More fall plowing has been done than for years, although the frost of last week checked the work in some quarters.

Labor on the whole has been sufficient for the demand, but Peel reports that good men are being offered as high as $720 a year with house and garden.

C.L.L. IS STILL ACTIVE.

WON'T TELL PRICES TILL CROP IS SOLD.

Returns From Canadian Wheat Crop Are to Be Kept Secret.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 13.—James Stewart, chairman of the Canadian wheat board, declared that it had been decided to withhold information as to the price received for Canadian wheat being sold until the close of the present crop year, August 31, 1920. He believes that the majority of farmers are satisfied to wait until the crop has been cleaned up before being told what additional price they are to receive for their wheat over the fixed price as meeting of the United Brotherhood's guaranteed by the Government.

FRAUD CHARGE FAILED AGAINST SHOW AGENT

Cobourg Star:—On Friday last Chief Ruse went up to Toronto, and brought back George Stevoff, on a charge of fraud. Stevoff was the financial manager of the "Beach Belles" a one-night stand show company that played in Victoria Opera House three weeks ago. When the company left here there was not enough money in the show treasury to pay the company's board bill at the Balmoral Hotel, and Stevoff gave his personal cheque for $35, on a branch of the Bank of Toronto in Toronto. His bank book showed a balance of $900 in the bank, but he neglected to put the name of the branch bank on the cheque, and when the cheque was sent to Toronto it was returned marked "no funds." A warrant for Stevoff's arrest was sworn out by the proprietor of the hotel on a charge of fraud and Stevoff was arrested in Toronto. When brought here he convinced the Magistrate that it was not a case of fraud, as it was found he had the money in the bank to meet the cheque and the case was dismissed.

Doctor Tells How to Detect Harmful Effects of Tobacco

Try These SIMPLE TESTS

New York.—Doctor Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital, says: "Many men who smoke, chew or snuff tobacco daily, and who are seemingly healthy, are suffering from progressive organic ailments. Thousands of these would never have been touched had it not been for the use of tobacco, and thousands would never quit until it they would only stop the use of tobacco. The chief habit-forming principle of tobacco is nicotine, a deadly poison, which when absorbed by the system slowly affects the nerves, glands, tissues and vital organs of the body. The harmful effect of tobacco varies and depends on circumstances. One will be afflicted with general debility, others with cancer of the throat, indigestion, constipation, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of memory, lack of will power, sexual confusion, etc. Others may suffer from heart disease, bronchial trouble, hardening of the arteries, tuberculosis, blindness, or even cancer, or the common affliction known as tobacco heart. If you use tobacco in any form you can easily destroy the harmful effects by making the following simple tests: Read about one full page from a book. If in the course of reading your vision becomes muddled, hazy and indistinct, you may rest assured that your trouble is due to tobacco, and that your throat is affected by catarrh, and it may be the beginning of more serious trouble. Next, in the morning before taking your usual smoke walk up three flights of stairs at a regular pace, then stop. If you find that you are out of breath, your heart beat is forced, trembling or irregular, you may be a victim of rheumatism or organic heart trouble. If you feel that you must smoke, chew or snuff to quiet your nerves you have just two alternatives—keep on with the self-poisoning process, irrespective of the dangers, and suffer the consequences, or give up the habit and escape the dangers. You can overcome the craving and stop the habit in a very short time by using the following inexpensive formula: Go to any drug store and ask for Nicotol tablets, take one tablet after each meal, and in a comparatively short time you will have no desire for tobacco, the craving will have left you. With the nicotine poison out of your system your general health will quickly improve.

Note.—When asked about Nicotol tablets one of our leading druggists said: "It is truly a wonderful remedy for the tobacco habit; away ahead of anything we have ever sold before. We are authorized by the manufacturers to refund the money to every dissatisfied customer, and we would not permit the use of our name unless the remedy possessed unusual merit." Nicotol tablets are sold in this city under an iron clad money-back guarantee by all up-to-date druggists. (3)

BISHOP SWEENEY AT CONFERENCE

STIRRING ADDRESS ON THE FORWARD MOVEMENT--CLOSING SESSION OF CONFERENCE.

At last night's session of the Archdeaconal Conference, the Right Rev. J. Fielding Sweeney, Bishop of the Toronto Diocese, referred to the challenge which confronts the church of to-day.

The original Forward Movement, said the speaker, dated back to the time of the Israelites, when in a spirit of restlessness they complained to Moses. They wanted to go forward to the promised land. In the Book of Exodus we find the following words: "Speak unto the Children of Israel that they go forward." That was the birth of the first forward movement," said Bishop Sweeney. Continuing, he said, our forward movement follows as a consequence of victory and peace. We should make this a period of thanksgiving. God has put into our hearts the instinct to repair. This is a period of reconstruction. We must give full play to that instinct and accept the challenge to repair the wreckage and stagnation of war. It is a challenge to us individually. Let us not get into the habit of thinking in terms of the aggregate or collectively but think individually. The challenge to the church is a challenge to the individuals that make the church.

As we look over the situation and think of pre-war conditions and conditions now, we find many of the old conditions gone; and let us hope gone for ever. Do not let some of the pre-war conditions come back again. The Forward Movement is aimed to reveal some of the shortcomings of the church and to revive the spirit of Christ in the church.

Referring to the recent Victory Loan, Bishop Sweeney said what was the use of the church or the people of Canada crying poverty in the face of the recent Victory Loan campaign and its final results.

Quoting an American definition of the Forward Movement, the Bishop said it is a movement "through which it is hoped, God willing, that church learning all the truths about herself, her condition, her short comings, her needs realizing her whole duty and glorious opportunity, awakened and repentent, will equip herself adequately with workers and means, and with renewed spirit will undertake, courageously and unitedly to do her full share of the Mission given to the Church by her Lord and Master. The Spiritual revival of the Church is the aim and hope of the Movement."

SOCIAL SERVICE

Mrs. Arthur Stevenson followed with an address on The Church and Social Service, in which it was told what Social Service aims at, how it was being worked out, and then a strong appeal that all the Churches should take a vital and sympathetic interest in the work. Mrs. Stevenson's paper was very interesting and well received. The last speaker was Mr. R. W. Allin, the Finance Commissioner of Toronto Diocese, who in his usual strong way, presented the aspirations of the financial side of the Forward Movement, with very great earnestness, bringing to a close day's Conference full of helpful, practical, and able address and papers. The Benediction was pronounced by Bishop Sweeney.

8.00 p.m.—Open meeting: well attended. Opened with singing of the Hymn "Jesus shall reign". Prayers were offered by Rev. Canon Allen, after which the Archdeacon in his opening remarks mentioned the fact that this year marked the 100th Anniversary.

Rev. T. N. Nind's Paper

Rev. T. N. Nind's paper on the work of the "Holy Spirit", brought out the following points.

The Holy Ghost as Paraclete in dwelling in man, cleansing his body, enlightening his mind, inspiring the affections, strengthening the will.

As teacher—teaching the church concerning all things, giving the right judgment, concerning the admission of the Gentiles to the church the relation of Christians to the Social Order.

He brought to the disciples the remembrance of our Lord's sayings from which finally came the synoptic Gospels. St. John's Gospel.

As witness—the world fears Him because it knows His influence. Writers cannot avoid Him. They must come back to Him.

Then He commits the world of sin which is lack of confidence in Christ of Righteousness which is a life of sinless devotion to God and to Man, of Judgment because all founded upon the Prince of the World passes away.

He is the Guide in to all the Truth and as He guided the early church in the place the Sacraments are to occupy in Christian Life, and under His guidance the threefold ministers developed so He will guide the Church now in the matter of the Ministers of Women the re-statement of the Creeds if it is necessary and Church Unity. He takes of the things of Christ and reveals them to us in ideas of God, new perhaps to us but contained in the revelation of God by Christ in the relations of Capital vs. Labour in the New Internation. He shows to us in all what is contained in the person of Christ. His message and applies it to all these problems.

The Morning's Address

In his address this morning Canon W. C. Allen's paper on Christian Science. His Lordship Bishop Sweeney spoke of Christian Science as an insidious cult threatening to eat itself into the Church and an abominable heresy repudiating the doctrines of Christianity. His Lordship spoke of the growing numbers who attended the so-called places of worship in which the Christian Scientists assemble in Toronto and of the ingenious device the cult has used in having their teachings "Science and Health", bound in a similar binding to the Bible so that to see the followers of the sect, one is easily deceived into believing they are Christians with their Bibles. He spoke of the fact that Bishop Reeves has the doctrine of Christian Science at his finger tips and that any advice on the matter may be secured by any of the clergy who may wish such. He related an interesting interview one of the clergy recnetly had when one of his parishioners came to him asking him to release her from the Church to join the Christian Scientists. The rector merely asked her to sign her renunciation of her Confirmation and all obligations to the Church when she collapsed. She was told to come again when she felt she would like to do so "and thank God", the clergyman concluded she never came."

Easy to Make This Pine Cough Remedy

Thousands of families always keep the prompt results. Inexpensive, and saves about $5.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a 16-oz. bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make 16 ounces—more than you can buy ready-made for $2.50. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly.

You who feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

PERSIUS TESTIFIES

FAMOUS NAVAL MAN TELLS ABOUT THE FORMER KAISER.

Capt. Lothan Persius German naval attache at Washington for a number of years long before the war, and subsequently Germony's leading naval critic, devotes a good deal of space in his Personal Reminiscenes to acrid ridicul of the once sacred person of the kaiser, and to advocacy of the proposition that German officers guilty of atrocities should be punished. Perhaps nothing written by a prominent German since the war ended so amazingly illustrates the apparent change in the point of view of at least some Germans. Of the kaisgr Capt. Persius says:

"There are no great men in the eyes of their valets. William II never was a great man in the eyes of anybody, although he was ever assuming a heroic pose, whether the occasion was solemn or ridiculous. But William II in the eyes of his valets and attendants was not only not great, he was even contemptibly small, mean and cowardly, enjoying the humiliation, degradation and pain he inflicted upon those in his power.

"With my own eyes I have seen him dash the contents of a half-filled champagne glass into the face of an admiral who happened to be standing near him on the bridge of a vessel. I saw him scrape the caviar off his sandwich and fling the mess into the eye of some officer of high rank unfortunately within reach of the imperial "joker." Of course, all these 'pranks' were perpettrated when his majesty was in a state of intoxication, which at times happened to occur realy in the morning.

Capt. Persius states that all members of the officers' corps realized that promotion was to be accelerated only by humble submission to the kaiser's whims and pranks; that some admirals would have been deposed for incompetency had they not been devoted and meek objects of the imperial jester; and that Tirpitz remained so long in power because he would "stand for anything," even to permitting the kaiser to pull his whiskers and kick him in the stomach.

"Tirpitz," says Persius, "would never wince, and would always smile and thank his majesty for the 'graceful' manner in which he had been recognized by imperial favor. Whatever bravery, efficiency and fighting determination there was in the German navy—and there was a good deal of it after all—was there in spite of the emperor and the deteriorating system of which he was the head."

The naval critic then adds these anecdotes of the kaiser's idiosyncrasies:

"A cruiser was at target practice. William II was on board, the sun smiling, the weather ca miand beautoful. William II happened to be in the best ofhumor. With his strong right hand he was dealing blows right and left, as he was want to do on occosions like this. His favorites considered themselves fortunate when they received an imperial punch.

"His majesty was very happy, jesting and joking. On the bridge his body surgeon was standing, leaning backward against the railing. The old man, a general in rank, seemed to be tired from standing. He was leaning heavily upon the railing, bending backward and dreamily looking into the sky.

"The old man was in a comfortable position, as comfortable as the circumstances including the August presence of the imperial majesty, would permit. He was quietly basking in the warm sun.

"Suddenly William II sprang in front of the old man and in a most cruel and indecent manner by hitting the old man a violent blow in a tender spot) inflicted terrible pain. In doing this the emperor said something vulgar which I, standing several paces away from him, could not fully understand.

"The poor old general staggered. One could tell by the expression of his face that he was half mad from pain. He held on to the railing with his hands, and half fainting sank upon his knees.

"The emperor, proud of his splendid 'joke,' laughed vehemently. But when he saw the result of his practical joke had had he merely turned away, without a word of apology. The old surgeon was no longer persona grata. He had winced while receiving an imperial favor!

"The old general had been insulted, humiliated and painfully injured in front of a lot of bluejackets, signal men, etc. An edifying spectacle indeed for those young fellows to witness!

"We had returned from a long cruise in a ship of which Prince Henry, the kaiser's brother, was the commander. At Kiel the kaiser himself wanted to inspect our ship. He came on board, again in the best of humor.

"The bridge of the vessel was crowded with officers of high rank and other dignitaries. While the emperor was talking to some one his adjutant, an admiral, happened to turn his back. Immediately the imperial right fist shot out and hit the admiral in the small of the back—a powerful blow.

"The admiral was stunned and reeled, while the kaiser made a sneering, filthy remarks which cannot be repeated in print. The linoleum on which the emperor was standing was wet, dew having fallen during the night. The emperor's shoes got wet, and in a joke he wanted to blame his adjutant for it, saying: "What do you want to wet my boots for; are you crazy?") All the officers, diplomats, bluejackets and attendants heard the kaiser's remarks, for he shouted, and all the men of course were grinning while the admiral was doubled up with pain.

"It was a nauseating spectacle to me. We had just returned from a cruise in the far east. We had considered it a high honor to be inspected by the supreme war lord at our arrival. We had been proud of the fact that the kaiser had gracefully consented to inspect the ship which his own brother had faithfully steered for severa years. And then, at the most solemn moment, this disillusion was to be my fate!"

COMMISSIONERS COMMENCE INVESTIGATION INTO DEATH OF MRS. MARIA SHIPMAN

CHIEF OF POLICE IS DEEPLY MOVED BY OCCURRENCE AND MAKES STATEMENT—CRITICALLY ILL AN ESTIMABLE WOMAN SPENDS NIGHT IN CELL—DIES IN OTTAWA HOSPITAL.

OTTAWA, Nov. 18.—The investigation into the death of Mrs. Sarah Maria Shipman, of 16 Tormey street, opened yesterday afternoon in the police headquarters. It is being held by the police commissioners, Mayor Fisher, Judge Gunn, and Magistrate Askwith and is behind closed doors.

Mrs. Shipman was taken from a street car in the Albert street car barns early on Friday evening and lodged in the police station. It was thought by the police and the street railway inspector that she was intoxicated.

In the Police Station Mrs. Shipman was treated as a prisoner and was allowed to lie on the floor of a cell a part of the night. In the morning she was removed to St. Luke's Hospital where it became apparent at once that she was seriously ill. Her death occurred at 1.30 on Saturday afternoon.

The death of Mrs. Shipman is one of the saddest tragedies that has occurred in Ottawa for many years. A medical man discussing the case said this morning that if medical attention had been secured in time for the unfortunate woman her life might have been saved. That this was not done was apparently due to failure on the part of the police and the street railway employes to recognize her condition.

Mrs. Shipman on Friday evening boarded a Gladstone avenue car, either on that avenue or on Bank street, the street car conductor expressing the opinion that it was on Bank street, not far from the corner of Gladstone avenue. She occupied a seat toward the rear of the car, and was in no way noticeable until the car had reached the foot of Elgin street and all the other passengers had alighted.

Partly Unconscious.

The conductor then went to her to ask her where she wanted to get off and found her partially conscious. All she could mutter was something that sounded like "McLeod." The conductor attempted to arouse her whereat she became violently sick in her stomach. He then summoned Inspector Simmons, of the Railway Company, who after a cursory examination decided that the best thing to do was to place the unfortunate woman in the care of the first policeman met with.

The car then started on its return journey and half way up Elgin street a police officer was encountered, the car was stopped and it was suggested to him that he take the woman in charge. He declined to do this, however, saying that another officer would be met on the next beat who would be better to have him take charge of her as he would not have so far to go with her.

On to the Barns.

No other officer was encountered and the conductor took the car with Mrs. Shipman in it to the Albert street car barns. There the police patrol was telephoned for and the car cleaned before it resumed its service. Police Constable Gleason made the arrest, and when he reached Central with his prisoner Sergt. Major Berigan, who was on desk duty, attempted to interrogate her. Her condition was such, however, that she could not answer. She was then placed in a cell where she was allowed to remain until the morning. When her condition did not improve the police doctor was summoned and after an examination he ordered her to St. Luke's hospital she was still unconscious and in fact remained in that condition until her death at 2.30 in the afternoon.

Chief Ross, when seen this morning, was deeply moved by the sad occurrence. "There may have been a mistaken diagnosis," he said, "and the officer may have jumped to the conclusion that the woman was under the influence of liquor. Such things have happened in every large city. Of course it is regrettable and I can only say that it has already been decided to hold an investigation when all the circumstances surrounding the case will be probed to the limit."

Thought Her Intoxicated.

Why Mrs. Shipman was not given medical attention sooner cannot be explained by the police. Sergeant Berigan, who was on desk duty when she was brought in, said her appearance so closely resembled that of an intoxicated person that he had her confined in an ordinary cell. Later in the evening Sergeant Barlow succeeded Sergeant Berigan, and he, as is the custom, visited the woman in the cell several times during the night. He saw her lying on the floor, but thinking that she was intoxicated permitted her to remain in that position.

In the morning Sergeant Humphries came on duty at 7 o'clock and on his first rounds of the cells perceived that the woman was ill and at once had a doctor called. She was then driven to St. Luke's Hospital in the police car. When Inspector Joliat reached the station after Mrs. Shipman had gone to the hospital he examined a muff she had left behind and in it found letters establishing her identity. He then communicated with her son and was told that the family had been very anxious concerning her whereabouts and had been telephoning all over the city on Friday night, but had never thought it possible that she could be in the police station.

Dr. J. F. Argue, who attended Mrs. Shipman, and who has known her intimately for 30 years, says her death was due to cerebral hemorrhage. Her illness in the street car is held to have been due to canned peaches she is said to have eaten at supper time, the theory being advanced that she might have had a slight attack of ptomaine poisoning.

Col. O. K. Gibson, brother of the dead woman, when seen this morning, said he had no statement to make at present. Later he intends to probe the whole affair.

Mrs. Shipman's remains were privately buried from the home of her mother, 16 Tormey street, Monday afternoon.

At the investgation Magistrate Askwith presided, and those present were Mayor Fisher and Judge Gunn. The latter member only received this morning notice of his appointment to the commission and this afternoon's session was the first he has attended.

MILK

Both Food and Drink

Milk is not merely a delicious beverage. It's a food.

Nature combines in Milk all the food elements your body needs. Some produce bone and muscle. Some rebuild it. And some create energy. And they are carefully balanced. So that you get the right proportions.

Professor Rosenau, of Harvard, says you would have to buy and prepare 24 pounds of beef, or 6 eggs, or 7 pounds of chicken or codfish, to get the nourishment contained in a single quart of Milk.

Milk is a concentrated food, you see.

EAT LESS—DRINK MORE MILK

Fresh Milk is the ideal food for men and women who work with muscle or with brain—people who are doers. Milk drinkers are always temperate.

Then heed the advice of great food specialists. Dr. J. H. Kellogg says: "Most people will find that they can reduce their daily rations by one-third, sometimes one-half, without any inconvenience whatever."

FOR YOUNG AND OLD ALIKE

For the growing Child, for the Young Man and Woman, and for the maturer years, Milk is a needed food.

Drink it slowly—eat it. That ensures complete digestion. Consider Milk in the place of heavier, slowly digestible foods. Begin to-day to drink more Milk. Teach every member of the family to know its value.

The World Of Sport

BAN JOHNSON HAS BIG SESSION AHEAD; MANY CHANGES PREDICTED IN GAME

FREAK PITCHING DELIVERY TO BE ABOLISHED—SCHEDULE TO BE LENGTHENED AND NUMBER OF WORLD SERIES GAMES TO BE LESSENED.

HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK—Ban Johnson is getting so he has a relapse every time a bunch of baseball heads get together.

The big "getting together stunt" of the National League heads is scheduled for the second Tuesday of December. Ban has nothing to fear from it, as the barons of the old league will not have time to even whisper of American League politics.

A big programme of business may also serve to keep the magnates from talking about a successor for Garry Herrmann, under whom dynamite that fail d to explode was shoved several times during the late season.

There is a pile of work for the magnates to get off their chests during the busy shopping time. Among some of the subjects they will discuss are:

Resumption of the old 154-game schedule.

Abolition of the nine-game world's series.

Barring the late season trades.

Ban to break pitching deliveries.

One experience with the 140-game schedule has been enough for the magnates, and they are sure to return to the old 154-game route, or even go it better by adding a dozen or so games. Some of the moguls have broached the 168-game idea, but, it hasn't been received with wild acclaim. It would necessitate an earlier start in the spring or a late finish, both of which are weather gambles. All the barons favor the 154-game schedule, however, and it probably will be adopted without much consideration.

In spite of the massed opinion of the public against the nine-game world's series, it seems probable that this woeful venture may not be discarded. Some of the dollar-grabbing owners still believe that a long series can be put across. Opinion is so divided that the subject may not be decided at the winter meeting, an the buck may be passed to the National Commission to be decided next fall.

Yelps were made last year that money was being used to buy the pennant when McGraw went out and bought Artie Nehf and Frank Snyder. Several of the magnates got all riled up over it and vowed that it would never happen again if they could legislate against it. One of the propositions made—which may be presented for adoption—was a law to prevent trades, swaps, deals, transfers, exchanges, and buys, purchases, sales, etc., after the middle of the season. This they claim would prevent the rich, wealthy capitalists of the league from opening their purse strings and "stacking" up for th late season drive pennantward. This campaign is the "pet elephant" of the anti-McGray faction, which is mostly Cincinnati.

The funeral chimes must peal for the shine ball, the spitter, the knuckle ball and all other freak, unusual, new and novel deliveries. Such is the edict of Barney Dreyfuss, Charles Ebbetts, et al., who succeeded in having a meeting of the rules committee called. They want the help of their brother barons in having that nuisance curbed, if not abolished. They are so emphatic that they would deprive the pitcher of his glove if necessary to remove the chance of using resin, parafine, or any "rough stuff" to disfigure the pellet and put jumps on the ball that is making the batters look feeble.

Then there is also the renewal of the antique campaign for "one ball yard in one town." Some of the bosses have been quoted as favoring a combination of parks in cities where teams of both leagues operate. They point to the system in New York as ideal where the Yankees and the Giants both play on the Polo grounds. Combination of resources will result in much better parks, they claim and in the long run will be money savers—and of course, the latter is to be considered most in all things.

If this isn't enough to keep the barons busy, they might talk about Ban Johnson or give Garry Herrmann a few verbal black eyes or even do some more legislating against the minors.

BOWLING AT THE Y.M.C.A.

A very interesting session in the Y. Bowling League took place Monday night, when the Lawn Bowlers met the Big Five, for the first time in the League. B. Everett rolled high score for the week so far in practice game before the match. The Lawn Bowlers got off to a fine start and won the first game, while the Big Five suffered a dummy score, being short one man. The second game was good; Elliott starred, chalking up a score of 247, making a good lead for the Lawn Bowlers. In the last game the Big Five got back to their old time pep and all players helped to make good their victory of the last game. Scores:

PETERBORO AMATEUR ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

WILL HANDLE HOCKEY IN PETERBORO THIS SEASON—A BEGINNING.

The beginning of a Peterboro Amateur Athletic Association was made on Monday evening when the officers of the newly organized hockey club together with other citizens interested in hockey particularly, met and decided to organize anew, calling the organization the Peterboro Amateur Athletic Association and named the same officers as previously elected together with an executive committee composed of Messrs. Thornton, Rose and Halpin.

This organization also has in mind baseball for next summer but it is not intended to be anything but a temporary association but a lead for a bigger and more general association to handle all sports in Peterboro.

The Albion Knitting Company of this city, through Messrs. Thornton Bros., furnished samples of a set of sweaters and socks which were declared to be the finest samples seen for many seasons, and were unhesitatingly ordered for the club.

JACK DEMPSEY ASKS $100,000 FOR BOUT

WILLING AND ANXIOUS TO MEET THE WINNER OF THE BECKETT-CARPENTIER MATCH.

Jack Kearns, manager of the world's heavy weight champion, Jack Dempsey, writes as follows, from Mobile, Ala.:

"I think it is no more than right that I should answer some of the statements published in the sporting columns of the New York newspapers during my recent visit to that city regarding the future intentions of Jack Dempsey, champion of the world.

"Up to date we have received no bona fide challenge from anyone who seems to want to meet Dempsey for the championship. When we do I shall answer it in the proper manner. Dempsey is ready to defend his title against any and all comers, having no wish to avoid meeting any white man in the world, whom the public thinks can give him a decent battle. As the matter stands now, I have signed a contract to make a motion picture with him at Los Angeles, commencing work on or about December 1st. This engagement will take all his time up to about March next.

"On December 2nd, Beckett, the English champion is to meet Carpentier, the French champion, in London and in my opinion the sporting world would welcome a match between Dempsey and the winner of that battle. It would indeed be a world championship contest and Dempsey is eager to meet a foreign champion for his title—no such contest having been possible for many years, owing to the fact that England nor France have ever had a boxer who was considered capable of putting up a winning fight. We have already had large inducements offered us for this match, and we propose to give it the preference, all things being equal.

"Dempsey is willing to go to England, France, or anywhere in the world to defend his title. He simply ask that the event be given to whatever spot offers the largest financial inducement.

"As his late antagonist, Willard, demanded and received over one rundred thousand for his part of the prize on July 4th last there is no reason why Dempsey should not receive similar financial recognition the next time he steps in the ring. We have already been offered considerably more than that figure, and reserve the right to make the best arrangement possible for Dempsey's service in his next contest.

"Dempsey fought his way to the top of the ladder. He never avoided anyone. He has been proclaimed America's greatest champion. He is ready to defend his title when given any reasonable notice. He regards the winner of the Beckett-Carpentier match as his next logical opponent and will gladly make a match provided that the bids for purse and place are left open to the world."

JACK KEARNS.

AN INNOVATION AT SMITH'S SHOE STORE

MR HARRY DULMAGE GRADUATES AS A PRACTIPEDIST.

This city has a graduate Practipedist to look after the comfort of its feet, Mr. Harry M. Dulmage, of Smith's Shoe Store, 384 George St., has just graduated and received his diploma from the American School of Practipedics, of Chicago.

Practipedics is the new science of giving foot comfort in the shoe store through scientific shoe fitting and the intelligent use and trained fitting of the foot comfort devices invented by Dr. Wm. M. School, the noted foot specialist. Suffering from corns, bunions, callouses, weak arches, etc., will not be indulged in from now on by those who trade at Smith's Shoe Store.

No extra charge is made for this foot comfort feature, it being a part of the regular service which this store will give to its patrons in future.

Did you ever notice how perfectly white the Ivory goods look on your friend's dressing table, while those of your own are turning a dull yellow? If so, you will also notice that the Ivory goods of your friends are stamped ORIENTAL IVORY, which is the only brand of Ivory which will not fade in color. Ask for the "Real Oriental Ivory," and you will not be disappointed.

"KING ALFRED" OVEN.

London—A new oven, about the site of a lady's hat box, which cooks by the use of one electric light bulb, is on display at the British Scientific Products' Exhibition and is called the "King Alfred" oven because it can be set to automatically shut off the heat at any given time. Housewives do not have to watch their cakes in this oven. They can put the cake in the oven, set the time for two hours or more and go to a matinee (if the actors are not on a strike.

"EXPERIENCE"

"Experience" George V. Hobart's modern morality comedy drama of today, telling the story of Youth—the average young man of to-day—in his fight with the world, will be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest at Grand, Thursday evening only.

"Experience" is now in its sixth season. All the virtues and vices of mankind are personified in the ten brilliant scenes of "Experience". The curtain rises in the Land Where Dreams Begin. Here Youth takes leave of his sweetheart Love and his sister Hope, and accompanies Ambition out into the big world with a spirit of Springtime in his heart, bouyed up with a determination of confidence that he will surely make a great name for himself in the busy marts of trade and commerce.

On the street of Vacillation in the great city, Youth meets Experience, and is determined to steadfastly pursue his way with Ambition until he meets a fascinating lady called Pleasure. Blinded by her beauty and alluring tales, he refuses to pay heed to the message brought him by an elderly woman called Opportunity. Bewitched by Pleasure, Youth turns from Ambition and follows her to the joys of the Primrose Path. The delights Youth finds in the Golden Cabaret are new to him and he revels in their gayety. Here in turn he meets Beauty, Deceit, Fashion, Slander, Conceit, Snob, Blueblood, Travel, Style and Frivolity and then Wealth and Intoxication. Passion attempts to win Youth for her own, but the little voice of Love, a subconscious whisper from the trusting girl life in the Land Where Dreams Begin, steadies him long enough to make a choice of the lesser of two evils, and he turns from the arms of Passion to the embrace of Intoxication.

The cast engaged by Messrs. Comstock and Gest is an exceptionally strong one.

"LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD"

"Little Red Riding Hood," F. Stuart-Whyte's fourth annual English pantomime, will be the offering at the Grand for Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 1st and 2nd, matinee Tuesday.

Produced, as it has been, upon a scale of grandeur never before attempted outside of Drury Lane, "Little Red Riding Hood" promises to prove the one biggest spectacular success of Canadian theatrical history, and its coming to this city may be regarded as an unparalleled event.

The action of the piece is divided into fourteen gorgeous scenes, each one a masterpiece of lights and colour, presenting a kaldoscopic panorama of Fairyland and the tales of Mother Goose.

While the thrilling story of Little Red Riding Hood forms the central theme of the plot, the other favourites of childhood days have not been overlooked, and the long cast of characters includes, Little Boy Blue, Little Bo-Peep, Little Jack Horner, Little Tommy Tucker, Jack and Jill, Margery Daw, Peter Piper, Old Mother Hubbard and her Dog, Old King Cole, a wonderful Fairy Queen, who rules over them all, and last, but not least, the naughty Wolf, who nearly turns it all into a tragedy instead of a joyous comedy.

There are twenty new song successes, which have been written especially for Mr. Whyte's production, among them being, "The Village Blacksmith Rag," "Love Me Just the Same," "When I Paint Your Pretty Face," "If I Could Care For You," "In Lovers Lane," "Songs of Yesteryear," "There's a Wild Wolf Waiting For Every Good Little Girl," "The Officers' Mess" and a timely novelty number, "On Strike."

The company includes Miss Zara Clinton, who was the principal "boy" of "Aladdin," "Robinson Crusoe" and "Cinderella"; Miss Dorothy Mackay, a dainty little Scotch lassie of eleven years, who plays the name part; Mr. Johnny Osborne, of the London Hippodrome and "Zig Zag" fame; Mr. Will Hallet, the famous animal impersonator from the Drury Lane, and Mr. John V. Barrett-Lennard, who is always a favourite in Mr. Whyte's productions.

The supporting company has been chosen from the foremost pantomime artists in England and the big beauty chorus is of Mr. Whyte's picking. Which means living dreams of glorious girlhood, dressed in the most wonderful costume creations that the world's greatest modistes can conceive.

To miss seeing Little Red Riding Hood" would be doing yourself a personal injustice.

When a man and a woman both have broken hearts the woman gets all the sympathy.

"GLORIANNA"

It is the uniqueness of Catherine Chisholm Cushing's story together with Rudolph Friml's catchy melody, that have made "Glorianna" which plays at the Grand on Saturday, matinee and evening, the most talked of musical show on the road. Furnished with a bevy of beautiful girls and talented and capable principals as well as realistic and artistic stage settings and elaborate effects, "Glorianna" comes to the Grand with an unprecedented record breaking run in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston.

The story is as refreshing and as entertaining as its haunting melodies. Not content with plunging Glorianna Gray into financial difficulties, the librettist also provides a set of creditors for her intimate friend, Dolores Pennington, who taught dancing and made her the widow, moreover of an officer who was believed to have been killed. The plot thickens when news reaches Dolores that she has been made her husband's heir.

Having been married to Pennington secretly, the supposedly widow dares not face his family and claim that which rightfully belongs to her. Glorianna, however, has an idea and persuades the widow to allow her to impersonate her. Dolores, in turn, impersonates Gloriana. And with these changes agreed upon the trouble starts and in spite of the numerous funny situations that arise the scheme works well until the family discovers on the eve of Dolores' marriages to another that "her" husband was still alive. Finally the deception is discovered but not until after a few interesting situations develop, a description of which would spoil ones evening.

EXCITING STUNTS SEEN IN "KNICKERBOCKER BUCKAROO"

One of the exciting episodes in Douglas Fairbanks' picture, "The Knickerbocker Buckaroo," which will be shown at the Allen Theatre to-day and to-morrow is that of the screen athlete climbing out of a window of a speeding Pullman, continuing up to the roof of the car and running along on the top of the train, then jumping to the swinging arm of a water feeder from which he leaps on to the back of a horse. This is the start of a thrilling chase in which two hundred cowboys pursue Fairbanks for miles up into the hills. Arrangements were made with the office of the Director-General of Railroads for the use of an entire train for the scenes above described. An abandoned track in the San Fernando desert was selected for the location, because of the scenario demanding the desert atmosphere.

WHAT IS A BUCKAROO?

Know What a Buckaroo is? Well, Look in the Dictionary, and You Won't Find This:

Buckaroo (buck-a-roo). From the Anglo-Saxon noun, buck, and the last two syllables to jumping-kangaroo. Meaning, when applied to the masculine gender of the human species, a lively young buck.

S. A gay-dog. One who doesn't give a dern. A rip-snortin' din-bustin', devil-may-care crittur from away back, headed for the Lord-Knows-Where.

In his natural habitat he is as gentle as a baby St. Bernard, especially with the opposite sex; but turn him loose without a tether and he'll paw up the ground something scandalous. Slang: A regular guy. Synonym: Douglas Fairbanks.

Trip it lightly on your tongue, "Knickerbocker Buckaroo." It's a corking Fairbanks, picture, so don't miss it at the Allen to-day.

FREE ADVICE FOR THE SENATORS

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. — A letter from President Wilson advising the senators to vote against the ratification of the treaty with the Foreign Relations Committee reservations was laid before the Senate forces to-day by the Democratic Leader Hitchcock ,chairman of the Committee.

The programme, the chairman wrote, would provide not for ratification "but rather nullification of the treaty."

A conference had been called to decide upon the final administration tactics in the fight for ratification, which is expected to come to an end to-day or to-morrow.

CONSUMER SAYS FARMERS VIOLATE LAW BY FIXING THE PRICE OF MILK

SUGGESTS THAT PRODUCERS SHOULD TAKE THE PUBLIC INTO THEIR CONFIDENCE IF THEY WISH TO RETAIN THE CONSUMERS' GOOD WILL—NEW YORKERS HAVE A MILK "STRIKE."

An anxious consumer who said that the local authorities had informed him that the conferences of the dairy farmers for the purposes of fixing the price of milk were in direct contravention of the law has asked whether the citizens should not endeavour to protect themselves against any unreasonable and unjustifiable increases. His contention is that the consumers deserve some consideration from the milk producers who in their deliberations might at least make a public statement of the difficulties which they complain are making the production of milk unprofitable. This citizen remarked that if the consumers were united they could endeavour to prevent undue increases in the winter price of milk, or to compel the farmers to take them into their confidence.

Failing that, he continued, they could adopt the action that has been taken by the Community Councils of National Defense in New York whose thousands of members put out a notice to their milkmen on Monday morning—"Milk Strike—No milk wanted here until Thursday". It would be an expresion of the consumers' disapproval of the increased prices or the secret conferences at which the higher scale is fixed. If this "lockout" measure were put into effect by consumers it might tend to decrease the production of milk and the last condition would be infinitely worse than the first. Such is a remedy might become double edged.

The citizen who has concerned himself in the question of prospective price advances objects to the methods of the milk producers in their concerted action. He said that, if the farmers can show that the cost of production demands a higher basic price, the consumer should be acquainted of the facts. He would recommend to the producers something of the co-operative spirit that includes the general public many of whom would be seriously affected by sixteen cent milk.

PARTRIDGE HAVE BECOME NUMEROUS

CHIEF THOMPSON SAYS THREE YEARS OF PROTECTION HAVE BEEN BENEFICIAL

Chief Thompson's hunting party returned home last night from the Eel's Creek district with the legal complement of deer. They had two weeks of fine weather and a thoroughly enjoyable time roughing it in the back woods. The last day of the hunt was ushered in with a driving rain and snow storm, although in Peterboro thirty-six miles south the sun shone with the soft warmth of an ideal Indian summer day. The Chief said he had never seen so many hunters on the runs as this season, and he heard of one party that near Apsley that failed to get even one deer. Partridge have become numerous as a result of the protection afforded by the three closed years for these game birds. It was not unusual to arouse a dozen partridge in a day's tramp, and Chief Thompson believed that very few hunters yielded to the temptation to shoot at them. A beaver's dam was one of the interesting natural attractions Chief Thompson saw while hunting one day, and other animals such as lynx, otter, foxes, muskrats, and minks appeared to be fairly plentiful. With Chief Thompson were George Foster, Darcy Foster, Alex. Calder, George Waines, W. King, and T. Spencer.

CELEBRATED THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

HAPPY EVENT IN THE LIVES OF MR. AND MRS. SAMUEL EDWARDS OF THIS CITY

Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Edwards, of this city, surrounded by all their children, five of their fifteen grandchildren, and many relatives and friends, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding.

After a dainty luncheon had been served, Mr. Crawford read the following address:

1869—1919.
Peterborough, Ontario,
18th November, 1919.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Edwards.

Dear Father and Mother.

Fifty eventful, though happy, years have passed away since you were wedded; the earlier years fraught with anxiety and unceasing toil, but ever brightened by mutual love that cheered and gladdened your home through each successive year.

Your children remember with affection and pride the parental care and loving guidance that ever sought to keep their childish footsteps in the path of virtue and to instruct in things that should mould their characters aright and make them children worthy of their parents and respected in the community.

Your sons and daughters greet you on this happy occasion, honouring the grey hairs that testify to a golden old age claiming the reverence worthily due; they felicitate you on the arrival of a jubilee year of your wedded life. Long may the golden chain remain unsevered that binds you together.

Your grandchildren add their congratulations. To them you have ever been the kind and thoughtful, the generous and sympathetic older father and mother. They earnestly pray that you may long be spared to welcome at your door your sons' and daughters' sons and daughters.

Together we ask you to accept these small gifts as an earnest token of our appreciation and love. May they cheer and add to the comfort of your declining years, and assure you of our continued honour and affection. We wish you many years of life untouched by sorrow and replete with joy and comfort.

(Signed)
Your Children and Grandchildren.

The Presentation.

Mrs. Edwards was then presented with a beautiful cameo brooch set with pearls, and Mr. Edwards with a gold-headed cane and a gold watch chain.

To the adress and presentation, Mr. Edwards made a suitable reply.

The bride and groom of fifty years ago were at home to their friends during the afternoon and evening, and received the hearty congratulations of all, and many beautiful gifts and bouquets of flowers.

Born in Warsaw.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Grant were born in Warsaw, Mrs. Edwards' maiden name being Mary Ann Grant. From the time of their wedding in 1869 until seventeen years ago, when they removed to Peterborough, they lived in the same house in Dummer.

A strange coincidence of the celebration is the fact that Mr. Edwards' father and mother celebrated a similar event twenty-seven years ago in the same house.

Mrs. Booth and Mrs. Henry Edwards were the only guests present who were at Mr. and Mrs. Edwards' wedding in 1869.

Presented With Cheque.

In remembrance of the happy occasion they celebrated yesterday, Mr and Mrs. Edwards presented each of their daughters, Mrs. George Garbutt, Lakefield, Mrs. A. C. Hawthorne, Mrs. William Crawford, and Mrs. Taylor, of Medicine Hat, with a cheque.

RAILWAYS BURN TIES

A. B. M'COIG SCORES ALLEGED EXTRAVAGANCE OF GOVERNMENT

HITS FUEL CONTROLLER

CHATHAM, Nov. 20.—"In the face of the present fuel situation in Canada, and with cold weather rapidly approaching, the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Grand Trunk Railway are being allowed to burn thousands of cords of ties between this city and Ottawa. This wood could be used by citizens of many municipalities, and should be placed at their disposal for the cost of transportation. The Fuel Controller of Canada should have looked after this vital question."

The above statement was made by A. B. McCoig, M.P., for West Kent, during the course of an address to the members of the local branch of the Great War Veterans here, on the question of the re-establishment of returned soldiers.

Mr. McCoig scored the alleged extravagant administration of the Government and the failure to conscript the wealth of the war profiteers, pointing out that if proper economy had been practised the Government would have no difficulty in meeting reasonable demands of the veterans.

Continuing, he said: "The Government found the necessary finances for the Grand Trunk Railway purchase to help the fellows who fell down on their job—the officials of the railway— but I would rather stand behind the fellows who did not fall down on the job, the boys who fought for the country overseas. Now they want to practise economy and the veterans are the first ones to be practised on.

Mr. McCoig was heartily applauded several times during the address and at the conclusion a hearty vote of thanks was tendered him. As a mark of esteem in which he is held by the local veterans, he was invited to remain for the business part of the meeting.

FUNERAL HELD THIS AFTERNOON

The remains of the late Postmaster James Edgar were laid to rest this afternoon in the Little Lake cemetery. A private service was held at the house at 2 o'clock, after which the remains were taken to All Saints' church, where a very largely attended public service was conducted by the rector, Rev. R. B. Grobb. The pallbearers were Messrs. James Mulholland, Frank Dawson, H. M. Bishop, W. H. Hamilton, Charles Lacheur and Frank Whitehouse.

Technically Speaking Peace Is No Nearer To-day Than It Was More Than a Year Ago

UNITED STATES SENATE FAILED TO RATIFY THE TREATY AND THE NEXT MOVE IS UP TO PRESIDENT WILSON—MAY FEEL OUT OTHER POWERS ON THE RESERVATIONS.

"KILLED THE PACT"

(United Press.)

PARIS, Nov. 20. — The Peace Treaty will become effective by December first, the Supreme Council decided to-day.

Nations which have accepted the Treaty will exchange formal ratifications in time for the pact to become effective on that date.

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20. — The fate of the treaty of peace with Germany and the League of Nations, so far as the United States is concerned, to-day again is in the hands of President Wilson. Failure yesterday and last night of all efforts to have the treaty ratified in some form by the Senate brought the situation just where it was six months ago when the pact was submitted to the Upper House of Congress, and technically peace is no nearer than it was on armistice day more than a year ago. With the much debated and much contested document thrust back upon him, the next move is up to the President, and to-day there was no intimation what course he would pursue. In any event it was not believed there would be any developments until Congress reconvenes December 1st, in regular session. Opinion as to what may be expected then is divided. Senator Lodge, the majority leader who led the forces opposed to the adoption of the treaty as presented, declared the failure of ratification last night killed the pact unless President Wilson "circumvented Senate rules" by withdrawing it and then submitting it at the new session next month.

Democratic leaders suggested that the President during the recess might see fit to feel out other powers as to their attitude on the reservations with a view of bringing the treaty to some form of ratification at the December session. If re-submitted the treaty will come before the Senate practically as new business and the debate on it would not be governed by closure rule invoked in the closing days of the session just adjourned.

Withheld Comment.

(Associated Press.)

PARIS, Nov. 20.—Adjournment of the United States' Senate for the session without ratification of the peace treaty created much surprise in Peace Conference circles, as despatches from Washington had suggested that some compromise was probable. Members of the Council after adjournment, withheld comment on the situation.

Continue Fight.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.— President Wilson himself is known to believe that with the United States standing aloof, Europe is liable to be plunged into another war, worse than the one just ended, in which this country will again become involved. Those close to him say he regarded the League of Nations as the only safeguard against this.

Therefore he is expected to continue his fight. If the League should hold together without the United States, the President fears the United States and Germany—being the two important countries shut out from the League—would be thrown together in an Intente, and that is the object toward which German propagandists are working.

PRESS COMMENT.

Canadian Press:

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Hope that an agreement for the ratification of the Peace Treaty will finally be reached among the warring Senate factions is expressed by most of the newspapers here in commenting editorially upon the abrupt adjournment of the United States Senate.

The "Times" says the Treaty of Versailles still lives and will be put into effect by other signatories, leaving this country without its benefits standing before the world as one nation that refuses to sanction measures for the prevention of war. We shall not long remain in that shameful position. The treaty must be called into existence."

MR. CRERAR'S SPEECH AT BRANDON.

Direct taxation is advocated.

Remove customs tariff from necessities of life.

Increase the income tax.

Federal adoption of inheritance tax.

A national, not a class, movement.

Much mis-government due to lack of interest by electorate. That should be corrected.

TELLS ABOUT GRATUITY VOTE

BRANTFORD, Nov. 20.—Strong comment but no action followed the defence of his vote on soldier gratuities by W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., to the local G. W. V. A.

Mr. Cockshutt said that he had received the thanks of the Dominion G. W. V. A. Executive for his stand, and that he had taken a more advanced position than any other speaker on the question. He believed that the report was inadequate to meet the situation. It embraced the expenditure of fifty millions, but he would have multiplied this by six. A soldiers' loan would soon raise the needed money. He had expected to vote for Major Andrews' amendment, but it was withdrawn. As for Mackenzie King's amendment, Mr. King's war record was bad.

J. F. Shute, of the local G. W. V. A., said Mr. Calder had handled the question with loaded dice. Orphans and widows were being made political footballs, he said. The rank and file had been sold by Major Andrews.

J. Hutcheson said the only way was to seize excess war profits, and he thought a lot could be raised right in Brantford.

Mr. Cockshutt, in his reply, said that if there was any suggestion that he had profiteered, his books were open to inspection.

Jury Recommends Closer Inspection

RESULT OF INQUIRY CONCERNING THE DEATH OF ELIAS KERTESON—BAG OF BRAN JAMMED THE BELT.

THE EVIDENCE

THE VERDICT.

"We the jurors empannelled to enquire into the death of Elias Kerteson, find the deceased came to his death on November 10th, 1919, in the City of Peterborough from a fracture of the base of the skull caused by a belt breaking while deceased was riding on a coal-man elevator and falling from the 4th to the 3rd floor, while in the employ of the Quaker Oats Company.

"We would recommend a more minute inspection of these elevators. We further recommend that the proper officials of the Quaker Oats Company take the matter up with the manufacturers of these belts, and if reinforcements where the buckets are attached, will afford more protection that the same be done at once."

That in all probability a careful inspection of the belt on the man elevator at the Quaker Oats Company might have discovered a defect in the belt which a casual inspection, such as was given, did not, was the admission of M. Kirn, head millwright of the plant, at the inquest into the death of Elias Kerteson, who died as a result of injuries received when the belt broke on Monday evening at 6 o'clock on November the 10th.

At the inquest, which was resumed last evening in the court room, the evidence given by the witnesses revealed the fact that at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the accident a bag of bran was dropped from a truck on the fourth floor, and falling through the opening of the floor where the belt on the elevator comes through, jammed the belt at the third floor, putting as a result a tremendous strain upon the belt until the electrician, T. Forsythe, arrived to stop the engine.

First Witness.

The first witness called by Crown Attorney Hatton who, with Coroner Dr. T. N. Greer, conducted the inquest, was Frederick Anderson, a sweeper employed with the Quaker Oats Company for the past ten weeks. He stated that at a few minutes to six o'clock he was standing on the 6th floor waiting to take the elevator when he saw Kerteson come down on the elevator, and that it was just after Kerteson had passed through the sixth floor that the accident happened. Before he stepped upon the step he was waiting for, the belt had given away and evidently jammed at the third floor. Anderson knew nothing further of the accident other than he later saw Kerteson breathing but unconscious. He knew nothing of the stoppage on the same afternoon, caused by the bag of bran jamming, except what he was told. He noticed the engine stop at three o'clock.

Dr. G. S. Cameron.

Dr. G. S. Cameron, who was next called, stated that he was called to the Quaker Oats plant at about six o'clock and knew nothing of the accident. When he arrived at the Quaker Oats the man was in the surgery, and examination found that he had a small scalp wound at the right side of the head, but no apparent fracture. Hemorrhage from the nose and ear added to the rapid unconsciousness and led him to believe the man was suffering from a fracture at the base of the skull. Kerteson also sustained a fracture of the left thigh and injury to the bladder. The former is serious but

FOR PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

SIR ADAM BECK PICTURES VAST UTILIZATION OF "WHITE COAL."

DEEPEN RIVER

WINDSOR, Nov. 20.—Defining the policy of the Ontario Power Commission as including utilization of the two million horsepower now lying dormant in the St. Lawrence River, Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Commission, speaking yesterday afternoon to delegates attending the Great Waterways Conference here, declared there should be no lessening of the agitation by public ownership advocates until deepening of the St. Lawrence, with its water harnessed, had become an accomplished fact.

Picturing the day when the "white coal" of Niagara and the St. Lawrence River is utilized not only for power and light in the factories and homes of Ontario and the greater part of the United States adjacent to the Great Lakes, but for operating the great trunk railroads of the country, Sir Adam asserted that the power capacity of the waters would meet the expense of deepening the natural outlet of the Great Lakes to the sea.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING, TORONTO

SESSIONS OPENED THIS MORNING IN THE CITY HALL.

Special to the Examiner:

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—Representatives and delegates from the Boards of Trade of practically every city and most of the towns of Ontario gathered in the Council Chamber, City Hall, this morning at 11 o'clock for the sixth annual meeting of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce. On behalf of the city, Mayor Church extended a welcome to the delegates. Mr. K. J. Dunstan, president of the Toronto Board of Trade, in a brief address, welcomed them on behalf of the local Board, expressing his pleasure at the large attendance. Mr. Wm. Taylor, Owen Sound, president of the association, in his address, referred to the work of the various Boards during the past year, and touched on the work to be accomplished in the coming year.

Following the addresses the Boards got down to business, dealing with some of the 24 resolutions on the agenda. Resolution No. 24, the last on the list, was the second dealt with. It was one passed by the Toronto Board of Trade in connection with daylight saving. It read as follows: "Whereas the saving of daylight has resulted beneficially throughout the Dominion, and whereas the populous centres of Canada adopted the measure almost unanimously this year, be it therefore resolved that this Board of Trade desires to again place itself on record as favouring daylight saving as a Dominion-wide measure, and be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the leading Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of Canada."

WAR-TIME PROHIBITION.

United Press:

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The life of the war-time prohibition law was at stake before the Supreme Court today. Three cases, involving the validation of the law, were up for engagement. Upon these decisions expected to be handed down several weeks before constitutional prohibition becomes effective, depends the question of [illegible] war-time prohibition can be enforced.

SEEK DAMAGES FROM COUNCIL

EARLSCOURT, Nov. 20.—There is still considerable feeling throughout the district against the manner in which the vaccination orders of the Medical Health Officer have been carried out among the school children of the district.

To-day it was learned that Mr. V. Tite, of 27 Bradshaw avenue, was proceeding against the York Council for damages incurred by the forcible re-vaccination of his six year old daughter last week at Fairbank school.

TO BUILD VESSELS

POSSIBLY GET ORDER FOR 121 OCEAN-GOING SHIPS AT $170 A TON.

SELL FLEET?

OTTAWA, Nov. 20. — If Canadian shipyards can make the grade they may secure an order from the French Government for 121 ocean-going vessels at $170 a ton. These vessels would range in size from the lake type of steel steamship to large ten-thousand-ton freighters.

They are greatly needed by France for trade with her colonies and to recover her old foreign trade. It is said that she has even offered to buy the Canadian Government fleet at its cost to Canada dollar for dollar. That offer, it is understood, has been refused. In order to get these ships France is said to have arranged through a New York group of financiers for a credit of one hundred and eighty million dollars.

Sir Henry Pellatt, of Toronto, is reported to be interested in the financial end of the plan. If it should go through, and Canada were able to get the whole order at the price mentioned, this would give the final touch toward making the shipbuilding industry in Canada permanent. It would also help to give a great deal of employment, and keep the country prosperous through the reconstruction period. With steel plates easier to obtain than at any time during the war, Canada should be able to get the trade.

WINTER IN ALGONQUIN PARK.

As a winter panacea for coughs and colds Algonquin Park cannot be equalled. Two thousand feet above the sea it is always dry and cold. Days spent in snow-shoe tramps, tobogganing or ski-ing and in skating, together with evenings spent in social converse around the cosy warmth of an old fashioned log fire; these slip away unnoticed but those who have once experienced them return to their avocations with renewed energies. The "Highland Inn" owned and operated by the Grand Trunk Railway offers comfortable accommodation at reasonable rates. For all particulars apply to N. T. Clarke, Manager, Algonquin Park Station, Ontario.

ALD. M'INTYRE CHOSEN LABOUR CANDIDATE FOR MAYORALTY

REMAINDER OF THE LABOUR SLATE FOR THE MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS WILL BE MADE UP AT THE NEXT MEETING OF TRADES COUNCIL.

M. NOONAN, HONORARY MEMBER

Ald. A. A. McIntyre will be organized Labour's candidate for the mayoralty in the municipal elections in January. He was the unanimous choice of the Trades and Labour Council last night, upon the recommendation of the special committee composed of William Rudkins, T. J. Stenton and E. J. Quinn, appointed to survey the ranks of the workers for representatives to contest the vacancies in the city council and other elective bodies in the civic administration.

A further report will be presented at the next regular meeting on December 3, when the committee expects to have completed a list of prospective candidates for aldermanic gaps, Utilities Commission and probably the Board of Education. Mr. Quinn resigned from the committee last night stating that he would be out of the city for several weeks. In order that the field may be carefully combed for the strongest men available to Labour for its municipal slate in the approaching elections, the committee was enlarged by the addition of Alfred Mesley, Thomas H. Lane, Fred Smith and James Grisdale. With Messrs. Stenton and Rudkins they will submit for the consideration of the Trades Council a list of the names of the best Labour men for the civic race.

Ald. McIntyre thanked the Labour Council for their unanimous endorsation and declared his acceptance of the Labour municipal platform. He urged all the workers to unite their efforts for his elections.

"Labour can't afford to suffer defeat especially at this time" he cautioned.

Appreciation of M. Noonan.

Mr. M. Noonan of the Typographical Union who is leaving the city in the near future received the Council's thanks for his regular attendance and his interest and assistance in all the work that had been carried out. By a resolution moved by Mr. Rudkins, and seconded by Mr. McAuley he was made an honorary member of the Council. Mr. Peter McArthur said that Mr. Noonan's departure would be a loss to the Labour Council and to the city.

"Anything I did for the cause of Labour" Mr. Noonan replied. He thanked the Council for their expression of appreciation and said that he looked forward to the pleasure of wiring his congratulations in January upon the election of a Labour mayor and majority in the City Council.

Meat Cutters Organized.

Mr. M. E. Alarie of Montreal, organizer for the Meat Cutters and Butchers international, informed the Council that a local union had been recently formed by the meat cutters and butchers of Peterboro, and urged every worker to demand from the shops meat bearing the Union label. He exhorted every Labour man to assist other workers by buying only union made articles. By that means they could materially help one another. Mr. Alarie said that he had found the Labour sentiment in this city more sincere than in most places, and he felt assured that this unity would reap new rewards at the municipal polls in January.

Wouldn't Press Government.

No action was taken upon a communication from the Municipal Hydro-Electric Association requesting the Labour Council to endorse a resolution calling upon the Provincial Government to appoint the Hydro-Electric Power Commission upon a permanent basis with Sir Adam Beck as chairman.

"I don't think we should press our opinions upon the new Government until they have had a chance to show what they intend to do" counselled Peter McArthur. "No doubt they will deal with these questions, but they have a great deal to attend to just now."

LABOUR COUNCIL DECLINED TO ENDORSE ALD. CROWE'S MOTION

BALKED AT APPROVING PROPOSED POLL TAX FOR WOMEN, BUT UNANIMOUSEY FAVOURED ELECTIVE SYSTEM FOR POLICE COMMISSION.

Ald. Crowe's proposal to impose a poll tax upon women of twenty-one years and over, of which he gave a notice of motion at the last meeting of the City Council, failed to win the approval of the Trades and Labour Council last night. His other notice of motion requesting the Legislature to make the Police Commission elective was, on the other hand, unanimously endorsed.

Ald. Crowe explained his reasons for testing the sentiment of the public toward the idea of levying a poll tax upon women. They had obtained the franchise and had left no stone unturned to get it. All agreed that they were worthy of it. They had declared their demand for equal rights, and having secured all the privileges of the franchise, Ald. Crowe argued that they should assume the responsibilities, one of which was the payment of taxes.

The Council agreed with the spirit of the proposal but only on the condition that women received equal pay with men.

"Ald. Crowe's suggestion has brought to the notice of the public the scandalous wages paid by some of the manufacturers of this city to their women workers" commented Mr. T. Tooms, M.P.P. "It might be possible to require these employers to pay the poll tax for those girls who are not receiving a living wage."

Another member said that the poll tax would be a hardship to many such girls and to parents whose daughters were receiving scarcely sufficient wages to keep themselves. The Trades Council decided to leave this question in abeyance.

Ald. Gainey's Motion.

Ald. Gainey's notice of motion seeking an universal law prohibiting the bonusing of industries was also approved by the Labour Council on motion of Mr. Tooms, seconded by Mr. Lane.

For Labour Paper.

Voice Of The People

377 Reid Street, Peterboro, Ont.
Nov. 18, 1919

To the Editor of The Examiner.—

Sir: Would you permit me to express my keen appreciation of your editorial of Nov. 17th, under the caption, "Erroneous Figures."

Much too often one reads in articles of American Publication reference made to the figures of British and American armies at the time of the armsitice, very often to the disparagement of the former.

No one who is conversant with the many and divergent forces, both combatant and non-combatant, which constitutes a modern mobile army, the typical magazine figures, are to say the least, confusing.

The simplest manner in which to approach the relative strength of the British army at or before armistice, is to multiply the number of division (60) by 120,000; this equals 720,000 bayonets, or fighting troops. Add to this the different branches, viz., Divisional Train, Service Corps, C.A.M.C., Corps Troops, Army troops, Construction troops, Forestry Corps, etc., etc., one will see that the 720,000 is greatly augmented. In the early days of the war it took four service men to provide one fighter; this was later reduced to three.

Any person with the most elementary knowledge of mathematics can figure out the approximate strength of the British army.

To do so with the American army all one has to do is to divide the total American forces in France by four, and it will give bayonets or fighting strength.

In closing I may add that in computing these figures it is quite obvious that the authors have neglected to divide the total American forces by four.

The movies of American production in depicting localities of most terrific fighting and devastating scenes, go to the British front.

I heartily agree with you when you state the disgrace of this figure juggling.

Yours truly,
C. M. ROBINSON.

THE GIRL OR CIGARETTE?

From Sarnia comes the announcement that the Women's Christian Temperance Union are preparing to wage war upon the cigarette—in as far as the use by women is concerned. Smoking among women in Western Ontario has increased "to an alarming extent," declares the W.C.T.U. and the members of that organization propose to send a petition to Ottawa asking that the sale of cigarettes to the fair sex be prohibited. Whereupon the Citizens' Liberty League has tossed its hat over the ropes and is prepared to do battle in the interests of the women who are worshipers at the shrine of Lady Nicotine. The campaign, if one materializes will not be devoid of interest. We can look for W.C.T.U. banners bearing the legend "The Girl or the Cigarette?" While the Citizens' Liberty League will continue to use the personal liberty propaganda.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

St. Catharines is setting the pace for other Canadian cities in the matter of daylight saving by arranging to have a referendum taken at the municipal elections on New Year's Day, on the question of a local adoption of the system next year. There is enterprise and wisdom in their method. It is certain that there will be no national system of daylight saving in Canada in 1920; it is equally certain that in the cities and towns of the Dominion there will be an agitation as soon as the beginning of warm weather comes around, for the adoption of the system as a local measure. The result will be the embarrassing of the municipal councils unless they follow the St. Catharines example and let the citizens decide the question for themselves by voting upon it at the municipal elections. With the exception of the cost of printing the ballots, the views of the people could be secured at comparatively no expense and the question would be settled.

Peterboro's Aldremanic Board can avert trouble for next year's Council by submitting the daylight saving question to the ratepayers at the coming election. There is no use waiting until next spring and then have a guess at public opinion and give a snap decision.

THE POSTMASTERSHIP.

The practical certainty, if the new policy of the Civil Service Commission is to be carried out, of the appointment of Mr. John Corkey, the present assistant postmaster to succeed Mr. James Edgar as postmaster of Peterboro will be welcomed by Mr. Corkey's many friends and by citizens generally. The feeling seems to be unanimous in the city that Mr. Corkey has not only richly earned promotion but is by reason of his many years experience in connection with the local office, by long odds the best choice that could be made. During the regime of the last three postmasters he has capably filled the position of assistant. There is no detail of the work that he is not thoroughly familiar with, and his promotion would not only be a reward for faithful attention to duty but a guarantee that the business of the local post office would be carried on efficiently and smoothly.

The Union Government has boasted that patronage in Civil Service appointments has been eliminated. Undoubtedly there may be individuals in Peterboro, who disregarding such statements will endeavor to pull the party strings and set up a claim for the postmastership. The rejection of such claims and the speedy appointment of Mr. Corkey to fill the vacancy would be proof to a considerable extent at least at the reliability of the declaration that the patronage evil has been shelved.

THE G.T.R. PURCHASE.

"The Federal Government has over paid the Grand Trunk Railway an amount that would have built all the Hydro radials contemplated by the people of Ontario."—Sir Adam Beck.

AND STILL THEY COME.

To the multiplicity of veterans' organizations already in existence in Canada has been added still another. Hamilton announces the formation of the Discharged Soldiers' and Sailors' Federation, whose object is united political action to secure direct representation in Federal, Provincial and Municipal Governments. The latest federation it is planned will spread to other cities. With the Great War Veterans' Association, the Grand Army of Canada, the Army and Navy Veterans, the Sons of France, the Original Firsts, the United Veterans' League, and three or four other societies in Western Canada, are talking of going into politics, it looks as if the soldiers will have to establish a clearing house to envolve one organization for political purposes. It would be better to have one complete fighting unit than a half a dozen or more raiding parties.

THE SOLDIERS' PARTY.

In view of the announced intention of the Great War Veterans' Association to enter into politics the opinion of Mr. Harris Turner, M.L.A., himself a veteran of the war, should be of interest. Mr. Turner who is editor of that brightly written publication "Turner's Weekly" went overseas as a member of the original Princess Pats and had the misfortune of being blinded as a result of wounds. Since his return to Canada and the launching of the paper which bears his name, he has paid a great deal of attention to the problems of the returned soldier and his views on the subject now under discussion by the veterans carry considerable weight.

From the current issue of Turner's Weekly the following is taken:—

"News comes from Toronto, Winnipeg, and Calgary that some of the returned men in those cities are advocating the formation of a soldiers' political party. It has been proposed that the constitution of the Great War Veterans' Association be amended so that the Association may transform itself into a political body. No amendment to the constitution of the Association can take place until there is a Dominion Convention, which is not due until next summer. It is more than probable, however, that before that time, some effort will be made to bring into existence a new soldiers' political party aside from the Great War Veterans altogether. As a matter of fact, although we may not be exactly correct, we believe that the Grand Army of Canada was formed almost solely for the purpose of getting the soldier into politics. We do not desire to try and discourage anyone who wishes to break into politics: it is becoming almost a universal pastime. There are, however, difficulties facing the organizers of a soldiers' political party, which make the success of such an organization very improbable. In the first place, we do not believe that any party formed for the purpose of self-interest—and that is the motive actuating the present agitation for a party among the soldiers—can achieve permanence. The returned men never did exist as a separate body from the civilians; since the moment they started to come home, the dividing line has been growing weaker, until, even now, the interests of a majority of the returned men are not bound up with soldiering. They have taken their places again in civilian life, as farmers, professional men, laborers, and students. In this process of becoming civilians again, they have become members of the Independent Labor Party or the Unionist Party or the Agricultural Council's Party or the Liberal Party. It is not likely that any soldiers' party created for the purpose of getting something for the soldiers, could separate these men from their present affiliations. There is another thing to be considered. The veterans of this war have never been able to stick together for five minutes on anything. There are so many soldier organizations in Canada that a new arrival must be about as bewildered as a fly in a jam factory. If the veterans have not been able to hold together up to the present time, there is little likelihood hat they can now do so, even though it were considered desirable by a large number of them."

SAYS TOBACCO PERILS BRITAIN; HABIT GROWING

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, Nov. 20.—"The nation that smokes perishes," declares R. P. Moncrief, honorary statistician to the British Anti-Tobacco and Anti-Narcotic League of Manchester.

In the year 1917, he says, the British people smoked 152,215,700 pounds of tobacco, costing the smokers approximately $497,690,000. Pipes and other appliances came to $22,684,000, making a total for the year of more than $520,000,000.

The following year the amount increased to 164,838,800 pounds smoked, valued at $668,765,500, with pipes and appliances costing $23,309,500.

"If the women of the nation become habitual smokers—as they are rapidly doing—what effect will it have on the future generation?" the writer asks. The query is answered by the late Sir W. B. Richardson as follows: "If a community of youths of both sexes, whose progenitors were finely formed and powerful, were to be trained to the early practice of smoking and if marriage were to be confined to the smokers, an apparently new and a physically inferior race of men and women would be bred.'"

Mr. Moncrieff calls on the medical profession to face "this formidable danger to the nation and warn women especially as to the injurious effects of tobacco smoking."

NEIL HAS A MONTH'S VACATION

CHAPTER CXXI

The armistice had been signed. The war was over. How Neil and other men who had worked as he had lived thru it In never shall understand. It was not only the soldier in the trenches who took his life in his hand ready to give it willingly if necessary. But men at home, men who carried the financial burden of the war, men who supplied the wherewithal to fight, and who could not for a moment sleep at the post.

Frederick insisted that Neil take a rest, but first he called him into his private office.

"How much have you saved, Forbes?" Neil told him. He was dumfounded. "How ever did you do it?" he asked.

"We have lived very simply, Barbara has done all she could to help. Our entire expenses have been covered by one hundred dollars a month—thanks to her—ever since we left New York. The rest is in bank until I have enough to clear up my indebtedness to Scott and others.

Frederick said nothing more just then anent our finances, but insisted upon Neil taking a month's vacation He advised Maine or Canada, some entire change. Neil said nothing, but came to me with his plan which was to simply stay at home and get acquainted with his family.

"I of course get full salary, so it will mean saving if I remain here. Then I am so tired I long just for you and the quiet of home."

I agreed with him that it would be for the best. I was as anxious as he to get our debts paid. More perhaps as I hoped that were he free his buoyant spirits and happiness would return. He was old far beyond his years, his boyishness had all disappeared. He had been tried, had been burnt in the fires, and even tho he never again would be found wanting the effect had been terrible upon him.

Robert was delighted. Many precious hours did he and his father spend together, taking long walks, or sitting on the porch talking of what Robert should be when he grew up Once I overheard his father tell him:

"Never think that money is everything, my boy. It is all right to plan to be a good business man, to earn and have your share of the good things of life. But never do it at the expense of another. Selfishness, indifference to others brings sorrow in its train always—in some way. I want my son to be respected, honored, because he is honorable." ears filled my eyes as I heard, not so much because of the words, as the sadness of the tone.

"I want to be like you father," had been the boy's answer.

"I pray you may never be like me. I pray you may be a far better man than ever I have been. Some day when you are older I shall tell you a story. When you are old enough to understand .

I crept quietly away. Was Neil never to be at peace? Was he always to carry with him the knowledge that he had nearly shared the common fate of criminals because he had done wrong?

Father and mother visited us during Neil's vacation. They were delighted with our little home, and I knew happier than when they visited us in town. They knew very little of what had happened, simply that Neil had lost most of his money, and was starting over again. Neil frankly told of his work with Frederick, of what he hoped to do now that the war was over.

"A simple life is the best," father said, as we all sat in the little living room after dinner. "I am sure you will be happier if you do not try for too great riches. They take wings and fly away as you have seen Love, a few friends, enough to live comfortably, what more does anyone need?"

It was so like dear father to talk like that. He never preached, never questioned. But when he expressed himself it was always in language tht disclosed the sweetness of his nture. His simple theory of life.

We had made a few friends in our new home. Nice intelligent people about our own age. We played bridge with them occasionally and once in a while one or the other would give a little dinner. I cultivated them more now than I had before. Neil would be better for a little society, altho he grumblingly declared he wanted none of it. Yet I noticed that when he and the men talked —men who were trying to make headway in business —that he brightened up considerably, and that he invariably talked so they were interested:.

"A few friends," father had said. I knew he was right. I must not allow Neil to draw completely away from human companionship.

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Canada and World Affairs

CANADA is a signatory to a world-wide Peace Treaty. It is a member of a League of Nations to help maintain peace and regain prosperity. This new order has given all Canadians a world-wide interest in affairs, and to Canada an international responsibility.

It has carried the interest of Canadians beyond the happenings of their own town, county or province.

What is happening in Europe, Asia, South America, at all ends of the earth is of vital interest to you on your farm, in your office, in your home, or in your factory. It affects you more to-day than it did yesterday. It will affect you more to-morrow.

Therefore you MUST keep informed.

The manufacturer should keep in touch with the trend of events in Russia, in Central and Western Europe, and across the Pacific, because such events have a bearing on the supply of raw materials and markets for finished products.

Business and professional men can no longer afford to live in "splendid isolation" so far as happenings outside Canada are concerned. The form and extent of political development in Great Britain and even in Continental Europe, affects conditions in Canada.

Manufacturers, business and professional men should read The Globe.

The field of organized Canadian Labor has always been largely international in scope; to-day it is almost world-wide. Labor conditions in remote corners of the earth have an influence on labor conditions in Canada. Advancement and reform that takes place in Europe, the United States, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and elsewhere, are the precedents on which legislation may be formed in Canada.

Therefore Organized and Unorganized Labor should read The Globe.

Women's vision, too, has gone over the Canadian horizon. They now are interested in world affairs in every phase of human effort. They have taken their place as electors of public representatives to Canada.

COMMISSION FINDS DANGERS OF DARDANELLES EXPEDITION UNDERESTIMATED BY LEADERS

EXPERTS SAY TOO LITTLE FAITH IN TURKISH RESISTANCE WAS SHOWN—ADVICE OF SIR CHARLES MONRO FAVOURING WITHDRAWAL SHOULD HAVE BEEN FOLLOWED.

LONDON.—The report of the commission which has been investigating the disastruos Dardanelles expedition of 1915, made public here, finds that, when it was decided to send an expedition to Gallipoli, sufficient consideration was not given to measures necessary to success, and that the difficulties of the operation were much underestimated at the outset.

All the decisions taken and the provisions for the expedition, according to the report, were based on the assumption that if a landing were effected the resistance would be slight and the advance rapid.

General Plan Lacking.

The members of the commission believe that the conditions for a military attack should have been studied and a general plan prepared by the chief of the general staff, Lieutenant General Sir James Wolfe Murray while it was the duty of the Secretary for War to see that this was done.

The commission recognizes the personal gallantry, energy and determination to win at all costs of General Sir Ian Hamilton, commander in chief of the expedition, and also that the task was one of the most extreme difficulty, made more so as the authorities at home at first misconceived the nature and duration of the operations.

Evacuation Wisest Course.

The commissioners think it would have been well had Sir Ian examined the more critical situation disclosed on the first landings, impartially weighed the probabilities of success or failure—having regard for his resources—and submitted to the War Secretary a comprehensive statement.

They also believe that after the advice of General Sir Charles C. Monro, who succeeded General Hamilton as commander of the expedition, in favor of a withrawal from the Dardanelles had been confirmed by Earl Kitchener evacuation should have occurred immediately.

CLAIMED TO BE DAUGHTER OF FORMER TZAR

YOUNG LADY WITH MUCH TALENT MADE THINGS LIVELY IN NEW YORK STUDIO.

WANTED TO BE GIVEN A PROMINENT PART IN PLAY

NEW YORK,—"I am the daughter of the Tzar of Russia. I am Princess Bertha. I have had a whale of a night. I have been in jail and compelled to sleep on the flor."

Mr. Walton De Pellaton, in his studio at 72 Washington Square, was busily engaged rehearsing some two dozen ladies and gentlemen of the village for a Thespian performance, when his endeavors were halted by the above announcement. It came from the doorway wherein stood framed a young woman, expensively gowned, and with hair bobbed in the conventional Greenwich village style. To say that Mr. De Pellaton and his company were surprised would be to put it mildly. Had they known that inside an hour the strange and mysterious visitor was to shock Greenwich village as it had never been shocked before, they might not have invited her in. But hospitality is ever lacking around Washington Square, and so Princess Bertha, if not encouraged was not repulsed. She entered.

Demanded a Part.

Her Royal Highness immediately sensed that a threatrical rehearsal was in progress, and, with the authoritativeness of her cast, demanded a part. Director Pellaton politely intimated that the cast was full. But the rebuff merely served to increase the longing within the royal Russian breast to give vent to her artistic feeling. Then she spied a piano—a Grand piano. Grandiloquently sauntering over to the instrument, Bertha seated herself.

Then Came the Big Scene.

For 20 minutes or so she played—varying Liszt with Mozart and Mozart with the five-finger exercises. Then the big scene happened.

Evidently feeling that she was not going as big as an artist of her destination should, Princess Bertha proceeded to give the assembled company an afternoon describable by the same adjective as that with which she had described her previous night. She jumped from the piano, and before anybody could prevent her, she discarded all her wearing apparel and stepped forth in a condition of total, shall we say, statu quo.

Escaped Into Street.

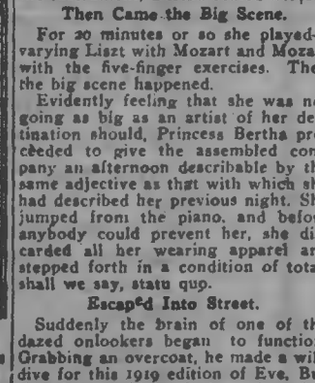
Suddenly the brain of one of the dazed onlookers began to function. Grabbing an overcoat, he made a wild dive for this 1919 edition of Eve, But she dodged him. And, crying that she must have air, plunged through the door and out into the November chillness of Washington Square. The twenty-five patrons of art followed.

All this happened at three o'clock in the afternoon. The Square was well filled with women and children. They ran, but their places were quickly filled by men, who, thinking, a movie was being taken, of course, stuck around and got a kink in the neck.

P. C. Burke on the Job.

Then entered Policeman Burke upon the scene. P. C. Burke has very little or no respect for art in its bare reality. Not knowing at that moment that Princess Bertha was from Russia, and consequently was better able to withstand the weather than an ordinary villager, he acted first and thought afterwards.

Joining in the chase which had led through several streets, the law caught up with the fleeing lady godiva with the bobbed hair. The next scene shows a large overcoat in process of being wrapped about a pink form. Princess Bertha is now residing at Bellevue, in the observation parlor. According to the police, the young woman gave as her name that of a prominent family on Fifth avenue. This, however, proved to be fictitious. Her real name was withheld. Over study is thought to have been the cause of her breakdown.



"SWAT THE COLD" —A HEALTH SLOGAN

HEALTH AUTHORITIES ARE BACK OF CAMPAIGN WHICH COVERS ENTIRE CONTINENT.

The familiar "Swat the Fly" slogan is now being revised by health authorities and the public is being advised to "Swat the Cold" in winter as heartily as they "swatted" the fly in summer.

Behind the movement is the desire to check the possible spread of 'flu by the prompt treatment of every case of cold. The symptoms of the 'flu in its early stages are the same as those of a bad cold and last year the 'flu reached an advanced stage in many cases before the patient realized that the trouble was more serious than a cold.

"If every person would get busy as soon as a cold develops and use home remedies to break it up, we wouldn't hear so much about the 'flu," says one Eastern official. "It would do wonders and that quickly."

Colds in the head or the 'flu in its early stages are promptly and effectively treated at home by the use of Grip Fix. This is not a patent medicine but a combination of drugs such as would be used by any physician. It comes in capsule form and relieves a cold in the night and acts promptly in case of Grippe.

At this time of the year every home should have a box of Grip Fix. It is on sale at all drug stores, where it sells for 35 cents per box. (Advt.)

RECORD SLEEPER OFF ON NEW NAP

SLUMBERED FIFTY-ONE DAYS WITHOUT EITHER FOOD OR WATER.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 20.—Harry Joseph Harley, the sailor, who says he slept fifty-one days without food or water, is again asleep. Doctors say his nap this time will not be of long duration. He has moments of partial wakefulness, but he has not talked since Thursday.

Harley, who has lost 101 pounds since Sept. 20, will be examined by a medical survey of nine naval surgeons and at least three physicians from civil life. Naval physicians say they cannot understand how Harley slept fifty-one days without water. He could live without food, they say, but they regard it as almost impossible for a person to sleep and live for fifty-one days without liquid.

His pulse today was said to be below normal, but his system appeared to respond fairly well to nourishment and water poured into his stomach through a tube.

JEWISH PEOPLE WANT PASSPORTS

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 20.—A deputation representing the Jewish people of Canada was introduced to Hon. C. J. Doherty, Acting Prime Minster, and other members of the Government by S. W. Jacobs, M.P., of Montreal, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The deputation urged upon the Government the desirability of providing machinery whereby the families of Jewish people in Canada resident in eastern Europe may be enabled to secure passports to come to the Dominion. It is represented that owing to the new boundaries on what was once the eastern battle front such families find themselves confused to their exact nationality, some being classified as Poles, Ukrainians, Russians, etc.

Many of these who desire to get their families into Canada are already British subjects. It is urged the Government, through diplomatic channels, arrange for the easy securing of passports.

Beef may be kept for a time if immersed in sour milk.

Pickles for lunch boxes should be wrapped in waxed paper.

Whites of eggs should be beaten with the spiral egg-beater.

DIAMOND POLISHING FOR DISABLED MEN

FACTORY HAS BEEN IN OPERATION AT BRIGHTON, ENGLAND.

LONDON—For more than a year past there has been in operation at Brighton a diamond polishing factory, which was opened for the express purpose of giving employment to disabled soldiers and sailors. At present it accommodates about 500 such men, but when a large extension that is now nearing completion is in full working order the number will be about 2,000.

The scheme originated rather more than two years ago, when Mr. Bernard Oppenheimer offered the Brighton Technical School a small diamond polishing plant to be used for the instruction ofr maimed soldiers. The experiment proving successful, and showing that such men could be taught the art, he next equipped and opened a regular factory, where the men are not only trained, but also find remunerative work when they have acquired sufficient skill.

The factory works under a scheme prepared by the Ministry of Labor. For the first six months of training (in some cases the period is nine months) each man receives from the Ministry a maintenance allowance, which in the case of an ex-private without dependents amounts to £2 a week, including pension. At the end of the six months he resumes his pension, and is paid a minimum wage of £2 for 8 week for 45 hours, and if he gains a satisfactory report he also receives from the Ministry a bonus of 5s. for each week of training, or £6 10s. in all. Thereafter the amount of his earnings depends mainly on himself. His weekly wage is gradually advanced in accordance with the progress he makes, and is assessed not actually on his output, but on what is judged to be his productive capacity, due allowance being made for the special difficulties presented by the stones on which he has to work. As a matter of fact, those who have been in the factory for at least a year are earning on the average over £2 15s. a week, and after two years it is estimated that they should be able to earn from £4 to £6 a week. Even that does not exhaust the possibilities for in diamond polishing continued practice leads to enormous advance in proficiency. It may be mentioned that the men begin by polishing marbles, diamonds being too expensive a substance to be entrusted to beginners.

Branch Factories Opened.

Apart from a few instructions and certain men possessing special qualifications, practically all those in the factory are disabled soldiers or sailors. Prefgrence is given to men who, having lost a leg or being lame, need a sedentary occupation. Men who have lost both legs or three fingers of one hand, or who suffer from a locked elbow joint or shoulder joint, are eligible; but loss or paralysis of a hand or arm, loss of grip in either hand, loss of an eye and poor eyesight are disqualifications, as also are tuberculosis or other infectious disease, shell shock, head wounds, epilepsy, and neurasthenia. The age limit is 30. The factory is well ventilated and well lighted. There are lifts to take the men to the various floors. There is an excellent canteen, to which they can bring their wives if they wish. In the new building a recreation room and a surgery and operating theatre, with a nurse in constant attendance, are being provided, and arrangements for massage are being made. Branch factories on a smaller scale have also been established by Mr. Oppenheimer at Fort William, Cambridge, and Wrexham.

The factory is distinguished in that it represents the most advanced practice in the art of diamond polishing. The utmost use is made of mechanical applications, and it is interesting to note that nearly all the equipment that pertains specially to diamond polishing was manufactured in Sussex, and most of it in Brighton itself. The processes involved in cutting a brilliant, and also the mechanical equipment employed at Brighton, are fully described in an article appearing in the October number of the Times Engineering Supplement. It is also noteworthy that, although much of the work has to be done by men who are not fully skilled, mathematical accuracy in the angles and shape of the facets, on which the brilliance of the finished stone depends, is rigidly insisted upon.

PARIS CUTS DOWN LIGHTS.

Theatres and Stores Are Asked to Reduce Use of Coal.

PARIS—Because of the gravity of the coal crisis, the municipal government has issued a request to theatres and department stores that they reduce illumination for the purpose of conserving fuel. Free distribution of fuel to persons maimed during the war has been begun.

A fall of snow has greatly delayed trains entering the city, and it is feared shipments of coal will be seriously impeded.

WORLD'S WAR LOSS $331,612,542,560 DEAD FROM ALL CAUSES 12,990,571

FIRST COMPREHENSIVE REPORT ISSUED ON DATA GATHERED BY THE CARNEGIE ENDOWMENT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The first comprehensive report on the "Direct and Indirect Costs of the War" has just been made by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and published in a volume under that title.

The direct costs for countries actually involved in the war are put at $186,000,000,000 and the indirect costs at $151,612,542,560. The latter total includes losses to neutrals, which are put at $1,750,000,000. It also includes loss of production, put at $45,000,000,000, and war relief estimated at $1,000,000,000.

The capitalized value of soldier human life, also given among the indirect costs, is placed at $33,531,276,280. The property losses are divided as follows: On land, $29,000,000,000; to shipping and cargo, $6,800,000,000.

The report, which was gathered by Ernest L. Bogart, professor of economics in the University of Illinois, in estimating the "capitalized value of human life," fixese the worth of the individual at figures ranging from $2,020 in Bulgaria, Turkey, Greece, Japan, Roumania, Serbia and several other countries, up to $4,720 for the United States, where the economic worth of the individual to the nation is placed at the highest.

An additional $33,351,000,000 is allowed for civilian losses. Although many of the latter were of children and old persons, the estimate given for the civilian loss is believed to be conservative.

The number of known dead is placed at 9,998,771, and the missing presumed to be dead at 2,991,800. To the losses from death and wounds there is added 'those resulting from disease, pestilence, privation, hardship, physical exhaustion and similar causes."

MRS. WARREN ADMITS KILLING MRS. BRANCH AT VALLEY STREAM; CONFESSES TO THEFT OF $130

MINEOLA, L. I., Nov. 20.—Deprived of cigarettes, for which she had a craving for more than twenty-four hours, Mrs. Marie Warren, held here in the Nassau County Jail as a material witness in connection with the murder of Mrs. Clara Branch at Valley Stream on Friday last, has confessed that she was the murderess.

Mrs. Branch was housekeeper for Captain Henry Wright, skipper of a fishing boat that sails daily from Wreck Lead. She was found in her room on Friday with her head cleft by an axe. Mrs. Warren, who had been visiting at the Wright house on Thursday night, and Captain Wright were taken into custody as material witnesses, under $5,000 bail each. Following Mrs. Warren's confession the captain was released.

The confession was made in the affce of Charles R. Weeks, District Attorney, after more than three hours of cross-examination by Mr. Weeks by Irvin N. Edwards, Assistant District Attorney; by Carman, Plant, County Detective, and by Felix di Martini, a detective from a private agency.

Stole $130 from Dead Woman.

In confessing to the murder, according to the county authorities, Mrs. Warren told of the theft of more than $130 from the dead woman. This money was recovered from Miss Catherine Hayes, actress, of Riverside Drive, New York, to whom Mrs. Warren said she gave it on Friday. On that same day Mrs. Warren paid $25 to a Broadway Hotel proprietor for the privilege of taking some papers out of her trunk, which had been garnisheed by the hotel keeper for non-payment of board.

Mrs. Warren was taken to Lynbrook late this afternoon and arraigned before Edward P. Neu, Justice of the Peace, on a charge of murder in the first degree. She offered to plead guilty, but was told that only a plea of not guilty, would be accepted. She waived an examination, and was remanded to jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Mrs. Warren gave her age as thirty-one, and Indianapolis, Ind., as her birthplace. The emotion of her confession had apparently passed from her, and she looked attractive in a mannish appearing costume consisting of a black skirt, a man's silk shirt, collar and tie, beaver picture hat, black shoes, gray spats and a heavy black overcoat. She has light brown hair with large gray eyes.

An inquest was begun by Justice Neu, acting as Coroner, and will be continued to-morrow. It was to him that Mrs. Warren surrendered herself on Saturday after reading newspaper reports that she was being sought. Soon after her surrender the county authorities began their examination.

Throughout the questioning, according to Mr. Edwards, Mrs. Warren begged the boon of a cigarette, and the craving was so fierce that at one time she declared she would die if it was not granted. The authorities refused, and it is thought that the want of that stimulus to her nerves led ultimately to her breakdown. To-night in the county jail she smoked incessantly, according to the matron, and her nerves became so overwrought that it was necessary to summon Dr. Guy F. Cleghorn, County Physician to examine her.

Went to Mrs. Branch's Room.

In the details of the confession made public by the county authorities, Mrs. Warren is said to have described a friendly card game on Thursday night in which Mrs. Branch Captain Wright an herself took part. The next morning she went to Mrs. Branch's room, she is said to have related. Captain Wright already had left for his fishing craft.

"Mrs. Branch told me she was feeling badly and asked me to get some medicine for her," she is quoted as saying. "She drew a big roll of bills from her waist. I asked her to loan me some. She refused and I persisted. She then slapped my face. I thought she said something about shooting me, and I knew that if she had a revolver she would do it. I ran downstairs where I knew there was a hatchet. Mrs. Branch was sitting on the side of her bed when I returned with her head turned from me. I struck her on the head with the blunt end of the hatchet and I don't know what happened after that."

"I don't know how many times I struck her and I have no distinct recollection of what happened after that, only that I took my things and went from that place."

It was learned that Mrs. Warren went to the apartment of Miss Hayes and to the Broadway hotel the same afternoon.

"Be Master of Your Health"

—Dr. Chase

Make your blood rich—strengthen your nerves, increase your vitality and build up youo system generally by using

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

You may be skeptical of what any medicine will do for you. But you are human—your vitality depends on an abundance of rich, red blood. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies the ingredients from which new blood is created, and is bound to help you in the same way that it helps many thousands of others.

HERE IS THE PROOF

Woodstock

Mrs. T. Allenby, 369 Main Street, Woodstock, Ont., writes:

"For several years I have made use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a tonic and blood-builder. Whenever my system gets run down or I do not feel quite up to the mark, I resort to this medicine, an they nevedr fail to build me up and strengthen me. Different members of our household have also made use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results."

Peterboro

Mrs. James Bogue, 220 Dublin Street, Peterborough, Ont., writes:

"Three years ago I noticed that our children seemed to be suffering from bad nerves and poor appetites, and were inclined to anaemia. Knowing the good of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I started to give them a treatment of this medicine. I found it built them right up, made them bright and cheery, and restored their usual good health.

"I have also used the Nerve Food myself and found it very beneficial for nerves and heart. In fact, I have found Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to be such a valuable medicine for general family use that I have recommended it to many of our friends and acquaintances."

Guelph

Mrs. Emma Loach, 95 York Road, Guelph, Ont., writes:

"Last year my system became run down, and I was troubled with nervousness. I had frequent headaches, and found it difficult to get a good night's sleep. I sometimes had a creepy sensation or hot flashes over my body. I secured some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in January, and after using them for a time I noticed an improvement. I therefore continued the treatment until the headaches and that creepy feeling disappeared. I got better control of my nerves and now can go to bed and get a real good night's rest. We think a great deal of Dr. Chase's medicines, and can certainly recommend the Nerve Food."

Hamilton

Mrs. S. Staunton, 136 McNab Street N., Hamilton, Ont., writes:

"I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for a run-down system, and found it splendid for strengthening and building up the boy. I can recommend it to any person requiring a good tonic."

London

Mrs. S. Meathrel, 23 Hyla Street, London, Ont., writes:

"About a year ago I had a complete collapse from my nerves. I was taken to the hospital for a treatment, but it did not give me much relief. When I was brought home again, I went to the country for a change of air. I seemed to be a little better while there, but after my return home I did not feel much better. I used to have nervous spells, when my limbs would begin to shake, then grow cold, and I would be completely exhausted. I was also troubled with an accumulation of gas on my stomach, which caused palpitation of the heart. At last I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after I had used them for a while, I could see that they were helping me, so I continue using them until I became quite well again. I became real strong and healthy, could sleep well at night, and was able to do my own housework. As I got stronger the nervous spells disappeared, and I have not had one since. I also used an occasional Kidney-Liver Pill in connection with the Nerve Food, which I think cured the gas on my stomach. I have received such benefit from these medicines that I wish to recommend them to others."

Picton

Mrs. Arthur Hicks, Picton, Ont., writes:

"About a year ago I was on the verge of nervous prostration. I became very irritable, and could scarcely stand the noise of the children. As for sleep, it was impossible. Then I had an attack of neuritis in my right arm and little finger. I had spent a great deal of money on different medicines, and doctored with different doctors, trying to get relief, but without success. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and they have given me great benefit. My husband could see a great improvement in my looks in a short time. I feel so much better that I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and would recommend them to anyone suffering from nervous troubles."

Collingwood

Mr. Harry Edward Trotman, First Street, Collingwood, Ont., writes:

"It is with great pleasure I write to tell you the splendid results I have secured through the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Before I commenced this treatment, I suffered from nervousness—was restless, easily worried; had frequent headaches and neuralgic pains through my body, especially in the back. I could neither sleep nor eat well, my circulation was poor and the heart action seemed weak. I also had attacks of indigestion. I tried several different remedies, but could not gain permanent relief. At last I started taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and this treatment, together with an occasional Kidney-Liver Pill, worked wonders in my case. Five boxes of Nerve Food cured me. My wife has also derived great benefit from the same treatment, and we shall never be without these medicines in the house as long as we can get them."

Brockville

Mr. M. B. McCarten, 88 Church Street, Brockville, Ont., writes:

"About five years ago I was troubled with nervousness and sleeplessness. Owing to my business (a baker) I had long hours and only broken rest, and became so run down that when I could get the time to sleep, sleep would not come. Through reading some of the advertisements and also looking over a family receipt book, I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I purchased a box, tried it, and continued the treatment until I found myself much improved, and could get a good night's rest. Since then, when I feel the need of them, I resort to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food again, with the same good results. I gladly recommend the use of this treatment to anyone suffering from nervousness or sleeplessness."

At this season almost everybody is in need of restorative treatment to keep up energy and vigor and to maintain health, strength and vitality. Everywhere people are talking about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, because it seems to be exactly what is required in the great majority of cases to restore the run-down human system. 50 cents a box, 5 for $2.75, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. BECKETT SAYS M'GOORTY IS BEST MAN HE EVER FOUGHT

PAYS TRIBUTE TO AMERICAN'S GAMENESS IN LONDAN ARTICLE—SAYS HE STAYED AWAY FROM M'GOORTY'S LONG RIGHT HOOK AND FEIGNED GROGGINESS IN THE FINAL ROUNDS.

LONDON—Joe Beckett is now struck with the verbal and written autobiography, and has this to say about his McGoorty fights:

Down they go, one after another! First it was Billy Wells, then it was Frank Goddard, and now Eddie McGoorty has been added to the list of my recent victims, every one of them knocked out. It has been a busy time for me lately, and a short rest won't do me any harm. I think I have earned it, and am now able to afford it.

It is a far cry from my boxing days to these times when I have got to put up with a larger share of popularity than is quite to my liking. That was a good purse I won from Eddie McGoorty, and it makes me smile to think that only a very few years ago I was standing up to all comers in my mother's show, and getting my hardest to prevent any of them winning the pound she could ill-afford to give to men who kept their feet against me for three rounds.

His Hardest Battle.

My 17-round fight with McGoorty was the toughest battle of my career so far, and I shouldn't be surprised if McGoorty would say the same thing. Both of us came out of the contest a good deal the worse for wear, though it is astonishing how quickly one pulls round again after a Turkish bath and a good sleep.

McGoorty and I had never met before, and each of us had to take the measure of the other as the contest went on. I was not living in any fool's paradise about the American, and neither was he about me. I always admitted to myself that my opponent was a dangerous fellow. I realize that he was good enough to say afterward that I was the best man he had ever fought, and I suppose he meant it. I can honestly say that McGoorty was far and away the best man I ever fought.

The fight was just beginning when McGoorty showed me plainly that he believed his quickness and craftiness would be beyond me. He made a fatal mistake in letting me see his hand, so to speak.

The highest cunning hides cunning. From start to finish the American told me as plainly as if he shouted it that he planned to knock me out with his long right hook, and from start to finish I planned to prevent him from landing that blow at all.

His short left hooks didn't hurt much, but I took quite a number of them by way of experiment, to find out how hard he could hit in that way. I wanted the to dodge the full double, that I could then come into position for the long right hook. In this, however, I disappointed him time after time in almost every round.

Feigned Grogginess.

Several times I let on that I was a bit groggy and some of the newspapermen referred to this as if they took me seriously. That, of course, was how I wanted McGoorty to take me. At the worst I was never more than just rather uncomfortable when my nose bled too freely.

In the second round McGoorty did everything he could to box me away, with the apparent object of putting me at a sufficient distance to get in the full force of his right hook. I didn't mind taking his punches at close quarters, while he didn't like my blows at the same distance.

The two left and right hooks with which I finished off my plucky opponent in the seventeenth round were delivered at no greater distance than about a foot. But into these hooks I gave the whole strength of my shoulders and back, timing them so that I doubt whether any man alive, after an hour's fierce fighting, could have taken them without going down.

In the forth round McGoorty was seen at his best, and I knew when I retired to my corner that I had got his measure, but I was still a long way from wanting to take liberties or run into unnecessary danger. Though I had counted on being able to knock McGoorty out about the ninth or tenth round, or, failing this, to box him to the end and win on points, I was now quite contented to go on as I was doing until I should have sufficiently worn him down to make sure of a knockout.

Felt End Coming.

In the last round but one the end was in sight. I felt it. I absolutely knew it. Nothing in the world could shake my belief that it would be all over with McGoorty in a minute or two. What did I do then? I feigned grogginess and began to puff deliberately.

This I did to get McGoorty to act still more rashly than he was doing. I then hammered him right and left on body and head, so that he went to his corner in such a condition that he had not properly revived when he came to the mark after the minute's interval.

My chance had come. His hour had come. I resolved to let it all go, but took care even at that stage to make dead sure of everything. I boxed him into a corner, and let him have an uppercut with my right hand.

Down went McGoorty, glad to take the count of nine, and yet courageous enough to get on his feet again, when I rushed at him with a left hook, following it quickly with a right hook, practically pitching him over the ropes. There was no longer any question of coming back.

Eddie McGoorty had fought well, cleanly, cleverly and in the most cunning manner possible. I was the better man. That is all there is to it. Boxers have their day. Whether McGoorty's day is done it is not for me to say. My day has come.

CRESSMAN'S DEFEAT BELMONT CLUB

CITY LEAGUE BASKET BALL CONTEST

Last night the Y.M.C.A. Gymnasium was the scene of the most strenuous game of basket ball witnessed on the local floor for many a day. Close hard checking was adopted by both teams, and few opportunities were given for open shooting. The honours of the first half went to the Cressman team, the score being 14 to 8. In the second period the Belmonts had the edge. For the losers, Darling did some remarkable shooting from the foul line, only falling short of a perfect average by one miss. De Graw for the winners worked hard, but was closely checked throughout. Flowers made the feature shot of the evening, netting a handsome basket from centre. Last night's win give the Cressman team the lead in the League race.

Belmonts: Forwards — Jobbit and English; centre—Stuart; defence—Heaslip and Darling.

Cressmans: Forwards—Flowers and Nicholls; centre—De Graw; defence—Matthews and Jackson.

GLASGOW BEAT EDINBURGH IN A FAST GAME

After many arguments as to which was the better team — Glasgow or Edinburgh—the carpet bowlers of the Caledonial Club met in the Woodmen of the World Hall last evening to settle the issue of the championship. The Glasgow team, with their motto "Let Glasgow Flourish," and Edinburgh, known as Auld Reekie, made a determined attempt to uphold the reputation of their respective "Auld Country hames."

Throughout the games one could hear the ever-familiar harangue and dialect of the native: "Man, that's a guid ane, Sandy." "No sae hard the next time, Tam." "Drap ane next tae this ane, Harry," and "It maun be a canny hool, Bob."

Great enthusiasm prevailed throughout, and the game resulted in Glasgow winning by 21 shots to 1 shot!

The teams:

Glasgow—R. French, Hugh McCulloch, R. Dick, and John Smith.

Edinburgh—Alex. Hardie, Tom McArthur, Alex. McArthur, and Ed. Hardie.

Edinburgh now challenges any other team in the club, after such a "close" finish!

At last night's meeting a few more members were added to the ever-increasing roll; and it is expected that all Scotsmen in the city will see their way clear to join in the near future.

WHAT "DOUG" FAIRBANKS DOES IN THE "KNICKERBOCKER BUCKAROO"

If you were trying to get away from the sheriff would you hide on the roof of the jail? That's what Douglas Fairbanks did in "The Knickerbocker Buckaroo" and he got away with it—and with the most beautiful girl in Mexico in the bargain.

Life on Broadway was tiresome, so Teddy Drake became a wild westerner—a real wild man in Old Mexico. What made him wild was the troubles he encountered when he tried to help other folks out of their troubles. Douglas Fairbanks does the helping hand stunt— and a lot of others. It's a typical Fairbanks picture and one of the best he has produced. It's well worth seeing. As seen at the Allen last night it pleased the capacity audience.

"EXPERIENCE"

"The most wonderful play in America"—as "Experience," George V. Hobart's modern morality comedy-drama of today is called at the Grand tonight. "Experience" is a joyous combination of the new type of sunshine play and melodrama, without a dull moment in it, and the characters are passionate and pulsating with vitality and nature, too virile to be mistaken for anything else except the average man and woman you meet in everyday life. There is about the play which touches the heart strings of all, giving that feeling of life as it really is, and it is a drama that flows from comedy to tragedy with all known elements of stage appeal contributing. These characters are impersonated by select players, including many old favorites in their original roles.

In ten unusual and spectacular episodes, "Experience" tells the love story of Youth—the average young man of today—and the adventures he meets when he leaves his home in the country and goes to the big city to make a name for himself. The temptations that he meets are represented by beautiful young girls, who are called by the names of the various vices and virtues they portray in the play. Messrs. Comstock & Gest promise a production "bigger and better than ever" for its sixth season of success.

Among the scenes is the Primrose Path of Pleasure, in which the gay night life is shown at its best—or possibly worst. In the Corridors of Chance act, a modern gambling house is shown in full operation, with every known device actually being played before the audience. In the House of Lost Souls episode, the terrible effects of drugs on human beings is shown.

"GLORIANNA"

When it came time to classifying the great New York musical success "Glorianna" which plays at the Grand on Saturday matinee and evening, the management was for a considerable time perplexed on whether to advertise the attraction as a musical farce or musical comedy. Finally he let its authors, Catherine Chrisholm Cushing and Rudolf Friml, decide and they came to the conclusion that "musical comedy" was the term most appropriate.

However, the public is not so much interested in classifications so long as the attraction is a good one and "Glorianna" has won its spurs as the most entertaining musical vehicle played in a Broadway theatre this year. At the Liberty theatre in the metropolis the production enjoyed a record-smashing engagement. Since that run it has been played and seen in every large city in the country.

That "Glorianna" should be the much-talked of success that it is, is no wonder, for it is wealthy in story and in music. Mrs. Cushing has furnished the piece with a refreshingly entertaining story that bubbles over with mirth and surprises. Then, too, Mr. Friml has given it musical interruptions that have been the talk wherever the show has appeared.

Scenically the production is what every high class Broadway production should be and precisely the same elaborate and realistic settings used during the Liberty theatre run will be shown here. Another feature that has created interest and aroused considerable favorable comment is the bevy of beauties. This chorus represents a pick of the most beautiful girls on Broadway and they certainly know how to dress, sing and dance.

EVER MEET A CONVICT ON A LONELY ROAD

ETHEL CLAYTON ANSWERS IT IN "A SPORTING CHANCE."

If you were driving along a country road in a roadster and punctured a tire, and were confronted by an escaped convict, stripes and all, whom you immediately recognized as a notorious prisoner you have been reading about, would you desert the car, convict and all, and make a quick getaway, or perhaps fall in a dead faint?

When the convict gallantly offers to change the tire for her, it made a world of difference to Ethel Clayton, playing the role of Carey Brent in "A Sporting Chance," which will be shown at the Allen Theatre to-morrow. So impulsive is Carey that she determines to reform the man and hires him as her chauffeur.

This photoplay is based on a story written by Rower Hartman, which recently appeared in the Snappy Stories Magazine. Miss Clayton is supported by an excellent cast headed by Jack Holt.

TO BRING BEES TO CANADA BY PLANE

The Aero Club of Canada has been asked to assist in a very special stroke of business. Mr. D. Brunne, of the Brunne Apiaries, near New Liskeard, is seeking to arrange through the Aero Club for aeroplanes to bring him an importation of bees from the Southern States.

It is expected that a large number of bees will be imported into Canada this next year, and the Canadian breeders do not want to take chances of getting a strain which might weaken during the winter months. So the desire is that the bees should be imported at the right moment next spring and without an hour's loss of time. This is where the speed of the airplane is to be turned to account. It is probable that the first cargo of bees to be carried by aeroplane will be carried by Canadian airmen for Canadian beemen. It is proposed also that these flights will be used to test the practicability of delivering bee breeders supply by air.

not serious enough to cause death.

Mr. Hatton— "Then the cause of death was?"

Dr. Cameron— "A fracture of the base of the skull."

The doctor stated that the man was about 65 years of age and was in good condition physically.

Saw the Accident.

Harrison Rightmeyer, an employee of the Quaker Oats, who stated that his duties at the mill were numerous, saw the accident. He and Kerteson went to the elevator from a room on the eighth story, when Kerteson stepped into the bucket and called to him, asking if he were coming down. Rightmeyer answered he would follow in a little time The next thing he knew was that his hat was struck by the end of the belt, which had evidently parted at the 8th floor. In describing the belt, which the witness stated he used three or four times in a day, he stated that the steps or buckets are about 18 feet apart. He had noticed repairs being done to the belt in the fall, which were effected without taking the belt off the pulleys. He knew nothing of the bag of bran episode at three o'clock

H. E. Elphick.

The next witness called stated that he was some 18 feet from the belt when the accident happened and saw the deceased passing between the 4th and 5th floors. He said it was practically every man's duty to look after the belt and in case defects are noticed to report them to the proper persons. The belt was re paired to Elphick's konwledge several times.

Mr. Hatton—"Was it constantly being repaired?"

Witness—"No."

The witness then described the accident of the bag of bran and admitted the stoppage would cause a severe strain. He however saw no defect in the belt and used it several times after, trusting his life to it.

The Belt.

Pieces of rubber belting from the man elevator were produced and identified by the witnesses. Detective Meagher stated that he had received them from Mr. Cormack ,who told him they were the pieces which parted at the time Kerteson was killed.

Chief Witness.

M. Kirn, the chief witness, who has been with the Quaker Oats Company for forty-one years, was in the plant at the time of the accident, but knew nothing of it until next morning. He stated that the belts and elevators in the plant are furnished by Barnard and Lees While he did not know the life of a belt, he knew of one in the old mill which was used continuously from 1869 until 1916. Contrary to weakening the belts when repaired, it has a tendency to strengthen them. He admitted that a bag of bran causing a stoppage would cause a strain. He knew nothing which might have caused the accident. He stated that the elevator which gave way has been repaired more often than the others and thought this might have been caused by the men's roughness.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, who appeared for the Quaker Oats, asked the witness if he superintended the condition of the belting. Mr. Kirn answered that he did not, but that it is natural that he should take an interest in it, and if he found a defect to repair it. The witness stated that he used the elevator forty times a day and any defect would have come to his attention immediately. Since the accident the witness had made a minute inspection of the elevator belt, and finding a doubtful place, had put a patch on it.

Dr. Greer—"Had you ever made so careful an inspection before?"

Witness—"No, sir."

Dr. Greer—"The belt had not received a thorough inspection before the accident?"

Witness—"No."

Similar Accident.

A similar accident had occurred in the cleaning house. Nobody knew anything of how the belting broke, but it was found down in the morning. It had apparently broken while empty."

Mr. Packenham, foreman of the millwrights, who was next called ,stated that he had been with the company for 16 years and that he had nothing particular to do with the belts, but if he noticed anything wrong he reported it. He did not know of anyone in particular being in charge of the belt at the time of the accident and said that it was never inspected unless an accident occurred He had heard of the bag of bran accident.

Mr. aHtton—"No regular inspection takes place of the belts?"

Witness—"No sir."

Mr. Hatton—"What do you mean by making an inspection?"

Packenham—"Seeing that there are no breaks in the steps and looking at the belt as it revolves."

Asked if he did not think it would be advisable to have a minute inspection of the belts at the factory the witness said that it might be.

Dr. Greer—"You examined the steps after the bag of bran accident more than the belt?"

Witness—"Perhaps."

Dr. Greer—"It was possible to observe a gross tear but not a small crack?"

Witness—"No."

Dr. Greer—"Was it possible to observe a tear on the outside?"

Witness—"It would demand upon the tear."

The Electrician.

H. Forsythe, the Company's electrician, stated that he looks after the motors. At the time of the bag of bran episode he turned off the engine two and a half minutes after the belt jammed. He saw the bucket where the belt jammed. He said that the strain on the belt caused by the stoppage would come on the little belt principally, and that it would have broken had he not come at once. He was not waare of any defect in the belting.

Addressed the Jury.

Dr. Greer in addressing the jury, said that there was apparently no doubt but that there was a defect in the belt and that with ordinary care the accident in which a man stepped from the floor into eternity could have been averted.

After forty minutes' deliberation the jury returned their verdict.

FROM A CHILD WAS CONSTIPATED

According to the best medical authorities, fully three fourths of the people of the civilized world suffer in some form from costiveness or irregular action of the bowels. There is no doubt that many distressing diseases are caused by constipation. It gives rise to sick and bilious headaches, jaundice, heartburn, floating specks before the eyes, catarrh of the stomach, biliousness and the painful, troublesome piles. Therefore it is of supreme importance to health that the bowels be kept regular. Simple food, fruit, etc., should be used and rich food and stimulants of all kinds avoided. This with the use of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills to regulate and establish healthy action of the bowels cannot fail to give permanent relief in the most obstinate cases

Mrs. Letitia Wamman, Orillia, Ont., writes: "From a child I was always very badly constipated and I can well remember when quite young my mother giving me senna tea nearly every morning and I got to dread it. After taking Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for a while I am not troubled with constipation any more."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers you.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or the kidneys are not acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal action; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder troubles.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and the urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

PRINCE OF WALES VISITS WEST POINT

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The Prince of Wales obtained respite to-day from the strenuous rounds of public and private functions that have marked his two days visit to New York, by journeying to the United States Military Academy at West Point, where he will review a dress parade of the cadets on the plains. Before he boarded the special train the Prince expressed eagerness to see the West Point school and took special delight in prospect of having lunch with the cadets. The Prince will return to New York late to-day. In the evening he will give a dinner on board H. M. S. Renown anchored in the North River.

GUM TENDERNESS —A TOOTH-MENACE

It is true that four out of five people over forty suffer from gum-shrinkage, or Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease). But many people even under thirty have Pyorrhea. Women, particularly after the baby comes, are peculiarly subject to Pyorrhea. At such time they cannot be too careful about their teeth.

Pyorrhea commences with tender gums, or with gum-bleeding, at tooth-brush time. Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame and then shrink. The teeth become exposed to decay at the base and tiny openings in the gums become the breeding places of disease germs which infect the joints—or tonsils—or cause other ailments.

Beware of that first gum tenderness! Try Forhan's for the gums. It positively prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. No ordinary tooth paste will do this.

And Forhan's cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps the teeth white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes. All druggists.

SAYS AMERICA SAVED WORLD

THIS ACCUSATION WAS MADE BY GENERAL SMUTS.

(United Press.)

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Nov. 20.—"I appeal to America not to blast the hopes of the world through failure to adopt the covenant of the League of Nations." General Jan Christian Smuts, British member of the League Commission, declared in a message to the United States today.

"When freedom was in danger, America rose to the height of opportunity unselfishness and moral idealism and saved the world for democracy. To-day the world is in no less danger." Smuts declared that the League alone can save civilization from dissolution and decay.

"America alone hesitates," he said. "Will the great leader lag behind? I cannot believe it."

Washing Won't Rid Head of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this to-night, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

To Look Young Quickly For Special Occasion

How often have you fussed and puttered with your face on the eve of some important social event when you wanted to look your prettiest, and try what you would you just couldn't get the desired result! Next time your face becomes unruly, exhibiting a careworn and saggy appearance, and criss-crossed with fine lines, here's something that will quickly transform it into one of youthful freshness.

Just get an ounce of powdered saxolite at your druggist's, mix with about a half pint of witch hazel, and bathe your face in the solution for two or three minutes. Immediately after you feel a "firming up" of the skin and underlying tissue, which naturally irons out the little wrinkles, worry marks and flabbiness. The contour and general appearance of your face are so improved, you will be glad you heard of this simple and harmless method.

NIGHT COUGHS PREVENT SLEEP

WEAR OUT THE SYSTEM

The dry, hacking cough, cough, day and night is very wearing on the system. The constant coughing disturbs the rest and keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in such an irritated and inflamed condition they get no chance to heal.

You will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy without an equal for curing coughs and colds, soothing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, strengthening and healing the breathing organs, and fortifying them against serious pulmonary disease.

Mrs. Fred. Fairburn, Copper Cliff, Ont., writes:—"I caught a heavy cold, got a sore throat and had a terrible hacking cough that I could not get rid of. I could not sleep at night. I had tried quite a few remedies, but they did not seem to do me much good until I took Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. By the time I had taken two bottles my cough was all gone.

"It seemed to loosen the cough right away so that I could spit up the phlegm that gathered in my throat, and also took that hot, raw, burning fever out of my bronchial tubes. I feel that Dr. Wood's has no equal."

GERMANY'S SOLDIERS IN SHOOTING CLUBS

Temporary Volunteers Meet Once Each Week to Practice.

By the peace treaty, the German Government is allowed to retain 100,000 men as trained soldiers. This body is known as the Reichswehr, but its object is as elastic as its name. The 100,000 can at any time be developed into one million.

The name "Temporary Volunteers" is given to a large organization which meets every week to hold a shooting contest, the members of which in reality are old soldiers who must have seen at least six months' active service, to be eligible.

There are branches in all parts of the country under different names and titles. One of the largest of these has the regulation that all the members must meet each year at a 15-day encampment. To throw the Allies off as to the real intent of this organization, which is the nucleus of what was once the National Guards, they have adopted the name Citizen's Guard. The idea, however, is to create a reserve army, of which at present the whole police force is a part.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR HAIR BEAUTIFUL

Ten Minutes' Home Treatment Works Wonders, Stops Falling Hair and Dandruff, and Makes the Hair Soft, Brilliant, Lustrous and Fluffy.

Better than all the so-called "hair tonics" in the world is a simple, old-fashioned home recipe consisting of plain bay rum, Lavonna (de Composee) and a little Menthol Crystals. These three mixed at home in a few minutes, work wonders with any scalp. Try it just one night, and see. Get from your druggist 2 oz. Lavonna, 6 oz. Bay Rum and ½ drachm Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Bay Rum and pour in 8 oz. bottle. Then add the Lavona, shake well and let it stand for an hour before using. Apply it by putting a little of the mixture on a soft cloth. Draw this cloth slowly through the hair, taking just one small strand at a time. This cleanses the hair and scalp of dirt, dust and excessive oil, and makes the hair delightfully soft, lustrous and fluffy. To stop the hair from falling and to make it grow again rub the lotion briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush. Apply night and morning. A few days use and you will not find a single loose or straggling hair. They will be locked on your head as tight as a vise. Dandruff will disappear. You will find fine downy new hair sprouting up all over your scalp and this new hair will grow with wonderful rapidity.

Any druggist can sell you the above. The prescription is very inexpensive and we know of nothing so effective and certain in its results.

MELVILLE MORROW HAD CLOSE CALL

WAS DRAWN INTO A MACHINE AT THE CANADIAN GENERAL

Melville Morrow, son of Mr. W. G. Morrow, Water street, was the victim of an unusual accident yesterday afternoon at about 4.30 o'clock. He was engaged in his work at a drill at the Canadian General Electric Works when his clothing became caught in the machinery and threatened to draw him in. By main force, however, he resisted being drawn in but before the machinery could be stopped every stitch of his clothing was torn from his body with the exception of his boots. His shirt was drawn with such force it almost severed from it on his arm.
Directly the machinery was stopped Morrow was taken in Comstock's ambulance to Nicholl's Hospital with Dr. G. S. Cameron and it was found that, although suffering from painful bruises and a few cuts he is not seriously hurt.
Had he been a lighter man he would no doubt have been killed.

MR. JOHN CORKERY SHOULD BE PROMOTED TO POSTMASTERSHIP

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION HAS ABOLISHED PATRONAGE AND ESTABLISHED BUSINESS METHOD OF ADVANCING GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES OF PROVEN ABILITY.

HAS EVERY QUALIFICATION

Since the death of Mr. James Edgar many citizens have expressed hope and expectation that the ability and experienec of Mr. John Corkery will be rewarded by his appointment to the postmastership in Peterborough. Mr. Corkery is eminently qualified for the position. He has risen from the ranks in the postal service, and is thoroughly familiar with all the details of the work in which he has been engaged for thirty years. He has ably discharged the duties of postmaster during the illness of the late Mr. Edgar and on previous occasions. His industry, intelligence and desire to serve the public should alone recommend him to the Civil Service Commission, which has abolished political patronage and preferment and established the business like method of advancing its experienced employees who have proven their efficiency and fitness for promotion. Mr. Corkery's many friends and the public generally who have come in contact with him at the post office fully expect and desire that the Commission shall recognize his service and at the same time encourage the entire local staff by selecting the postmaster from within its organization and thereby advancing other employees who are ripe for new responsibilities and opportunities. With the appointment of Mr. Corkery as postmaster, there will be a vacancy in the deputy position for which Mr. Charles Lacheur is next in line. Such a demonstration of the passing of the old evil order of patronage would materially encourage the Government's postal employees, and likewise assure the public that the Civil Service Commission is functioning according to its promises to the people, and likewise to the advantage of these employees who have earned advancement.

CASE HEARD IN COUNTY COURT

The case of the Monongah Glass Company of Fairmount, West Virginia, versus S. R. Leggott, of the Colonial Glass Company, Lakefield, is being heard to-day before His Honour Judge Huycke. The plaintiff seeks to recover the sum of $319.85, alleged to be due on a shipment of glass. The claim is disputed by the defendents, who allege that the glass was not up to the standard claimed. Mr. O. A. Langley is appearing for the plaintiff and Mr. F. D. Kerr for the defendants.

MURDER CHARGE LAID AGAINST ROCCO BARIS

POLICE SEEKING ALLEGED SLAYER OF FATHER OF SIX SMALL CHILDREN.

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—A charge of murder has been laid against Rocco Baris, the alleged assailant of Salvatore Russo, the Italian who died in Water street Hospital last evening as a result of five knife wounds in his body. Baris is still at large. A search for him in every quarter of the city was carried out but nothing could be learned of his whereabouts.

Charge More Serious

A warrant was issued for his arrest last Friday on a charge of "wounding", and this was changed to a murder charge at the Police Station this afternoon. The police believe that the man has left the city and they have sent a minute description of him to the police of other towns and cities.
Complete arrangements for the funeral of the victim hav not been made, but a service will be conducted in St. Anthony's Italian Church and interment will be made in Notre Dame Cemetery.

Lived Here 17 Years

Russo was born in Italy 35 years ago. He had lived in Canada for 17 years and was employed by the city for 16 years. A particularly sad feature of his death is the fact that he leaves his wife and six small children, the oldest, a girl of 14 years of age, without any means of support. All other relatives of the deceased reside in Italy.

Voice Of The People

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Sir: The returned soldier is under obligation to you for your editorial on the 18th inst. The editorial was conceived in an excellent spirit and it put a real truth in a clear way, and it should make the soldier pause before he votes to change the constitution so as to permit of the G. W. V. A. becoming a political party; and in order to get votes admit to membership everybody who ever fought in a British uniform, no matter what his present day views are on present day Canadian problems.
Once the scramble for membership begins and politics becomes the central consideration, then good bye to that spirit of comradeship which ought to be the heart of the G.W.V.A. I am persuaded that the returned soldier can get all that he is entitled to without turning his association into a political party. Let the men who went overseas and who have lived through the war and are home again in good health, come out frankly and say, "I have had a wonderful experience. I have had travel. I have had the honour of fighting for my country in the greatest of all wars and these mean more to me than any actual finacial gain which any man who remained at home, has over me. I would not change places with him. I am now getting back into the harness of life, handicapped in some ways, but conscious of having made good in the war and with the goodwill of my fellow townsmen, each of which is worth much to me even as a financial asset; so let all political parties count me out when they are looking for votes on the platform of an additional gratuity to every Canadian soldier, whether it be $2000 or a $200 gratuity. The average man who went to the war and returned in health, has the equivalent in experience, travel and honor of anything the average man who remained at home has."
I am persuaded that the above is the only self-respecting position for the healthy returned soldier to take. If the healthy men take that position the country will listen to them and stand behind them when they say, "We want better treatment for our broken comrades. We want no man who lost his reason through shell-shock to be confined in an ordinary insane asylum; even though it may make no difference to him, it makes a difference to that sense of the fitness of things which is the very stuff of which life is made. We want no widow or fatherless child to live on alms. We want no mother of a fallen comrade so long as she lives, ever to have to accept charity from any one; whether she were receiving assistance from her son at the time of his death or not. We want every man whose earnings have been reduced through wounds or sickness incident to the war, to have that reduction made up to him year by year as long as he lives. But for ourselves we ask nothing and would not change places with any other set of men in Canada."
Let the healthy returned soldier take that position, let him have a little patience and the same kind of good nature which was his glory in the trenches and on the battlefield, and he will get for his broken comrades and their dependents all that is necessary and he will save to the G. W. V. A., what ought to be the soul of our institution — comradeship rich and full, overflowing from the G. W. V.A. into civil life, sweetening it. Things we will never get by political action.
Yours truly.
Service in France, Belgium and Germany.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Regardless of greater weakness of foreign exchange, which was also ascribed to the defeat of the Peace Treaty and further unfavourable industrial conditions arising from the coal situation, the market soon strengthened in all quarters to-day. RATIFICATION OF PEACE TREATY ISSUE IN PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, D.C. Nov. 21. — Ratification of the peace treaty to-day appeared to be shaping into the big issue of the 1920 Presidential election. Many prominent men of both parties here look for a finish fight before the country with the voters deciding whether the United States enter the League of Nations, and if so with what resolutions. In this struggle, party lines may be broken down. Should the Senate fail to ratify before the 1920 fight gets under way there will be a clear cut issue with President Wilson possibly again forced to take the stump in support of the treaty, it was predicted.

Indications to-day were that a bitter contest will start when the treaty comes up again next session By its action in refusing to ratify, the Senate wiped the slate clean and will have to begin al lover again. The treaty will go to the Foreign Relations committee first.

Police Find Still In Guise-Bagley Home

LOCAL LAWYER ARRESTED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON ON SERIOUS CHARGE--BARRELS OF WINE AND BOTTLES OF LIQUOR TAKEN IN RAID.

CRUDE APPARATUS

James G. Guise-Bagley, barrister and erstwhile guiding spirit of the local branch of the Citizens' Liberty League, was arrested at his home 500 George street by Police Sergeant Blade late yesterday afternoon on a charge of distilling liquor contrary to the Inland Revenue Act. Implicated with him, according to the police report, are Ernest Middleton of the Peterboro Candy Company at the corner of Charlotte and Lewis streets, in which Mr. Bagley was said to be financially interested, and William Faiers 568 Sherbrooke, both of whom were taken to the police station. Faiers was placed under arrest, but no charge was laid against Middleton, who was not detained.

The arrest of Mr. Bagley was a dramatic overture to the most sensational seizure, at his home, of wine, liquor and distilling apparatus, that has ever occurred in Peterboro. News of the raid and round-up spread rapidly, and last night the down town crowd was agog with curiosity that urged many of them to the police station, there to gape in wonder and perhaps with thirsty longing at the greatest array of barrels [illegible] that they had beheld since the memous days when the Russians made prohibition popular.

Not only did the copious quantities of the rather pungently aromatic liquids cause the visitors to marvel, but the assortment of utensils, the roughly improvised worm and still, made of copper boilers and a new tin pail aroused the interest of those who had heard of such ingenious contrivances but had never seen them.

In Bedroom and Cellar.

The seizure was made at Mr. Bagley's house by Sergeant Blade, Detectives Mes[illegible]her and Cookman and P. C. Bristow. There were two forty-gallon barrels of grape wine, one of which was found in a bed room and the other in the cellar. Both of them were full and equipped with spiggots. The illict still and nine bottles of liquor or whiskey and two earthenware jars of the same stuff were located in the kitchen. The police detachment reported a strenuous struggle with the barrels, as they carried the one down from upstairs and the other up from the cellar, and loaded the whole paraphernalia into a motor dray.

The Complete Exhibit.

The entire exhibit at the police station comprised the following unusual collection:—

Two casks of grape juice.
One keg also of grape wine.
One extra large barrel that probably contained the "mash" from which whiskey was made.
One twenty gallon barrel of mash.
Two jars of liquor.
Eight bottles, quarts and larger, of liquor, (one of the nine was lost in transit when the cork fell out and spilled the contents).
Two saw-horses (to support the barrels).
Two copper boilers with taps fixed at the bottom.
One new tin pail enclosing a "worm."
Several strange tin fixtures.
A length of rubber hose.

Placed in Bond.

The bottles and jars of liquor bore the stamp of the Inland Revenue department which had been stuck on them yesterday evening by the local inspector, Mr. Wm. Buller, who was notified of the seizure. This part of the seizure was, in a sense, under hood, and was locked away in a room adjoining the court room. The wine and the more cumbersome items of the equipment remained down stairs.

It was stated that the copper boilers were used for distilling the whiskey and that they snugly set upon a gas stove which the police brought down from the Bagley kitchen this morning.

The Probable Operation.

Describing the prohibited operations the police believed that raisins, yeast, water and probably other ingredients were mixed in the big barrel, forming a "mash." After fermentation the liquid was drained off into a copper boiler which had its top soldered on to prevent the escape of the vapour when fire was applied. There was a small outlet for a tube connection, and whether the other boiler was called into service for another stage of the manufacture, the

CANNOT CONTINUE TO BEAR BURDEN FEEDING EUROPE

(United Press.)

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Great Britain cannot continue to bear the burden of feeding Central Europe, Premier Lloyd George told the House of Commons late yesterday. While the Premier expressed hope that the United States will come to the aid of starving Central Europeans, he said Great Britain would bring no pressure to secure such American relief. The United States' government should urge the American public to subscribe to relief funds, however, the Premier said.

The Premier's statements were made after members had started a discussion of Herbert Hoover's report on food conditions on the continent.

FIRE DESTROYS LAKEFIELD MILL

THE PLANT WAS OWNED BY MR JOHN CHARLTON—INSURED FOR $1,000.

At 11 o'clock last night fire, caused presumably by spontaneous combustion, destroyed the saw mill on Hague's Point, Lakefield, owned and operated by Mr. John Charlton. The first intimation the villagers received of the fire was when residents along the opposite shore were awakened by the glow caused by the flames which burst through a side wall.

Before help could arrive on the scene the entire building, which was of thin wooden construction, had gone beyond hope of saving. Mr. Charlton, the owner of the saw mill, has been in Bridgenorth cutting lumber from his timber lot since last June.

The mill was insured for $1,000. Mills on the same site have been previously destroyed by fire four times, the last about seven years ago, when Mr. John McGrath owned the plant. The building burned last evening was built about four years ago.

HUNGARIAN [illegible]

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Nov. 21. — The Supreme Council to-day agreed upon December 1st as the date when the German peace treaty will be formally ratified.

Further informal discussions have been held with German representatives now here in connection with notification by the allies that the protocol must be signed containing guaranteeing fulfilment of [illegible] conditions. These discussions have been confined chiefly to methods of procedure in considering the protocol. As yet the Germans have not stated whether they will sign the document. The American delegation is still without instructions as to its participation in the peace conference following the failure of the Senate to ratify the treaty, but Henry White attended a meeting of the Supreme Council today as a representative of the United States and the entire delegation continue to work in the belief that a compromise ratification will be agreed to in the United States.

Admiral Horthy has been instructed to prepare military measures necessary to enforce the Hungarian ultimatum, advices said. Horthy is head of the new Hungarian army.

The Hungarian demands will be enforced even if a declaration of war and a march toward Vienna is necessary, the advices declared.

Rev. Dr. Symonds Made Plea For the League of Nations

REGARDS THIS AS NECESSARY FOR THE PRESERVATION OF PEACE AND CULTIVATION OF GOODWILL TO MEN AND NATIONS.

STIRRING ADDRESS TO CANADIAN CLUB

"The League of Nations Versus World Power," was the subject of Rev. Dr. H S. Symonds' address at the Canadian Club banquet held last evening in the Empress hotel. About twenty members were present and Mr. W. H. Munro presided.

In his opening remarks, Dr. Symonds referred to his knowledge of the Peterborough casualty lists which he had gained from a perusal of the lists. These he said, bore silent tribute to the large part that Peterborough City and County had played in the recent world war. Dr. Symonds recalled his former associations in Peterborough while rector of St. Luke's church and also his connection with the Fortnightly Club. Turning to his subject, Dr. Symonds said that the alternative of a League of Nations was another war from some unexpected source, followed by world power.

"I cannot see anything else that offers to us similar hoops as the League of Nations," said the speaker. Reconstruction is the keynote of the age and there can not be no ideal of reconstruction without a League of Nations.

World Power.

Various attempts at world power differ from each other in various ways. From early history there has been a succession of attempts to establish world power. They have all met with failure, although each attempt was usually followed by bloodshed and destruction.

The speaker here reviewed a number of these earlier attempts. They included Alexander the Great who, by an attempt at world power, displayed a master mind in mastery military. The same idea of world power was manifested in the career of Napoleon. There is something that appeals to the vanity of mankind towards the establishment of power. The same applies to a nation. Considering the characteristic vanity of the Kaiser, it is not surprising that a desire for world power should occupy his mind.

Natural Tendency.

"If we are not able to overcome that natural tendency and divert and direct the minds of great men who possess that characteristic through such a medium as a League of Nations then we shall not have accomplished as much as we had hoped," said Dr. Symonds. The theory of the German race is that the relations governing their nation with other na-

PRINCE OF WALES WILL ENTERTAIN ONE THOUSAND NEW YORK CHILDREN

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Edward Albert, Prince of Wales, began the last full day of his visit to New York today, with a trip to the grave of Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay. The Prince carried a wreath to place on the late ex-President's grave. To-day's programme called for his presence at a noon luncheon with the Piping Rock Club and in the afternoon he planned to play host to a thousand school children aboard the British battle cruiser "Renown." This evening he will be the guest at a dinner of Pilgrim, at which Chauncey M. Depew will preside, a brief visit to the Hippodrome and a reception at the Seventh Regiment Aromy will complete the day's events. To-morrow the Prince will end his visit to the United States, sailing on the "Renown" for Halifax.

ILLICIT STILLS IN BACK COUNTRY GAVE WM. BULLER A TRYING TRIP

PROHIBITION A MOCKERY TO ABSTEMIOUS CITIZENS OF HALIBURTON COUNTY WHO HAD EXPECTED AT LEAST A NEAR APPROACH TO THAT DRYNESS CALLED "BONE."

Mr. William Buller returned last night from Haliburton County, where as Inspector of Inland Revenue, he seized three illicit stills, fined two of the owners and fixed the trial of the third man for a later date, and altogether visited eight places that had been under suspicion.

Law-abiding and sober citizens of the north country had complained that in remote localities "stills" were being operated flagrantly and apparently with impunity, and that as a result there was wave of drunkeness instead of that bone-dryness promised of prohibition.

A Trying Experience

Mr. Buller travelled by train to Kinmount, and drove by automobile to Gooderham where the bad roads necessitated the use of horses. But even the team that had been engaged became fagged and the last fifteen miles had to be made on foot.

Between Tory Hill and Wilberforce Mr. Buller discovered a "mash" after wading up to his knees through a swamp. A search of the barn on this property revealed a bottle of home-made liquor.

At another place a churn, mash and still was discovered in the garret of the house. These two men, whose names Mr. Buller declined to disclose, were fined by him on the procedure of voluntary admission which the repartment provides. They were both poor settlers. All the jujstices of thepeace, except one, in that district were away deer hunting. At another place a barrel of mash was found fermenting behind the kitchen stove.

Through Deer Country.

This man has not yet been tried. Mr. Buller frequently heard shots fired as he travelled the rough roads through the deer country. Signs of former distilling were uncovered in some of the others of the eight houses visited, but the evidence was not conclusive enough to warrant an attempt at prosecution.

The trip was a racking one, over impossible roads and in weather that was bitterly cold at times. He spent four days on this expedition and returning last night was presented with the astounding haul made by the police at Mr. James G. Guise-Bagley's home.

Patient Who Lost First Child Awarded $500—Doctor Appeals.

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—Driven to despair by "flu" cases a year ago, Dr. Edgar Rae is alleged to have become short-tempered when told by the husband of a patient that he had better hurry up as quic kas he knew how. There had been other 'phone messages, and on receipt of this one, Dr. Rae suggested that another dotcor be called in. Another doctor was secured, and was at the bedside, it is said, as soon as D r.Rae could have got there. Mrs. Charlotte Smith, of Todmorden, however, was unattended by a doctor at the moment her first baby arrived. It died. She sued the doctor and was awarded $500 damages by Judge Denton and a jury. The doctor's appeal was argued before the Second Divisional Court, which could not come to a conclusion, and asked that the case be re-argued before the First Divisional Court. The second argument was heard, and judgment was reserved

MRS. BISHOP ASKS COURT ORDER FOR $30,000 ALIMONY

WIFE OF BANKER DECLARES $6,000 A YEAR FORCES HER INTO PRACTICAL SECLUSION.

NEW YORK. — Stating she has been forced into practical seclusion by the limited income received from her divorced husband, Mrs. Abigail Hancock Bishop obtained an order from Justice Giegerich of the Supreme Court requiring James Cunningham Bishop, banker, to show cause why he should not be compelled to increase her alimony from $6,000 to $30,000 a year.

Mrs. Bishop said the banker lives in style and comfort upon his estate at Torresdale, Pa., while she has been compelled to make her abode in hotels, although she was the innocent party in the divorce action. "I have been forced to abandon the friends and environment of my early life and social station," says Mrs. Bishop, who adds she is without a home and the surrounding comforts that a mother should be entitled to because the allowance paid her is inadequate to furnish anything more.

Mrs. Bishop declared she cannot maintain herself properly on her present alimony and that it is becoming more impossible under prevailing conditions to do so. She renewed the entire history of her martial troubles and said that her husband by juggling the facts, has thus far accomplished two of his threats—that he would "put her in the gutter" and get control of the children.

Although she had been awarded the custody of her youngest daughter; Mrs. Bishop said her husband defied the mandate of the court and has robbed her of her children "and left her an object of pity in the eyes of her former friends."

According to Mrs. Bishop the banker since withdrawing from the firm of Redmond & Co., this city, has become a successful operator on the exchange of New York and Philadelphia. She said he shared in the $8,000,000 estate left by his father, Heber R. Bishop ,besides receiving $262,086 when he quit his banking firm.

"The husband of all my three daughters are wealthy men and fully capable of supporting their respective wives, free and independent of any financial aid from their father, and Murial, the remaining daughter is no longer at school, but living at the home of her father," said Mrs. Bishop. Her married daughters are Mrs. John Peabody, Mrs. David Sigourney and Mrs. Charles Choate, 3d.

MRS. WARREN TO PLEAD INSANITY IN MURDER CASE

MINEOLA, L.I., Nov. 21.—Insanity will be the plea made by Mrs. Marie Warren, who confessed to the murder of Mrs. Clara Branch, housekeeper for Captain Henry Wright, at Valley Stream, L.I., last Friday, it was indicated to-day by Charles N. Wysong formerly District Attorney of Nassau county, who was retained as her counsel.

Mrs. Warren has requested the appointment of a lawyer to conduct her defence. A lengthy conference followed with Mr. Wysong, who participated also in the defence of Dr. Walter Keene Wilkins, Long Beach physician who committed suicide after he was convicted of the murder of his wife. Mr. Wysong was called into the case by Carman Plant, county detective, who is still investigating odds and ends of evidence in preparation of the State's case.

Following a two hours talk with Mrs. Warren, Mr. Wysong said that in all probability the defence would be insanity. He said he learned that her father, James Berlin, died in an insane asylum when she was fourteen years old and that her uncle, George Jarvis, her mother's brother, also died in an insane asylum at Pasadena, Cal., five years ago. "Sometimes I think I am crazy, for I don't know what I am doing," Mr. Wysong said the woman told him. "I must have been crazy otherwise I would not have done this." Mr. Wysong said that Mrs. Warren depicted the whole murder incident as happening so fast that it was just like a dream to her. She said she believed Mrs. Branch was going to shoot her when she reached for a revolver under the bed and that she thought she was acting in self defence when she went downstairs, got an axe and struck the housekeeper.

JOHN DWYER.

On Thursday evening, November 20th, at his residence, 633 Aylmer Street, John Dwyer, a well known resident of this city, passed peacefully away. Death was not unexpected by his relatives and friends as he has been in poor health for the past two years, and for the last ten months has been so seriously ill that all hope of his recovery was given up. The cause of death was paralysis.

The late Mr. Dwyer, who came to the city 15 years ago, was held in high esteem by a wide circle of friends who will regret to hear of his demise. He was a member of St. Peter's Holy Name Society, also a faithful member and worker in St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society.

Much sympathy is extended to his bereaved wife who so faithfully attended him during his long illness; also to his brothers, Wilfrid of Sherbrooke Street and Patrick of East City.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon, at 2.30, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and from thence to St. Peter's cemetery.

FIX PROFITS ON CLOTHING SALES

THE BOARD OF COMMERCE ISSUES AN IMPORTANT ORDER TO-DAY

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Nov 21. —The Board of Commerce here to-day issued an order prohibiting gross profits of more than 33 1-3 per cent. on sales of ready-to-wear and partly ready-to-wear clothing. On less expensive suits, costing the retailer under $25 the Board allows a smaller margin of profit, namely 28 p.c maximum. Out of this gross profit the retailer must pay rent, taxes, salaries, etc and provide depreciaton and other overhead contingencies. The order goes nto effect in Toronto on Dec. 15th and the Board says: "If before January 20th no good reason is shown, why it should not come into effect throughout the Dominion, it will no doubt be made Dominion wide."

PETERBORO DELEGATE OPPOSED RESOLUTION

BOARD OF TRADE REPRESENTATIVE HAS A LARGE VISION,

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Nov 21.—Before the Ontario Boards of Trade to-day, the Belleville Board of Trade submitted the following resolution:

"That the Government of Ontario be asked to take into immediate consideration the annual apportionment of taxes on departmental stores, mail order houses and public utilities, so that municipalities where the business is carried on, and where money is exchanged may receive fair return for value given and franchise used."

Delegate Newman, in moving the resolution, explained that it was desired that mail order houses should pay taxes on the business which they did in various counties throughout the province

Delegate Anderson, of Ghatham, foresaw difficulty in apportioning the taxes to be paid. Mr. Newman replied that the books of the companies in question would show the amount of business done in various districts.

Delegate Hussey of Sault Ste. Marie, wished to know where the distinction would be drawn between mail order houses and other mercantile establishments He pointed out that many stores did a small mail order business within a limited area.

"Peterborough is opposed to this resolution," declared a delegate from that city.

"We are looking forward to the time when we will be a second Toronto and when such a resolution will react against us."

Mr. Blain raised the question of remuneration of the railways for the carriage of parcel postage, considering that the present rates should be adjusted.

UNITED STATES IS WATCHING MEXICO

Canadian Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. — The officials here to-day were watching Mexico for action on the note despatched by the State Department to the Mexican Government demanding the release of William O. Jenkins, the United States consular agent at Puebla, who was re-arested on charges of being in conspiracy with his bandit captors who forced him to pay $150,000 gold for his release.

The note warned Mexico that further molestation of the consular agent would seriously affect the relations between the United States and Mexico for which the government of Mexico must assume the sole responsibility, and added that the United States was surprised an incensed at Mexico's action.

WOMEN AT HOME AND ABROAD

Marriage Insurance Might Solve Question of Women's Wages.

Women, what are you going to do about it? You are being gradually admitted into the workshops and professions of men and you are proving that your work can of as great value as that of men, yet there is still a hesitancy to pay you on an equal basis with men. And the excuse for such hesitancy is said to be because men have families to support, while you have not. If that is the reason, then it is a good one. It points to the fact that this old world has not yet become so materialistic that it will pay merely for services rendered and not give a cent, because it is right to do so.

There are very few women who will not grant that it is unfair for some individuals to go through the world without the responsibility of family claims, while others take upon themselves this burden and yet receive no more financially to "carry on." What they do object to, however, is that women should be singled out as the only ones who have no family responsibility, and be penalized as to salaries. There are men who likewise live unto themselves, and yet they retain the same status as a married man, when it comes to a question of remuneration. And in contrast there are unmarried women who are actually supporting members of their family who have become helpless or orphaned.

The whole question comes down to this. Is the matter of considering the married individual over the unmarried individual (not woman), a matter which should come under the authority of the state? Does it really matter to any concern, whether its employees are married or unmarried, women or men, so long as they accomplish their work efficiency? And does it not matter infinitely to the state that its men and women take upon them the responsibility of raising a family? And should not the state see that nothing is allowed to interfere with this being accomplished in the most efficient way possible? Surely it is the duty of the state, not the employer, to see that men and women with families should secure a greater income than those who have not this added responsibility.

How is this to be accomplished? It might be done in some such fashion as this. To being with, employees no matter what their family status or sex might receive wages, according as they are useful to the firm which employs them. The state might do the rest by placing a very heavy percentage tax on the incomes of all individuals who are unmarried. This tax should not, however, be turned into the regular revenue of the Government but held as a trust fund or a sort of marriage insurance, to be released to the individual on his or her marriage, or should he not marry, when he is no longer able to support himself on account of prolonged sickness or old age.

Should the unmarried manor woman continue to be prosperous and able to support himself, the fund at his death might pass into the state coffers. Some provision might also be made whereby unmarried persons, who by the force of circumstances had others dependent on them for support, might draw from this fund.

Such a system would be fair, and surely it is not impracticable. It would induce men and women to marry, and would not leave a man to support his family on the same amount of money as his wife spent on herself before they were married. Of course, the tax to be just, should be exempted on anything below a fair living wage.

Women would not object to such a system. What they object to now, is the fact that they may be as efficient workers as men, but receive less merely because they are women. They fel that the unmarried man has the same right to be penalized as they.

Politeness is a coin that passes current in every country on earth.

Every girl on earth has a mission—and every widow under a certain age thinks she is entitled to a second mission.

WILL CARRY ON.

Great Britain and France having carried on the war with Germany for years before the United States took a hand in the game will undoubtedly be able to wind it up without the assistance of the Republic.

WORK FOR PUSSYFOOT.

A cable says that the announcement of the removal of all restrictions on the clearance of spirits in bond in Great Britain was greeted with loud cheers in the House of Commons. "Pussyfoot" Johnston's campaign has evidently had no effect upon the members of Parliament.

ENGLAND'S SPIRITS.

The removal of restrictions has freed enough spirits in England to supply thirty-six bottles for every man, woman and child. No wonder more than one member of the Citizen's Liberty League is to be heard humming "Oh, What a Happy Land is England."

MR. BURNHAM'S EXPLANATION.

Mr. Burnham's explanation to the G.W.V.A. that the Dominion Government is pledged to re-open the whole question of soldiers' civil re-establishment is not the general conception of what Hon. Mr. Calder said the House of Commons. Mr. Calder's statement that the door was not finally closed upon this question has been regarded as more or less of a sop for the consciences of those members who had talked loudly of doing more for the returned soldier, but who did not want to have to vote that way, if there was any danger of such a vote resulting in an election. It may be technically true as Mr. Burnham stated last night that the matter of re-establishment has been left over for further consideration, but the decisive vote that was recorded against Hon. MacKenzie King's amendment to refer the matter back to the special committee sounded the death knell of further gratuities for Canada's soldiers, in so far is the present Government is concerned.

ADULTERATING MILK.

The attention of Hon. Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture and Hon. W. E. Raney, Attorney-General in the new Ontario Government is called to the charge made at a district meeting in Renfrew the other day by T. A. Thompson of Almonte, for a number of years secretary of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association. Mr. Thompson declared that there is much adulteration of milk being done by cheese factory patrons in Eastern Ontario and that the practice is yearly increasing. Some of the patrons, he claimed are adding water and others are skimming the milk." This is a great reflection upon the farming community, commented Mr. Thompson, who is a farmer, himself. The trouble seems to be that the fines are not large enough to put a stop to the adulteration. Being a problem that is peculiarly a rural one, but that directly affects everybody. The new Administration can be expected to investigate the complaint of Mr. Thompson and if his charges are correct to make an example of some of the offenders. Adulterating milk until it is fifty per cent. water is a form of profiteering that should be speedily ended.

PLUNGING INTO POLITICS.

Since the formation of the local branch of the Great War Veterans' Association, in fact before the G.W.V.A. was heard of the Peterboro's little band of returned soldiers had organized a club on their own account. The Examiner has endeavoured to do all that it could to support and encourage the organization, feeling that it would be a power for good in the community. This must be the justification therefor for our present endeavor to prevent the G.W.V.A. from bartering its heritage for a mess of political pottage.

Much was heard at the beginning of the war about a certain "scrap of paper" the violation of the terms of which by Germany brought Great Britain into the war and sent Canada's soldiers overseas. The launching the G.W.V.A. as a body into politics would be a repetition to a certain extent at least of the German disregard of agreements. The campaign last spring of the Great War Veterans for funds to make possible the present splendid headquarters on Murray St., is still fresh in the minds of the citizens of Peterboro. In appealing for public support on that occasion much emphasis was placed on the fact that the Association was non-secretarian and non-political in its aims and deals. On that basis the public subscribed liberally to the G.W.V.A. fund. It scarcely seems "cricket," to dopt a sporting phrase from the Motherland, to announce that within a year of the Veterans drive the building supplied by the generosity of the public as a club-room for Peterboro's returned soldiers is likely to become the headquarters of a political party, and that a party founded primarily on the motive of self-interest,

Again during the campaign of last spring there were objections on the part of some citizens to subscribing to the fund because the impression was in their minds that the Association was not entirely composed of real veterans. And the answer of the G.W.V.A. was something like this "Our membership is confined to soldiers who saw service in France and to the men who reached England, provided in the latter case that an investigation by our committee shows that they were prevented from reaching France through circumstances with which they had no control." And this explanation satisfied the majority of the doubtful ones.

But now coupled with the desire to launch the G.W.V.A. into politics comes the suggestion of throwing restrictions to the winds. "Open the doors wide, open the windows, put an elevator in if necessary but get every man in that has a vote" declared a speaker at the Veteran's meeting this week. Over board with military records, discharge the investigation committee, the light is burning in the window, the door is open to every man who wore khaki whether for five years or five minutes, or whether he served in Belgium or in Barrisfield, as long as he has a vote that would be useful in a political campaign. Is that to be the policy of the G. W.V.A?

The real friends of the Association, and there are numerous, more numerous than the members sometimes realize will hope not. The best that the G.W.V.A. can hope to gain is the winning of a few urban seats in a Dominion election. And that election may not be held for three years—it certainly will not if members of the Government can prevent an appeal to the country. Can the G.W.V.A. in tossing away a considerable amount of its prestage and much of the support of the public by lowering the standard of its membership as a Veterans' Association, hope to carry on for those three years, when the chief inducement to be offered is that sometime in the future a group of candidates carrying the standard of the Association may find seats in the House of Commons.

The Examiner believes that as a body the G.W.V.A. can do more for the returned soldier and for the country by remaining out of politics and by adopting a policy of justice to the widows and dependents of the men who died, and to the maimed and broken soldiers who came back, a policy that with really public sentiment and support behind them to such an extent that no Government could remain indifferent to the country-wide demand for a fair deal for those who have suffered.

And in conclusion may we say that this article like others that have appeared in these columns on the same subject is published in a sincere attempt to be of service to the men who fought. If it is accepted in the spirit in which it has been written, the Examiner will be content.

THE VICTORY LOAN.

"Now that the loan is over and the money raised, it becomes the duty of the Government to see that it is properly applied to the purpose for which it was raised, and that all due and proper economics be exercised in carrying on the government of our country. The homely virtues of work and thrift are all that Canada today needs, and it is the duty of the Government to the greatest extent possible to apply these in the conduct of our business."

These words of Sir Henry Drayton, the new Minister of Finance in regard to the Victory Loan will be applauded throughout the Dominion. Sir Henry has outlined the opinion of the great mass of Canadians. Unfortunately, however, the Government of which he is a member has never furnished the people with any evidence of possessing what Sir Henry terms the "homely virtue of thrift." The Finance Minister, taking as his text, the words printed at the beginning of this article would be well advised to deliver a series of sermons to his colleagues upon this subject. It would be new and strange doctrine to the majority of them, but if Sir Henry is sincere in his declaration and is able to attract enough converts to his cause to ensure an elimination of the Governmental extravagance that has distinguished the reign of the Borden Administration, he will have done much for Canada.

THE ONTARIO GOVERNMENT.

Mr. Drury has succeeded in forming a Government at Toronto, composed of eight Farmer members, two Labor members, and a Toronto lawyer as Attorney-General. An extraordinary Government it is. One of its members has occupied a modest back bench in the Toronto Assembly for a couple of sessions. With that exception not a man in the Cabinet has ever had a day's legislative experience. Only a revolution could produce such a Cabinet. But a veritable revolution there has been in Ontario. Three of the ministers, including the Premier, are not even members of the new Legislature. They have to find seats, which means that some members must be persuaded to retire to make way for them.

So far as routine business is concerned the new ministers will probably have the good sense to put themselves in the hands of their deputies and other chief officials, who will guide them along safe paths. It is when they are called upon to devise new measures and carry them through the Legislature that their trouble will be serious. The United Farmers of Ontario did not dream of winning power. They wanted to have the glorious British privilege of grumbling and criticizing, which are the easiest parts of public life. To their amazement they find themselves obliged to take the responsibility of governing. Instead of being free to find fault in others, they must take up the burden of doing things and receive the criticism they had expected to administer. These conditions cannot fail to have a sobering effect. While the situation is a strange one, and there will be much doubt whether it can be of long duration, there will be a very general desire to give Mr. Drury and his raw recruits in the field of statesmanship every opportunity of proving their ability to manage the public business with wisdom. The men of the old parties in the Legislature will hardly be disposed to offer obstruction. ndependent public opinion will demand fair play for the new Government.—Journal of Commerce.

NEIL PAYS THE LAST OF HIS OBLIGATIONS

CHAPTER CXXII

How we both enjoyed that month together. Father and mother only remained a week, then once more Neil went into town to business. A business that must now once more be readjusted to meet peace requirements just as it had to be adjusted to met war conditions. But his month's rest had done him all sorts of good. He looked and said that he felt a different man. Then one day he came home a subdued look of joy on his face.

"They are all paid, Bab, every one. Thank God I am a free man once more," he threw back his shoulders as if he were throwing off a load.

Really Neil! oh, I am so happy! and so glad for you." Then I added, trying to speak lightly: "Now we can begin to save for our old age. It won't be hard we are so accustomed to it."

"You have been the best wife a man ever had," he replied as he took me into his arms. "Some women would, under the circumstances, either driven a man crazy with regrets, or have left him."

"Not if they loved—as I do you."

"You never have cared for anyone else have you Bab? Even when I neglected you and left you alone so much."

"No, Neil. I never have cared for anyone but you ,never will."

"Do you know dear I used to sort of imagine you liked Frederick, altho I knew he was not a lady's man. But you seemed to be so pleased to see him, to repose such confidence in him— not that I blame you for that, but then I at times used to wonder if you weren't falling in love with him."

"Nonsense! He is a confirmed bachelor."

"You needn't blush like a schoolgirl at the idea of falling in love with him. I know you didn't, but as I said I used to think you liked him a lot."

"I did, and I do now. But act the way you mean."

"He is coming out Sunday. He'll motor down about noon."

"I didn't know he was in town."

"Came yesterday. Is only going to stay a day or two, and seemed very pleased when I asked him down. Said he would like to see you and Robert again. Asked some leading questions as to Robert's tastes, I imagine he will come loaded."

"I shall be very glad to see him," I meant it. We owed everything we were to him. Scott never would have spared Neil.

"Better get a woman in to help with the dinner so you can visit with him.

"No dear. We haven't a penny to our names now that you have paid your debts. I will get the dinner all ready before he comes, and not clear away until later in the day." Some time before I had given Neil the money I had saved from my allowance to add to his in bank. We knew nothing of what his salary would be now that the need for such strenuous labor was over. I would not let pride lead me to do anything different because Mr. Frederick was to be our guest.

Sunday was a lovely day, and our little home never had looked more attractive. The Spring had come early, and the air was soft and balmy. I had prepared as nice a dinner as I knew how, thes dressed myself becomingly to await our guest.

As I dressed I couldn't help but wonder if Mr. Frederick still cared for me a little, then smiled to myself to think how like I was to every other woman. I did not love him, did not want to, yet I was pleased that he had cared, and I'll confess it I rather hoped he still did—a little.

When I went down to meet him I knew that his feeling for me had not changed. I knew it from the light in his eyes, the way he held my hand, and I flushed a little under his gaze as I recalled my thoughts while dressing.

"You have a nice little nest here," he said looking about.

"Indeed we have! Neil must show you around after dinner," I replied then hurried to the kitchen. And it was not all the heat from the stove that colored my cheeks as I called them to the table. It was the innocent pleasure I felt knowing I was still admired.

We had a long happy afternoon He took us for a drive about three o'clock, and we motored over Oyster Bay way, and showed him where Colonel Roosevelt had lived, then where he was buried. As Neil had thought he had brought Robert a tennis racket and balls, and the boy insisted upon being included in the conversation.

"Another member of the family has surrendered," Neil said laughing, when I chided Robert for being too familiar.

"We understand, don't we Robert?" Frederick said, "You see we had a long talk before dinner, and Robert has decided to let me be sort of a third in his affections, because I haven't any little boy."

What that 'third' was going to mean we had no slightest suspicion To-morrow—Neil has the offer of Two Positions.

MAKING-UP IS AN ART, AND IT SHOULD NOT BE DONE IN A HURRY

DIFFERENT COLORED EYES REQUIRE DIFFERENT MAKE-UPS.

"Women should realize that it is a great mistake to make up the lips in a hurry, as it is usually done. A wrong shade is often used, and is just put on in a thoughtless way, neglecting the shape of the mouth entirely. There is just as much expression about the mouth as about the eyes. Therefore do not spoil the expression of the mouth, and don't try to change it, unless it must be done for the stage. When a make-up use pink and not red. Red or vermilion is something necessary on the stage when the lights are very dense. When the mouth is a little too large one can wipe out the corners of the mouth with face grease and only make up with red the sentre part. Take care not to make it too small, because it would look like a sad spot. These suggestions apply only to make-up for the stage. For daylight lips must be softly accentuated with pink following the shape of the mouth, but not quite to the edge. This will make the lips more delicate and far prettier.

Making Up the Eyes.

"The make-up of the eyes is just as important for daylight as for the stage. It is an art in itself because the effect of size and expression in the eyes depends on the way they are made up. Even the color effect can be changed slightly; for instance, grey eyes with a tiny bit of green and brown in them when made up with dark brown and a soft blue, the color of the apple of the eye changes to a pronounced hazel, and sometimes they seem to be brown. Dark eyes must be touched just a little on the eyelids with dark brown spread out with the finger in a soft line. This is for daylight. Don't put any paint under the eye, but if the eye has an oval shape accentuate it. The best way to do this is to make a soft line with the pencil and smooth it out with the finger, then make up the eyelashes with a tiny brush in the usual way. Don't use any blue for dark eyes. For the stage dark eyes should be made up in the same way, but more or less accentuated, depending on the size of the hall and the brilliancy of the lights.

Different Make-ups for the Eyes

"Blue and grey eyes should be made up differently from dark ones. For blue eyes one should use for daylight a very soft black, a black that spreads out very easily, and it should only be used for the eyelashes. Don't put any black on the eyelids of the blue or grey eyes, even for the stage. Put only blue on the upper eyelid, well spread out, the lower part a tiny bit darker than the upper, and the black only for the lashes and eyebrows. But the eyebrows of grey and blue eyes should be very narrow, just a thin arch.

"Never use blue for daylight make-up. With hazel eyes the eyelids are slightly darkened with brown. This gives a glance that the French call, "Un regard velout'—a 'velvet glance.'

"Never make up in public. This is very bad taste. Even using powder in public is questionable. Much of a woman's charm must be lost if we lose a sense of mystery as to how she produces it. Particularly reprehensible is a public lip stick. Lips made up in that way, without infinate pains and the closest examination, are certain to reveal the paint, and to reveal the paint is to kill all beauty of effect."

600,000 CONSUMERS STRIKE IN NEW YORK.

An Effort to Bring Down the Price of Milk—Form a Council of Defence.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—More than 600,000 consumers in greater New York went out on a "milk strike" yesterday, according to Miss Mildred Taylor, executive secretary of the Community Council of Defense, which is directing the boycott to bring down the price of milk. Two hundred delegates from the district councils at a meeting last Friday voted to abstain from the use of milk on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, each week, until the producers reduce prices. As a health precaution a concession was granted to exempt children under seven years of age.

The Central Federated Union of Women's Clubs, representing a membership of 500,000 promised to cooperate in the boycott, Miss Taylor said. She estimated the decrease in sales caused by the "three-day abstinence" will result in a weekly loss of over $300,000 to the producers.

THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE PROBLEM

PROPOSAL TO SELL IT OR USE IT AS A HOME FOR DISABLED SOLDIERS.

TORONTO, Nov. 18.—What will Drury do with Ontario's million-dollar Government House? Will he close it up and turn the key in the door, convert it into a home for crippled soldiers, or put up for sale to the highest bidder? Or, on the other hand, will be become resigned to the present conditions under which only a millionaire can afford to be Lieutenant-Governor even though the Province votes him a salary of $10,000 a year and from $30,000 to $50,000 a year for upekep?

The farmers are not the only ones who have been talking about what they call Government House extravagance. Nor is the criticism something new. As far back as 1894 when the old building at the corner of Simcoe and King streets were being used, Mr. Marter, as Conservative leader, moved for the abolition of Government House. In 1895, Mr. Haycock, the leader of the Patrons, a movement similar to the U.F.O., moved in the Legislature to do away with Government House, and was supported by the Conservatives, reducing Mowat's majority to seven. But if Marter and Haycock were opposed to the expenditures of those days what would they think of the munificence of later years? Seemingly, they would outdo the United Farmers, Labor and the Liberal party in denouncing the magnificence and pomp at Chorley Park as out of keeping with democracy and economic administration.

In Canada, the Lieutenant-Governor

In Canada, the Lieutenant-Governors are figureheads rather than dignitaries with ve yrreal powers as in the case of the Governors of the various States across the line. Yet eighteen States with 45 millions of population have spent less in the construction of all their Governors' residences than has Ontario alone with its population of about three millions. And 18 other States do not provide their Governors with residences. A few of them allow from $600 to $1,500 for rent. New York's oicial residence cost $50,000, and the sum of $3,000 is allowed for yearly upkeep.

Whitney Planned It.

The Hearst Government incurred some blame for maintaining Government House on its present palatial standard. But Sir William Hearst had little to do with the size, cost, and location of the home of the Lieutenant-Governor. F. R. Heakes, the Government architect, designed the building in accordance with instructions received from Sir James Whitney, who took the closest interest in the plans, even to personally determining the number and size of the various rooms. The whole undertaking was in a peculiar sense the creation of the bluff old Premier from Dundas county.

Of course, there are persons in high official postiions who regard the proposals to convert our million dollar beauty to some other purpose as nothing short of desecration. They think it savors of anarchy. They will tell you that Ontario is a big Province, that when rayalty and the nobility and other guests of the State are being entertained it should be in a suitable, self-respecting manner. It was in 1911, they point out, that the plans for Chorley Park first took place, and that was the year His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, came to Canada as Governor-General. The present King's uncle was quite fond of the place and always was entertained with his staff when in the city. And so with his successor, the Duke of Devonshire. He has been the guest at Government House no less than seventeen or eighteen times.

Required By Law.

The British North America Act requires that the Provinces shall maintain residences for their lieutenant-governors. And when the Governor-General or Royalty is on a visit, Government House is taken up as "home" as a matter of course. The Prince of Wales stayed at Chorley Park, and few begrudged him accommodation in keeping with his position. The normal cost of maintenance borne by the Province may be put at about $30,000, but owing to the visit of the heir to the throne, the figures for this year may be considerably higher. The building was first occupied in December, 1915, and in 1916 the cost of upkeep was put at nearly $70,000, but that sum included an outlay of $24,000 for furniture.

The total cost of estabilshing the new Government House was $1,098,000. Of that sum $860,000 was secured from the sale of the old site on King street, leaving only $238,000 to be raised by the people. It has been figured that two cents a year per head of population will cover the entire cost of official entertainment by the Province.

Evidence of Splendor.

The magnificence of Government House is indicated by a few of the figures. The grounds slope down into the Don valley and the concrete retaining wall is said to have cost $70,000. The marble in the atrium or grand hallway meant an outlay of $20,000. The heating plant cost a "cool" $78,000. The site cost $148,000. The place has its own ice-making plant and gold and silver chandeliers. The servants' quarters have twelve bedrooms and the draperies for these cost $3,500. Sixty dining room chairs cost $24 apiece. The Donegal rug in the stateroom cost $1,428. The stonework cost $125,000. The garage and stables cost $10,000. No less than 30,000 tulips flower outside in the spring. The main building is 156 feet by 203 feet. The famous White House at Washington is only 86 feet by 170 feet.

THE ATRIUM, OR GRAND HALLWAY, IN GOVERNMENT HOUSE. It is provided with marble floor, walls, pilasters, columns and ballustrading.

Turn it to Real Use.

A year and a half before the present Government House was completed, the reporter suggested that Mr. Rowell, if he became Premier, should "turn this pile to some useful purpose. It might do for a technical school or a home for waifs or for those who are anywise afflicted in mind or body." Now the soldiers, with many sympathizers, are urging that the palace on the hill be used as a home for men who were disabled during the war. The downstairs plan would require very extensive remodelling, but the upper floor could be more readily adapted for the purpose. But were such a move made, another official residence of a less pretentious nature would have to be provided.

Mr. Drury has taken a stand for rigid economy, and the public naturally expects him to begin with Government House. Much of the expense connected with it is in providing society with a good time, which after all involves taking money from the poorest taxpayers to provide entertainment exclusively for the rich and well-to-do.

ROME—Among the Italian Socialists recently expelled from Switzerland was Gustavo Sacerdota, correspondent in Zurich of the newspaper Avanti, and who came to Italy last September intending to settle here.

When he attempted to return to Switzerland for his wife he was stopped at the frontier by the Swiss authorities and refused permission to enter.

MUSIC IN THE HOME

SONGS FIT EVERY PHASE OF LIFE.

Back in 1914 when we were working peacefully along without thought of war, we sang the ordinary ballads of the day—romantic, sacred, and humorous. Then the storm burst upon the world. Men were the first need. There came into existence several good recruiting songs that proved great aids in securing voluntary enlistments. By the time the armies were in the field and settled down to the routine of trench warfare, people were singing patriotic songs and new songs of army life, navy life and of flying in the air. As battle followed battle, as the armies advanced, here and retreated there, there arose the need of keeping up the home moral lest the spirit behind the lines would waver and break. But again the songs of sticking to it, of world freedom beyond the horizon, of proving worthy of our men at the front had their influence on the nation helping us to stick it out. During this period the national songs of our Allies cemented those ties in the minds of the masses that were so necessary.

The end came. And with it went the songs of home-coming and songs of Praise. Yet the need for singing and recreation to sing is greater than ever. Everyone feels like singing. Interest in the songs that were forgotten for the time being came back. So that the whole field of general songs is re-opened. The war gave English songs a new meaning. Canadians who have been in England or whose friends have been, take readily to the songs of Sussex, Somerset and Devon. Thus our whole attitude towards music is altered and Canada is on her way to becoming a singing nation.

THE CHURCH ORGANIST.

To become a good church organist is no small achievement, for it sometimes seems as if the church organist begins where the recitalist leaves off. The former needs all the execution of the latter, but the latter has never been compelled as a recitalist to consider "beginnings" or "endings" or "smoothness." Reactions are outside his sphere of activity except as they arise in moving from piece to piece in his program or as they may be a factor in the general impression made by his personality on his audience. Many things the concert player must learn when he sits on the bench Sundays. To be a good church player is to be an artist in a field little known to the ordinary musician and often little appreciated.

MUSIC'S PART IN RECONSTRUCTION.

The maintenance of dicipline through the use of singing has been found an important feature in the army and navy hospitals, while in surgical cases it has been learned that men go under anesthetics much easier while listening to music. So it is not an infrequent thing now to hear nurses singing the army songs for wounded men while preparing them for the surgeons ministrations. Another part that music will play in the work of reconstruction is the scientific restoration of articulation for patients suffering from injuries to the mouth and throat, and some interesting experiments in this field are now being carried on by vocal teachers in the convalescent hospitals.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO SINGING.

When people are deeply moved, they usually sing. Immense audiences give way to great patriotic fervor in song. Religious zeal always requires a hymn for one of its main outlets. The longing for freedom by a subjugated people has ever been the cradle of many of the world's enduring songs. Men, who as individuals, never sing and scarcely ever whistle, who know not one note from another, when in a crowd, join lustily in the singing. The mass-spirit has been termed the most responsive thing in the world. Our armies went into battle singing. Autocracy died in Britain, France, Italy, Russia, Austria and now Germany at the hands of a singing people.

If men and women were called by the government to build ships, produce munitions, save food, recruit regiments, buy bonds, forgot politics, carry on, they did it—and sang. Perhaps now and again the burdens felt too heavy, the clouds seemed too thick, the heart was too sad to song, the voice was not steady enough, and when we could not speak, the muffled drum, the soft chords, the sweet org n notes or the inspiring symphony said our innermost feelings for us. Our own silence made the instrument's influence the more deeply felt. Then as a result in some peculiar fashion our hearts were encouraged. The clouds were not gone; but they seemed far beneath us. We felt, at least for the time being like saying with Longfellow:

"I stood upon the hills, when heaven's wide arch
Was glorious with the sun's returning march,
And woods were brightened and soft gales
Went forth to kiss the sun-clad vales,
The clouds were far beneath me; bathed in light,
They gathered mid-way round the wooded height,
And, in their fading glory, shone
Like hosts in battle overthrown.
As many a pinnacle, with shifting glance,
Through the grey mist thrust up its shattered lance,
And rocking on the cliff was left
The dark pine, blasted, bare and cleft.
The veil of cloud was lifted, and below
Glowed the rich valley, and the river's flow
Was darkened by the forest's shade,
Or glistened in the white cascade;"

Then the impulse to sing returned. With hearts strengthened and souls refreshed we were ready to "be up and doing, with a heart for any fate." Music was God's messenger.

STARTING A CROWD OFF ON A SONG.

Nobody feels more like thirty cents than the person who is out in a crowd and when "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" or "God Save the King" is called for, not one ventures to act as starter. Sometimes a faltering voice pipes out the first couple of notes starting the tune off about a half an octave too high. Then the singers must watch sharp or the whole thing will fall flat.

Why should not everybody be equipped to [illegible] above sentiment? It is [illegible] to do. And often it helps [illegible] things very much. Take for example this incident related by one of the nurses returned from overseas. One of the Red Cross nurses in France was passing down a ward in her charge on Christmas Eve. The soldiers were unusually quiet and there were traces of tears on several of the faces. "I guess we're homesick" one of the men volunteered, "don't you think it would be a good plan to sing something, nurse?" The nurse thought it would. "Well, you start us" returned the first speaker, "we can all sing if someone will only just start the songs." The nurse never felt her inability to do anything so much in her life. She sadly confessed she could not lead them in the singing.

This is hardly a typical case for so often it is only among a few in some small meeting. But one's inability applies just the same in measure. Would it not be a good thing for everyone to resolve that he or she will prepare so as to be able to start a group off on any of these familiar songs?

A CHINESE BAMBOO ORGAN.

There are in China two organs constructed with bamboo pipes. The location of one is uncertain but the other is known to be in a church in Shanghai, and now after fifty years service, its bamboo pipes are being replaced by metal ones. In the course of a description of this historic bamboo organ's tone, the North China Daily News said: "It would be better if it were completely in tune, for a long wave beat, similar to the short one which gives the beauty of the tremulous vox caelestis betrays the fact that it is not. Possibly it never was, for bamboo does not seem refractory stuff for organ building. Despite this, however, the tone is sweet, is somewhat "woolly" and the tone speaks volumes for the skill of those men who, using the only materials immediately at hand, were able to devise an organ pleasing to the ear and able to defy the severest test—that of time."

Jesus Corrects John's Narrowness. Mark 9:33-42; 10:13-16; Luke 9:46-56.

Golden Text: Grace be with all them that love our Lord Jesus Christ with a love incorruptible. Eph. 6:24.

1. Mark 9:33, 34. What would you say is the most besetting sin of the average good man and why is it so?

2. If these disciples had died while they were haggling which should be the greatest in Christ's kingdom, what would have been their portion?

3. What is the cure for selfishness in Christians?

4. Mark 9:35-37. Why is the desire to be first so ignoble as Christ represents it?

5. In what particular are those who desire to be first always last?

6. Why is a love for little children a sign of unselfishness?

7. Mark 9:35-37. When we help or tenderly treat little children why does Christ regard that as if done to him personally?

8. If one who has made no profession of Christianity, receives a little child with tender unselfish love why does he or not by so doing receive God and Christ?

9. Mark 9:38-40. Why have laymen the same privileges and just as much right to preach the gospel and to cast out devils as ministers?

10. What difference so far as duty and privilege are concerned was there between private Christians and the 12 apostles?

11. Mark 9:30-40. Who are those to-day who manifest the same proud class spirit as Peter did in forbidding a man to cast out devils because he was not an apostle?

12. If a man spends his life in doing good in a spirit of love is this regardless of anything else, proof that he is either a conscious or an unconscious follower of Christ? Why?

13. Mark 9:41, 42. What is the difference in the moral merit and why, of giving food to a famishing man, without knowing his religion and doing the same act because we know he is a Christian? This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by the members of the club.

14. Mark 9:41-42. What does it signify that Christ makes common cause with humanity, i.e., if you help a brother man you help Christ; if you hurt a brother man you hurt Christ?

15. Mark 10:13-16. Why would you say or not that all young children are in the kingdom of God?

16. In view of Christ's teaching, why is it not very wrong to teach little children that they are not in Christs' kingdom?

17. Luke 9:46-48. What is Christ's standard of greatness?

18. Luke 9:49, 50. What should be our treatment of all those who are trying to cast the devil out of people?

19. Luke 9:51-56. Is it ever right and why for us to desire that punishment or misfortune should come to those who oppose us in the good work we desire to do?

20. What did it indicate on the part of James and John that they wanted to destroy those Samaritans who refused to entertain Christ?

Lesson for Sunday, Nov. 30, 1919.—Jesus Teaches Peter True Greatness. John 13:1-16, 36-38.

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

Weak, thin people—men or women—are nearly always nervous wrecks: thus conclusively proving that thinness, weakness, debility and neurasthenia are almost invariably due to nerve starvation. Feed your nerves and all these symptons due to nerve starvation will disappear.

Eminent specialists state that one of the best things for the nerves is an organic phosphate known among druggists as Bitro-Phosphate, a five-grain tablet of which should be taken with each meal. Being a genuine nerve builder and not a stimulant or habit-forming drug, Bitro-Phosphate can be safely taken by the weakest and most delicate sufferer, and the results following its use are often simply astonishing.

By strengthening the nerves, weak, tired people regain energy and vigor; thinness and angularity give way to plumpness and curves; sleep returns to the sleepless; confidence and cheerfulness replace debility and gloom; dull eyes become bright, and pale, sunken cheeks regain the pink glow of health.

CAUTION—Bitro-Phosphate, the use of which is inexpensive, also wonderfully promotes the assimilation of food, so much so, that many people report marked gains of weight in a few weeks. Those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh, should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

EDWARDS WON'T EXPLAIN.

Declines to Tell Why He Voted Against Gratuity to Veterans.

KINGSTON, Nov. 19.—Dr. J. W. Edwards, M.P., in a letter to the local branch of the G.W.V.A. says he has no explanation to offer for his opposition to a further cash grant to war veterans. He declares that the veterans have no right to ask for an explanation, and that none will be given.

WHAT TO DO WHEN NERVES GO WRONG

A SPECIALIST'S ADVICE

Men and women who suffer from weak nerves, who tire easily, can't sleep, have brain fag, low vitality, general weariness, loss of strength, dulled ambition, lack of will power, or any of those symptons that so surely arise from poor, unsteady, unstrung nerves, or nerve force run low, should try taking a little Ferro-Peptine with their feals for a few days and note results. This preparation is the greatest ginger-up stimulant and nerve vitalizer ever known for putting the good old "pep," ambition, courage and real vital energy into a tired, run-down and shattered nervous system.

Here is a test worth trying. The next time you feel tired, blue, or when your nerves are fairly crying out, take a Ferro-Peptine nerve tablet. Then wait for just ten minutes, and note results. Ferro-Peptine seems to go straight to the nerve cells and starts work the minute it reaches them. It brings a ten-minute change from that awful dull, weak, lazy, don't-give-a-hang feeling, to brightness, strength, clear headedness and courage. It calms and strengthens the nerves of people who get the "jumps" and fidgets, and gives them poise, power and tremendous reserve energy. Ferro-Peptine Tablets are absolutely harmless, contain no dope or habit-forming drugs, and are always safe, easy pleasant and efficient. All leading druggists in Peterborough and vicinity sell it in large boxes—42 tablets to a package—on an absolute guarantee of satisfaction, or money back

THEY EAT ROTTING ROE

While we are threatened with a scarcity of the necessities of existence, it is interesting to note that strange eatables which some people consider delicacies, but for which others could cultivate a taste only when faced with starvation.

The famous "plates de foies gras" are made from the diseased livers of geese. The unfortunate birds are kept in dark hutches too small for them to turn round, and are forcibly fed with enormous quantities of grain until they suffer from fatty degeneration of the liver. When the poor creature is almost at the last gasp, it is considered in fit condition to be killed. The pies are sold for as much as £3 and £5 each.

Caviare was introduced from Russia into this country, and is the decomposed and salted roe of a kind of sturgeon. It was, before the revolution, prepared on the Astrakan coast, and could be smelt miles away. Its price averaged about £1 a pound, but at the present time the genuine caviare would be considerably dearer.

The German dainty, Sauerkraut, is not often seen—or rather smelt—in England now, but it was quite a usual feature of delicatessen shops. It is only a preparation of white cabbage, but it is doubtful if anyone not accustomed to it from childhood would be able to acquire a liking for its strong taste and penetrating odour.

The "drishin," made from sheep's blood, and flavored with parsley, is a kind of white "black pudding" very popular in Ireland.

The birds' nests used by the Chinese to make soup are also the European gourmet's delight. Another strange soup is that made from the sea slug, the "beshe de mer." Compared with these shark-fin soups seems quite a wholesome and dainty dish.

DOWN IN NORFOLK THEY KNOW SHE DIDN'T STEAL $1,000 RING

ARTIST'S MODEL, ACCUSED OF LARCENY BY SHIPPING BOARD ENGINEER, TELLS JURY HOW GEM DISAPPEARED IN MOULIN ROUGE CAFE

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—A combination of brown eyes, blonde hair and a soft Southern accent made Miss Marion Brooks, artist's model, of Norfolk, Va., the centre of attraction in the Criminal Courts Building where she is on trial before Judge Rosalsky and a jury in General Sessions on an inductment charging her with the larceny of a diamond ring valued at $1,000 from Jerry Lowe, civil engineer, connected with the Shipping Board.

Lowe, on the witness stand, declared that the fascinating Miss Brooks induced him to let her wear his diamond ring in the Moulin Rouge restaurant, in the White Light district, on the evening of October 25 last. She placed it on her thumb, he said and after demonstrating its corusca ing influence on other diners, suddenly arose from their table to go scald, and aft er demonstrating its coruscating influence on other diners suddenly arose from their table to go to the women's dressing room.

Soon after she returned in a seeming high state of excitement. She had laid Mr. Lowe's ring on the wash stan with her own rings and when she looked for Mr. Lowe's ring later it was gone, although her own rings were undisturbed.

Mr. Lowe explained he met the beautiful young woman only a few hours before the mysterious disappearance of the ring, which he received from his mother as a birthday gift, while he was standing in front of the clerk's office in the Albemarle Hotel, in West Fifty-fourth street.

Miss Brooks smiled sweetly on Judge Rosalsky and the jury when she took the witness stand in her own defence. She said she is temporarily staying at No [illegible] West Forty-fifth street but her home is in Norfolk.

"Your Honor," the witness interjected as a prelude to her direct testimony, "an investigation in my home town would show who I am and that such a charge as this being made against me is preposterous."

Edward Weill, Assistant District Attorney, aroused her temper several times during his cross-examination of her when he endeavoured to trap her on her testimony. Frequently she snapped out brief answers which always were accompanied with a flash of her bright brown eyes and a shake of her head.

On other occasions she shifted in the witness chair, revealing a pair of pretty ankles, but whenever she observed they were drawing unnecessary attention she hastily rearranged her skirt. She evidenced much interest in her personal appearance, frequently adjusting her picture hat and making careful survey of her Georgette waist, her black satin embroidered skirt, silk stockings and pumps.

Miss Brooks had not completed her testimony when Judge Rosalsky adjourned the case.

ACROSS CHANNEL BY AIRSHIP

Precisely at half past twelve the aeroplane which was to take us to Paris rose from the Hounslow Aerodrome. At 1.7 flying at 100 miles an hour at a height of 3,000 feet, we leapt out from the coast between Folkestone and Dungeness. Long before the English coast had faded the French swam mistily into view. The land behind changed swiftly from a substantial thing to a phantom, and from a phantom became nothing at all as we swung across Boulogne. A steamer making a fuss of foam on the motionless blue of the sea, a handful of tiny brown-sailed fishing craft, a blunt nose of land pushing itself out into a delicate cream of breakers and on it a white lighthouse—this was our first glimpse of a remote and noiseless France. We had crossed the Channel in ten minutes.

Then suddenly the bottom fell out of one of the valleys. One gazed dizzily down a sickening crevasse, and at the bottom saw a dim, shadowed world. One laughed to think that down there were men sowed and reaped, the day was cloudy and overcast, while here the sun was shining on the hills and valleys of a world that knew neither flocks nor harvests.

We swung high over the crevasse Another came in sight, and we plunged headlong down it. The unemotional indicator ticked us down to 3,000 feet. The splendid world was gone. The clouds were all above us now and they were dull and grey. It was colder, and a familiar world of fields and streams and trees ran out below us. At our own height, a few hundred yards away, a homebound aeroplane beat past.

That glimpse of the world above the clouds—a world where the sun is always shining—was the great experience of the trip.

And then the pilot dropped the machine's tail a bit up her nose a little, and climbed swiftly for 1,000 feet. The indicator on the little table before me, in the glass-enclosed cabin unemotionally ticked up 4,000 feet. We were above the clouds. We had seen the great cloud plateau from a long way off. At first it seemed to have a base in the sea—a base that rose rather steeply and unevenly and then levelled down into a vast tableland. Now we were directly over it. Gone was everything familiar—the sea and the fretting steamers, the fretless sailing ships, the green fields and the comfortable towers and pinnacles that men had built.

We had swum into a new world of unimaginable splendor. Above was a bowl of deepest blue streaked with long, calm clouds; below was a motionless floor—stainless, white, glittering, it looked a thing substantial cleft with ravines, rising into tiny hills, flowing chromically one here and there by subtly coloured valleys. It was a still windless land-

WASTING1,200,000 TREES EVERY YEAR.

The amount of waste paper collected in all parts of Great Britain in 1914 was one thousand tons per week. By 1918 this had been increased to 6,000 tons per week, or an increase of approximately 500 per cent. It requires eight trees of mature growth to produce a ton of paper pulp. Investigating Alleged Shipment of Wines to Ottawa Country Club.

TORONTO, Nov. 20.— J. D. Flavelle, of the Ontario License Board, speakin gabout the seizure of a shipment of champagne and other wine at Otawa, which was on transit from Montreal, it is alleged, to the Ottawa County Club, on the Quebec side of the river, stated that he thought such a shipment was an infringement of the laws of Quebec.

It is said that the express company made the mistake of shipping it through Ontario, but if it were legal for it to be shipped from one point to another in Quebec, Mr Flavelle stated there was no law to prevent its shipment by way of Ontario.

"Instructions have been sent to our inspector," he said, "Mr. Enright, directing him to communicate with the Country Club and if he ascertains that it is for them he is to return it to the express company and notify the Hull police. If the club, however, denies the shipment, it is to be held by the inspector for further instructions regarding prosecution."

MALTA IS OVERCROWDED.

The population of Malta has increased rapidly during the last thirty years and the island has been greatly handicapped when it came to reducing the surplus because of the foreign immigration regulations. The Maltese would-be emigrant, although of splendid stuff, is almost always illiterate, as no adequate school system exists on the island. To facilitate emigration, the emigration committee has established a system of evening classes whereby those desiring to leave Malta may gain sufficient education and knowledge of the English language to do so.

Like a Tidal Wave

Heart Disease and Nerve Troubles Sweep the Country

Probably at no period in the world's history have heart and nerve troubles been so prevalent as they are to-day.

The heart can't stand the stress and strain of this busy, bustling age, and the care and worry, the anxiety and activity of business life constitute a serious drain on the nervous system.

The business of this work-a-day world goes with such a rush that the stoutest hearts and strongest nerves break down under the strain.

On the first approach of any breakdown of the system Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills should be taken. The reconstructive power of these pills on the heart and nerve system is simply marvellous.

Mr. W. A. Wright, Hopewell Ave., Ottawa, Ont., writes:—"After suffering for some time with my heart, I consulted a number of doctors, but got no relief. However, I read what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills had done for others, who had the same symptoms and thought I would give them a trial. Believe me, six boxes cured me completely. I am feeling fine now, and can attend to my work every day. I can recommend your pills to any one suffering as I did."

HOME-MAKING HELPS

BY JEANETTE YOUNG NORTON

"Everything About the House Helps to Make the Home."

Some of the Things Every Housewife Should Know About Old Quilts

Old-fashioned patchwork quilts, once the pride of the grandmother, are again in fashion. Brought up to date, they're engaging the interest and busying the fingers of expert needle women, who have laid aside the knitting needles of war for the cambric needle of peace.

Those who are lucky enough to have heirloom quilts in the family are busy copying their historic designs and adapting them to modern usage. The less fortunate are searching the records for authentic patterns for reproduction. The "log cabin," "rising sun," "sunflower," "shadow and block," "willow basket," "morning glory," "full moon" and "Star of Bethlehem" quilts are the oldest and best known outside the famous scripture quilts, which were not common even in the height of quilt fashions.

Many of the new old quilts are made in white linen or cotton cloth or in solid colours, with floral or figure designs appliqued by buttonhole stitching or couching. Heavy linen floss is used for the latter, which makes the work seem very elaborate though it's easily and quickly done.

Other quilts are elaborately quilted in circles, squares and diamonds, which are filled in with large French knots of coloured floss. The quilts are cut to fit around the brass bed posts to which they are tied with ribbons to match the decorations. Cross stitch patterns are also used in the circles of quilting, the basket, wreath and garland designs being the most popular. The old checkerboard pattern again is used, the seams being all feather-stitched before the whole thing is quilted.

Periods are not neglected and there are many quaint Adams designs in blues and greys, with delicate embroidered wreaths and bowknots, heavy Jacobean designs in sombre colours, Louis XIV., XV. and XVI. patterns, and some good English designs of Colonial days. Embroidery in Russian and Bulgarian colouring and patterns adorn some of the more ultra modern quilts.

An odd phase of the revival is in making the old foot quilts—coudrepeids — to use on couch or chaise lounge. These quilts are a yard square, and, while following the designs of the larger ones, they are more heavily quilted and have a soft cotton pad tacked inside. They are often finished with a ruffle of the material or one of heavy linen lace.

The nursery has not escaped the revival. Little chairs have the quilted cushions and back pads, while table and bureau scarfs, screen panels and the borders for the unbleached muslin curtains, are all made to match. The patterns are of Mother Goose figures, animals, birds, bunnies, flowers, soldiers, sailors, ships or pastoral scenes. Stenciling helps out in this work, as it is used for the faces, arms and legs of the figures.

The "Nevin" quilt is among the nursery favourites, with its border procession of girls and boys clad in their "nighties and drawers," their curls modestly capped, and carrying yellow flamed candles in their outstretched hands. In the centre there is the wee bed and kneeling figure with the words overhead, "I have to go to bed by day," taken from the Nevin's song. Children love the gay hollyhock quilts, and the brighter the colours of the big flowers the better.

zRhyme quilts have novelty as well as warmth to recommend them. They are quilted in elaborate designs all over excepting a square or circle in the centre and herein the rhyme is embroidered. Some of the rhymes are taken from the Chinese Mother Goose by way of a novelty and here is a sample to see how the jingle takes:

Milky Way.

Whenere the milky way you spy
Diagonal across the sky,
The eggplant you may safely eat,
And all your friends to melons treat,
But when divided toward the west
You'll need your trowsers and your vest;
When like a horn you see it float
You'll need your trowsers and your coat.

You may find many another quaint verse in books on this subject in the nearest library.

SEIZE BROKER ACCUSED IN BIG STOCK ROBBERY

DAVID W. SULLIVAN, NO. 10 WALL STREET, ACCUSED OF RECEIVING STOLEN PROPERTY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The first arrests in the campaign of Edward Swann, District Attorney, to rid the financial district of the gangs who have stolen securities valued at a million dollars in the last six months were made here. Mr. Swann announced that other arrests, which he predicted would be sensational, would follow.

Detectives attached to the Wall Street Squad, under William J. Lahey, Second Deputy Commissioner, upon his return from Washington, D. C., arrested David W. Sullivan, of the brokage firm of Sullivan & Co., at No. 10 Wall Street.

Williams and Sullivan are accused of receiving stolen goods, the items being stock certificates of Crucible Steel, valued at $45,000. Williams, the detectives say, deposited one certificate with the National Savings and Trust Company, in Washington, as a collateral for a loan of $14,000. Sullivan, it is alleged, gave the certificate to Williams.

Firms Are Losers.

The American Surety Company, No. 100 Broadway, which has bonded many employees in Wall Street, in a statement said that the arrest of Sullivan would lead to revelations of thefts of stocks valued at half a million. The surety company gave out the names of several firms who had suffered losses and some of the securities lost.

The arrest of Sullivan and Williams followed the disappearance of two certificates, Nos. 8810 and 8888, for one hundred shares each of Crucible Steel. They were given to a messenger, Frank Parnell, who had been employed by Clark, Childs & Co., No. 135 Broadway, according to the detectives, by the cashier of that firm for delivery to Harriman & Co., at No. 111 Broadway. Parnell disappeared. Investigation of the address he had given in Washington Avenue, the Bronx, failed to reveal any "Frank Parnell," and detectives believe that the messenger was one of many tools used by leaders in the bond gangs. The disappearance of "Parnell" occurred on October 28 last.

At Work for Six Months.

August Mayer and Grover Brown, detective sergeants, and Jerry Ramsberg and Isaac Mindheim, detectives, have been working on complaints of stolen stocks and bonds for six months. They traced the Crucible Steel shares and learned that one certificate had been hypothecated at the Washington bank. Sullivan told the detectives his home is at No. 1,421 G Street, Washington, D. C., and the Pennsylvania Hotel is his address in New York.

Sullivan was taken to the office of Alfred J. Talley, Assistant District Attorney. He said he knew Williams. He told Mr. Talley that he had received the stock from three men whose names he gave as "Enright," "Steel" and "Wall." Their addresses he could not remember, but he said they were on his books. Detectives seized all books and papers in the office of Sullivan & Co.

Sullivan, it is said, told the detectives that he had a bank account of $26,000, but that Secor, Weill & Co., of No. 111 Broadway, a creditor, had placed a court attachment against it. Sullivan will be heard in the Tombs Court. According to the American Surety Company, Norman Bowles is a partner of Sullivan & Co. The firm is a member of the Consolidated Stock Exchange. Mr. Lynch, secretary of the Exchange, identified for the detectives $10,000 in collateral which the firm had deposited with the Exchange.

News of Thefts Suppressed.

The scope of the operations of the stock and bond gange never had been made public. Losses have been incurred and the news of the thefts withheld by firms and by the police. The schemes by which the robberies have been made include the establishment of an employment agency which has placed tools of the schemes of the bond thefts in positions as messengers. These youths have been taught to "stand for a hold-up." The hold-up, the detectives say, is actually staged and the messenger is occasionally beaten to make his story of robbery hold good with his employers.

The detectives complain that lax investigations of applicants for positions have been responsible for scores of thefts. They assert that "Frank "Parnell," evidently a ficticious name, was employed in the morning and disappeared the same day with Crucible Steel shares. Yet no effort had been made to verify the address he gave.

A. J. Talley, Assistant District Attorney, said that a master mind had plotted the machinations by which the robberies had been committed. The chain of persons concerned, he said, include brokers, clerks, messengers, chauffeurs, and men who formerly operated as gunmen in the city.

"We hope to clear up by this arrest the thefts of at least $500,000," he said. "The total robberies that may be traced through the statements of a prisoner may total twice that amount. We have learned that the gang sent the collateral out to the cities where members had established bank accounts and then by borrowing money against the stolen stocks tied up the issues in the banks and so prevented their circulation."

FOURTEEN YEARS FIXED AS LOW LIMIT OF CHILD LABOUR.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A proposal to fix fourteen years as the age under which children may not be admitted to industrial employment will be laid before the International Labour Conference by the Child Labour Committee in the form of an international convention drafted by the committee.

Application to Japan was modified to permit the employment of a child twelve years old, if the elementary school course had been completed, and conditions in India, Persia and other Oriental countries were conceded to be so different that no effort was made to include them in the agreement.

January 1, 1922, was fixed as the date for the convention to become operative.

HER DAUGHTER WAS SAVED FROM OPERATION

Mrs. Wells of Petersburg Tells How.

Petersburg, Va.—"For two years my daughter suffered from a weakness and pains in her right side; at times she was so bad she could not do any work. For two years she was attended by the best physicians here, and both agreed that she would have to be operated on. I suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and at first she refused to take it, but finally consented. From the very beginning it helped her, and now she is entirely well, and telling everybody how much good it has done her."—Mrs. W. D. WELLS, 226 North Adams Street, Petersburg, Va.

If every girl who suffers as Miss Wells did, or from irregularities, painful periods, backache, sideache, dragging down pains, inflammation or ulceration would only give this famous root and herb remedy a trial they would soon find relief from such suffering.

For special advice women are asked to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of forty years experience is at your service.

A TIN KNIFE.

A gold-handled penknife that is so small is could pass through the eye of an ordinary darning needle has been on display in the window of its maker, Solomon L. Baxeter, a Wellesley, Mass., jeweler. Baxter claims it is the smallest penknife in the world. The little knife has two steel blades measuring three thirty-seconds of an inch. Three tiny steel rivets hold the sides and blades in position.

EN AND WOMEN ARE THE GREATEST NATIONAL PRODUCT

ESTING ADDRESS TO THE TERBORO WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB BY THE REV DR. SYMONDS.

H. S. Symonds who gave the address at a regular meeting of Woman's Canadian Club yesterafternoon in the Public Library, an eloquent appeal for a better eration of human beings during eriod of reconstruction.

. James Kendry, president of Club introduced the speaker to members of the Club, which h an organization of but a few of age, embraces a large membip. In a very short address Mrs. ry stated that she sees a bright for the Woman's Canadian of Peterboro and hopes that the will be a great help to the Peterpeople and to the country. Now he women have the franchise it e to study national problems. e conclusion of Mrs. Kendry's s, Mrs. George King delighted udience with a solo.

Liberty of Speech.

er expressing his keen pleasure ing with a Peterboro audience, Symonds spoke briefly of the he sees in Canadian Clubs which is the liberty of speech. he said a place where all topics discussed from every point of "Illustrative of this fact the er told of a cordial hearing Sir w McPhail received at a meetMontreal when, though addresladies, he attacked democracy the franchise. He urged that if the Clubs do not agree with eaker he be given a good hear all know, he continued that we n a critical period of the worlds y, and as we look into the future e affected by our peculiar temnts. If pessimistic we look forwith anxiety; if optimistic the e. Whether optimistic or pesic we must realize times are inly serious.

ough an optimist himself the e believes that it is inevitable the world at large is going to have a severe time during the coming winter. The world has been so closely bound together by steamship, telegraphy and become so unified that when one member suffers all members suffer" I think, the Doctor said that it is one of our most important duties to uphold Germany. Germany is today in the position of the pump into which water must be poured to get the water to run. It is not good to see a country of one hundred million suffer.

Individual Effort.

In grappling with the problem before us individual effort is needed. If one can not do anything else he may attend meetings of the Canadian Clubs. If there is a tendency to look upon Club a as social organization put such a tendency away and look upon it as serious duty. The speaker urged that the National ideal of man before things be cultivated. A national ideal we can none of us achieve, he continued, unless we have an idea of what we want to achieve. Too many people are content if things are going well without asking the question "what is the highest purpose for the individual the community or the church to perform."

Materialism.

Before the war the clergy preached upon the subject of materialism, later that the war was a punishment for materialism. The Doctor admitted that one thing that which puzzled and perplexed him was what materialism really meant. It is an easy enough thing to say face to face yet it was difficult to define. Materialism was supposed to be a desire for the good things life might supply. This never satisfies as materialism is a spirit and may be found in the poorest; in every rank of life.

Greatest National Product.

Continuing the speaker said that the greatest of all national products are men and women. The highest and foremost ideal; the greatest aim and object of the country should be the production of men and women physically and morally superior to those who have gone before. "I pay this tribute to the politicians," he said "we live in a country where we have a large measure of contentment." Yet the statement has never yet been made that the first aim and object will be the character and welfare of men and women and not wealth.

Baby Clinics.

Dr. Symonds gave an interesting description of a visit to the poorer section of Montreal where he learnt the methods of the baby clinics in which he witnessed the struggle for existance the children of the poor experience. We talk of better men and women, he said, yet we pay little attention to the fact the little ones in the community are growing up unhealthy. We don't know what is going on in the poor districts.

The speaker next gave a graphic description of the Laurentine Paper Mills where conditions are made ideal for the workmen and where the welfare of the men comes first.

Eight Hour Day.

Speaking of the eight hour day Dr. Symonds said that he believes it is coming and that he believes it is right. "We are taking long visions today, he continued and looking for the day when the standard of human life will be so raised that the human being will produce double as much in the same time as the man of ages past."

The Best Product.

Let us not say that the best product of Canada are coal and iron or wheat but its manhood. If we could get the slogan of men before things the sacrifices of the war will not have been in vain. Let us lay the offering of beter life for the world on the altar which they have carved upon our hearts.

Practical Application.

Mrs. Kendry urged that all make a practical application of the lesson taught by Dr. Symonds, which she said would be the best way to thank him for his address.

Will Affiliate.

At the conclusion of Dr. Symonds address it was decided by the Club to affiliate with the Women's Council and to hold subsequent meetings in the Public Library as the accommodation is needed on account of the rapid growth to the Club.

The Salt of the Earth.

The entire evaporation of the world's ocean would leave a layer four miles (?) thick.

ANOTHER PETERBORO FAMILY LAYS CLAIM TO THE QUINN MILLIONS

WILL BE DIFFIDULT TO TRACE MOVEMENTS OF THE IRISH SOLDIER WHO LEFT THE FORTUNE.

The Misses Quinn, 164 Stewart street, claim to be closer heirs to the Quinn fortune than Mr. Edward Quinn, 149 Rubidge street. According to the Misses Quinn, their father was the son of the first wife of the direct heir to the $10,000,000.

Legal efforts are being employed in Ireland and America to establish a title to the huge fortune which was left by an Irish soldier, Tom Quinn, a native of Kilmehill, county Clare, who was it is believed was appointed to the 28th Regiment, the "Old Brags" now the Gloster Regiment. He spent a considerable number of years in India evidently acquiring a small fortune. Shortly before the mutiny he bought some parcels of land and this investment is the neucleus from which the vast fortune was formed. Quinn remained in India and on account of his military pursuits some difficulty will be experienced in tracing him as there in some uncertainty as to the regiments in which he served.

There is little difficulty in establishing his identity and connecting both the claimants and his native place County Clare.

It is surmised that he resided for a short time in England and later moved to Miltown, Malbay, County Clare, where he built a substantial house for his wife. Quinn died childless about thirty years ago.

The Information

The first intimation that his heirs were wanted came from a firm of solicitors and from a Nun in one of the religious communities in Chicago, a grandniece of the deceased soldier. While other claimants seek the vast fortune the Quinn family of 164 Stewart street have reason to believe that their claim is the best founded and have Mr. G. N. Gordon working on their behalf to establish their claim.

SICK HEADACHE For Last 10 Years

Headaches affect all-ages and both sexes alike, but in all cases the treatment should be directed to remove the cause for with the cause removed the headaches vanish for all time. What is necessary for a permanent cure is something that will go right to the seat of the trouble. For this purpose it is impossible to find a better remedy for headaches of all descriptions than Burdock Blood Bitters acting as it does on every organ of the body to strengthen, purify and regulate the whole system.

Mrs. Flora Hall, Dominion, N.S., writes:—"I have been troubled with sick headaches for the last ten years. I had lost faith in all remedies until recently a friend of mine advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. This I did, and found relief in a very short time. I would now recommend B.B.B. to anyone who is suffering as I did. I only took 3 bottles, and am never troubled with sick headaches anymore."

B. B. B. has been on the market for over 40 years. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FARMER IS POUNDED TO DEATH ON BOULDERS BY A FRISKY COLT.

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 20.—Peter Hodson, a farmer residing in Keppel, about three miles from here, was killed by a colt which he was leading home. The colt had broken out of its pasture, and wandered into another field, and Mr. Hodson had succeeded in catching it, and started to lead it home when it jumped and pulled him off his feet. His arm was entangled in the rope, and he was dragged around the field, which was covered with boulders. He was about 50 years of age.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—A record price for an American-bred race horse to-day was paid by Gifford A. Cochran, of New York, for Major August Belmont's stallion Fair Play, sire of Man o' War and Mad Hatter.

The animal was sold for $100,000 in cash, and the privilege of breeding ten mares to him each year for three years.

The son of Hastings and Fairy Gold therefore was disposed of for the equivalent of $130,000, it was estimated. The previous highest price paid for a horse bred in America was $70,000, which the late William C. Whitney gave for Hamburg.

The imported racer, Rockland, was sold by Major Belmont in 1913 for $150,000.

POLICEMEN SUSPENDED.

Probe Starts Over Arrest of Ottawa Woman Thought to be Drunk.

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—Sergt.-Major J. Berigan and Sergt. J. Barlow, of the Ottawa police force, have been suspended by Chief Ross, acting upon instructions of the Board of Police Commissioners, at the close of the investigation into the circumstances surrounding the arrest and subsequent detention of the late Mrs. Sarah Shipman.

Mrs. Shipman was taken from a street car and locked up at the police station, the belief being that she was intoxicated. Next morning she was discovered to be seriously ill and was removed to a hospital where she died.

At the investigation much evidence was given which established that the late Mrs. Shipman had not tasted any liquor prior to her being seized with cerebral hemorrhage, which Dr. McKay, superintendent of St. Luke's Hospital, testified was the cause of death.

INJURED AT RICE LAKE.

Cobourg Man the Victim of Shooting Accident.

On Thursday afternoon last, while duck shooting at Rice Lake in company with his father, Col. N. F. MacNachten and Rev. Mr. Bremner, Ted MacNachten, of Cobourg, accidentally discharged the gun he was carrying, the charge entering his arm, tearing away the flesh and shattering the bone. Medical assistance was secured at Roseneath, and on investigation it was feared that amputation would be necessary. With this in view, the doctor ordered his removal to the Cobourg Hospital.

The X-ray equipment at the hospital in this instance proved of great value, and was probably the means of saving the young man's arm, the doctors being able to locate and remove the shot, thus preventing blood poisoning. Mr MacNachten, we understand, is doing as well as can be expected.—Port Hope Guide.

The World Of Sport

TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS IN SPORT

Twenty-seven years in athletics is a fairly good record. The average man would "claim so." Seeing the light of day in Ontario, the year 1892 found Fred J. Lynch wielding a lacrosse stick with the Peterboro team of the O. L. A., in the palmy days when the Indian game was enjoying great prosperity. Following Horace Greeley's advice, Fred finally landed in Nelson, B.C., but did not tarry long. The Salmonbellies were in the straits in their games at Brockton Point and Queen's Park, so the cry went forth for Lynch to "come down and help us." He came and, jumping into the fray, materially assisted the Royals in defeating their rivals from the Terminal City. Time waits for no man they say, so that after several years as an active member of the lacrosse team. Fred decided to switch over to officiating instead of playing. In baseball he is recognized as the leading indicator handler in thecity and district. His fame as a lacrosse referee spreads from coast to coast, while few can find him anything as an authority in boxing and wrestling.

Other portions of his time are devoted to manufacturing cigars and the conservation of the small pittance handed out for the board of works to spend on city streets, Ald. Lynch being chairman of this branch He is a leading figure in local Elkdom and K. of C. circles. He rusticates at his summer residence at Crescent Beach, where he delights to teach the younger element the art of swimming and diving. His favorite authors are Ring Lardner and Charlie Van Loan.

EX-KAISER'S YACHT STRIPPED TO FURNISH EBERT'S RESIDENCE.

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—Almost lost in the shuffle of reactionary unrest agitation, is the news cheering to democratic hearts that two carloads of furnishings from the former Kaiser's yacht, Hohenzollern, arrived in Berlin to furnish President Ebert's new residence. These include 68 cases of imperial linen, silverware and porcelain, and 70 pieces of furniture and carpets.

SPORTING COMMENT

After several years of high-grade winning football, Georgia Tech has failed this year to set afire any gridirons.

It is being whispered in baseball circles that the veteran catcher, Hank Gowdy is to be placed on the block by the Boston Braves.

Jimmy Wilde, the English flyweight champion, now in America, has been fighting nine years and is now only 27 years of age.

The present squable among the American league owners has renewed gossip of a possible third major league next year and another baseball war.

Ted Meredith and a number of other former athletic champions are planning to try a comeback for the Olympic games in Belgium next summer.

The public sale of Yale-Princeton football tickets at New Haven proved a bloomer. The speculators got the tickets and the public got the razz.

Jim Flyyn, who belongs to the old school of white heavyweights, is still in the boxing game. While not the smashing battler of old the "Pueblo Fireman" is still able to go some.

In the scoring of over 100 points this season Rodgers, the star fullback of the West Virginia football team has earned the title of "King of the Crossbar."

Eddie Casey, the Harvard football star, was about to enter Princeton, when he had a change of heart and cast his lot with Harvard so that he might be able to stick near his own side.

The University of Vermont football team can sympathize with the Philadelphia baseball team. Out of seven games played the Vermonters have been shut out in five of them.

PRINCE'S JEWELS VANISH A MYSTERY IN LONDON

LONDON.—Scotland Yard has not yet obtained any definate clue to the whereabouts of the jewels stolen in such mysterious circumstances from the flat of Prince Felix Youssoupoff in Parkside, Knightsbridge. The police, through Scotland Yard, have circulated to all jewellers and dealers in precious stones a complete list of the gems stolen from the prince.

They include over 100 selected diamonds, as well as a number of emeralds, the whole being valued at £7,000. They were contained in a long envelope, tied with string and sealed with red wax, the seal having the impression of a laurel leaf. Inside were 16 smaller envelopes, apportioned by the experts for valuation purposes.

Detectives engaged in the case are handicapped by the fact that they have so far no definite information as to the actual identity of every visitor to the prince's flat on the night of the party. The suggestion that there is any political significance attached to the robbery is without foundation. On the contrary, it is known that the jewels had been in this country practically since the first 12 months of the war. They are described as being large straw-colored stones, ill-shaped and thick, which had been extracted from antique jewelry.

HAS TWO HEARTS.

Denver—Ira J. Salyards, on consulting a physician after experiencing difficulty in mounting heights, discovered that he has two hearts and other freakishly misplaced organs. These are functioning correctly. This is apparently the first case of the kind in medical experience.

What the Local Playhouses Have to Offer—News of the Movie World.

Griffith Put Merlin's Magic Into "Broken Blossoms"

PICTURE COMING TO THE GRAND NEXT WEEK.

The Griffith mind is delicately sensitive rather than keenly psychologic or cleverly analytical For two years the Griffith mind has reacted to the "Limehouse Night" tale from which "Broken Blossoms" has just evolved, the while Griffith, the showman, has regaled his public with flag flying and horn blowing.

Now ,with a theme as fragrant as lotus leaves, as far away as bronze gongs echoing in the incense wreathed silence of Buddhan temples, Griffith gets closer to art than he has ever been. There is no spectacular propaganda, very little trite sentimentalism, about the picture now at the Illinois Theatre ."Broken Blossoms" is pure Greek in its simplicity and the sure relentlessness of its tragedy —a tragedy whch is slow, but never heavy Comedy interludes in "Broken Blossoms" would have been off-key.

A few new camera tricks—floods of rosy light verging toward heliotrope; closeups framed in a glow of Chinese indigo; the frequent veiling of the lens to dim the scene to the soft indistinctness of a gray etching —and the sordidness of East London slums is uplifted to the lofty plane of the tranquil Orient.

The principal characters are only three—and of these Richard Barthelmess surprised me most. Here is a juvenile built along the most correctly conventional lines, giving, as Cheng Huan, a saffron Galahad, who comes out of the East, a flawless performance in perfect tempo with the slow movement of the tragedy.

The adolescent beauty of Lillian Gish glorifies Lucy, the unloved cockney waif, who pulls her shawl tightly about her pinched shoulders, rushes the growler for "Battling" Burrows and cowers in unreasoning frenzy before his drunken blows.

Donald Crisp, as "Battling" is a gladiator of no illusions, a hairy, popeyed gorilla, holding the child in a reign of terror

The love of a yellow man for a white child wasn't an easy thing to picture. It has just been suggested here—with exquisite finesse.

"Broken Blossoms" is art—whether black or white, I don't know.—Rob. Reel in "Chicago American."

"LORD AND LADY ALGY"

A ROMANCE OF ROYALTY AND RACING.

Lord and Lady Algy, which is Tom Moore's newest vehicle, received such favourable comment wherever shown, that the management of the Allen Theatre decided to hold it for a three days' run, commencing next Monday instead of the usual two days. The picture combines some of the most colourful spectacles with a beautiful and dramatic story. A huge ball-room scene and the running of the Derby are both shown vividly on the screen. The limitations of the theatre strike one especially in a picture of this kind, in which the important events are picturized, a thing physically impossible for the stage to accomplish.

QUICK WIT OF GIRL FOILS SCOUNDREL IN "A SPORTING CHANCE"

In "A Sporting Chance" presenting that beautiful and fascinating star Ethel Clayton, at the Allen Theatre to-day and to-morrow, the quick wit bares the machinations of a scheming blackmailer an prevents him from carrying out his nefarious designs.

Miss Clayton plays the role of Carey Brent, a girl quick to carry out every impulse which suggests itself to her. Her first impulse is to reform a man whom she believes is a notorious convict who has escaped when she encounters him on a country road, and employs as her chauffeur.

Then begins a strange romance. Society bud and common thief! And with the climax comes a twist of fate that is startling, sublime an—not to be missed.

THISTLE SILAGE SAVED SITUATION

Many Farmers in Colorado Made Ensilage From Weeds.

Six years ago there were about twenty silos in the State of Colorado. At the close of this year there will be over four thousand. There were about fifteen hundred built this year. Colorado raised no corn ten years ago. The crop this year is valued at $128,000,000. Two or three counties are growing as much corn as anything else.

The silo is doing wonders in this State. The year 1918 was very dry in some sections. One farmer was compelled to fill his silos with Russian thistles, and thereby saved 110 head of steers. He was offered ten dollar a head more for his steers in the spring than he was offered in the fall. Russian thistles, being fluffy and hard to pack, should be weighted with other silage to keep better.

One farmer saved himself from financial ruin by a silo that he filled a year or two before. Another farmer bought and hauled corn six miles for his silo, and this kept him from being sold out.

It has been recommended that almost anything will do for the silo in case of necessity. Crops and weeds of all winds have been used successfully. The silage is not always the best, but it prevents starvation and enables the farmer to retain his home and keep his family together. Farmers are learning that the silo will "tide them over" in years of shortage, and more will probably be built next year than were this year.

During four summers spent in this State, two of which were very dry, I have learned conditions well enough to say that by the righ system of farming no season will be dry enough to seriously injure the farmer in any part of the State.

GOAT WEED CUTTERS.

Quakertown, Pa.—The owner of Gulick farm, near Hilltown, Pa., has solved the high cost of clearing away ivy and weeds along the fences of his place. He has turned loose a small flock of goats, and the surplus foliage is rapidly disappearing

"GLORIANNA"

Rudolf Friml, composer of the great New York musical comedy success, "Glorianna" which plays at the Grand on Saturday matinee and evening was born in 1881. He took up the study of piano with Anton Dvorak when only nine years old. His first apearance in America was made during a concert tour with Kubelik with whom he studied at Prague and was a Bohemian, like himself. He accompanied Kubelik on concert tours of England, Germany, Italy and Russia.

After this tour Mr. Friml went to Dresden where he composed a Japanese ballad entitled "To Japan" which is still very popular on the other side. Another important composition was a "Christmas Carol". Since he wrote the latter he has forsaken the piano entirely and is devoting all his time to writing music. He has a piano concerto in Major, which was played by the New York Symphony Orchestra in 1906.

His first operatic composition was "The Firefly" in which Emma Trentini starred. He has also written "Katinka", "Everybody's Sweetheart", "You're in Love" and "High Jinks".

To "Glorianna" he has given his best efforts, for the comedy fairly bubbles over with its number of snappy, catchy and tuneful songs. Such songs as "Love, Love, Love", a waltz number, "Nanette and Rintintin", "Why don't You Speak for Yourself John" and "Frocks and Frills" will be whistled by local playgoers long after the show has left town.

"Glorianna" will be produced here on an elaborately pretentious basis and carries considerable scenery. The settings are said to be the most attractive taken out of New York this season. The principals are all well known people in musical comedy, good singers and graceful dancers. The now famous "Glorianna" rainbow chorus of Broadway beauties also play an important part in the production.

Seats for the "Glorianna" engagement there are already on sale at the Grand Theatre.

AT THE GRAND ONE DAY ONLY

Valeska Suratt will be seen at the Grand Theater for to-day only in "The Soul of Broadway," a William Fox play, dealing with the night life of New York, especially the life on Broadway. The play is said to contain some very sensational scenes, calculated to startle all who see them. A page has ben torn from that book of life which only Broadway knows, and has been transferred to the screen with all its realism.

The story is that of a Broadway adventuress, who plays with men as a cat toys with a mouse. Money is her god ,and she must always have it in plenty to be happy. If one man cannot give it to her, another must. In this way she makes a wreck out of a banker, who is madly infatuated with her. He steals from the bank of which he is president, calls on the woman, and when she attempts to shoot him he is arrested for attempted murder. His defalcations are known, and he goes to prison for five years. He comes out old and gray, and his meeting with the woman who sent him to prison, as well as the sequel of this meeting, is most dramatic and sensational.

GYMNASIUM FOR U. F. O. CABINET.

TORONTO, Nov. 18.—"But I am not going to allow my cabinet ministers to go to seed in their new positions," said Premier Drury. "I am on the lookout for a good gymnasium where they can spend a little time in exercise that will keep them fit. By so doing, I am hoping to relieve some of the strain of office that is bound to be felt by the Ministers as they contigue their duties."

"EXPERIENCE"

George V. Hobart's wonderful play "Experience", although the present season is its sixth, never seems to lose any of its appeal and effect. With many of the same splendid caste as last season and with the other roles entrusted to capable new comers to the company this cross section of human life was seen at the Grand last night, delighting a capacity audience. The story of "Experience" is so well known that but little explanation is required here. Theatre-goers remember how graphically the play pictures the travels of Youth in search of adventure and success, how led on by Ambition he leaves Love at home and starts gaily out into the great world. His meeting with "Experience" the world's greatest school-teacher" who accompanies him on his adventures, the alliance of Youth in the Primrose Path where introduced by Pleasure, he meets Wealth, Style, Frivolity, Passion, Intoxication and many other habitues of the world of Pleasure the loss of his money in the corridors of Chance and his quick descent down theladder to the lowest depths until he is finally rescued by the thoughts of his mother brought to his memory by hearing the hymn she used to love, all are set forth in Mr. Hobarth's remarkable play. It is a score of sermons rolled into one.

A large and most capable caste has been provided by Messrs. Comstock and Gest. he part of Youth, a most exciting role which calls for the one who plays it to run through the whole gamut of human emotion. was admirably presented by Donald Scanlan, a young actor of ability and charm. R. Van Renselar was "Experience", Youth's mentor and his lines which pointed the many morals of the play were declaimed with telling affectiveness. These are the big parts of the production but many of the other members of the company have roles that call for histrionic ability of a high standard and they rise to the occasion. For instance William Betts, seen last year in the double role of the roulette dealer and of Grouch scored a personal hit again last night in these parts. Maude Gage Fyles was another who put over two different impersonations most successfully winning laurels as Intoxication in the third scene that were repeated in her portrayal of Frailty in the sixth episode.

The scenic investiture is necessarily elaborate as there are ten episods in all in the pilgrimage of Youth. some of the biggest scenes being a New York cabaret, a gambling house a Bowery restaurant and a cocaine den.

When the feet burn, bathe them daily with water in which there is a little bicarbonate of soda.

The Roman aqueducts were marvels of architecture. The Anio was 48 miles long; the Martio, 41, of which 38 miles were on 7,000 arcades 70 feet high; and the Claudia was 47 miles long, the arches being 100 feet high. HANDS REVEAL WOMAN'S CHARACTER

If you are looking for the womanly woman for a wife, then search for the girl whose fingers are very long and smooth, and the tips of these same fingers inclined to be square. She should at the same time possess a long, rather slender thumb—not too broad at the top.

She is the one to whom you may tell your secrets, knowing they are safe. Tell her also all that may annoy or worry you—she will listen attentively, and at the close she will give you her understanding and her sympathy.

You will be much comforted, for her optimism will send you back to the cold world with brighter visions and a lighter heart.

She is the one true home woman and will gladly labor to keep it attractive. As she is honest, she will never fail to pay your bills, and your hard-earned money will never be spent on some passing fad.

Her wideawake imagination will see through practical problems, and therefore she will be capable of very quickly and quietly solving them. Her intuitive inspiration will serve to better advantage than all your mental and logical conclusions.

She is the mother of whom her children are proud—the sweetheart from whom a man never cares to stray—and the best friend a man can make in this world.

She Who Lives For Romance.

Should you discover that your sweetheart has fingers of medium length tapering gradually toward a narrow tip, with medium thumb, you have found one who lives for romance. The girl seldom cares how much your income is, but only "Do you love her?"

If you have imagination, then by all means use it. Tell her all the fairy tales you can invent, and as long as they deal with your real or pretended emotion for her, she will listen with the greatest of attention.

When this hand is small as to size, soft, with a short thumb, it would then be the hand of one who loves luxuries in every conceivable form. An easy and smooth life wanted, and nothing else. This woman is quite capable of adorning a rich man's home; but a poor man had better stay away. These women generally demand, and others provide.

Should this same hand have a thumb that is long and slender, the whole firm to the touch, and a slight flattening of the tip of the thumb, and the tip of the first finger, many good characteristics will be found; also various lovable traits and a kind nature.

She will be emotionally religious, fond of reading (love stories); will be spontaneously generous; will love all kinds of music, and as a rule, just one man—all her life.

The Common Sense Variety.

The third type is something like the first, but there is quite a difference when it is carefully studied.

Should she have square tipped fingers rather long but the knuckles rather prominent, with a good sized thumb that is flattened at the top—be careful how you speak. Common sense is the watchword of this woman, and her word of honor the second.

As this woman loves good taste, she will at all times prefer to hear what you have in mind, in a manner showing your respect for her mentality. Her own mind is evenly balanced, thoroughly developed, and at all time strictly conventional. To interest this woman you will have to tell her your business, your prospects and your hopes for future success.

Sometimes she is called cold, hard hearted, unloving, and unsympathetic. But this is not so. She simply commands her own emotions, making them subject to her will, and even when she lives devotedly, seldom allows the reins to fall from her practical hands.

Constant, practical, sensible and homelike, this woman proves her worth in the end.

If her hand is exceedingly long and supple, she will work and slave for the man she loves without a murmur, taking life as it comes. She literally accepts her husband for "better or for worse."

The "Clinging Vine."

Finally, there is the tiny handed girl with a small thumb-a little piece of softness that makes your heart go pitter-pat when you hold it. It is hard to tell, but there is an old saying that a small thumbed woman cannot keep a secret, and she will never shoulder burdens—the true and rightful "clinging vine" sort. Who ever saw a large handed woman demanding homage? It has always been the small hand that has been kissed with bended knee—for the simple reason that the large and long-handed woman "wouldn't stand for it." She would laugh, and that would spoil the tableau.

Small thumbed women and sometimes small handed women show cleverness, but is more often by the tricky way. It is put on, or bluffed—for small handed people, both men and women, make good actors, being always clever at mimicry and counterfeiting emotions.

When The Day Is Over

When the household cares and the worries of everyday life have dragged you down, made you unhappy, and there is nothing in life but headache, backache and worry, turn to the right prescription, one gotten up by Dr. Pierce fifty years ago.

Everything growing out of the ground seems intended for some use in establishing natural conditions. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., long since found out what is naturally best for woman's diseases. He learned it all through treating thousands of cases. The result of his studies was a medicine called Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is made of vegetable growths that nature surely intended for backache, headache, weakening pains, irregularities, inflammations, and for the many disorders common to women in all ages of life. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is made of lady's slipper root, black cohosh root, unicorn root, blue cohosh root and Oregon grape root. Dr. Pierce knew, when he first made this standard medicine, that whiskey and morphine are injurious, and so he has always kept them out of his remedies. Women who take this standard remedy know that in Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription they are getting a safe woman's tonic so good that druggists everywhere sell it, in liquid or tablet form.

HOW EPSOM SALTS ARE OBTAINED

NO REASON WHY IT SHOULD NOT ALWAYS BE AN INEXPENSIVE FORM OF MEDICINE.

A new industry has been started in Canada, that of mining Epsom salts, says a consular report. The discovery of large deposits of these salts was made a few years ago in British Columbia. But it is only now that they are being marketed to any extent in Canada. The deposits are located in a chain of five lakes near Basque, British Columbia.

The formation of these deposits is particularly interesting. The surface of the salt lake is a mass of hard, white crystal. Slabs of salt are cut out by saws similar to those used in ice harvesting. Underneath this hard crystal is a liquid of the same chemical nature, which, when it oozes up and comes in contact with the sun and air, becomes hard and can be cut into slabs just the same as the top surface. The investigation shows that the deposits are at least 40 feet deep, and an analysis by a government chemist shows that the salts are practically 100 per cent. pure magnesium sulphate.

The lakes are of the basin variety and are in the dry belt, where the combined rain and snow fall does not exceed five inches annually. The deposits are covered with water from the last of March until June or July. The hot, dry summer winds evaporate the water very rapidly, and during most of the year the magnesium sulphate may be removed easily. The salts occur in solidified masses of varying shapes and sizes, surrounded by mud rings.

MR. BURNHAM DISCUSSES THE GRATUITY QUESTION

TELLS GREAT WAR VETERANS THAT THE DOOR HAS NOT YET BEEN CLOSED AGAINST A FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF THE PROBLEM BY THE GOVERNMENT.

THE MEMBER'S EXPLANATION

A large audience of Peterboro's returned soldiers gathered in the G. W. V. A. Hall last night to hear Mr. J. H. Burnham, Federal member of West Peterboro, discuss the question of gratuities and of the civil re-establishment of Canada's soldiers the speaker was given an attentive hearing and after answering a number of questions was thanked by the meeting for his address.

President H. J. Staunton of the G.W.V.A. presided.

What is the difference between what Canada has done for the Returning Soldier and what the Returning Soldier thinks Canada should have done for him? asked Mr. Burnham. That is the true text of my subject to-night. I will not deal with any of the troubles prior to the Armistice and will thus confine myself wholly to Canada's plan for the restoration of the soldier to civil life.

In part III of the Report of the Special Committee of the House of Commons to amend and improve Re-establishment will be found these words:—"Canada's Army numbered about 596,441. Our total male population under 45 years of age at the outbreak of the war was about 3,700,000, so that it will be readily seen that our national economic life was rather seriously upset by the withdrawal of about 1 in every 6 of what might be estimated the effective male population. To meet the new situation many re-adjustments were made and when faced with the problem of re-establishment of ex-members of the Canadian Forces the conditions so created had again to be re-adjusted." That official statement of the House of Commons Committee is a correct statement of the whole problem. The difficulty which has since arisen is that this re-adjustment of the soldier to his former economic condition has only partially taken place. That is admitted. If justice is to be done to the soldier therefore that re-adjustment or its equivalent must not be left in its present unfinished condition, but must be completed. In my opinion that so-called re-adjustment by Canada and its governments is not to be compared with the response of the soldiers themselves to the call of war or with the re-adjustment of industry in Canada in relation to its industrial war problems as they arose. The soldiers did their parts perfectly. The response of industry was most gratifying.

Re Government.

The response of the government has been neither systematic nor complete. It has produced the confusion and irritation which an imperfectly managed administration of the soldiers re-establishment in civil life is sure to produce. That is the whole case stated in general term., I think. Let us now examine the matter more in detail in order to see in what this administrative failure consists. It consists almost wholly in failure to find suitable employment for some of the returned soldiers and the soldier is now fighting against any attempt to make him the scape-goat of administrative incapacity. Failure is sure to fall upon someone and the soldier is determined that it shall not fall upon him. It is useless for the governments of Canada to boast how much they have done if even one soldier remains unprovided for, if it is not his own fault. A census of the returned soldiers would show how many, through no fault of their own have not been provided with suitable employment and except in a general way I am unable to find that it has been held. The bridge over the gap between discharge and civil re-establishment was a matter of dollars and cents and was at first fairly well provided for. But the adjustment of a repatriated soldier after he crossed that bridge and almost a stranger in his own country was not taken in hand with the soldier individuality although the soldier must be re-adjusted individually and not in the mass.

Mistake Made.

There is where the mistake has been made, said Mr. Burnham, the bridge of dollars and cents where necessary between the returning soldier and his work in civil life until such time as the government can say "We have offered you all a suitable niche to get into. You are re-adjusted as you would have re-adjusted yourselves if it had been left to you. Our task is one." That extension of the bridge and the re-adjustment of every individual solier has not yet been provied for and the unrest of the idle soldier will continue until they are all provided for and justly so. When the Report of the Special Committee was brought in for adoption as final it met with such strenuous opposition from the G. W. V. A. and their friends in theHouse that the Minister in charge of it, Mr. Caller, agreed that it should not be adopted as final but simply be received and that the whole matter of re-establishment should be left open for further consideration not by the Committee but by the government itself. This compromise was sustained by a large majority and the investigation of the soldiers further recommendations is still proceeding. Major Anidrews withdrew his amendment in the face of this excellent arrangement. The only other motion or amendment beside the one voted on before the House was Mackenzie King's which read as follows: "That the said motion or amendment be not concurred in but that the said report now under consideration be sent back to the said Committee for further consideration." This amendment contains no suggestion whatever. Even the Examiner would not have voted for it in preference to the one which carried pledging the government to re-open the whole question.

Actual Need.

For the information of the public it should be stated that the basis of the soldiers' complaint is always and only the actual need of the soldier. No one can deny that where actual need honestly exists it should be provided for by employment and its auxiliaries an therefore the hope may be reasonably hoped for. The situation was seriously disturbed by the statement of the government that it had no money for further suggestions when as a matter of fact it had plenty of money for new business transactions portions of which are open to very serious criticism. But even worse than that is the fact that vast profits were made during the war by people at home over and above their ordinary pre-war intake and instead of taking all these extra profits the soldier finds that the government has left very large amounts in the hands of profiteers who not only now enjoy a luxury they could not attempt before but who in many cases go about telling other people what their standard of conduct must be. Is it any wonder that the soldier is enraged? When I suggested in reply to a question from the minister asking how further money could be raised, that it would be easy to raise a soldiers' loan as no money of the other loans had gone out of the country, he asked me how the interest was to be paid on say a four hundred million soldiers' loan.

The Answer.

The answer of course was, and that those people who made money out of the war over and above their pre-war intake should be made to give up that money for this purpose and the soldier cannot do better than see that it is done. This amount together with the one hundred million thrown to the speculators in G. T. R. stocks would pay the interest and part of the sinking fund on a soldiers' loan. The balance can be provided for out of natural resources. In a word the soldiers' re-establishment has not been properly or adequately completed. If further money is needed it can be and should be obtained. As the two old political parties have been preceeded by others such as the piupical force (or majority) party, the women's party, the Labor party, the Conservotive and Liberal groups, the U. F. O. etc., it is plain that if everybody who belongs to some party there is no longer room for the independent elector. This fact will no doubt influence the G. W. V. A., said Mr. J. H. Burnham in conclusion.

WILL GET $7,404.

Hon. W. R. Rollo's Salary Will be This

Hon. Walter R. Rollo, Minister of Health and Labour, will receive in salary, sessional indemnity and mileage $7,404. If there are two sessions of the House in one year he will receive $1,404 additional. His salary as Minister is $6,000 per year. Private members of the House receive $1,400 and mileage, the latter amounting to 10 cents per mile.

There is some talk of the new Government cutting down the pay of the Ministers. It is said that Premier-designate Drury has evidenced a desire to have his own salary cut from $12,000 per year to $8,500 and other Ministers accordingly.

In regard to the eight-hour day principle of Labour it is stated that the Farmers and Labourites have agreed on a compromise. The eight-hour principle is to apply to towns and cities only, leaving the rural districts to "enjoy" the usual 12 to 14 hours per day in the busy seasons.

G. T. R. OVERPAY WOULD BUILD LINES.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Speaking before the Ontario Municipal Electric Association, Sir Adam Beck declared the Federal Government has overpaid the Grand Trunk Railway an amount that would have sufficed to build all Hydro-radials contemplated by the people of Ontario.

DRINKING A GLASS OF HOT WATER IS A SPLENDID HABIT

Cleanse and Sweeten the System Each Morning and Wash Away Poisonous, Stagnant Matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise; splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, can, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire ailmentary tract before eating more food.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a fine appetite for breakfast. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store, but is enough to make anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism an enthusiast on internal sanitation.

RAILROAD MAN GAINS 25 POUNDS

BEFORE TANLAC BUILT HIM UP WAS SO RUN DOWN HE LOST LOTS OF TIME FROM WORK.

"No sir, I wasn't much surprised," said August P. Newman, of 804 Greenfield Ave., Milwaukee, Wis., in an interview recently, "when I got on the scales the other night and found that I had gained twenty-three pounds, for I have been eating like a wolf and picking up ever since I finished my first bottle of Tanlac, a little more than two months ago."

Mr. Newman has lived in Milwaukee, for nearly forty-five years and is employed as switchman for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad in the Union Depot yards. He has been in tte service of this company for the past fifteen years and is well known, especially, among railroad people.

"Tanlac is certainly the finest medicine going for a person in the shape I was," he continued, "My stomach had been in a mighty bad fix for twelve years, or more, and I was also having trouble with my back and just seemed to be generally playing out. After a meal—and I always had to be very careful what I ate—I would bloat up with gas as tight as a drum and I couldn't bear my belt around me. There were many things I could not eat without just suffering agony afterwards. I also had severe pains in my hips and back and would get so dizzy sometimes while bending over to turn a switch that I would nearly fall over. My back was also very weak and hurt me so it was all I could do to bend over and throw a switch. Many a time I was in so much misery I coul not stay on the job, and I lost lots of time on account of my condition. It would take nearly all my wind going up and down the box cars and if I had to run a short distance I was fagged out after a night's work that I would have to drag myself home.

"But things are altogether different with me now, for I am just like a new man and never miss a night's run. I can now sit down and eat just anythig—even pickle and pastries, things I wouldn't dare touch before— without the least trouble afterwards. I used to be so nervous the least thing would upset me and I couldn't rest well, but now I can sleep like a log even while the piano is being played in the next room to me. My back used to ache so bad that I would have to prop it with pillows while sitting down, but now its the rarest thing that I ever feel even the slightest pain, and I never have a dizzy spell. Tanlac has put me in first class shape and if anyone doubts this statement just send them to me at the depot during the night or at my home during the day."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle and Son.

LOOKS LIKE DEAD WIFE, SO HE WINS HER IN TEN WEEKS.

ALLENTOWN—Because Linda A. Wotring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Woaring, looked like his dead wife, she became the bride of John Kohler, of Kuntztown.

The marriage was the result of an unusual romance. Ten weeks ago they had never heard of each other. Then a friend of Miss Wotring told her she was the exact image of the first wife of Mr. Kohler, who was a young widower, bereaved just before the war. This friend had also told Mr. Kohler that in Miss Wotring was a young lady who was a duplicate of his deceased wife. He became curious and sought an introduction. He found the resemblance true as to looks, figure, voice and even gesture. The young people fell in love at first sight, and in a few days their engagement was announced.

"OFFICIALLY DEAD," HE ATTENDS SCHOOL.

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 20.—Although military authorities notified his wife three times that Pte. George Lee, her husband, had been killed in action, and sent her a death certificate dated 16th October, with a message of sympathy, the "officially dead" soldier has been attending a vocational training class and his tuition fee is being paid by the Government whose records show him "killed in action."

Lee returned last June, received his discharge, his gratuity payments commenced, and he began a Government vocational training course at the Technical School.

For two years the sores on his eyes and forehead were so bad that he was unable to see. This wonderful ointment has entirely cured my boy, and I cannot express my gratitude for his marvellous recovery."

COUNTRY HAS LOST MILLIONS THROUGH A MISTAKEN POLICY

READINESS OF PEOPLE TO BUY TAXABLE BONDS PROVED BY 1919 LOAN.

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—The moral of the present Victory Loan, which has been heavily oversubscribed, would appear to be that because of a mistaken or a deliberate policy pursued in connection with past domestic loans, millions of dollars have been lost to the Dominion.

The Government in the past has always contended that unless the bonds were free from the incidence of income tax the public would not be attracted sufficiently to purchase them, and as a consequence there are upwards of a billion and a half dollars worth of Canadian bonds in the country today upon which the taxpayers must pay interest annually at five and a half per cent. but which cannot be touched by the income tax.

In Hands of Few.

This exemption to large holders is worth thousands of dollars annually and naturally these bonds are more and more becoming concentrated in the hands of the few who enjoy incomes of large proportions, which are thus made immune from the tax collector.

Public opinion finally forced the Government to abandon the tax-exemption feature of its borrowing and the present loan was raised subject to income tax. Inasmuch as the loan was oversubscribed in the face of being subject to taxation, it is obvious that the Government during the war underesimated the patriotism of a people which never repudiated any sacrifice imposed upon it during the period of the conflict. Incidentally tens of millions of dollars have been lost to the treasury of the Dominion.

AFTER PASTURE FEED PROBLEM

Keep Up Milk Flow With Liberal Feeding of Roughage.

With the pasturing season at an end, every owner of dairy cows should begin to plan his winter feeding, says C. H. Eckles, University Farm, St. Paul, U.S.A. Cows often suffer more for lack of feed between the time when the pasture is good and the time when winter feeding in earnest begins than they do after winter is really at hand. Every experienced feeder has learned that it is easy to let cows decline in milk as a result of poor feed, but very hard to bring them back. A good production for the year is possible only when the cow is kept at a high level of milk production all the time.

Succulent Feed a Mainstay.

The foundation of all good dairy rations is a succulent feed, either silage or roots, and a legume hay, which means clover or alfalfa. Just as soon as the grass begins to get short, therefore, the feeding of silage and hay should begin. It never pays to scrimp on roughage. Let the cows have as much as they will eat up clean all the time. That is what a cow is for—to convert roughage into milk. If silage and legume hay are on hand the rest of the feeding is not so hard.

A good grain mixture should contain at least three different feeds, one of which is rather high in protein. A good grain mixture for cows of medium production is ground corn or barley four parts, oats or bran two parts, linseed meal one part.

The grain fed should vary with the milk produced. The man who feeds all his cows the same amount of grain never feeds economically. The cow that is milking heavily is the one to receive the liberal grain allowance.

Man is a creature that lives not by bread alone but principally by catch words.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

WHAT THE PRESS HAS DONE FOR THE CHURCH

(By J. LEWIS MILLIGAN, of "The Globe," Toronto.)

It is no easy task that the editor has set for me in requesting that I write on this subject. The Press has wielded such a wide and intimate influence in every department of modern life that it would be impossible to set forth just what it has done for any one section of the community.

From my own observation as a newspaper man, who has for some years been in close touch with the sources of church news, the first thing that strikes me in thinking upon the matter is the great value of the Press as an agency of publicity. In these days, when everybody believes that "it pays to advertise," one need not enlarge upon the importance of publicity in modern ecclesiastical affairs. The Church plays a far greater part in the national life and in the government of Canada than in any other part of the British Empire. The pronouncements of the courts of the various Churches are published broadcast throughout the Dominion in the form of news, and have decided influence upon public opinion and sometimes upon the politics of governments.

No one will deny to the Churches of Canada the credit for being perhaps the greatest agency for stimulating and guiding national patriotism during the period of the war. Practically the whole of the organizations of the Churches were given up to promoting the cause of the Allies. Preachers insistently called for recruits from every walk of life and for every kind of service, and they lifted the campaign against Prussianism to the level of a crusade. How much the Press did toward widening the influence of the Churches in their war activities is not a thing to be calculated; but it may be confidently stated that no utterance from the pulpits that was worth reproducing was overlooked.

At the many critical crisis that occurred druing the progress of the war, it was to the pulpit that the Press turned for words of comfort and inspiration. The preacher never before had such an opportunity of influencing public opinion and sentiment, and he rose loyally to the occasion. But it was the Press that made his influence possible and carried the message beyond the four walls of his church. The newspaper gave him a national congregation. If a preacher uttered any new thought upon the struggle that was being waged overseas, that thought would be sure to find its way to the newspapers. If there was no reporter to take it down, some member of the congregation would carry it away and tell a friend, the friend would mention it to a newspaper man, and before or after midnight on Sunday evening a reporter would 'phone the preacher out of his bed and demand that he deliver his sermon into the receiver.

I might pause here to preach a little sermon to the preachers on the good grace of getting out of bed for the Press at midnight without losing faith in the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians. I have personally had some sharp encounters with the brethern of the cloth at the "witching hour." The fact that they had doffed the black garb for flimsier apparel may have accounted for their irritability; they probably thought it unseemingly to address the public, even through the Press, attired in a pyjama suit. I have sometimes wondered how some of the pre-millennium brethern would respond to the call if the Lord came at midnight.

I would advise all city preachers to suffer long and be kind to the representatives of the Press; it is not only good religion, it is good policy. A preacher should be as ready to respond to the call of the Press as the doctor s to the call of a patient. Remember that the morning newspaper which you enjoy so much at the breakfast table is conceived and born in mental and physical toil and travail when you are resting peacefully and indulging in foolsh dreams upon your pllo ws.

Having now delivered this long-deserved whack at preachers, I will proceed to apply beefsteak to the black-eye. Let me say at once that they are not all thus. Indeed, the great majority are anxious to keep on the best possible terms with the Press, and I have known preachers to offer whole sermons for publication. Editors have not always taken advantage of such bursts of ienerosity, but with the advent of the religious editorial, the life and pweir of the preached word is being extended. This form of leading article was one of the innovations of the period of national stress through which we have passed in the last five years. Whether it is to be a permanent feature or not, it is certain that the Church and the Press will be drawn into closer co-operation in the future, to the immense improvement of both.

Newspapermen are regarded by the average churchman as a Godless lot, impervious to the most searching sermon, and cynically indifferent to what the Church regards as epochmaning movements. This may appear to be the case of the average reporter; but it must be remembered that the art of reporting is the art of onlooking, and the reporter is more or less a mechanical medium between the event and the public, and he must keep his head even if the whole world goes mad.

It must be admitted that a church assignment is not the most popular with reporters generall, and where a young man is forced to cover churches against his inclination, he either becomes a cynic or a hypocrite. I recall my first "round" of the church offices in Toronto in company with a reporter who had been doing the work for some time. He seemed on the most intimate terms with every denomination of Christendom, and he could discuss freely of "fore-knowledge and free-will, free-will and fore-knowledge absolute." As we were enterng the furth elevator I ventured to enquire of my guide what denomination he himself belonged to, and he replied laconically:

"I'm a Calithumpian."

I am obliged to say that most reporters belong to that same denomination. The moral of all this is that editors should use dacreion in the choice of men for routine assignments. Variety is the spice of life, and a funeral is an excellent sedative for a smart scribe, while a sporting event is a good tonic for a church-news gatherer. But for continuous routine work each man should be a specialist in the department he is assigned to, and should have some taste for it. If this rule were more closely observed there would be less misrepresentation, and th public would take a more intelligent interest in church affairs. Even the best of reporters make mistakes, and some church people are hard to please. It must be borne in mind that the reporter's chief quest is for news, he is not a publicity agent; he stands between the general public and the particular section of society that he is dealing with, and he must present his news so as to make it interesting to the largest number of readers.

For the most part, the treament of church news in Canada has been "sympathetic"; but there is a tendency to pick out the most startling feature in a piece of news, which, while it attracts the reader, gives a distorted impression of the facts. This "featuring" has become a vicious practice in journalism on this continent. It has its advantages in giving pont and nterest to a story, but it has been overdone, and in the hands of the unscrupulous I can be positively pernicious. On the other hand, the Church itself has indulged in "features"—"Billy" Sunday for instance! Be it said in behalf of that genial evangelist that he is a hero with the average newspaper man, whose one test of fame is "pep." The preacher who announces that he is going to preach on the latest topic of the day will naturally receive more attention from the Press than he who advertises that he is about to begin a series of sermons on the Christian doctrines. The preacher who can, in a convincing and sane manner, co-relate the message of the church with the passing events of national and individual life is the man who knows his business best, and he will not be neglected by the best newspapers.

There is no better judge of a good sermon than an experienced newspaper man. No preacher can "put it over" a reporter with a notebook and a pencil. Mere oratory and sentiment are dismissed with one word—"bull." I have sat under quiet preachers whom I could not take down fast enough, and I have yawned uner firebrand orators who raged and fumed and said nothing. I am not depreciating the dynamic value of emotional oratory and the power of dramatic utterance and gesture, but from my experience of such preaching I must say that it is very vaporous so far as taking notes is concerned. Taking notes (I do not mean shorthand notes) is the true test of a sermon, for the reporter can tell how much thought and labor a preacher has put into the preparation of his discourse. The best sermon is the one that you can carry away.

This article is rather discursive, and I'm afraid that I have not only answered the question as to what the Press has done for the Church. I have dealt with the question from my own point of view, and from that viewpoint the only answer is contained in the word "publicity." Someone might write a very interesting article on what the Church has done for the Press.

Up On Your Toes

What a thing it is to be fit! To be not merely free from actual sickness, but to be well, absolutely well—and to have the mental vim, stamina, vigor, which go with physical well-being.

But you can't be fit if constipation is constantly breeding poisons, which are taken into the blood and undermine the whole system.

The modern treatment for constipation is Nujol.

The action of Nujol is entirely different from that of castor oil, pills, salts, etc. Nujol is pleasant to take and does not force and weaken the system, nor impair digestion.

Nujol prevents constipation because it softens the food waste and encourages the intestinal muscles to act naturally. It thus removes the cause of constipation and self-poisoning.

Nujol helps Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world. Get a bottle from your druggist today.

NO COMPLAINTS TO COMMITTEE RE DISMISSAL

ALLEGED GRIEVANCES OF SUMMARY DISCHARGE FROM BRIDGE WORK WERE NOT SUBSTANTIATED.

Mr. James Grisdale appeared al- before the special bridge committee last night to answer to the letter which the secretary of the Labor Union had written to the Council asking for an investigation of certain complaints that men had been discharged from the Hunter street bridge work without any explanation or statement of cause by the contractor.

"I have nothing to tell you myself" he said. "I simply did my duty as the secretary of the Union. I only received the notice of this meeting at noon today and perhaps some of the boys didn't know about it. Perhaps they could come to the Council meeting."

Ald. Phelan—This committee can do nothing. Of course you have the privilege of coming before the Council at the regular meeting in December.

Mr. Grisdale was late in arriving, and with no person present to substantiate the letter, Mayor Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Turner that it be received.

Mr. Chas. Townsend of the Russell Townsend company told the committee that some weeks ago he had laid off a number of men because he couldn't use them any longer.

"I don't think it necessary to explain the facts to the men" he said. "I am in charge of the work and no one would expect me to keep on men we didn't need."

Ald. Phelan—It is just as I told Mr. Tooms that day, the city isn't running a pink tea over there."

Nightwatchman's Case.

Mr. Wigg of 405 London street limped slowly on crutches in the committee rooms and said that he had read the notice of the meeting in the paper and decided to ask why he had been dismissed as night watchman on the bridge.

Mr. Townsend explained that he had kept Mr. Wigg on the pay roll as long as he conscientiously could. He was employed on the west side of the bridge because he could walk only with trouble and had to use crutches. He had only to attend to the lamps, see that the material did not catch fire, and that no person interfered with it or went near the offide. The nightwatch on the east side had to keep the engines fired and to do other work in addition to watching the bridge, and he and Mr. Wigg received the same wage.

"Mr. Wigg could attend to his work during the summer" Mr. Townsend continued, "but when the cold weather came he was in danger of falling and hurting himself. One night he did fall. I didn't want to be responsible to keep him. I had every sympathy for him. I was morally bound to report his case.

Mr. Wigg said he had to use crutches because of his knee. He had tried to obtain employment in the factories but had failed.

The members of the committee promised to remember him if they heard of any vacancies they thought he could fill.

THOSE WHO CAN'T WRITE MUST EAT LESS.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—A wireless despatch from Moscow says the Petrograd Soviet has decreed that all illiterate persons between the ages of 17 and 50 must learn to read and write within six months, otherwise they will be deprived of their work and placed in a lower "food category."

The decree provides for deduction of two hours from the daily working period in order to permit of attendance at school.

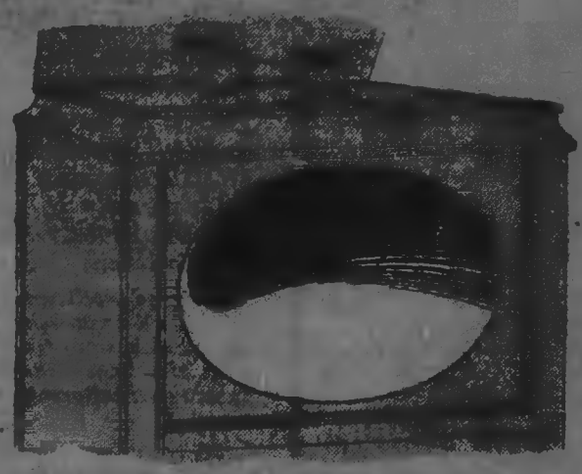
YOUR NEXT PHONOGRAPH WILL BE A BRUNSWICK

(All Phonographs In One)

And Here is Why---



The Round All-Wood Horn

YOU never heard of a "square" horn in a band or musical instrument; you never saw a square megaphone. We learned in High School that all sound waves travel in circles or ovals, yet you will not find any round horns in any of the old style Talking Machines.

Artists sing INTO a round horn, and the Brunswick sends it OUT in a round horn.

That's a simple "secret" isn't it? And yet no one has ever made a round WOOD horn before—and more than that, no one else ever will, because this is one of the exclusive patented features of the Brunswick.

This one feature alone is responsible for much of the Brunswick's wonderful TONE. It makes every good record—of ANY make—better. Because it is all wood—built like a violin.

Yet the BRUNSWICK costs no more than ordinary phonographs. Prices of conventional models range from $149.000 to $95.000

And Here are 86 more Reasons Why---

You are not restricted to any one list of artists with a Brunswick—positively not.

Every artist is available for the owner of a Brunswick.

There are 86 artists of world-wide fame in particular, whose records are in great demand. These great artists sing for different makes of records. That's the value of the Brunswick.

But all these different records are played CORRECTLY on the All-record Brunswick.

This means that when you own a Brunswick EVERY Grand Opera Star, EVERY Jazz Band, EVERY Vaudeville Entertainer, EVERY Orchestral Organization, EVERYBODY helps to entertain the Brunswick owner.

And mark this: Every make of record is played CORRECTLY on the Brunswick—played just as if it had been made especially for the Brunswick.

Go to the nearest Brunswick dealer listed below and let your ears be the judge.

Have the dealer play ANY make of record on the Brunswick and see for yourself how the Brunswick Ultona is adjusted INSTANTLY—by a mere twist to any make of record.

And note the wonderfully lifelike purity of tone of EVERY record when played on the Brunswick.

And Here is Why---

The All Record, All Needle Ultona

THIS wonderful Reproducer was designed AFTER all the great Record Libraries were formed.

It is not an attachment, as it plays any make or type of record without taking anything off or putting anything on. A twist of the wrist—and it is ready for anything. No needles to change.

And it plays every record CORRECTLY, with just the right needle, just the right weight, and describing just the right arc across the record.

And your needle type records actually last longer.

Since the Brunswick came with this wonderful invention, notice how they all say, "Plays all records." Just you see how they do it—then come, investigate the ULTONA.

You cannot afford to make a mistake. Your nearest dealer below will gladly demonstrate the BRUNSWICK for you. Your old model taken in exchange.

MILLBROOK ODDFELLOWS' PRESENTATION

The members of Millbrook Lodge, No. 308, I.O.O.F. presented veteran jewels to the brethren of the lodge who were members for twenty-five years or longer. The proceedings commenced by a grand supper spread in the lodge rooms at 9 o'clock, served by the Rebekah Lodge, and that they placed before the over two hundred guests a repast that was as tasty as it was abundant, goes without saying, and the service on the tables taken by the young ladies was excellent.

The whole assemblage then proceeded to the Town Hall, where the more public function was fittingly staged. Mr. J. Arthur Vance, the Noble Grand of the lodge, was master of ceremonies, and officiated with every efficiency. With him on the platform were Mr. Wm. Brooks of Toronto, Past Grand Master, who represented the Grand Master, who had expected to be present but was at the last moment disappointed, and also Mr. P. I. Bentley, D.D.G.M. of Peterborough District. The hall was filled with the home brethren and a number from Peterborough who joined the occasion. Twenty-five years ago last May Millbrook Lodge was instituted, the late Grand Master W. H. Hoyle, M.P.P. and A. H. Blackaby, Past Grand Patriarch of the Encampment, participating in the ceremony. The history of the lodge in that quarter of a century has been one of progress generally, occasionally only marking time and then booming splendidly, and now has a membership of over one hundred. About four years ago the Rebekah branch of Oddfellowship was instituted and their membership is also exceptional, nearly one hundred.

Of those who were active in the founding of Millbrook Lodge besides the brethren decorated on the occasion some have, like the leaves, fallen, and lie shrouded in Mother Earth and some have moved far or near in search of brighter fields, and the latter as they read of these proceedings will recall the old days with every feeling of satisfaction.

The following Past Grands in the Order of passing through the chairs and other veterans received the decoration, Past Grands W. S. Given, D. Hampton, A. A. Smith, T. A. Kelly, G. E. Burnham, T. K. Bradley and Thos. Harkness and W. S. Pimm, P.G. by proxy, also as members Chas. Reynolds, Albert Elliott and Wm. Braithwaite personally, and the following by proxy: W. J. Gardiner, J. A. Vance, J. G. Kelly, E. J. Guy, G. W. Green. Each of the veterans present came to the platform to receive his jewel and the Grand Secretary addressed a few words of congratulation to each. Past Grand W. S. Given replied on behalf of the veterans.

A programme of entertainment of exceptional class was then given by Mr. Carley of Cavan in humorous songs, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston, town, and a witty and pleasing quartette of visitors from Peterborough, Bros. Lee, Hartshorne, Baldry and Turner. They were a whole box of fun in themselves and created much laughter. Misses McBean and Elson assisted the local singers at the piano, and Mr. Lee contributed a piano solo.

Telegrams and letters of regret were received from veterans unable to be present, expressing thanks and felicitations. Grand Secretary Brooks was the chief speaker on the occasion and he gave a history of the hundred years of Oddfellowship in America, and its record in Ontario and dwelt at some length on the Oddfellows Home in Toronto and the good work it has done.—Millbrook Reporter.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach are usually caused by that dull, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internals organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive theses, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milky) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals.

tions was one of self interest. What are we going to do in the future? Are we going to see emerging out of this war a more nationalistic spirit than ever? Are we going to be able to temper the natural love of patriotism with the feeling that other nations are human as we are and entitled to the same privileges and liberties?

National Calamity.

It would be a national calamity if we should not be able to concern ourselves with the larger and better elements of humanity to the exclusion of national self interest to a point where it interferes with the liberties of others. It is not necessary that we should become cosmopolitan in character. I do not think the time will ever come when national distinctions and characteristics will disappear in spite of the developments of steam and aerial travel which is having the effect of bringing nations closer together.

The speaker here referred to the various types that characterise nations.

"The League of Nations is not meeting with that hearty and warm reception which I think it deserves," said the speaker. "I think we ought to be considering it and discussing it. We ought to do our best to foster the movement."

It is a very remarkable thing that the Bible follows the main points in the order of life. This is typical of the Book of Genesis, which deals with family life. As we pass on we find the family life developing into national life and finally to the race. This is the Biblical order of evolution.

High Ideal.

"If we only could foster the idea that the nations themselves can be regarded as a member of a larger family in which we are all interested. It is a very high ideal and one which it is comparatively easy to realize in one great family. Contact with people of other nations serve to break down our prejudices towards one another.

The prosperity of the world and our happiness depends largely on the spirit we cultivate towards each other and leave us in a frame of mind to realize and appreciate the possibilities of a League of Nations. It will take many years to accomplish much in this direction, but the thing can, in due course of time, become a reality, and in the end it will be as the angels sang, "Good will to men and peace on earth."

The Conclusion.

At the close of Dr. Symonds' address, Sheriff J. A. Hall, a former associate of the visiting speaker, expressed his appreciation of Dr. Symonds' able address and his pleasure at being present. He was followed by Mr. D. W. Dumble, who compared Dr. Symonds' influence locally and elsewhere to that of a wave on the water in the neighbourhood of his Stoney Lake summer home. The waves of the passing steamer spread out in all directions and ultimately find their way to shore. Mr. Dumble concluded with a strong plea for interdenominationalism. "There is only a wire fence between us all," said Mr. Dumble.

King Victor Emmanuel rarely smokes, and when he does it is usually a cigarette.

IS ICE-COLD WATER BAD FOR RHEUMATISM?

This story of Wm. Rogers, a seaman in the Mine Sweeping Branch of the Royal Navy, is absolutely true and can be readily verified.

At Niagara Camp, in 1914, Rogers contracted Rheumatism. He was sent to the Toronto General Hospital, where for over 19 months he was a patient, finally being discharged as incurable. In despair he took a friend's advice and tried Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules. The results were astounding—in a short time he was able to pass the stiff examination set by the Navy, and became an A.B. in the Mine Sweeping Branch.

For 17½ months he did service in the North Sea. On three occasions he was blown into the sea and remained in the ice-cold water as long as eleven hours at a stretch. Despite these hardships Rogers had no return of his previous trouble. Think about it. If T.R.C.'s did so much for Rogers—will they not do the same for you?

Ask your Druggist or write us for our free booklet; it is interesting and contains testimonials. Templetons, 142 King West, Toronto 2. 50 cents. T.R.C.'s anywhere on receipt of price.

BURY INDIAN WAR HERO AT GUELPH.

GUELPH, Nov. 20.—The funeral took place here of Pte. Thos. Sutherland, a full-blooded Cree Indian, born in 1882 at Moose Factory on James Bay. In the winter of 1916 he tramped on snowshoes from Moose Factory to Cochrane to enlist. He served in France with the 12th Pioneer Battalion and was gassed. He came to the Guelph military hospital last November.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head and ear noises or are growing hard of hearing go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ¾ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

SAGE AND SULPHER DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Colour, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural colour and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked, or grey. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay grey! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the grey hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, and attractive.

When baking apples individually, core them and fill spaces with chopped raisins or dates.

Police Find Still in Guise-Bagley Home

steam ultimately reached the copper coils, fixed into the tin pail, and ending at a tap near the bottom. The final process, it was said, was to keep the pail full of cold water which should cool and condense the steam or vapour, passing through the coil or "worm," into whiskey which would emerge in drops trickling from the tap into some final container.

Rough Handiwork.

The boiler with its sealed top, the solder roughly spread all the way around beneath the rim, had every appearance of having been turned out by some inexpert hand. Certainly no tinsmith ever used a soldering iron on it. The insertion of the various taps was also a crude attempt as was the adjustment of the worm in the bright new tin pail. Rough handiwork all of it, but the police say that it was doing oasis producing a raw, sour smelling liquor which, one official who sampled it said, probably carried a powerful "kick."

A doctor turned the tap of one of the wine barrels, tasted the purple fluid and declared it as good as the average wine of commercial manufacture. A quantity of this brew was lost in cartage when the bung sprang out.

Other Articles Seized

In a further seizure of articles supposed to have been used in the manufacture of the wine and spirits, the police brought from the Bagley house this morning a gas stove, several other barrels, boxes full of grapes and stones, and other implements of doubtful use. A picture of the conglomerate truck load was taken in front of the police station with Sergt. Blade and Detective Meaher and Cookman atop it.

Result of Clever Work.

To Police Constable Leslie Bristow and Detective George Cookman is accorded the credit of yesterday's arrests and seizure which was the culmination of a careful investigation clever sleuthing and a swift sweep of the police net once the final action was started.

It was stated that Mr. Bagley had been under suspicion for some time; but P. C. Bristow was the first member of the force to communicate to Chief Thompson a tip he had picked up. He had been told that William Faiers was peddling whiskey, and on Wednesday, dressed in plain clothes, he met Faiers on the street and arranged to buy a bottle on Thursday. It is alleged that Faiers said he could provide forty gallons if it was wanted.

P. C. Bristow and Detective Cookman set their stage for the reception of Faiers near the corner of Charlotte and George streets.

Cookman, selected an observation post in the Inland Revenue office in the Customs House while Bristow in his civilian clothes waited at the corner. Signals were arranged and when Bristow and Faiers walked off towards the market Cookman followed and arrested both of them in the public lavatory. But Faiers had no liquor with him and up to noon today refused to divulge any information.

Went to Faiers Home.

Their next move was a visit to the Faiers home, where Mrs. Faiers was asked where some whiskey could be procured if there was none on the premises. She mentioned Mr. Ernest Middleton, of Adeline avenue, and another man. Mrs. Middleton at first said she knew nothing about any liquor transactions, but at length said that Mr. Middleton had sold the last bottle to Faiers on Monday night, and that they had quit making liquor at the Peterborough Candy factory. A stove and several bags of potatoes were taken from the candy factory this morning.

Cookman and Bristow interviewed Middleton at the factory and afterwards took him to the police station to be questioned further. It is the police department's opinion that Mr. Middleton was led into the distilling industry by Mr. Bagley some time after their candy partnership had been launched.

Mr. Bagley's Arrest

The police next turned their attentions to Mr. Bagley in the sequence of the events of yesterday afternoon. Armed with a search warrant, Sergeant Blade, Detectives Meagher and Cookman and P. C. Bristow, called at Mr. Bagley's law office at the corner of Water and Brock streets.

Sergeant Blade, entering first, was greeted by Mr. Bagley whose expression underwent a swift change when he saw the three other men in the background.

Sergeant Blade briefly and bluntly explained his mission, stating that he had a warrant to search Mr. Bagley's office and home for liquor.

"I have no liquor", Mr. Bagley replied, but he was at once advised that the smoothest and wisest plan was to lead the police detachment to the cache of alcohol. Mr. Bagley broke down in a moment, agreed to accompany the police, and at the same time pleaded for mercy saying that he would be ruined.

The rather conspicuous party went directly to Mr. Bagley's house, on George street north of Murray street and opposite Central Park. Mr. Bagley was then placed under arrest, taken to the police station and Sergeant Blade and his assistants returned to the Bagley home with a motor truck and began the laborious work of emptying the kitchen, cellar and bedroom of its wine, liquor and the implements and apparatus for distilling.

Found an Order Sheet

The police found on Mr. Middleton's desk at the Peterboro Candy Company's factory a counter check book on the upper leaf of which was the following account:

Monday, one gallon	$18
Tuesday, two bottles	8
Tuesday, four bottles	16
Friday, twelve bottles	48
	$90

This sheet may mean anything, but the police have an interpretation of it that is probably better withheld who is charged with soliciting orders for liquor without a license is presumed to have played the role of city salesman. Faiers was remanded for a week this morning. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared in his behalf.

Mr. Bagley was charged with having in his possession a still and other apparatus for making liquor, contrary to the Excise Act, and also for keeping liquor for sale in contravention to the Ontario Temperance Act. The court room was crowded with interested spectators who divided their attentions between Mr. Bagley and his weird and wonderful distilling plant. He asked for a remand until Saturday morning and the court was forthwith adjourned.

The Home Of The Overcoat

If every man in Peterboro realized what exceptional values we are presenting in overcoats it would require our entire building to take care of our trade.

Woolens purchased some time ago when prices where considerably lower than to-day tells the story of these incomparable overcoat values.

MR. THOMPSON SHAKES DUST OF PETERBOROUGH EAST FROM HIS FEET

(Havelock Standard.)

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Thompson left Havelock this week to reside in Toronto, to which city the best wishes of a host of friends in Havelock and district will follow them. Mr. Thompson, who has been the representative for East Peterborough in the Ontario Legislature for the past eleven years, and who previous to that had the honour of the Reeveship of the village, and the Wardenship of the County, bestowed upon him, has at all times been worthy of the highest commendation in his public life, and his removal from our midst will be a distinct loss to Havelock. Everyone unites with us in wishing them every success in their city home.

MR. BAGLEY LOCKED UP THIS AFTERNOON ON A NEW CHARGE

Mr. James G. Guise-Bagley was re-arrested this morning after police court, his bail was cancelled and he was deprived of his liberty. Chief Thompson took this step upon receiving certain information that led him to the conclusion that it was preferable to take Mr. Bagley into custody. It was also learned this afternoon that in addition to the new and graver charge the latest investigations turn in an unexpected direction that may provide another twist to the case. The Police Department were working on this phase this afternoon.

FORCE HAND OF LLOYD GEORGE

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Nov. 21.—The Toronto Star to-day publishes a cable from a staff correspondent in London (England) to the effect that the British miners are aiming to force Lloyd-George's hand about Christmas time on the question of the nationalisation of the mines.

The leaders of the miners are quietly completing their plans, says the cable, which declare that the Premier will be given short notice to submit to the country the question of nationalisation, or face instant and serious industrial upheaval.

NEW $1-000,000 ISSUE BY THE CAN. GENERAL ELECTRIC.

At a meeting of the directors of the Canadian General Electric Company, it was decided to issue 10,000 new shares of common stock. The company has already reinvested in capital assets between four and five million dollars surplus profits, but as the business of the company in certain departments has increased to a large extent, making necessary extensions and additions to manufacturing and warehousing facilities, the directors have deemed it advisable to issue another million dollars of capital stock.

This stock will be offered for subscription to the holders of common stock of the company on record in the books of the company on 12th December next, and subscription lists will close on 5th January, 1920. The shares will be issued at par.

VITAGRAPH COMPANY SECURE LARRY SEMON

MOVIE STAR WILL RECEIVE OVER THREE MILLIONS FOR THE NEXT THREE YEARS

(Special to the Examiner.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Larry Semon, the famous screen comedian, today signed a contract with Albert E. Smith, President of the Vitagraph, by the terms of which that company will pay $3,000,000 during the ensuing three years for the comedies of this star. One-third of this stupendous sum will be paid each year of the three year contract, the annual payment of this averaging over one million dollars a year So far as is known, Charlie Chaplin is the only other comedian in the world whose salary is on the same plan.

The signing of this agreement forms the climax of a general scramble by the big producing companies for the services of Larry Semon. Mr Smith made a special trip to Los Angeles last week to close the Larry Semon deal. Mr. Semon's signature to the contract was secured at 2.45 a.m. after a conference lasting a little less than four days.

Larry Semon's rise to his present altitude of fame has been meteoric. A few short years ago he was a cartoonist in the New York Evening Sun. He is not yet 30 years old.

The new contract provides him with unlimited funds to spend in the production of each of his two reel comedies. He will make twelve of these comedies each year.

It is a fact worthy of note that on the day that Larry Semon signed his new contract his newest comedy, "the head waiter" was booked as the feature offering for next week at New York's Capitol Theatre, the largest place of entertainment in the world, and during the same week it will be shown at the new million dollar California of Los Angeles, of which Samuel Rothapfel, former impresario of New York's mammoth Rialto and Rivolli Theatres, is managing director.

AN INTERESTING WAR RECORD

The latest addition to the great fleet of C. P. O. S. Steamships which ply between Canada and practically all the important ports of call in the world is the "Empress of France," before the war popularly known as the S.S. "Alsatian" and one of the ocean grey hounds between Canada and Liverpool. The vessel has been reconditioned since the war ceased and recently completed her maiden trip to Quebec under her new name. The photographs here reproduced give an adequate description of her interior arrangements and fittings, and will compare favorably with the great Leviathans in this respect. The "Empress of France" has a length of 600 ft.; beam 72 ft.; depth (to D. deck) 54 ft. 6 in.; and a tonnage of 18,000 tons. A striking peculiarity is the cruiser's stern, which imparts a warlike appearance to the vessel. Her war record is one to be proud of.

The "Empress of France" as the S.S. "Alsatian" was requisitioned for war purposes under Royal Proclamation immediately on her arrival at the Port of Liverpool, midnight on the 6th August 1914. After completion of discharge, the entire removal of all passenger accommodation and other woodwork, she was armed with 8-6 in. guns, commissioned and manned by a naval crew under the command of Captain V. Phillimore, D.S.O., and was attached to the 10th Cruiser Squadron on northern patrol duty, sailing from Liverpool on August 15th, at which port she has been based during the entire period of her Commission.

From August to December 1914, she remained as above stated, but in December she was made Flag Ship of the Squadron to which she was attached, and Vice-Admiral Sir Dudley R. S. De Chair, K.C.B., M.V.O., hoisted his flag, which flew up to March 1916, when he was succeeded by Admiral Sir Reginald G. Tupper, K.C.B., C.V.O., who was succeeded in November 1918 by Rear-Admiral C. W. Keighley Peach, under whose flag she terminated her commission as an Armed Cruiser.

The Squadron to which she was attached, and later became Flagship of, consisted of 24 vessels, the majority of which were Armed Mercantile Cruisers. The duties of the Squadron consisted of the stopping of vessels, boarding them and examining their papers, and should on examination they prove to be at all of a suspicious nature, a Naval Officer was placed in charge and they were taken into a United Kingdom port for closer examination. This similarly applied to any members of the passengers or crew, as each and everyone had to give a satisfactory explanation as to their nationality and business. Available records show that in all the Squadron intercepted some 16,000 vessels, but it is impossible to state how many of these proved to be engaged in work hostile to the Allies interests.

In the early part of 1918, circumstances permitted of the 10th Cruiser Squadron being considerably reduced in numbers, and vessels so engaged being allocated to Convoy Protection Duty, the "Alsatian" figuring amongst the number and being stationed on the North Atlantic route in such capacity. While so engaged she escorted nine convoys of about 20 vessels each, carrying an estimated number of troops per convoy of 30,000, principally Americans.

While engaged on Convoy Escort duties the "Alsatian" also carried troops and cargo, the number of former per voyage being about 600, and the weight of cargo per voyage between 2,000 and 3,000 tons. She made her last voyage on Government Service in November 1918, sailing from Liverpool on the 14th, and redocked at that port on December 11th 1918, having steamed a total distance on Government Service of 166,741 miles and consumed 170,571 tons of coal.

On January 17th 1919, she left for Glasgow, having been placed in the hands of her Builders—Messrs. Beardmore & Co.—by the Admiralty for reconditioning, being redelivered to the C. P. O. S. at the Port of Liverpool on Thursday, September 25th, and sailed for Quebec on Friday, September 26th.

Captain Ontram her Captain when War broke out, was given the rank of Commander R.N.R., and acted in that capacity, which was of an advisory nature, under both Vice-Admiral Sir Dudley R. S. De Chair, K.C.B., M.V.O., and Admiral Sir Reginald. G. Tupper, K.C.B., C.V.O., and was granted the D.S.O. for services rendered, being succeeded by Captain Cook at the same time as Admiral Tupper was succeeded by Rear-Admiral C. W. Keighley Peach. Captain Cook, was appointed Flag Captain, and granted a commission as Captain R.N.R., and now commands the vessel.

PARTIAL ECLIPSE OF THE SUN TO-MORROW

To-morrow morning Peterboro will (weather permitting) witness a partial eclipse of the sun from 7.44 to its finish at 10.15.

Prof. Chant explains that an annular eclipse is one during which the sun's face is not quite covered by the moon, and therefore shows a bright ring when viewed at its central point. The path of the central eclipse to-morrow will pass across Cuba, skirt Guiana and after crossing the ocean enter Africa in Senegal, and will end near Timbuctoo.

The maximum obscuration will be at 9 a.m., when 47 per cent. of the sun's diameter will be covered. At 10.15 the moon will leave the sun at a point 20 degrees to the left of the sun's lowest point.

ANTI-BOLSHEVIK TROOPS CLAIM ANOTHER SUCCESS

GENERAL DENIKENE REPORTS HAVING BROKEN THROUGH THE RED LINES AND ANNIHILATED 50,000 RED TROOPS.

LATE REPORTS

(Canadian Press.)

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 22.—General Denikine, commander of the anti-Bolshevik troops on the southern Russian front, claims to have broken through the Red lines between Oral and Tamov, south-east of Moscow and to have annihilated fifty thousand Bolshevik troops, according to a Helsingfors despatch to "Svenska Dagbled."

Reports recently from the southern Russian front have appeared to indicate that Gen. Denikine was being driven southward by the Bolshevik. General Denikine reached Oral about a month ago, but there encountered such strong resistance that he was forced to resort to the defensive. Bolshevik official statements received later told of a break in the Denikine line to the south-west of Oral. Tamov is about 400 miles south-east of Moscow.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Nov. 22.—A Canadian, Toronto-born, recently received the appointment of Governor of the Gold Coast Colony in the person of Major-General F. J. Guggesderg, an officer with a distinguished career in the British Army to his credit.

Major General Guggesderg comes of an old Canadian family, his maternal grandfather having been the first Speaker of the Upper Canada Legislature. He received part of his education in Toronto before being taken to England by his parents some forty years ago. He was then a boy of twelve.

In early manhood he entered the British Army and served with distinction in several campaigns prior to the late war. His experiences in Africa fitted him particularly well for his new position as Governor of the Gold Coast Colony.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"THE SOUL OF BROADWAY."

Valeska Suratt in "The Soul of Broadway," the feature picture at the Grand last evening, completely surpasses any record she has previously made for wonderful grasp on all situations and making the most of the plot. Her delineation of the Broadway adventuress, whose god is money, is little short of marvellous. Throughout the action of the play some sensational scenes which transfer Broadway to the screen are shown, and the grand finale of the play, when the adventuress meets the man for whose prison term she is responsible is most dramatic.

Added to this splendid picture, Tom Mix appears in "Six Cylinder Love," a good five automobile story full of presently interest. A breezy sunshine comedy and a Mutt and Jeff cartoon also supplement the programme.

Covenant May Not Become Effective On December First

THE TENTATIVE DECISION OF THE SUPREME COUNCIL WAS BASED ON THE ASSUMPTION THAT THE UNITED STATES UPPER HOUSE WOULD REACH SOME COMPROMISE.

ALLIES MAY MAKE NEW DEMANDS

(United Press, by Henry Wood.)

PARIS, Nov. 22—The Peace Treaty may not be declared effective on 1st December unless ratification is completed by the American Senate before that time, it was indicated to-day.

The tentative decision of the Supreme Council announced on Wednesday to make the Treaty operative by 1st December was based on the assumption that the United States Upper House would reach some compromise and accept the Treaty before that date, according to reliable information.

The Senate does not reconvene until 1st December.

It is imperative that the first meeting of the League of Nations will be held the same day the Treaty becomes effective, it was pointed out to-day, and this meeting can be called legally only by President Wilson.

It was feared here that the Senate's rejection of the Treaty during its recent session had indefinitely postponed the date of making the Treaty effective, likewise the organization of the League of [illegible].

While those in official circles refused to discuss formally the situation created by the failure of the United States Senate to accept the Treaty, there was no doubt of its receiving grave consideration.

The sentiment prevails here that if the League does not materialise, the Allies will demand additional guarantees from Germany. These demands were expected to include:

Cession of the left bank of the Rhine and the Saar Basin to France.

Rectifications of the Belgian Frontier.

Further German disarmament, with the surrender of all German war materials.

New arrangements for the payment of reparations by Germany.

Possible anexation of Heligoland by Great Britain.

BAGLEY COMMITTED FOR TRIAL AND FINED $500

WILL APPEAR BEFORE JUDGE HUYCKE ON HAVING AND USING AN ILLICIT STILL—PLEADED GUILTY TO HAVING LIQUOR FOR SALE.

MAGISTRATE CUTS AUTO BILL

A heavy odour of fermentation, reminiscent of the stale atmosphere of the friendless and almost forgotten bar-rooms of an ancient day, filled the police court room this morning when Mr. James G. Gulse-Bagley appeared before Magistrate Dumble on a charge of illegally having in his possession, without a license, under the Inland Revenue Act, a still, worm, rectifying and other apparatus suitable for the manufacture of spirituous liquors.

Mr. F. D. Kerr apparently refused to "cast the first stone" and appeared in Mr. Bagley's defence. Crown Attorney Hatton conducted the prosecution. Nearly three-quarters of an hour was consumed in a general scrutiny of the Acts covering Mr. Bagley's offence, for the purpose of securing an explicit charge, stripped of extraneous clauses, exactly fitting this case.

In searching the statutes, the lawyers tried to discover a clause that would enable the court to impose a fine without imprisonment, upon the prisoner. A question arose as to whether the word "and" or "or" should be included in the charge, and later a prolonged consultation, Mr. Kerr announced that the prisoner would neither plead nor elect, but would waive the taking of evidence and consent to being sent up for trial before Judge Huycke.

A Full House.

The public gallery was packed to discomfort by an eager crowd anxious to witness the morning aftermath of Mr. Bagley's big idea. They hung on the door at the head of the stairs and struggled in the vestibule to get either a glimpse or sound of the formal and matter of fact proceedings inside.

On a second charge of having distilled a quantity of liquor in contravention of the Inland Revenue Act, Mr. Bagley was likewise committed for trial.

Mr. Bagley then pleaded guilty to a third charge of having kept liquor for sale at his home, 500 George street.

"Mr. Bagley instructs me that the two barrels of wine were kept solely for domestic use and not for the purpose of sale, and that he had notified the Inland Revenue Department to that effect," Mr. Kerr said.

"The other liquor was brought from the candy works and was not held for sale, but Mr. Bagley realizes that he is unable to rebut the presumption of the Temperance Act and consequently pleads guilty."

Magistrate Dumble imposed a fine of $200 and costs, amounting to $319.10.

An item in the costs of $10 for the rent of the automobile truck that hauled the wine, liquor and apparatus from Bagley's house to the police station, caught the Magistrate's attention.

"I don't want to see the man robbed," he said, and objected that the automobile rate was exorbitant. He called for the local taxi tariff and finally clipped five dollars off the bill, which rounded off at $314.10.

Reindeer Industry

NEW COMPENY HAS AMBITIOUS SCHEME—DEVELOP REINDEER HERDS.

THE CHARTER

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Nov. 22. —The undertaking of the Northern American Reindeer Company, with a capital organiaztion of $750,000 and a Canadian charter, has secured a permit to graze reindeer within an area of some 75,000 thousand square miles of land north of the Churchill river, is to say the least, an ambitious one. The permit granted to the company by the government recites that "whereas the development of reindeer herds in the north-west territories would prove of great benefit to the Dominion, however the proposal of the company to drive a herd of reindeer overland through a difficult and largely unexplored country from Alaska to the vicinity of the course of Hudson Bay to carry on reindeer breeding in the area hereinafter described, is an undertaking which, although the promoters of the company are confident will prove successful, the Minister can only regard as experimental.

The Permit.

The permit, which was issued by the Minister of the Interior, under the authority of a general order-in-council passed in July, 1918, giving the Minister authority to grant permits to persons or corporations who desire to go into the reindeer industry in northern Canada, allows the company to use for grazing that territory bounded on the north by the 61st degree of latitude on the east by Hudson's Bay on the south, by the Churchill river, Indian and Granville lakes and the waters connecting them and on the west by Reindeer lake and the 102nd meridian of longitude, containing an area of 78,850 square miles approximately. It is to be noted, however, that the permit is not by any means exclusive, as any person who satisfactorily establishes the bonafides of their enterprise may go into this region for the same purpose, obtaining security.

So far, however, [illegible] granted has been that to the company above mentioned, which originally was an American concern, but which was forced to take out Canadian incorporation. The company's charter incorporated Nicolas Henry Kerr, physician; Geo. Benedict Selter, electrical engineer, and Richard Henry Jones, manufacturer, all of Chicago; Frederick Swan Lawrence, of South Bend, Ind. manager, Harry Brag, journalist of Montreal, for the purpose of engaging in the commercialization of the reindeer industry in all its branches in Canada and elsewhere, and authorized a capital stock of $100,000, divided into ten thousand shares.

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN GLASSWARE CASE

His Honour Judge Huycke reserved judgment yesterday afternoon in the case of the Monongah Glass Company of Fairmount, West Virginia vs. S. R. Leggott, trading as the Colonial Glass Company of Lakefield. The plaintiff company claimed the sum of $219.85, said to be due on a shipment of glass, while the defendant declared that the glass supplied was of an inferior quality. The judge's desk was surrounded by a dozen cut glass jugs which the expert witnesses examined frequently. The argument of Mr. O. A. Langley for the plaintiffs and Mr. F. D. Kerr for the defendant, was concluded about 4 o'clock, after which His Honour reserved judgment.

The majority of people eat too much, and while they may do so occasionally without any bad results it is very bad to continue this practice.

HOUSING COMMISSION IS REQUESTED BY CITIZEN

MAJORITY OF THOSE WHO ATTENDED LAST NIGHT'S MEETING AT THE CITY HALL EXPRESSED DESIRE TO SECURE A HOME UNDER THE HOUSING PLAN.

RESOLUTION TO COUNCIL

The appointment of a Housing Commission for Peterboro was recommended to the Council in a motion proposed by Ald. Edgar, and seconded by Ald. Turner at the close of the special Housing committee's public meeting at the City Hall. Fourteen of the twenty-five tenants, including the wives of them, declared their willingness to adopt the provincial housing scheme and gave their names to City Clerk Armstrong as a guarantee of good faith. By this action they did not commit themselves beyond expressing the wish that the Council proceed to prepare the machinery which will enable citizens to take advantage of the Government's assistance as provided in the Housing Act.

Ald. Taylor presided. One-third of the citizens present were women, most of them having accompanied their husbands. The men were mechanics and tradesmen, some of them veterans of the war, and two or three school teachers all of whom exhibited deep interest in the discussion of the conditions of the housing proposition. Ald. Turner said that he would subscribe for five houses under the Government's scheme, intimating that they would be for employees of J. J. Turner & Sons., Limited, and eventually might undertake two more.

The explanation of the general provisions of the Housing Act was made by ex-Ald. Dobbin and Ald. Edgar, following which they replied to questions from the audience, and distributed copies of the Act. Citizens who are interested in the housing scheme are advised to write to the Provincial Commission at Toronto for copies or further elucidation of problems that [illegible]

In his conversational presentation

In his conversational presentation of the main provisions that form the working basis of the Housing scheme, Mr. Dobbin outlined the procedure of a supposed transaction by way of example. A man borrows $3,000, having a lot worth $300. The loan is to be repaid in 20 years at 5%. This would require 240 payments of $20 each, covering interest and sinking fund.

At the end of the series of payments he has paid back the $3,000 and an additional $1,800, in all $4,800. It has cost him an average of $90 a year during that period, over and above the amount borrowed. And he owns the house.

Compare this with his circumstances taking as a basis that he has lived and will continue to live in rented premises that will cost him $18 a month. This rental covers a proportion of the taxes as put on by the landlord.

In 20 years he has paid $4,300 at the rate of $216 a year, and has had nothing but the use of the premises.

We have assumed that he is paying taxes. Let us look at the position of the man who has taken possession of the house for which he borrowed $3,000 to have it built.

WINTER IN ALGONQUIN PARK.

As a winter panacea for coughs and colds Algonquin Park cannot be excelled. Two thousand feet above the sea it is always dry and cold. Days spent in snow-shoe tramps, tobogganing or ski-ing and in skating, together with evenings spent in social converse around the cosy warmth of an old fashioned log fire; these slip away unnoticed but those who have once experienced them return to their avocations with renewed energies. The "Highland Inn" owned and operated by the Grand Trunk Railway offers comfortable accommodation at reasonable rates. For all particulars apply to N. T. Clarke, Manager, Algonquin Park Station, Ontario.

AS, in Art, the Sphere is the symbol of perfection, so the Pathe Sapphire Ball typifies perfection in musical reproduction. The sapphire ball is only one of the many advanced features of the

Pathephone

ENTIRELY filling a sound-wave groove many times larger than any other method of recording, the Pathe' Sapphire Ball—with which every Pathephone is equipped—gives a proved result of at least 40% more tone-colour and detail. Different to the ordinary digging, scratching, record-destroying steel needle, the Pathe' Sapphire ball glides smoothly over the record surface and cannot injure the records. Played with the sapphire ball, every Pathe' record is guaranteed to play at least 1000 times—the only Record with such a guarantee.

TACKLED A DEMENTED MAN

County Constable Conquergood and Mr. J. Parkes, of Lindday, paid a visit to the vicinity of Cameron, Monday, and brought to town a demented man, whose actions were complained of. It appears the gentleman in question left his abode and struck out for parts unknown in the darkness of the Sabbath night. He visited a neighbor's house and broke in the door, badly frightening the inmates.

When the County Constable discovered the man he was hiking down the Grand Trunk track, and a merry chase followed over plowed fields, over fences and through the swamp. When finally caught he offered no resistance, but rode peacefully to town.

WOMAN'S COUNCIL MET YESTERDAY

MRS. PANKHURST WILL VISIT PETERBORO—NOMINATIONS.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Local Council of Women held yesterday afternoon in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. on motion of Miss Lancaster, Mrs. W. R. Harstone was unanimously elected to the Presidency of the Council. The unanimous election was a recognition of the extremely valuable services Mrs. Harstone had always given while in office.

Other nominations for executive offices were:—

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. C. E. Jamieson.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. J. B. Mann.

Treasurer—Miss Mary Stratton.

Convenor of the Press Committee—Mrs. W. R Morris.

Will Bring Mrs. Pankhurst.

On motion of Mrs. Kendry, seconded by Mrs. W. R. Morris it was decided to bring Mrs. Pankhurst to the city to speak in April at an expenditure of $300. The arrangements for her visit were left with the Executive.

Will Co-operate.

In reply to a resolution from the Local Council of Women concerning the mail delivery in the city the Assistant Secretary of the Board of Trade replied that steps are being taken towards eliminating the cause for complaint.

Baby Clinic.

Mrs. Harstone impressed the need of a baby clinic such as will be established presently in the city and asked the co-operation of all in making the clinic a success.

Committee Reports.

The reports of the different committees showed considerable activity on the part of each. Miss Lancaster stated that it is the purpose of the Citizenship Committee to take up a study of municipal affairs. Miss Walton reported a cordial reception from the theatre managers and considerable headway made toward se-

CANUCKS BUYING MORE WHISKEY

LONDON, Nov. 22.—There has been an astonishing rush for whiskey both by traders and private customers as a consequence of the withdrawal by the Government of restrictions on distribution. Canada was brought into the question by the managing director of a well-known firm of distillers, who said that it was remarkable that though Canada had largely gone dry his firm was shipping more spirits there than in wet times, and recently Canadian agents had requested that stoppers be substituted for corks as corkscrews are now difficult to obtain.

KERENSKY SEES RUIN OF RUSSIA

SAYS BRITISH POLICY, IF BARED, WOULD BRING BLUSH OF SHAME TO PEOPLE.

ALL KINDS OF CRIMES

Kolchak, Denekine and Yudenitch Worse Than Reds, Spread Bolshevism.

LONDON.—Living in seclusion in a town 40 miles from London, Kerensky, once dictator of Russia, watches events in his native land with mingled feelings of chagrin and philosophy. Although against Lenine and Trotzky, he finds no merit behind the personalities of Kolchak, Denekine or Yudenitch.

In an interview obtained by the Daily News, Kerensky says:

"It is terror and anarchy created under the regime of Kolchak and Denekine that explains the definite debacle of Denekine's failure and the fate of Yudenitch. Around these three are gathered all the scoundrels of the old regime. Thanks to Kolchak, the public and economic life of Siberia has been destroyed and a new and strengthened Bolshevist movement has been created.

Says No Crime is Untried.

"There is no crime that has not been perpetrated by agents of Kolchak against the populations. Documents such as I have illustrate the barbarous conditions in which the people are living under the savages. In Siberia, there are not only individual cases of execution and torture but whole villages have been flogged not excepting school teachers and the intelligents. The administration of the country is reduced to a shameless and unpunished system of pillage Co-operative societies, zemstvos and town councils are persecuted or suppressed.

"The resignation of Gen Dietrich, a brilliant officer and a man of conservative temper, who was quartermaster-general on my staff, is an indication of the rottenness of Kolchak's regime. He has resigned because he held that it was impossible to create an army capable of fighting the Bolsreviets under this regime.

"I am persuaded the dictatorship of Kolchak and Denekine is the best means of galvanizing bolshevism and to support these reactionaries is to spread bolshevism not only throughout Russia, but throughout the world. Premier Lloyd George recently has spoken of a return to the policy of Prinkipo, but before Britain acts as peacemaker between Russian parties the British Government must have the courage to put an end to a policy which is ruining Russia and is unworthy of the British people.

Wants Commission of Inquiry

"I hope a parliamentary commission will be appointed to inquire into the activities of the British in Russia If this is done facts will be brought to light that will bring a blush of shame to the cheeks of every honest citizen. These acts of the British have made the name of England and of the whole Entente stand for the blackest reaction and tyranny in the eyes of the Russian people.

"At the present time one thing only is needed by the Russian people—to be left in quiet to deal with their own affairs."

ONE GREAT ESSENTIAL TO A WOMAN'S HEALTH IS HER NERVES

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy as the day is long, instead of being sick and wretched. But how can any woman be healthy and happy when the whole nervous system is unstrung. The trouble is they pay more attention to their social and household duties than they do to their health. Is it any wonder then that they become irritable and nervous, have hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells, become weak and nervous, and everything in life becomes dark and gloomy.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the very remedy that nervous, tired-out, weary women need to restore them to the blessings of good health.

Mrs. P. H. Ryan, Sand Point, N.S., writes:—"I have been a great sufferer from nerve troubles. I was so weak and nervous I could not sleep at night and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling. I had hot flushes and fainting spells When I was on second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I began to feel better and kept on until I had used six boxes when I felt like a different person. I am never without them in the house and recommend them to all who suffer with their nerves."

MILK

Both Food and Drink

Milk is not merely a delicious beverage. It's a food.

Nature combines in Milk all the food elements your body needs. Some produce bone and muscle. Some rebuild it. And some create energy. And they are carefully balanced. So that you get the right proportions.

Professor Rosenau, of Harvard, says you would have to buy and prepare ¾ pound of beef, or 8 eggs, or 2 pounds of chicken or codfish, to get the nourishment contained in a single quart of Milk.

Milk is a concentrated food, you see.

EAT LESS—DRINK MORE MILK

Fresh Milk is the ideal food for men and women who work with muscle or with brain—people who are doers. Milk drinkers are always temperate.

Then heed the advice of great food specialists. Dr. J. H Kellogg says: "Most people will find that they can reduce their daily rations by one-third, sometimes one-half, without any inconvenience whatever."

FOR YOUNG AND OLD ALIKE

For the growing Child, for the Young Man and Woman, and for the maturer years, Milk is a needed food.

Drink it slowly—eat it. That ensures complete digestion. Consider Milk in the place of heavier, slowly digestible foods. Begin to-day to drink more Milk Teach every member of the family to know its value.

ON THE JOB.

Recent events tend to show that Peterborough's police department is operating at a high standard of efficiency. Several cases that have come to light in the past few days have proved that the police are on the job.

POLL TAX FOR WOMEN.

The Trades and Labour Council in declining to approve of Ald. Crowe's notice of motion that unmarried women of twenty-one years and over should be required to pay poll tax, has taken an attitude that fairly represents public opinion on this question. Ald. Crowe's primary object in bringing the matter before the Council was to test the sentiment of the people, so that it is hardly likely that his motion will be pressed. Poll-tax for women when a different wage standard for the two sexes exists, would be an injustice that no one wants to see enacted by the city fathers

GETTING THEIR MAD UP.

Saskatoon Star: The people of Canada are sick and tired of seeing good men, men who otherwise would be capable business men and producers, kindly heads of families and able efficiently to provide for them—the people of Canada are sick and tired seeing such men turned into drunken sots, business failures and moral degenerates through booze. That's the whole answer to the liquor question. There are a lot of specious arguments about personal liberty, and weaklings, and impossibility of enforcing prohibition laws, and much other rot. The people of Canada, when they get their mad up, can get a law passed that will mean prohibition, and they can enforce the law. And they are getting their mad up. Doubt it if you like, but watch!

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

The Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce in Ontario have, by resolution, declared in favour of a national system of daylight saving for Canada next year. Although the vote was a close one, requiring the casting vote of the chairman to decide, the result shows that in urban communities there is a very strong sentiment n favour of the daylight plan. Further than to give expression to this sentiment, it is not likely that the resolution of the Associated Boards will have much effect. The hostility of the farmers to the measure precludes the likelihood of the Federal goverament deciding next year to adopt the daylight saving system as a national one. But the action of the Boards of Trade should serve as another warning to city councils that next year they will have to face a local demand for daylight saving unless they are foresighted enough to anticipate such a demand by giving the people themselves a chance to decide the question. And the time to register that decision most effectively, and at a minimum of cost, seems to be at the municipal elections.

A FITTING CLIMAX.

The informal banquet of the Victory Loan canvassing committee last night was a happy and fitting wind-up to one of the most successful campaigns in the history of Peterborough. The jolly group of citizens who gathered around the table last evening, had every reason to rejoice, for it was to their enthusiasm and energy that much of the credit for the remarkable results of the local Victory Loan campaign must be credited and the gathering afforded them an opportunity to celebrate their success together, as well as to honour the county chairman, the vice-chairman, organizers and other committee officials who had superintended the campaign so effectively. It is unfortunate that there is not a storage battery system possible by which the enthusiasm and good fellowship engendered by a campaign like the one just closed could be caught up and held for use for community purposes. Much could be done for Peterborough if this enthusiasm could always be called upon when needed.

THE PRICE OF MILK.

The Board of Commerce has practically thrown up the sponge, in as far as controlling the advancing price of milk is concerned. The Board declares that all that it can do under present conditions is to supervise the profits and throw the blame entirely upon the shoulders of another government body, the Canadian Wheat Board. The Robson-O'Connor Board announces that cheaper milk is not possible unless there is substantial reduction in the price of bran and shorts and other milk feeds, and the Wheat Board has declined to take steps to effect a reduction in the cost of these feeds.

"In the opinion of the board," a Board of Commerce report says, "the affording of real relief lies in other hands. Indeed, its efforts attempted on behalf of the consumer have been resented, and its jurisdiction to concern itself with the matter of milling products has been denied.

"Under the circumstances, hereafter," the board's statement adds, "whenever special application is made to the board for a review of the various profits of producers and distributors the board will to the best of its ability and as early as possible after the request investigate and declare as to profits made but it can assume no responsibility for the result when and if after investigation is made it finds itself unable to declare otherwise than that the profits are reasonable and just."

The public will find more information than comfort in the statement of the Board of Commerce. The reason for the high prices of milk is interesting, but just now the people are more concerned in having the Government provide an effective remedy than they are in the quarrel of two government boards over the question of which is responsible for not checking the rising prices.

A TRIUMPH FOR LIBERALISM.

The true spirit of Liberalism has often been beaten down, but it is of its very nature to rise again, stronger and more assertive than ever. It may well be claimed that the recent political revolution in Ontario, for it is little other than a revolution, marks a return to the principles that have so often lighted the path of man to better things. We had drifted far from that spirit in the last few years in Ontario, but the fearless enunciation by men who believed thoroughly in political Liberalism has brought us back to the right road and whether it be Farmer Government or Liberal Government that controls, it is not the names that will be judged, but the deeds. The Government that is led by Mr. Drury can have no ideals of Government higher than those that are indelibly associated with true Liberalism. "Free minds make brave men," says John Morley, and in this day of changing conditions in our own land one could scarcely give better definition of Liberalism than his:

"Respect for the dignity and worth of the individual is at its root. It stands for the pursuit of social good against class interest or dynastic interest. It stands for the subjection to human judgment of all claims of external authority. In law-making, it does not neglect the higher characteristics of human nature; it attends to them first. In executive administration, the judge jailer, and perhaps the hangman, will be indispensable; still, mercy is counted a wise supplement to terror. General Gordon spoke a noble word for Liberalist ideas when he upheld the sovereign duty of trying to creep under men's skins —only another way of putting the Golden Rule."

That is the sort of Liberalism that was interpreted to the country by Sir Wilfrid Laurier during the whole course of his long life. It brought him into conflict with many enemies of liberty, but never did he depart from the creed that had inspired him as a youth. The last of his speeches set forth the same spirit of good will and brotherliness that permeated his early manhood utterances. An age in which Liberal principles triumph is marked by right, justice, equality, fraternity, and progress, all going together. When these are absent we have instead greed and oppression, injustice, class distinctions, hatreds, and prejudices, all working together to retard progress. We have gone through such days in Canada and have suffered from it as individuals and as a nation. What we have not fully apreciated in the past is that the enemies of true Liberalism are always on the alert to destroy it so that eternal vigilance on the part of the common people is very truly the price we must pay for our safety. We have been passing through a reactionary period in Canada of late, and we have not yet entirely defeated the plans of those who would take away from us the rights earned by long effort. But the outlook is brighter, the principles of true Liberalism are prevailing in the land, and it behooves every man who calls himself a Liberal to-day to join his effort to the task of bringing about right and justice. Liberalism never had better opportunity to impress its beliefs and its spirit than right now in Ontario, and it is the duty of every Liberal to exercise his influence in the work of spreading and applying principles of right at a time when men's minds are receptive and their hands strong to follow the inspiration and impulse of good.—London Advertiser.

EVERYTHING SERENE.

Several persons were making purchases in the grocer's shop on a very stormy day, when an old man with a stick in one hand and a bundle in the other entered and asked:

"Did any of you drive up here in a cart?"

"Yes, I did," replied one man.

"Was it an old white hoss?"

"Yes."

"And an old woman on the seat?"

"Quite right."

"And can she manage that hoss?"

"I should think she can."

"Then its all right," said the man of the stick and bundle. "The old hoss has run away and the old woman is hanging to the tiel board, shouting 'murder' with all her might; but if she can manage it there's no use of anybody getting excited over it. What's the price of eggs to-day?"

For the owner wanted to build a new whiock there. The merchant wouldn't budge. Not even when the owner offered him a bigger store in a better location for the same rent.

"Costs too much to move," he declared. "Besides, how do I know my customers would follow me? They know where I am now. They might not find the new place."

The landlord was in enough of a hurry to meet this by promising to advertise a removal sale, and then to advertise the new location till the whole town knew it. And the merchant, grumbling but knowing that he would soon be forced out anyway, accepted.

The advertising began. And the result almost swept him off his feet.

As for the removal sale, he couldn't keep up with the crowds. In a week he hadn't much stock left to move.

And in the new location, the advertising brought so many of his customers and so many new ones that presently he had to plead for larger quarters.

Today that store is four times the size it was when this happened. It is still growing. For, when he saw advertising work its miracle in his own particular case, he had the wisdom to revise his old notions and stay abroad the band wagon.

His business is a big success—because somebody pushed him into it. Congratulations to him for having the wisdom to keep going once he was started.

Congratulations—and happier ones—to the man who doesn't wait for the odd chance that some impatient landlord will happen along and push him in. The man who leads himself toward success by the modern method.

"Every house! But—but surely Sandy, there are some of the kirk members who are teetotalers?"

CAUGHT A DEVIL FISH.

One of the largest devilfish ever caught in Florida waters—the largest but one in the memory of Captain Charles Thomson—was landed recently by a party headed by the captain aboard the L'Apache, owned by James A. Ollison of Indianapolis.

The party was cruising in the neighborhood of Bimini, in the Gulf Stream about fifty miles from Miami when Captain Thomson, whose customary place is at the bow of the boat with a harpoon in his hand, sighted what appeared to be a mass of submerged wreckage a short distance ahead. It was a huge devilfish drifting along near the service of the water, his great black bulk darkening the water for many feet around.

Cautiously Captain Thomson ordered the yacht to proceed, and slowly manoeuvring within striking distance launched a harpoon that landed squarely in the centre of the monster's back. The next instant there was a tremendous commotion in the water and the line attached to the harpoon went hissing over the gunwale at lightning speed as the frightened and hurt fish started out to sea.

The business of letting the fish run and hauling him in again was repeated several times, so that finally he had five harpoons in him, two in the right wing and two in the left, in addition to the one originally implanted in his back.

Measuring the fish he was found to have a span of 15 feet 6 1-2 inches from tip to wing tip and a length of 16 feet from the extremity of his headfins to the end of his tail. His hide when removed from mounting weighed 253 pounds, and his estimated weight when alive was 8,800 pounds.—American Paper.

THE PROMOTER'S WIFE

By JANE PHELPS

NEIL HAS THE OFFER OF TWO POSITIONS.

CHAPTER CXXIII

After Mr. Frederick left I tidied up, Neil insisting upon drying the dishes. Then we sat in the living room talking of our guest, his kindness, and the feeling of security he had left behind as far as the immediate future was concerned.

Neil had told him—in reply to his questions— that it had taken every cent we had in the world to pay or debts. We were poorer than when as boy and girl we started out together. We had worn our clothes until now I was real shabby, altho I had insisted that Neil be properly dressed because of his position. We lived in a rented house, not even owning the furniture. We were both over thirty years old, and save for his unhappy experiences Neil had nothing to show for the years of hard work. When I thought of this I wondered that he did not more often give way to discouragement.

"What are you going to do now, still live out here?" Mr. Frederick asked.

"Yes, Bab likes it, it is good for Robert, and we can live more cheaply. Quite a consideration."

"Have you decided what you will do?" I looked in amazement from one to the other. Was Neil to lose his place with Frederick? I was soon enlightened. Mr. Frederick had seen my look of surprise, and added: "Hasn't he told you, Barbara? Chase has offered him a fine position, at a much larger salary than the position with me warrants. My resources have been pretty well drained, and my western interests have suffered by my long absence —he was one of the government's dollar a year men—I should like to meet Chase's figures but can't."

"Yes, I have decided. I said nothing to Bab because there was nothing to say. I shall remain with you as long as you can find a place for me."

"Thank you Forbes. I never needed faithful service as I do now. Such service may mean the saving of my fortune—what is left, and my business. I know of no else whom I could leave in charge. I shall have to depend as entirely upon you for this eastern end as I have during the war. My time must be spent on the coast. I am almost ashamed to offe r you the salary I have decided I can pay at the present. It's mighty little considering how you have slaved for me the past two years."

"Not entirely for you," Neil smilingly replied. "Uncle Sam was my employer too, and he urged me on you know."

"Can you live on five thousand a year for a time until I can get my affairs back on paying basis?—paying for me." He looked from one to the other of us, as if I too might have something to say!

"I both can and will. And Mr. Frederick I never have been able to tell you one half of how grateful I am to you to express my feelings for what you have done for us. I am not going to cry now. But if you had offered me one thousand I should have taken it and remained with you."

"I believe it, Forbes. Altho you aren't being quite fair to yourself in sticking to me. Chase offered him ten thousand, Barbara."

I gasped. Anton Chase was one of the big manufacturers of the country. That he had offered Neil, a man who had been accused of being dishonest only a few years before, a position of trust proved how thoroly Neil had rehabilitated himself in the business world. That he had said nothing to me of the offer proved how truly he recognized the help Frederick had given him, and his determination to prove his gratitude.

"Aren't you proud of your husband?" he continued lightly, the situation was becoming tense with feeling. "I should be if I were in your place. But you must talk it over with him Barbara. It will mean quite a difference to you as well as to him," he added without giving me time to reply to his question.

"Indeed I am proud of him. And I need no time to talk it over. He has done exactly right in every particular. We shall feel very wealthy now with the salary you offer, because it will be all ours to use as we please. We don't owe a penny, and so can begin to live riotously."

"You are a real wife Barbara. If more men married women like you there would be fewer divorces; fewer unhappy homes. God bless you both," he finished solemnly for him then said good-bye, leaving my cheeks still burning because of his compliment.

Frederick is right, Bab. You are a true helpmate," Neil said as we turned back into the house when we could no longer see Mr. Frederick or his car.

To-morrow—Planning a New Life.

RYERSON'S BODY IS AGAIN EXUMED IN SEARCH FOR POISON

ACTION TO BE TAKEN BY MIDDLESEX COUNTY (N.J.,) PROSECUTOR AT FATHER'S INSISTENCE.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J., Nov. 22.—For the second time the body of Theodore Ryerson, Jr., wealthy business man of this city and New York, who died on April 14, has been exhumed to determine whether he met death by poisoning. On the demand of Mr. Ryerson's father, Theodore Ryerson, Sr., of No. 258 Handy Street, Joseph E. Sticker, Middlesex County Prosecutor, has ordered the body taken from its grave in Evergreen Cemetery. The exhumation was made in the presence of county physicians and county detectives and the vital organs removed for examination by Dr. Alexander Anderson, of the Squibb laboratories.

Mr. Ryerson was connected with the York Safe and Lock Company, No. 56 Maiden Lane, New York. His death occurred after he had returned from an automobile ride to Newark. Several days previously he had complained of severe pains in the stomach and had consulted a Newark specialist, who diagnosed the case as one of indigestion. After his death his widow declared she had prepared scrambled egg sandwiches, of which her husband had eaten several. She said she believed this might have induced an attack of indigestion.

The Ryersons lived in a pretentious home at No. 9 Kirkpatrick Street, which they had purchased after coming to New Brunswick from Philadelphia. They were married six years ago. Mrs. Ryerson having been Miss Ora Starr of Cambridge, N.Y. Mrs. Ryerson's estate, which was believed to total $100,000, was known to include $27,000 in real estate, $13,000 in personal property and other items amounting to about $20,000. Mrs. Ryerson sold the New Brunswick home soon after her husband's death for $25,000.

Three days after Mr. Ryerson was buried, on April 19, the body was exhumed, and Dr. J. L. Suydam, county physician, said death had been caused by indigestion. Recently Mr. Ryerson's father, insisting that his son had been poisoned, requested another examination. Mrs. Ryerson said she was gratified that the step had been taken by the county authorities, in order to set at rest all doubts concerning the cause of her husband's death, which she mantains was natural. The analysis is not expected to be completed for several days.

MOVIES POPULAR IN SIAM.

Nine Theatres in Bangkok, Most of Them Showing American Films.

The popularity of moving pictures is not confined to America, but is extending to far distant points, and films of American production are being extensively used.

There are at present 9 film theatres in operation at Bangkok, Siam, and another building which will house a large movie theatre is now under construction. This structure will cost about 200,000 ticals, and another 100,000 will be spent on its furnishings. When completed it will have a seating capacity of about 5000. In New Zealand there are approximately 200 picture theatres, with an average seating capacity of 750.

The seating capacity of theatres in the small towns is about 200, while some of the cities have theatres accomodating over 1,000 persons each. Wellington is the chief centre of distribution, and about 95 per cent. of the moving-picture films which are imported into New Zealand are of American production.

"What About This Nerve Food Doctor?"

"IT IS all right."

"Would it do for me to take it?"

"I cannot see any objection."

"Well, I know so many women who are using it to good advantage that I decided to give it a trial."

"Then why ask me about it?"

"Just because you know my condition, and I felt that I would like your opinion."

"Of course, you know that we doctors are supposed to be prejudiced against all package medicines. As a matter of fact, nearly all the best medicines on the market are the prescription of doctors and first made their merits known in some doctor's private practice.

"There is scarcely a day but I see Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in the homes I visit, and to be perfectly candid I know of many instances in which this treatment has brought about really remarkable cures."

"Then you thnk it suits my case?"

"Undoubtedly. Your blood is thin and watery. You are anaemic. The nerve cells are starved. Hence the neuralgic pains, the nervousness and irritability, the sleeplessness. The medicine I gave you does not seem to be exactly what you need. The Nerve Food may be just what is required to get your blood and nerves in good condition."

"One thing certain, doctor, it has been a wonderful benefit to several people I know."

"If the conditions are similar in your case there can be no better proof that it will benefit you. After all it is cure we are after, and while every doctor has his own favorite prescriptions, it is results that count."

"Thank you, doctor, I am glad to have your approval and I am going to start in with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with the determination to give it a good honest trial."

"Good, that is what our medicines do not always get. I would suggest that you follow up this treatment for at least a month or two, and then you will be in a position to know just what benefit you are obtaining. For it takes a little time and patience to restore an exhausted, nervous system."

GERMAN TOY MARKET FLAT.

No Demandfrom Countries Which Bought Before the War.

Conditions unfavorable to the resumption of the German trade in toys with the United States are reported by Paul L. Edwards, commercial attache at The Hague, Holland, in a message to the Department of Commerce in Washington.

According to Mr. Edwards, the Nuremberg toy industry is suffering from the effects of labor disputes. During the war, and even to the present time, the industry has had to use many substitute materials which have been unsuitable for its purposes. Now that Germany is able to resume trade relations, it finds that the demand for toys made in that country is not what it was before 1914.

Thus far, it is reported, American buyers have made no effort to renew their import business in toys. Their efforts to date have been confined to the completion of orders given before the United States entered the war, shipment of which was prevented by the allied blockade. It is added that two of the largest toy houses in New York have just sent American representatives into Germany.

SHAKESPEAREANS IN ARMS.

Seek Removal by Parliament of Factory Near Bard's Birthplace.

LONDON.— Despite the outcry from lovers of Shakespeare, permission was recently given to a Birmingham firm to build an aluminium factory at Stratford-on-Avon, within a thousand yards of the house where Shakespeare was born.

There is, however, hope that the matter may be brought up in the House of Commons. Sir Sidney Lee, chairman of the executive committee of the Shakespeare Birthplace Trust, said to-day that a number of well known people were considering the promotion of a bill which, if passed by Parliament, would save Stratford and other places of a like historic interest from disfigurement by industrial concerns.

To Travelling Salesmen

WHEN showing goods, the traveller's cuffs as well as his goods are brought right before the prospective customer's eyes. A soiled cuff doesn't create a favorable impression. And it draws the attention away from the article to the soiled cuff.

The alert, particular traveller, therefore, has to take a big bunch of shirts on his trips and change often—unless he carries W. G. & R. Shirts with Double Wear Cuffs with him when he needs just half the usual quantity.

Everyone knows that the cuffs—the most exposed portion of a shirt—get soiled first. And it doesn't take long for a dirty train or dusty road to soil them.

But when one side of his Double Wear Cuffs gets soiled the traveller just turns the cuffs, which fold easily and lie perfectly flat either way they're turned. He thus wears his shirt twice as long.

If he is away for a period of two weeks to a month or longer every inch in his grip or personal trunk is valuable. W. G. & R. Shirts with Double Wear Cuffs save space for him, cut laundry bills for shirts in half, and wear longer.

WIRELESS TELEPHONY

The wonders of the new wireless telephony were demonstrated the other day at the Houses of Parliament in London, when a number of people were able to converse with the observers of airplanes flying at a height of several thousand feet and at distances of ten to twenty miles. There was also a conversation with a wireless telephone station some twenty miles away, and gramophone tunes were transmitted and were very plainly audible.

Sometimes when the conditions were particularly favorable the voice reproduced at Westminster was overpoweringly loud. One of the messages sent was an invitation to all R.A.F. pilots within a radius of twenty miles to dine with General Seeley, and in the pause that followed the two original recipients of the message could be heard passing it on to their fellow-airmen. The invitation was promptly accepted.

It was explained that wireless telephony can now be practised from an airship up to a distance of 165 miles and from an airplane up to 100 miles. Some postal machines from England to France are now fitted with the system, and it has proved of very considerable advantage.

A Secret of the War.

This demonstration was incidentally the occasion of a secret of the war being disclosed. Wireless telephony was made possible early in 1915 and was experimented upon that year by the Royal Flying Corps. By 1917 sufficient progress had been made for the system to be of practical use. In March, 1918, two squadrons on the Western Front were fitted with wireless telephony, and the fact became known to the Germans. They heard English speech in their wireless receivers, and, not knowing to what uses the new invention might be put, from that time avoided our squadrons.

Unfortunately the retreat in March, 1918, broke up the organization, and by the time of the armistice practically nothing more had been done. But so far as is known nothing in connection with wireless telephony had been developed by the Germans, and it is impossible to estimate the advantage of our being so well ahead of the enemy.

For Aerial Navigation.

In the course of the demonstration it was shown how an airship of a big airplane can determine its position from signals received from high-power wireless stations up to 700 miles. A new telephone was also exhibited, in which the transmitter, instead of being held to the mouth, is pressed against the neck of the speaker and records the vibrations of the human tissues instead of those of the air.

The sequel to the above-named invitations is interesting. Six officers dined that night with the Air Minister, General Seeley, at the House of Commons. It was explained that the invitations were received and accepted while the airplanes has been flying round London within a radius of about thirty miles, at heights up to fifteen thousand feet.

PROBE INTO DEATH OF WOMAN RESULTS IN THE SUSPENSION OF TWO OLD POLICE OFFICERS

OTTAWA, Nov. 21.—Following the evidence in the Shipman investigation in the police court by the Ottawa Police Commissioners, Chief of Police Ross announced that Sergeant Major Jeremiah Berigan and Sergeant John Barlow has been suspended pending the commissioners' final report on the case.

In that final report, which will be rendered within a few days, it is expected that the commission will recommend that extensive changes and improvements shall be made in the police station, including the provision of proper quarters for women, a detention room, and an improved arrangement for matron service. Action may also be taken to ensure greater attention in the way of medical examination of persons brought to the station where there may be the slightest chance of illness.

Are Well Known Officers.

The police officers who have been temporarily suspended are among the oldest and best known men on the force. Police Sergeant Major Berigan has been on the force for many years and has always been regarded as a competent, painstaking officer. Sergeant Barlow, while a more recent addition to Chief Ross' force, also has a good record.

The evidence established with finality that Mrs. Shipman had not partaken of intoxicants, and that her death was due to cerebral hemorrhage. Whether prompt medical attention, at the time her condition was first noticed in the street car on Friday night, would have saved her life, medical witnesses could not state.

Dr. J. W. Argue made an excellent suggestion when he expressed the opinion that all persons brought to the police station unconscious should receive medical treatment and examination at once.

Constable Feeney On Stand.

Police Constable Michael Feeney who was on duty on Bank street, on Friday night, said he was called to a Gladstone car when it was in the vicinity of Bank and Gloucester streets. The conductor told him the woman was either drunk or sick. The odor on the car was so bad that witness said he had to get off or he too would be sick. The woman was in the car and had been sick to her stomach. The conductor told him the woman had said something about getting off the car at McLeod street and witness suggested that the officer on the next beat should take her home as he would be nearer.

Witness said he would have taken the woman home himself but the odor on the car was so foul his stomach could not stand it.

Judge Gunn: "Was there any smell of liquor?"

Witness: "As I know the odor of liquor, there was."

Dr. Alexander D. W. Kay, superintendent of St. Luke's Hospital, said he saw Mrs. Shipman shortly after she entered the hospital Saturday morning. Her respiration was very rapid, her pulse weak, and there was a certain blueness in her face. Col. Gibson and Mrs. Shipman's son came soon after and they told him Dr. Argue was her physician. Dr. Argue was sent for and the patient was turned over to him. She was admitted at 7.50 a.m. and died at 2.35 p.m.

Judge Gunn: "What was the cause of death?"

Witness: "Cerebral hemorrhage."

"Was there any evidence of recent use of intoxicants by the patient?"

"None whatever."

"What do you think caused her to become unconscious from the time she got into the car until the conductor found her, a short time later?"

"Possibly an increased flow of blood to the brain."

"Was there any sign or smell of liquor?"

"Not the slightest. I smelled her breath."

"The Sergeant-Major who received the patient at the Police Station, the Sergeant who came later, the police officer who put her in the police car all swear she smelled of liquor. Is that true?"

"I could find no smell of liquor."

"Would you say that if she had obtained medical aid twelve hours earlier she could have been saved?"

"I would not care to venture an opinion as to that."

To Mayor Fisher witness said in cases of cerebral hemorrhage the loss of consciousness would sometimes be gradual. He could not say what might have caused the offensive odor complained of, but was quite satisfied there was no odor of liquor. Witness did not see the prisoner vomit and did not see her clothes.

Mayor Fisher—"Would a man without your training mistake Mrs. Shipman's condition for that of intoxication?"

Witness:—"As I saw her there was no trace of intoxication."

Mayor Fisher:—"When a person is unconscious from drinking intoxicants should he receive medical attention? We want to see what can be done to prevent a recurrence of such a thing. Should unconscious drunks arrested by the police receive medical attendance?"

Witness:—"In most cases they do get medical attention. Witness said there was no question on the part of the hospital to take unconscious patients suffering from intoxication. They would be treated as any other patient. In some cases when they were brought in hilarious they were cared for if guards were supplied and sometimes even without guards.

To Judge Gunn, witness said the action of cerebral hemorrhage was sometimes gradual. Vomiting sometimes accompanied it and there was a loss of consciousness and loss of control of the limbs. The usual treatment in such cases is to give absolute rest. In cerebral hemorrhage the pulse would gradually weaken and the breathing would be more or less labored.

Pronounced Temperance Views.

Mrs. Mary H. Henderson, 91 Gilmour street, said she had known Mrs. Shipman for twenty years, and had last seen her a month ago. She never knew Mrs. Shipman to take liquor; on the contrary she was a total abstainer, never used liquor even for cooking and was very pronounced on the side of temperance.

"I worked with Mrs. Shipman in the church for fifteen years. She was a good Christian woman who never spoke an unkind word and spent her life working for others," said the witness in conclusion.

Mrs. M. E. Jolliffe said she saw Mrs. Shipman in the car on Friday afternoon early. She knew her as a Christian woman and the letter in her possession was from a young man who wrote her to say that had it not been for her effort his life would have been very different.

Called At Church.

Mrs. May Mackay said Mrs. Shipman called at Dominion church on Friday at 6 o'clock. Witness was convening a supper of boys of the Standard Efficiency Test, and invited Mrs. Shipman to remain for the supper. Mrs. Shipman accepted and left the church at 8.15 in perfect health. Witness saw her go to take the car. Mrs. Shipman had two suppers that evening, one with her son uptown and another in the church. At the church she ate a small serving of Irish stew, a little pickle, a cake with whipped cream on it and a quarter of a cup of coffee filled with water and prepared to her order.

Dr. O. K. Gibson said Mrs. Shipman had refreshments at Liggett's Allen and Cochranes drug store with her son between 5.30 and 6 o'clock on Friday evening. From there she went to Dominion church. She had not eaten heavy meals.

Health Usually Good.

Generally deceased was a robust active woman. She had had sciatica once, but latterly was better. She was an absolute teetotaller and her mission in life was to aid those whose homes had been saddened through liquor. Mrs. Shipman, Dr. Gibson said, was a more than ordinary healthy woman.

Robert G. Knox saw Mrs. Shipman in Dominion church at 7.30 on Friday evening. Witness asked her as to her health and she said she was quite well. He left her with the ladies. Witness wishes to repudiate any suggestion that the woman had been intoxicated.

Dr. John F. Argue said he had known Mrs. Shipman for many years. He had been her family physician, and last saw her in St. Luke's Hospital at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. She was then unconscious suffering from cerebral hemorrhage. It was probably caused by the bursting of a blood vessel. The blood would gradually ooze into the brain substance and cause gradual loss of consciousness. Vomiting might also result. Her unconscious condition in the car would indicate that the hemorrhage was progressing. There could be no indication of intoxication in the woman's condition. No alcoholic odor could be emitted unless alcohol had been taken in. The vomiting would be no indication of intoxication. During the night while she was lying on the cell floor her unconscious state would deepen, this would be indicated by more rapid respiration and a lowering of the pulse. Cerebral hemorrhage comes without warning, but is sometimes gradual. From the severity of the hemorrhage in Mrs. Shipman's case witness would not say that if he had been called at 7.30 Friday night it would have made any difference in the result of the case. There was absolutely nothing to indicate intoxication, on the contrary the case was one demanding the highest class of medical attention, certainly not one to have been treated as drunkenness.

Should Get Attention.

Witness said the vomiting was not uncommon and there would be an odor, but not of liquor. He could not say whether the vomiting or brain hemorrhage came first. "Any person brought to a police station in a deeply unconscious condition, whether intoxicated or not, should have medical attention," said Dr. Argue.

To Mayor Fisher the doctor said that after what Mrs. Shipman had eaten, if she were sick the partially digested food thrown off the stomach would have a sour odor. Even if a man were dead drunk he would be safer in a hospital than anywhere else. No layman should have the right to pronounce whether a person was intoxicated or not. They should be sent to hospital in any event as was done in Bellevue, New York.

Handled Gently.

Police Constables George Paget and Joseph Payette, who took Mrs. Shipman to St. Luke's Hospital on Saturday morning, swore that Mrs. Shipman was handled very gently and with all care. Nothing unusual occurred. Mrs. Shipman was delivered to a nurse and orderlies put her in bed. The woman was taken to the hospital in an open Ford car, as the department had no ambulance or patrol wagon.

Sergeant-Major Berigan recalled identified the envelopes found in Mrs. Shipman's satchel. He did not read the letters they contained. Gleason and the chauffeur were on the premises when the letters were found.

"Why didn't you send one of them to the McLeod street address?" he was asked.

"I suppose I should have, Your Honor, but I didn't. I thought she was just a helpless drunk."

Chief Ross was recalled to the stand by Mayor Fisher for a few questions.

"Had to Happen."

Mayor Fisher—"Chief, after hearing the evidence, what do you think should be done to prevent the recurrence of such a case as this?"

Chief Ross—"In the first place we want a new station and proper accommodation for women. We also require accommodation for matrons on duty all the time."

"How would that have helped this case?"

Chief Ross—"This thing had to happen. Similar cases have occurred in the history of practically every police force in large cities, although this is the first time it has happened in Ottawa."

Call Outside Doctors.

Judge Gunn—"What medical provision have you in cases where persons are taken ill in the station or are ill when brought there?"

Chief Ross—"We have doctors in Lower Town and uptown, Dr. Chabot and Dr. McKenna, but we have always experienced great difficulty in getting any doctor late at night. Persons brought to the police station ill should always be taken to the hospital."

Mayor Fisher—"How would you determine when to take them there?"

Chief Ross—"That must be left to the intelligence of the officer in charge in the station; he makes the best judgment he can, and his instructions are in all cases where he thinks a prisoner is ill he is to be taken to the hospital."

Hospitals Refuse Some.

Mayor Fisher—"Would you suggest that all unconscious persons receive medical treatment at once?"

Chief Ross—"It is a question of distinguishing between persons who are unconscious and those who are in a heavy stupor or sleep from intoxication. We have sent cases to hospital and had the hospital authorities refuse them, saying they were simply drunk and not ill."

Mayor Fisher—"Well, at any rate, in such a case you have the benefit of expert opinion."

Didn't Have Best Room.

Continuing, Chief Ross said Mrs. Shipman did not have the best accommodation in the station the night she was there. There is a room above the cells better than the cells themselves, where women are usually put, but on the night in question this room was occupied by a female prisoner charged with violation of the O. T.A.

A Mr. Gibson, said to be a cousin of the dead woman, who was an interested spectator in court, here asked permission to ask the chief a question, and upon being invited to proceed, asked whether the Ottawa Electric Railway often called upon the police to take charge of persons sick or helpless in the street cars.

Chief Ross — "Generally. Hack drivers, if they have a drunken or incapable passenger whom they cannot manage also call for police assistance."

Mr. Gibson—"Do you have a similar requests from managers of theatres?"

The chief replied that some of the other officers could tell about that better than he, and one of the officers, speaking up, said he had been called to a theatre in the city to take charge of a person helplessly drunk.

Not Christian Act.

Mr. Gibson—"That is un-Christian. If Mrs. Shipman had been taken ill in Dominion church instead of in the street car she would not have been handed over to the police."

Mayor Fisher—"Possibly not, because she was known there. But what would the people of Dominion church do if a stranger was there and incapable of taking care of himself?"

Suspended Officers.

There being no further evidence, the commissioners retired to a conference with Chief Ross in Magistrate Askwith's office. Later the suspension of Officers Berrigan and Barlow was announced.

THIRTEEN-YEAR-OLD BOY SUICIDES FOR LOVE OF A 14-YEAR-OLD GIRL.

LONDON—Harold Ellison, aged 13, killed himself at Liverpool because his 14-year-old sweetheart didn't love him.

"He was a boy for girls," said Ernest Firth, aged 12, at the inquest. "He often told me he would take some poison because a girl did not like him. In the winter he threatened to drown himself, only the water was too cold.

"He showed me a small brown jar, saying it contained rat poison. 'I am going to take it for the sake of a girl because she does not love me,' he told me. He put some poison on the cork and licked it off. Half an hour later he ate some more.

"Next day Harold refused food and went to bed. Three days later he told his father he had taken poison. The jar was almost empty. He died two days later. The girl was 14 years old."

Go Down the Hill of Life in Comfort.

Physicians are full of warning to men and women who are just turning forty. At forty, they say, many ailments which have lain dormant, become active. Kidney and Bladder troubles show themselves, and much care is advised.

The best care that can be given is in providing oneself with Gin Pills and taking them at the first sign of pain in the back or across the groins, or when dizziness, constant headaches, swollen joints, rheumatism, sciatica or gravel bring suffering or discomfort.

Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS

taken in time, will prevent serious complications. They strengthen weakened kidneys, relieve congestion, soothe inflammation, and help the vital organs to purify the blood so that the poisons, uric acid and waste are duly eliminated.

Gin Pills contain no alcohol and no ingredient that could harm the health in the slightest way. Their great principle is derived from the Juniper Berry, which made Gin an old-time remedy for kidney trouble. Seven other highly effective diuretics and antiseptics are combined, and the result is a Pill that is, we believe, the best ever prepared for allaying the pain caused by deranged kidneys, and restoring the organs to proper activity. They are particularly useful in the treatment of stone or gravel in the bladder so that they may be passed, thus avoiding painful operations.

Thousands of voluntary testimonials from all parts of Canada are continually pouring into our office, showing in a most practical way the proved excellence of these wonderful Pills.

HOUSE SHORTAGE IN PETERBORO MAKES LIFE MISERABLE FOR THE CITIZEN WHO IS SEEKING A HOME

AN EXPERIENCE WITH A SMALL ARMY OF REAL ESTATE DEALERS AND LANDLORDS--DEFECTS THAT CROP UP IN THE AVERAGE HOME---A HOME IS NEVER APPRECIATED UNTIL IT VANISHES.

Judging by the amount of moving which is in progress in the city, the public might easily draw the conclusion that to buy, sell and rent property in Peterboro is a matter of secondary consideration—a matter easily adjusted; merely a matter of moving into some more desirable quarters which they are sure can be secured.

It is not.

Impossible to Rent.

To rent a home at present is almost impossible. The days of leisurely surveying a long list of available houses at attractive prices while an anxious real estate dealer eulogized the features of each, has passed and the real estate men have little or no use for the prospective tenant. "We haven't a thing to rent" is the universal slogan in all the city offices "but we can sell sell you something at a small price for a small deposit." An actual canvass of each of the real estate offices in Peterboro proved this to be true and in only one case could a desirable house be secured for renting and that at a price which staggered the aplicant. This statement does not cover the smaller houses at from $9 to $15 a month, but a house for the man of moderate income.

Times have Changed.

A couple or perhaps five years ago to let a hint of the fact one wished to buy a ouse on any terms whatever brought a swarm of landlords to the door, hat in hand, and a thrilling story on the merits of the property. The mails brought in word pictures of all that was desirable in a home. Times have changed since then and the home seeker is a seeker indeed as he is treated coldly by the landlords, who while admitting that they did mention that they might sell a certain property don't want any one walking through the house disturbing the tenants unless they have some real idea of buying and "before you get permission to see through the house, 'What are your terms?'"

One Actual Experience.

Take the case of one family. They found the truth of the saying "that a home is never appreciated until it vanishes." Tempted by an offer flatteringly in advance of what they paid for their home they sold before finding out what could be bought for the same money, or rather what couldn't. After announcing that they had sold their home they awaited developments and the usaul offer of property. None came. A couple of real estate dealers were sought, and then things began to happen. Like magic every dealer in the city, apparently heard the good news at the same time and to compete with the calls they made, extra help to answer the door and telephone was practically necessary. They came in droves, some in automobiles, others with horses; others less enterprising on foot. The family breathed easily. Their troubles were apparently at an end. They were not: they had only commenced.

Prices Advanced.

Houses in the North, South, East and West were offered; new, modern, and houses built some years ago,—the latter a guarantee of solidity which the owners of such claim is not found in many of the new houses. Prices are kept in the back ground until the crucial moment when the prospective buyer inadvertently remarks that the house seems to be a nice place, and fairly well suited. Then the dealer springs the surprise of the prospective buyer's life when he confides that 'they are asking $4700 for this but I think I could get it for $4500.' This, after the buyer thought he was looking though a modest little dwelling worth about $3200. Threats, advice, quotations of what the taxes will probably be next year fail to move the owners who to a man claim that they will be able to get $1000 more for the same house in a year's time 'the way things are with building going up every day.' Houses which could have been bought and the owner gladly sall for $3200 a year ago have now taken on a new dignity in value and actual cases can be shown where they are now selling at $4000 to $4200.

The Knockers.

Directly a hint that a certain property is being negotiated for the knockers who obtain their information in some uncanny fashion commence work. The real estate men admit they never saw such a crop of that particular class as are busy this fall. They work in so insidious a manner that no one seems to be able to place the blame for the information they have received concerning the defects of a property. There is according to the army of knockers apparently not a warm house in the city. Each house is labelled cold excellent reasons why it should be cold. That is certainly the prevalent defect and a very serious one in the face of the coal shortage which faces the country. Another favorite theme with the knockers is a cellar which floods and no matter how near or how far any property may be from any of the creeks or rivers in the city the cellar floods every spring.

Quick Sales

Quick sales are becoming rapidly more popular. Many of the houses listed with the real estate men cannot be procured until Spring and to avoid the rise in price which the dealers all promise is coming on account of the high price of lumber, a large number of the people are buying on that basis. Most of the people apparently cannot bear the thought of keeping their money until the Spring. They all appear to fall for the argument of the rise in price but more particularly for the story of how the same house couldn't be built for the money. Nobody seems to stop to think that for the same money they wouldn't build the house. Some of the most shameful shacks have been imposed on housekeepers on that plea. An idea of the rush that is taking place in the city for property may be gained from the fact that Mr. F. Dobbin offered his home for sale, and was not only offered his price but a bonus of $200 if he would vacate the place at once. A large number of the home seekers are from outside points.

PRINCIPLE OF TELEPHONING KNOWN FOR CENTURIES

The principle of the telephone has been known for many years, the first idea of it in modern days being explained in a book published in 1609. Hook commenced to study the subject in 1661 and in 1667 he succeeded in transmitting sound by means of a distended wire. Wheatstone experimented in 1821 and succeeded in conveying the sounds of a musical box from cellar to attic of his home. In 1861 an instrument called the telephone was invented which telegraphed musical sounds by means of a rod of soft iron in a coil of wire through which a current was sent. "The reproduced notes," to quote from an account of this instrument, "though of the same pitch, are not of the same quality as the transmitting (transmitted) notes. They are very faint and resemble the sound of a toy trumpet."

Experiments were made by scientists, until finally Prof. Bell invented the system which with changes is that used to-day.

MANY PRESENTATIONS AT VICTORY LOAN BANQUET

CANVASSERS' COMMITTEE ENTERTAIN EXECUTIVE AND ORGANIZERS AND SHOWED THEIR APPRECIATION OF SERVICES RENDERED DURING THE CAMPAIGN.

A JOVIAL, HAPPY WIND-UP

Presentations, a flood of oratory, charges and counter-charges, moving stories of breaches of confidence and violation of territorial rights and, above all, a jovial feeling of good-fellowship featured the banquet held under the auspices of the Canvassing Committee of the Victory Loan campaign in Hooper's Palm Parlours, at which the members of the Executive Committee, the organizers, Messrs. Harold Fry and Frank Blackadar and the Divisional Supervisor, Mr. G. R. Warburton, were the guests of honour. Mr. Frank Whitehouse was chairman, and practically every member of the local Victory Loan organization were in attendance.

It was an occasion marked by many presentations. Mr. W. H. Bradburn, the county chairman, was presented with a handsome umbrella; Mr. Vincent Eastwood, vice-chairman, received a fine cigarette case; the two organizers, Messrs. Fry and Blackadar, neat tie pins, and Mr. Felix Brownscombe, secretary of the committee, a magnificent grandfather's clock, suitably engraved. To Mr. Henry Rush, the oldest member, fell the honour of making these presentations on behalf of the Canvassing Committee, and in all cases the recipients were completely surprised by the gift.

THE CAPTAINS HONOURED.

The captains of the three teams, Messrs. Herb. McCannan, V. J. McElderry and F. H. Dobbin, and Mr. Frank Whitehouse, who did magnificent work in charge of the factories' canvass, were each presented with military brushes, Mr. Ward Patterson making the presentation in his usual happy style.

After justice had been done to the excellent repast provided by mine host, T. H. Hooper, the speech-making began, with Mr. Whitehouse the master of ceremonies. The toast to the King having been loyally observed, the gathering proceeded to tell each other what fine fellows the other fellows were. It was a unique spirit of comradeship that was evidenced in the speeches. The presentations to the Executive heads and the organizers were prefaced by an address from Mr. Whitehouse, who referred in high terms of praise to the splendid work of Messrs. Fry and Blakadar, the organizers, and of Messrs. Bradburn, Eastwood and Brownscombe.

After Mr. Rush had made the presentations, each of the recipients replied in effective speeches, in which they said many nice things about one another and about the Canvassing Committee. The great assistance Mr. Felix Brownscombe, the secretary, had been to the whole organization was enlarged on by nearly all the speakers. Appreciative references were made too to the work of Mr. J. G. Campazzi, as chairman of the Publicity Committee, and of Mr. Chas. E. Curtis, in keeping the Victory Loan before the people of Peterborough. These gentlemen were later given an opportunity to express their acknowledgments.

Mr. G. R. Warburton, divisional supervisor, was called upon for an address, and he congratulated all concerned upon the splendid manner in which the Victory Loan had been put over in Peterborough. The services of the different members of the Executive and of the Canvassing Committee were referred to by Mr. Warburton, who also had an appreciative word for the assistance of the newspapers and for the services rendered the organization by Mr. Harry Dahn, manager of the Grand Opera House.

EVERYBODY HAD TO SPEAK.

All the members of the Canvassing Committee were called upon for speeches and they responded with the same spirit with which they tackled the sale of bonds. A feature of the addresses was the frequent reference to the splendid comradeship that had been developed in the campaign and to the friendships that had been formed. The hope that this brotherhood spirit would be permanent and used for the advancement of Peterborough was also frequently expressed by the speakers. Incidents of the campaign were told in a manner that caused gales of laughter, and charges of poaching and piracy hurled by rival teams at one another were received in the same manner. In addition to those already mentioned, Messrs. Herb. McCannan, V. J. McElderry, Lewis, John Corkery, Percy Rutherford, W. G. Howden, J. T. Thornton, J. A. O'Brien, H. Rush, Blewitt, H. Stabler, A. N. Allison, Harry G. Webber, J. E. Sullivan, Col. J. H. Mills, and Ald. Robt. Morrison all contributed speeches that were appreciated.

Mr. Frank Whitehouse expressed the appreciation of the organization to the press and to the heads of Peterborough's industries for the assistance rendered, and a vote of thanks was tendered by the meeting.

It was a jovial, enthusiastic gathering, in which every one took part and every one had a good time. The appreciation on the part of the Canvassing Committee of the work of Messrs. Fry and Blackadar and of Messrs. Bradburn, Eastwood, and Brownscombe, was evidenced not only by the presentations, but by the many eulogistic references that were made, while the Executive heads were equally warm in their praises of the men in the field. Mr. Whitehouse, who ably carried out the duties of chairman, incidentally came in for several bouquets for the splendid manner in which he handled the factories' canvass.

The members of the Victory Loan Committee have every reason to rejoice because they put Peterborough on the map by making her the first city in the Province to win the Prince of Wales flag and by going on and adding four cheers. The thanks of the Provincial Executive, as expressed in a letter from Mr. G. H. Wood to the county chairman, Mr. Bradburn, who was therein personally thanked for his own share in the success, were read to the meeting, and they replied by drinking the health of and giving three hearty cheers for Mr. Wood, the Ontario chairman, and his associates.

WON'T DARE REGULATE ANY FEMININE STYLES

H.C. of L. Commissioner Says Might Standardize Men's Clothes.

WINDSOR, Nov. 22.—That the high cost of living in Windsor and other border municipalities is materially affected by the desire of border women to "put on style" by wearing expensive dresses and shoes, according to the fashion in Detroit, was testified this afternoon by Windsor business men before James Murdoch, Commissioner appointed to investigate the cost of living problem in the Dominion.

"Windsor women must have Detroit style," said Alexander B. Peddie, a local dry goods merchant, "although just as serviceable clothes, with an equal appearance to goods sold in Detroit as the latest creations, can be purchased in Windsor." This opinion was backed up by F. M. Sclanders, the local Industrial Commissioner.

The Canadian Cost of Living Commission, Commissioner Murdoch, said had been advised to standardize women's clothing and shoes. This, however, he believed was not possible, because women would not stand for mannish interference in their fashions.

"We might attempt it with men's styles and get away with our lives," the Commissioner said, "but we couldn't think of daring to regulate styles of women's clothing."

HOUSING CONMISSION IS REQUESTED BY CITIZENS

His total payment as stated in $4,800. A house that cost with the lot $3,300 would likely be assessed at $2,000, and at the present rate of 30 mills the taxes would be $60 a year, or $1,200 for 20 years.

Then the house would need painting, outside, say twice, during the 20 year period, say at $70 each time, total $140.

Total on house, taxes and painting, amount to $6,140.

As against this he would have paid in rent $4,320, which leaves the fact that the man has to pay really the difference amounting to $1,820 and owns his own house.

That is, he can have the house built, live in it for 20 years, meet all the payments, and only cost him $90 a year more than if he were paying rent during that period.

Need Houses Now.

We need more houses to share in the prosperity of the city, said Mr. Dobbin. "The more propety and houses we have the greater the distribution of the taxes, and consequently the taxes would be reduced all round."

Building is almost at a standstill because of the cost of materials. There is a great deal of doubling-up and even trippling-up.

Two and three families have been sharing the same domicile. This may have worked well during the war, but now people want to have their own houses."

Mr. Dobbin related that in a recent canvass of homes on McDonnel Street, he had observed that at least seven of them were unfit for use. Their condition did not conduce to good housekeeping and resultant happiness. One woman even said that the house she occupied did not encourage and hearten her and create the interest that made for a bright and cheerful atmosphere. The effect of such houses upon the occupant families was depressive. New and modern homes should be available for citizens who might desire to escape from such gloomy and dispiriting conditions.

Mr. Dobbin said he could not see any signs of an early recession in the price of building materials. The public, in fact, had begun to realise that lower prices might not begin to appear for years. Five weeks ago, for instance, a lumber company at Parry Sound advertised for men at a wage of $85.00 a month, together with board. This was indicative of the high basic cost of lumber, and discouraged any hope of a reduction in prices within the next few years.

Federal Assistance.

The Dominion Government had set aside forty million dollars to assist all parts of Canada in meeting the present unprecedented demand for houses. A portion of the loan will be available to Ontario at a five per cent. rate of interest. It is required of any citizen who takes advantage of the Government's assistance that he shall pay a guarantee of ten per cent. of the estimated cost of the house and lot. This must be paid in cash. The lot would be accepted as a whole or part payment of this binding deposit.

The Commission in Toronto has from ten to fifteen plans of standard dwellings, which must be single and built back at least twenty feet, back from the street line of lots that must be one hundred feet or more in depth. The situation of the house must ensure ample sunlight to pour around it. A local commission is empowered to decide how the contracts may be let. They may be located in groups or even on isolated lots. It is preferable that lots adjacent to sewers and other conveniences should be chosen for sites in order to avoid putting the municipality to unnecessary expenses. Variety of design affords scope for the expression of individuality. Sameness and similarity of exterior appearance is overcome by the fairly large number of designs that have been prepared for the Commission.

Buy in Large Quantities.

Mr. Dobbin said that a considerable saving should be made by buying the building materials in large quantities. If twenty houses were erected, they would require 240 doors, 600 windows and frames, 180,000 shingles, one and a half ton of nails, and so on. Bricks, lime and lumber would be bought on the same wholesale basis, and if necessary direct from the producers.

Returned Soldiers Interested.

A returned soldier said that some municipalities do not require the returned men to pay the ten per cent. guarantee. This would be quite a help to those who were interested in the housing scheme. Men who had spent three or four years overseas had saved practically nothing. They couldn't save much out of $1.10 a day, and since they had come home they found that manufacturers were not offering them the wages they were paying to men who had stayed at home. They were now quoting 35 cents an hour to men wearing the service button, and even to mechanics back from the war.

This said he desired to escape from the tenant class, and that the G. W. V. A. have over forty names in a list of those who are willing to adopt the housing scheme.

City Solicitor Widdifield explained that the Act permitted any municipality to dispense returned men from making the guarantee deposit.

Alderman Edgar.

"If we expect Peterborough to advance, something will have to be done," said Ald. Edgar. "Nearly every industry looking for a location asks as a first question how many vacant houses are available. If there are none, they tell you that there is no use coming here or to any place that cannot offer sufficient homes for the new employees. If you decide to purchase a house, and after a few payments you find you couldn't meet them, if you go behind three payments, you forfeit the house and all you have paid. Hence it is necessary to exercise care in accepting this scheme. I think this is one of the best ways of obtaining a home. It might be said that there are many persons in the city who have sufficient means to build a number of houses. This is true, but they won't compete with the Ontario Government in this work for the reason that they wouldn't invest their money in houses at five per cent. when they can get seven per cent. from regular investments."

IF STRENGTH DECLINES AND AGE ADVANCES FOLLOW THIS SUGGESTION

So many women grow old before their time, perhaps your wife or sister. A little while ago, buoyant, full of vigor and activity—she enjoyed life and imparted pleasure to the whole family; but now in a few short years she has faded and lost color and strength. She is just ready to develop some disease that will further weaken and debilitate. You remember how it began, failure of appetite, tired in the morning, found housework burdensome, always nervous and a little irritable. It's a shame to let her go down hill further when you can build her up so quickly with Ferrozone. The change this nourishing tonic makes in a weak woman is surprising. It gives great zest for food, increases appetite and digestion enormously. The blood gets richer and stronger and adds new life to every organ in the body. A [illegible]ing process works through the entire system. The first week will show an improvement, and a month or two will fatten up the thinnest, most rundown woman you can think of. Take Ferrozone for lost color, for nervousness, for weakness,—use it when rundown and feeling poorly—it will do you more lasting good, keep you in better health, than anything else. Just as good for men and women, too, because Ferrozone is harmless and safe too. per box or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct by mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

POTATOES IN WINNIPEG NOW $1.90 BUSHEL.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 22.—The wholesale price of potatoes in Winnipeg has jumped to $1.90 a bushel. Wholesalers predict that before Christmas the $2 mark will be reached. A year ago the price was 85c per bushel. The early frost in Manitoba and the West caught millions of bushels in the ground, and to this is attributed the big jump in prices.

WHY DO GOLFERS USE SO MANY CLUBS?

PROFESSIONALS SCOFF AT THE AMATEUR'S BATTERY, BUT HOW ABOUT HIS OWN.

THE CASE PRO AND CON

Why do golfers use so many clubs? Here is a perfectly simple question and on first thought apparently easy to answer, yet it is a fact that when pressed for an explanation more than one devotee of the game reluctantly addmitted that carrying a dozen weapons of all shapes and si was more of a habit than a necessity. One day th: attention of a professional was directed to a man who was hesitating, undecided whic one of a number of irons to use for a certain shot.

"Does he need th n all?" Whereupon the "pro" replied:

"Don't wake him up. He thinks he does. I'll sell him another before the day is over."

There is no game of skill where the hitting of a ball is concerned which demands so large an arra of weapons as golf. Excepting his boots the football player requires nothing save those natural means of offence and defence with which all able bodied men are provided. For tennis, rackets, baseball and cricket but one racket or bat is necessary. To be sure, at these games a man may change his weapon, but it is only to procure a fresh one, and not as in golf, a crtature of a different species.

Most certainly the conditions in golf are different. No two lies are exactly alike; no two distances quite the same. As a rule the player has ample time when he arrives at his ball to select the instrument which he judges is best adapted to dislodge it and propel it to the required spot. No time limit is fixed by the rules of golf within which it is necessary to play any given stroke. If he so pleased, the golfer might camp on the spot light his pip and discuss the situation with his caddie indefinately. The only time limit mentioned in the rules is that applying to lost balls.

One answer to the opening question, "Why does a golfer use so many clubs?" is that the number he carries is due to the variety of lies from which he may have to play his ball. That is so far true, but it is also a fact that the golfer has to consider questions of elevation and distance. As often happens after a good drive that has left his ball resting comfortably on the fairway a hundred yards or so from the pin there yawns in front of the green a deep chasm of soft sand. That hazard must be carried. In other words the rubber c e will have to travel from fairway to green via the air route.

For this purpose the player naturally selects a lofted club. There remains however, the question of distance. Will it require a light iron, a mashie or a mashie niblick? Like not his own judgement prompts him to take a certain club, while the caddie advises another, and then no matter what the final selection, the player takes his stance more or less in a state of doubt. After his confidence as been shaken a top follows and the ball limps forward, final disappearing in the dreaded pit.

During the eloquent silence which follows as the sad procession of wo approaches the bunker, no question then exists as to the proper club. The golfer grimly receives the only possible weapon, the niblick, and descends to the depths to battle with uncertain fate. What happens in the bunker is beside the question. Any golfer, provided he possesses the inspiration, might write a book, entitlled "Me and My Niblick" or "What My Niblick Cost Me," and so on.

Geting down to cases itis difficult to point to any particular club to be found in the professional's shop and stamp it as useless. To one person it might be regarded as a freak; to another the most treasured of the entire outfit. The evolution of the golf club presents an endless theme, but surely the contents of a modern player's bag would be enough to make old Philip or Allan Robertson twist in his grave. The age of wood, of which they were outstanding exponents, has given place to te age of iron. Allan Robertson's name is now only a tradition.

Fifty years ago a sigle iron club, a sand-iron, never used except for rough work was te only club in a player's set. That was not made of wood. To-day the bag of the average golfer, either amateur or "pro" contains few wooden clubs. A driver and a brassie are all the majority carry, though some have of late taken to the spoon, finding it easier to control than the cleek. Whether or not the new-fangled woods have improved the game, golfers many a time decide for themselves, though they might do well to remember that for the can playing the strokes properly all clubs are pretty much the same.

LINDSAY CRAWFORD DISCUSSES MANY PRESENT-DAY ISSUES

"Every country to-day has an autocratic Government in power that has been guilty of deposing Parliament of its rightful place. The party system in all countries where the British system obtains has become an obstruction to the people in the march to their democratic hopes." So spoke Lindsay Crawford at the people's forum at St. George's Hall, in Toronto, a few nights ago. He said he was "brought up in the Conservative faith and became a Liberal by conviction." and was "occupying more or less an individual part and not speaking for any political party."

"What are the remote causes of the political unrest to-day?" he asked. "Men are seeking a better form of Government. It has been suggested that some of us who stood by Sir Wilfrid Laurier were partisans. Sir Wilfrid Laurier stood during the recent war for the great idea that all good government depended on the consent of the governed. We now realize there was absolutely no justification for the tyrranical rule by an omnipotent executive at Ottawa.

Economic Grievances

"The great aim of all governments should be to provide such government that we would forget that we had such things as economic grievances.

The evil resulting from the controlling influences at Ottawa, he continued, was that the big interests never came into the public eye. They were operating quietly, and were never forced to defend their case in the open.

"There is no good Government apart from responsibility to the people—government by the Government. We have copied the worst features of the American and British systems. We have not been sufficiently alive to throwing all the power to an executive."

Mr. Crawford cited the case of the recent peace treaty, where he said Canadian Cabinet Ministers had gone from this country "concerned only as subordinates to Lloyd George" and that when the treaty was laid on the table at Ottawa members could scarcely have a look at it although it had been printed and was available in Paris for weeks. "They actually complete a treaty and force it upon Parliament under conditions that are humiliating to any Parliament that considers itself free and responsible to the people" he said [illegible] allowed Sir Robert Borden to pledge 500,000 men and without a word from Parliament," continued Mr. Crawford. "As a result of this war we are back to the conditions of 100 years ago, when that hypocritical Holy Alliance was formed. Every country to-day has an autocratic Government that has been guilty of deposing Parliament from its rightful place.

Criticises Clerics.

"The first duty of Mr. Drury is to establish good Government—not to censor films. Why should clerics censor our films? Why should we have a form of clerical government in this country? I've heard it said that these clerics like to see these pictures. Why should clerics intrude upon our lives by attempting to censor anything? The function of the churches is not to enter the political arena, but to build up public character. It has always been the desire of autocracies to rule the people through the churches. It is not the duty of Mr. Drury to tell us what we shall drink or what pictures we shall see, but to give us good Government.

Great Tyranny.

"There can be no greater tyranny than an active well organized minority seeking to oppose the will of the majority. I said that in the recent elections. A small enthusiastic, fanatical, wealthy minority can carry on a campaign under a referendum which may mean absolute tyranny."

Mr. Crawford said Parliament must be freed from the dominance of the executive. He would make the duration of Parliament short, and would not make candidates bear the eexpense ofelections.

He said it was a menace to the Legislature that the Prime Minister could threaten dissolution if certain measures were not passed, instancing the bill regarding titles and the recent railway bill, "when the Government set out to plunder the Canadian treasury in order to bolster up English stockholders." The speaker characterized this as "a most criminal and infamous transaction." He advocated the committee system of Government, which he claimed, would give Parliament itself time to deal more adequately with major questions.

Mr. Crawford condemned the practice obtaining in recent years when Cabinet Ministers made their important [illegible] Canadian and Empire Club luncheons instead of on the floor of the House of Commons.

Only Sheet Anchor.

"When they go to the Empire Club to reveal their greatest political secrets, how can Parliament be anything but decadent?" he asked.

"I am a believer in Parliamentary Government," he continued. "Some of you believe in direct action, but the strength of a country depends upon a steady evolution— no fits and starts — but a steady healthy growth. We must see to it that Parliament is remodelled. It is the only sheet anchor. It is the only barrier between us and revolution Men are talking direct action to-day as they never did before. I am going to tell Mr. Drury that if he does not give us good government then our last condition will be worse than our beginning.

"The Liberal and Conservative parties are as eternal as the problem of right and wrong. The world finally and forever will be divided into two classes, Liberals and Conservatives, the man who is not afraid to go ahead and the man who is content to stand pat.

"The abuses of party Government in this country called for the recent charges and will do good if they convince men that Liberalism is not a stagnant creed.

"Whatever progress Mr. Drury makes at Queen's Park will be bethought. I hope his tenure of office will be reasonably long."

BRISCOE Still Climbing

IT is when you climb a hill that your car shows the kind of a heart it possesses.

The average car—slowed down to make a curve half-way up a hill—will not "pick up" again on the final ascent. But the Briscoe will. The Briscoe Motor responds to your call for a spurt—and up, up, up you go—a steady flow of power answering your foot pressure on the gas lever—and you finish that long climb triumphantly "on high."

The efficiency of the Briscoe Motor has been demonstrated in several ten-day, non-stop test runs, in one of which a record of over 29 miles to the gallon was established.

In less spectacular fashion, the Briscoe Motor is proving its economy and efficiency by year-in, year-out serbice, on all sorts of roads, and under all sorts of conditions.

SMARTNESS IN BLACK

NEW NOTES IN FASHION AND HOW JET AND CREPE METEOR ARE USED TO EMPHASIZE CHARMING EFFECTS

THE FASHION FORECAST

The short vamp French slippers with straps or bows across the instep, instead of being only a threat, are now a fashion. "Petite" is the word for your feet clad in these dainty souliers. You must "get used to them," for they will be much worn for afternoon and evening and insist upon appearing on Fifth avenue in the broad open daylight.

Black, black, black! Never was the exquisite becomingness of black more obvious than in the beautiful models so popular for street and afternoon wear. The super-suppleness that gives to crepe meteor it wonderful drape qualities is exhibited in afternoon gowns embellished with jet and the new straw embroidery that so much resembles jet. The threads of fine satiny straw are run on black met or and velvet with a charmingly new note, usually in parallel lines or in the "darned" stitch.

Crepe meteor also lends itself to effective embroidery that is a combination of chenille and dull wooden beads that resemble jet. The high lustre of chenille finds its most effective contrast in wood beads and with the semi-sheen of crepe meteor as a background, there is little left to be desired of loveliness.

The Place of Fur.

The reddish brown tones of Kolinsky and sable squirrel find a happy background in black and velvet, crepe meteor, charmeuse and duvetyne are effectively trimmed in narrow lines of fur, which lends itself perfectly to the edge of the short kimnoo sleeves, adapted from the fashion launched by Paris and featured with such insistency by the Frenchwomen of the stage and l'haute monde.

For a street suit, black duvetyne is the fabric de luxe. There is a new duvetyne with a pile almost as deep as old fashioned plush. No fabric could be lovelier than this material, which seems to be an offspring of velvet and suede. Duvetyne is combined with satin in the lines that in this side we call "middy," for lack of a better name. The straight line blouse, reaching well to the hips, and there being attached to a contrasting fabric or to a skirt of its own material, is the most popular silhoutte of the moment for general wear. The waistline is usually held in at the natural curve of the body by a narrow tie belt, or one of jet if that trimming is employed with a degree of profusion on the gown.

Bugles in Favor.

Bugles have returned to favor. So if you have any of this old fashioned trimming tucked away in the garret or cedar chest by all means bring it out and combine it with black net on an evening gown or with meteor or duventyne on an afternoon or street dress. Jet is always worn—will always be worn, no doubt, but at the moment it is especially in the limelight, which it reflects so beautifully, because the most beautiful—and I may wisper—the most expensive evening gowns are elaborately trimmed with jet and bugles. Celluloid jet has been brought to a state of perfection, with such exactitude of imitation, that the cut jet so difficult to obtain is giving way to the more modern product, undreamed of by the famous old jet makers of Whitby.

Evening wraps of every line are elaborately embellished with jet. Eloquently the borders on the cape-like mantles will be solidly or openly embroidered with jet to a depth of 27 inches or more. Jet is also combined with gold or silver threads in effectively elaborate embroideries.

The Return of Black Net.

The most successful of the black evening gowns are chiffon velvet, net or meteor. Chiffon velvet depends mostly on the loveliness of its folds for trimming. To over-elaborate velvet is as great a sin against good taste and artistic sense as 'gilding the lily." Silver is an effective trimming for the black velvet evening gown, and rhinestones may be used on the bodice if the restraining hand of moderation guides the lines of the "diamants."

Black net enjoys a return to favor because of its gracious contribution to the Velasquez silhoutte, which, though extremely smart at the moment, is not sufficiently becoming to all women to be universally adopted as a fashion. Its effect will be felt in the bouffant skirt of versatile drape that manages to echieve fulness at the hipline and flatness back and front.

Three-Piece Costumes.

A three-piece model is an ideal street costume for the woman with open purse strings or for her who must look to the debit side of the ledger. Because of its economic virtues and its elastic properties for any and all wear, except formal evening functions, there is no garment in a woman's wardrobe that can take the place of a well-designed three-piece suit.

A pretty three-piece model combines duvetyne with charmeuse satin. The bodice of black charmeuse satin shows the straight-line silhoutte, mentioned above. It is given its own distinction by a triangular vest of duvetyne that reverses the triangle line as usually seen in gilets and places the apex at the neck and the base at the lower edge.

The neck and sleeves are edged with a fold of duventyne. The skirt shows originality in its festoons of jet bugles, and the belt is a shoestring affair of black duventyne.

The coat that may accompany this gown is a smart box model with a panel back and straight front, whose trimmings depends upon the perfection of needlework found in the closely set bound button holes that run on one side and in the duventyne-covered buttons that run on the other.

The New Turban.

The modish hat breathes all that is new in turbans. Duvetyne just begs to be draped, you know, and here it has its wish. The trimming? Why, black paradise, of course!

The charm of chenille and wooden bead embroidery finds an ideal background in the softly youthful line of a model that shows a kimono blouse, short-sleeved, you see, and straight gathered skirt. Red-brown fur outlines the wide armholes and furnishes the narrow belt. A black velvet picture hat is trimmed with a wealth of ostrich feathers.

An afternoon gown of black velvet possesses delightfully youthful qualities, contributed mostly by a guimpe of white mousseline de soie and Val lace. The blouse does an unusual thing in the "cut outs" on the sides above the girdle line. The girdle is cut in one with the bodice. Through these "cut outs" show the dainty underblouse and below the girdle appears a little full pepium.

Lines of parallel trimmings on the skirt are made of narrow "threads" of satin straw. The neck is also embroidered with this new "fils." The hat is an elaborate coquettish affair of velvet and narrow black lace.

Black Dinner Gowns.

A dinner gown is of black net, embroidered with black paillttes. It shows the distended hipline, accented by brown fur. The sheath of black charmeuse satin appears in the front as a vest and the narrow belt of satin finds an interesting way of crossing in the front an dagain crossing in the back.

The full skirt is embroidered with black jet. The sleeves of this gown show the short line that appears on so many afternoon frocks, and indeed this dress may be used as either an afternoon or theatre dress.

With this model is worn, "sheer black silk stockings and black satin slippers," you will say. Not at all! Brown satin slippers and brown stockings—very, very dark brown. Sheer smoked grey stocking are worn with many of the black gowns. This shade gives the impression of a very thin black stocking.

You will like my black gowns, I know, and they have the advantage of being becoming to both the young girl and the matron.

Many a man's only extravagant habit is a wife.

CALL AUTOMOBILE VICE AID.

Worse Than Red Light District, Pittsburgh Conference Hears.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20.—The automobile was declared to be "a greater menace to morality to-day than "red light' districts were thirty years ago," by Dr. B. S. Steadwell of La Crosse, Wis., in a report of the World's Christian Citizenship Conference here to-day.

"Motor cars," said the speaker, "bring the country roadhouse virtually to the city limits. This was the difficulty with the anti-vice zones surrounding our military camps. They were not large enough. The perfection of transportation facilities popularized the distant resort 20, 30, and even 50 miles away.

"To-day we appear to be getting what we have been asking for, a single standard of morals. But the trouble with this single standard is that it is a low standard."

JEWELS OF NAPOLEON I. CAUSE RECENT LAWSUIT.

PARIS— The $1,000,000 diamond necklace presented by Napoleon to Empress Marie Louise and forming part of the crown jewels of Austria, is the object of judical investigation here.

The story is one of romantic interest, and so far the names both of a woman who negotiated the sale of the diamonds in France and of the merchant who dealt with them have been kept as close secret by the French police.

In 1912 the court of Austria was desirous of helping the royalist party in Portugal and being short of funds decided to sell certain crown jewels, among which was the famous necklace. A special envoy was sent to France and the jewels were intrusted to a woman to arrange a sale. No receipts were given or asked.

The war began before the sale was completed and now the woman is bringing action against the diamond merchant and the latter, in his counter claim, asks $6,000 commission.

BRITISH GOVT. AGENTS PAY RECORD PRICE FOR A CARLOAD OF FLAX.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 20.—A carload of flax sold here today to agents of the British Government brought $8,332, the most valuable car of grain ever sold in Winnipeg, according to grain exchange officials. The price per bushel was $4.26.

RUB SPRAINS, PAINS AND SWELLINGS AWAY

Don't suffer!....It's so needless—instant relief follows a rubbing with "St. Jacobs Liniment."

Rub it on a sprained ankle, wrist, shoulder, back or a sprain or strain anywhere, that's when you realize the magic in old, honest "St. Jacobs Liniment" because the moment it is applied, out comes the pain, ache, soreness and swelling. It penetrates right into the injured muscles, nerves, ligaments, tendons and bones, and relief comes instantly. It not merely kills pain, but soothes and heals the injury so a quick recovery is affected.

Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Liniment" right now at any drug store and stop suffering. Nothing else sets things straight so quickly—so thoroughly. It is the only application to rub on a bad sprain, strain, bruise or swelling.

A DUAL PERSONALITY.

The President was talking about a statesman who was annoying him with a proposition he could not consider.

"The trouble with him," he said, "is that he seems to be half gentleman and half mule."

He paused and looked out of his office window at a magnolia tree in bloom on the White House lawn.

"It is very difficult," Mr. Wilson continued, "to treat the mule half with the consideration demanded by the gentleman half."

MILK GETS MORE WATER.

Increase is Seen by Former Secretary of Dairymen's Association.

RENFREW, Nov. 21.—At a district dairy meeting yesterday T. A. Thompson, of Almonte, for several years secretary of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, made the following charges:

That adulteration of milk is on the increase by cheese factory patrons in Eastern Ontario;

That the Association secured $8,000 in cash last year from fines for adulteration of milk;

That a recent test of milk showed it to be fifty per cent water;

That he has not met a magistrate who fines offenders enough money.

RATS KILL FOR FUN—FOXES EAT FEW OF THEIR VICTIMS.

Sport, or killing for pleasure, apart from the obtaining of food, is supposed to be purely a human pastime, but many animals seem to take a cold-blooded delight in killing for its own sake.

A rat will kill oc all the young ducks or thickens he can find, so too will a fox, though he can carry away but one of his victims. Weasels, stoats, and otters kill not only to satisfy their hunger, but apparently from sheer bloodthirstiness. Lizards and frogs slaughter insects, worms, and other small creatures by the thousand.

Then there are the animals which kill for food, but so deliberately that they can almost be accused of consciously planning the details; crocodiles which drown their prey under water, snakes which swallow their captures alive, and cuttle-fishes which use their sucker-studded arms to enfold other animals in a deadly embrace.

The parasites which live on the skin, or even in the flesh of other animals, gradually weaken their living homes, so that they die from exhaustion. Sometimes, like the ichneumon fly, they lay their eggs in another creature, often a fat caterpillar, so that the young, when hatched out, can live upon an unwilling but powerless host, who pines away as the intruder flourishes.

Robbers are common in the animal world. Perhaps the most unscrupulous is the skuas, a sea bird with hooked beak and webbed feet armed with talons. These lie in wait for seagulls which have been out fishing, and, chasing them until they drop their booty, seize it before it can reach the water. If a gull proves obstinate, the skuas will shake it by the tail until it drops its property.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

THOUGHTFULNESS.

A little more thoughtfulness in regard to the feelings of others may save your friends and loved ones many an anxious moment. If you are unable to arrive at an appointed place on time do you take the trouble to call up your waiting friends and tell them so? If you are going to be late for dinner, do you inform your wife of the fact? Or if you ask your friends home to dinner, do you telephone home in order that your wife may be prepared?

But, perhaps you say, a dinner that is good enough for me is good enough for your friends. That is undoubtedly true; yet you yourself would not want your business friends to come upon you unexpectedly while you were at home working in thre garden or splitting wood. A little thoughtfulness on your part would keep your wife from feeling uncomfortable and greatly embarrassed.

There are many, many times during the day that you have the opportunity of making things easier for others, if you but get into the habit of being thoughtful.

The goal which we attain is not determined by outward circumstances, but by constant endeavour to press ever onward.

When the yellow and purple flowers begin to blazon the roadside with glory our thoughts begin to turn toward fall and winter. We think of the dreary blasts that before long will turn the bright colours of the late summer and early autumn into dull brown and drab, and then of the snow and ice which will hold all nature bound for many months. But we know from past experiences that the flowers will reappear, and the world will again bask in sunshine and warmth. And thus it is in our lives—though trouble comes, joy will return again, and with it will come forgetfulness of the wintry sorrows we have passed through.

THE DESIRE FOR A HOME.

Every rational human being has a strong desire for a home. That home may mean only a room, or perhaps just a corner of a room, or even a tent or rude shelter, but in that spot will be located whatever is dear. If a man has a family whom he loves and cherishes, his home will be wherever they are, in a house, on a train, or out under the stars.

But when he has no immediate relatives, his longing or a home still exists, and he clings to a spot wherein he may have only his few personal belongings. But everyone wants some familiar spot on the earth to which he may always return from his wanderings, some spot which will serve as an anchor, and which to him is "home." How thankful we should be when our desire finds satisfaction in a home complete, made up of loving, intelligent parents and happy, good, care-free children.

When we were children, small troubles and disappointments seemed oppressively large. As we grow older and look back upon our childhood days we laugh at what seemed trouble then, and hold in memory only the joys of our youth. And when we near the end of our earthly life, will we not, perhaps, look back upon our lives and find our griefs and sorrows were trifles, while the joy was great and permanent?

TRUE HUMILITY.

Humility is one of the hardest virtues to acquire. In trying to overcome pride and arrogancy we often become subservient and self-derogatory. But true humility does not mean that we should belittle ourselves. We are all men, and if we under rate ourselves we under rate the Power that created us. We are born with the power to surmount all obstacles, to conquer the forces of this world, and we should face that fact fairly. Needless self-assertion should be avoided, but often a pronounced attitude of humbleness is merely assumed and is another form of pride. Humility is not gained by belittling ourselves, but by forgetting self and thinking of others.

Sometimes it seems as though we are accomplishing little. We work and strive, spending a large part of our lives in routine work that seems endless and wearisome. But the trouble lies in the viewpoint. As we toil each day we see only the details of that day's work. A dress made, a garden weeded, or a paper printed—what does it amount to? Not much in itself. But when we grow older and look back on our lives, when we can get some perspective of what we have done and suffered, we can see, if we have performed our small tasks faithfully and well, that our lives have not been wasted, but have radiated helpfulness and blessings.

Be cheerful! How can you tell but that your smile or happy word, all unknown to you, has cheered an aching heart and caused another despondent and despairing, to take a new hold on life?

We always have strength for to-day, no matter what we must undergo. So why worry about to-morrow?

We always have something to be thankful for, if it is nothing more than the fact we have not so many faults as the people around us. The human race may seem egotistical, but we would surely get mighty discouraged if we could see all our own faults.

"WET" CHRISTMAS LOOKS REMOTE

Constitutional Prohibition Amendment May be Effective Before Peace Comes.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—While the Supreme Court was hearing arguments yesterday on the validity of the War-time Prohibition Act word went out from the White House that President Wilson would not rescind the "dry" act until peace formally had been declared. This was expected to set to rest the ever-recurring rumors that the "dry" ban would be lifted by the President, irrespective of early ratification of the Treaty at Versailles. Failure of the Senate to act on the treay at the extraordinary session was regarded by many Administration officials os preluding the ending of the technical state of war much before the constitutional prohibition amendment became effective next January 16.

Should such prove the case the only possibility of a "wet" Christmas would be for the Supreme Court to declare the War-time Act unconstitutional. Arguments on the pending cases will be concluded tomorrow, but, as the court begins a recess on Monday, no decision is expected until it reconvenes on December 8.

SURPRISE DTHE CADDIE.

Gowfer was making a fearful exhibition of himself. His caddie was an unusually quiet, stolid lad, with a freckled and expressionless face. Never once did the boy laugh or sneer at his play, and Gowfer took quite a fancy to him. At the end of the round, in the hope of getting a compliment, he said:

"I've been travelling for the last six months. I am quite out of practice. That is why I am in such bad form to-day."

The caddie calmly replied:

"Then ye've played before, have ye, sir?"

Merit—The Phonola Selling Point

UNLESS made in Canada goods can compete favorably with foreign goods, their makers are unreasonable to expect Canadians to purchase them from a clearly patriotic standpoint.

"Phonola"

START CAMPAIGN FOR TENTH PROVINCE, TO TAKE IN MANY PARTS OF NORTHERN ONTARIO

BIG CONVENTION TO BE CALLED SHORTLY TO TAKE THE MATTER IN HAND —EVERY MUNICIPALITY WILL BE ASKED TO SEND DELEGATES.

COBALT, Ont., Nov. 20.—There is a strong possibility that the nine provinces making up the Dominion of Canada may be increased to ten. This is a result of a proposal now being fostered in Northern Ontario that this part of the province should break away and form a new one.

The proposal is not a new one. The movement has been brewing for some time, but the general dissatisfaction in the northern part over the methods at Toronto, culminating with the advent of a Farmer Government, has resurrected the movement, and this time it is going ahead with leaps and bounds.

Preparing To Hold Convention.

The Council of North Bay and the Board of Trade of that place are now perfecting an organization which will take the matter in hand. They propose to get every municipality in the north behind the scheme and with this end in view are preparing to call a convention at North Bay in the near future.

A business office has already been opened. A separate organization is to be secured in each municipality, the Councils, Boards of Trade, Industries, mining and lumber interests are to be asked to participate. The convention will be representative of every interest in the vast area involved.

Big Men Interested.

Big men throughout the north are interested. The latest to give support is Magistrate C. M. McCarthy, who has jurisdiction over the courts of the Elk Lake district, a rich mining area which includes Gowganda. Mr. McCarthy has prepared some interesting statistics, and he is out strongly in support of "breaking away" and "paddling our own canoe."

Case for Secession.

The case for secession and breaking away from old Ontario, as prepared by the magistrate, follows:

"When speaking of the northern part of Ontario, we take in the districts of Patricia, Kenora, Rainy River, Thunder Bay, Algoma, Sudbury, Cochrane, Temiskaming, and the northern part of Nipissing. This is about 1,000 miles from east to west, from North Bay to Albany on James Bay is 470 miles, and Ontario goes farther north than that point. The southern part from the boundary line between Quebec and Ontario at the county of Prescott to the boundary between the State of Michigan and Essex county is 500 miles and from Toronto to North Bay is 225 miles. Roughly, the north has 470,000 square miles and the south 112,800 square miles.

New Laws For New Conditions.

"The north with its gold, silver, nickel, copper, iron and other shipping mines, and the discovered deposits not fully developed such as feldspar, flourspar, graphite, mica, lead, iron pyrite, corundum, molybdenite, gypsum, lignite coal, platinum, pearl diamonds, oil, clay and peat, besides the timber farm lands, fur and fisheries, is vastly greater in wealth and mileage than the south. If the wonderful development of the north goes on as it has don during the last few years, it will require new laws to suit the new conditions of the country, and those laws will not always be suitable to the south. Conditions are different, therefore laws should be different."

UNWRITTEN LAW FREES MAN.

SASKATOON, Nov. 22.—John Branch, charged with the murder of Arnold Gart, a returned soldier, at Radison, Sask., in October, was acquitted by a jury at Battleford yesterday. The unwritten law played an important part in the defence.

PREDICTS STERLING EXCHANGE WILL GO TO $4.00 AND REMAIN.

British Economist Says in That Way Britain Will "Come Back"

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 22.—That sterling exchange will drop to $4.00, and will remain at that point for many years and win for Great Britain a tariff wall, is the statement of Morton Frewen, the noted British economist, who arrived in Vancouver last night.

"The exchange will drop to $4.00, and we will have $4.00 exchange for 25 years," declared Mr. Frewen.

"Only by removing all false props from the financial standing of a country can it reach a basis on which to build a solid monetary edifice.

"The natural tariff wall raised by the depressed value of sterling is the only thing which can gradually build up the industrial life of the British Empire and restore it to its pre-war position."

U.F.O. MAY ENTER PACKING BUSINESS

FARMERS WILL HAVE A LARGE PLANT LOCATED IN TORONTO.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Nov. 22. — Manager Loblaw, of the United Farmers' Co-operative Company, is doubtful that the U. F. O. will go into the dead meat business until they have their own abbatoir and cold storage plant, and all the facilities for export and the wholesale trade. He believes the packers would cut prices to meet the competition from the Civic Abbatoir should the city itself go into the dead meat business, and while that would mean a saving to the consumers, the municipal enterprise might be operated at a loss.

Mr. Loblaw looks forward to the day when the U. F. O. will have a large plant located some distance from the offices on King Street. He was not sure that the Civic Abbatoir would be suitable for their purposes, although they are using the cold storage plant there now for butter and eggs.

Secretary Morrison is convinced that the U. F. O. ultimately will go into the packing business. In the meantime, it would be a simple matter for the city to buy enough cattle at he stock yards to keep their Civic Abbatoir busy.

CHINOOK WIND HELPS FARMERS IN S. ALBERTA

CALGARY, Nov. 22.—That the Chinook of the last week has driven the frost out of the ground in southern Alberta to such an extent that the farmers had resumed plowing was the news brought back from that section last night by George Lane, who visited High River, Cayley, Stavely and MacLeod this week. he snow is all gone and the cattle are grazing.

"The cattle men are shipping cattle as fast as they can, and the mild weather is helping this movement and probably will permit the getting out of a lot of stuff that other wise might be held up for a considerable period," he concluded.

FIRE DEPARTMENT IS ALWAYS READY

'TIS MOTTO OF PREPAREDNESS SHOULD BE APPLIED TO PROTECTION OF PUBLIC HEALTH.

"There hasn't been a fire in the city for months," said a citizen the other day. "It seems a waste of money to keep up a fire department that does nothing."

"We don't disband the fire department because we have a run of luck," replied a ratepayer. "It pays to have those firemen ready, whether they are doing anything or not." And the ratepayer spoke wisely.

A fire department is an illustration of the principle of preparedness. It's protection, pure and simple—something no modern city or town can do without.

Just as firemen stand ready to protect your property, so Grip Fix stands ready to protect your health. For over 10 years it has been an unexcelled treatment for colds. A box in the house means protection against the common and troublesome cold in the head and may head off an attack of the 'flu.' It is a combination of drugs such as your physician would use and contains nothing of a harmful nature. In capsule form it is something which gives relief to a cold in a night and works quickly in a case of Grippe.

Get a box of Grip Fix today. Then you'll be prepared should a cold come. You can get it at 35 cents per box. On sale at all drug stores. (Advt.)

U. S. Steel opened at 104 1-8 unchanged, Central Leather at 96 unchanged, Marine at 52 unchanged, and American Car and Foundry at 135 1-2 unchanged.

Market Irregular.

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Wall street stock were irregular within extremely narrow limits at the dull opening of to-day's session. The only issues to show more than fractional changes were General Motors, which rose three points, and Retail Stores, which declined one point.

Stocks, which were dull and uncertain at the beginning of to-day's short session, but soon developed moderate activity. Declines of fractions to a point in several of the Steels, Motors, Tobaccos and Rails were balanced by gains of 1 to 3 points in such recent favourites as General Motors, Mexican Petroleum, Pierce Arrow, Columbia Gas and Automobile. The specialties list as a whole became stronger within the first half hour, Food and Utility Shares participating in the advance.

Immediately after the opening, the market took a much firmer tone, with decided advances in these stocks that have been the special object of bear attacks recently.

General Motors led the motors, selling at 335 up 7 7-8, Pierce-Arrow gained 3 to 70, and Studebaker 2 to 117.

Crucible, after a rather weak opening at 206 1-2, rallied sharply. Mexican Petroleum led the oils, advancing to 204 up 4 3-4. Pan-American at 107 3-4 was up 1, and Royal Dutch at 101 1-2 up 3-8.

UNITED STATES WATCHING MEXICO.

No reports respecting Jenkins had reached the State Department this morning.

CRIMINAL OPERATION NEW CHARGE

CHIEF THOMPSON REVEALED NEW SENSATION IN MR. GUISE-BAGLEY'S ENVELOPING TROUBLES.

Chief Thompson sprang the surprise in the Bagley case which he had covertly mentioned yesterday afternoon when at the conclusion of the preliminary hearing of the liquor charges this morning he presented Magistrate Dumble with an indictment to the effect that in October 1917 Mr. James G. Guise-Bagley performed a criminal operation on Mrs. Jennie Smith McDonald with the intent of procuring a miscarriage. The crime is alleged to have taken place in Peterboro.

Magistrate Dumble asked Crown Attorney Hatton whether there was no time limit in bringing this charge.

There's no limit under the code", Mr. Hatton replied.

"It's one sensation after another", remarked the Magistrate.

Mr. Kerr, who appeared on behalf of Mr. Bagley stated that he would neither elect nor plead guilty. The preliminary hearing was adjourned until next Thursday.

In a search of Mr. Bagley's premises the police found certain instruments which, it is understood, excited suspicions they had entertained for six months but could not substantiate. The evidence thus has been obtained since Mr. Bagley's arrest is said to be strongly accusatory, but Chief Thompson refused to reveal it until Mr. Bagley is put on trial.

The maximum penalty for a criminal operation is life imprisonment.

THE CHIEF'S CAR AGAIN IN OPERATION

The Fire Department runabout, which has been undergoing repairs at the Evans Garage on Charlotte Street, following a collision with the street car last Tuesday, was restored to the Fire Hall yesterday. With the repairs necessitated by the smash-up and minor repairs which have been needed for some time, the Chief will present a bill for some $80.00 to the Fire, Water, and Light Committee.

SICK HEADACHES CONSTIPATION

If you have suffered from constipation for years, tried doctors and all the remedies you ever heard or read of, without getting relief, if you have been subject to all the miseries associated with constipation, such as sick and bilious headaches, biliousness, specks floating before the eys, water brash, heartburn, jaundice and the painful, troublesome, internal, bleeding or protruding piles, etc., wouldn't you consider it a blessing to be able to keep the bowels in a good healthy condition and prevent disease getting a foothold on your systems.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are indicated just for this purpose; their regular use relieving the worst cases of constipation.

Mrs. Malcolm McDermid, Cranton Station, N.S., writes:—"I have been sick for a number of years with sick headaches and constipation. I tried all kinds of doctor's medicine, but none did me any good. I tried Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and after using four vial- I am completely cured and would heartily recommend them to all sufferers."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

"GOLDEN RULE" IN TREATMENT OF FARM HELP

PROBLEM OF LABOUR SCARCITY IS DISCUSSED AT CONVENTION OF FRUITGROWERS.

RESPONSE TO KINDNESS.

Running as a keynote through several of the addresses delivered before the recent convention of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association was an insistence by the speakers upon the place of the so-called "Golden Rule" in the treatment of hired help on the fruit farm. Ontario's orchard industry has reached a critical point in its evolution, a point where further progress depends upon the availability of suitable labour — or, indeed, of any labour. For some years the fruit growers of the Province have been carrying on this work under a growing burden in this respect, but for various reasons they have been content to make the best of a bad situation. In particular the period of war brought four or five years in which labour was at a premium, so much so that young girls from cities and towns were made use of in an attempt to save as much as possible of the crops of tender fruit. This period of war-time scarcity was uncomplainingly borne in the hope that it was of a temporary nature in the matter of farm labour supply, and in the "carry-on" spirit fruit growers refused to curtail their work because of what they considered a temporary embarrassment.

Peace Brought No Helpers.

But peace has returned and has brought with it no farm labourers. On the other hand, the cityward drift has been accentuated, and fruit-growers now are forced to accept the situation in its true light. Either they must compete with the upward curve of city wages or "quit the business." Not a few are choosing the latter course, with consequences for the nation that are anything but desirable.

Some fruit growers, however, claimed in addressing the Convention that they had "no trouble" in getting, and keeping, a good supply of help during their busy months. In this respect, probably an outstanding instance was that of Mr. F. C. Keeler, of Brockville. Mr. Keeler's treatment of his subject was unique, and, while everyone present could not agree with everything he said, all were ready to admit that most of his precepts were beyond reproach and that no small degree of success had attended the practice of his system.

Giving Them a Square Deal.

"My help eat with me at my own table and not out in the summer kitchen or in a shed," Mr. Keeler said. "I treat them as if they belonged to my own family, and I get results thereby. I have built a bungalow for them on the riverside, with a stove in it and other conveniences that they appreciate. And in the evening, if I go out for a ride in my boat, I take my hired help with me, just as I would my own folks. I may go up to town when the day's work is done, perhaps to the theatre; if so, I take the car, and I put into it just as many of my workers as I possibly can.

Wages Rise With Returns.

"This system of giving your help a square deal is not confined to such things as I have mentioned," Mr. Keeler continued. "I find that it pays me to give my pickers the very highest price going in the district. I don't argue about a few cents; I want the labour, and I pay for it. When I sold stuff at twelve cents a box, I gave the picker one cent; now, when the same fruit brings twenty-five cent.. a box, I can afford to give the picker two or two and one-half cents. The more I get, the more I pay; when my returns go up, I raise the wage for my help. More than that: I realize that when the fruit is thinning out, or on a poor day, the workers need to be encouraged. Therefore, when conditions of labour are not so good, I raise still higher the wage.

In addition, I find that it pays me tenfold to give some incentive in the form of a prize. For instance, I give, some years, a prize of a watch and I tell you, gentlemen, a new watch seems a mighty big thing to a young boy. It costs one something to give it, but, as I said before, it pays me ten times over in the interest taken and the faithful service rendered by my helpers."

A Prize For Good Service.

"How long do your men work?" asked someone in the audience.

"We work according to the fruit," was the reply. "If the stuff is there, waiting to be picked, we work from sun to sun. In the height of the season we have no eight-hour day; it is more like a fifteen-hour day—and no one complains. My men know that when they want a holiday, they can have it, and I've had no trouble whatever in getting the work done when it was there to do. Also, I find that it pays to let pickers have all the fruit they want for themselves. I tell them to take it as they wish. At the end of my strawberry season, when there was a good deal of fruit left and we had to get ahead with the other stuff, I told the pickers to gather all they could in their spare time. The result was that they collected several crates of fruit for their own canning — fruit that, otherwise, would have spoiled. Wasn't it better to give it to the workers than to have it waste on the ground?"

In an able address, Dr. Sears, of Massachusetts, also emphasized strongly the importance of kindness, consideration and just a little more than the "mine and thine" in dealing with farm labour.

SHOCKING LITERATURE.

"That young man stayed very late last night, Edith."

"Yes, father, I was showing him my picture postcards."

"Well, next time he wants to stay late show him some of my electric light bills."

Tells How to Regain Perfect Health and Keep it by Bathing Internally.

Are you aware that nearly one million bright, intelligent people throughout Canada and the United States alone bathe internally instead of loading their systems with drugs? Why? Because it keeps them in better health in every way.

Internal bathing is the only sure means of keeping the intestines clean and free from accumulated waste matter, which is sure to slowly poison the system and become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the system, thereby causing rheumatism, impure blood, indigestion, headaches, and a hundred other ailments which are directly the result of constipation.

If you want to be healthy all the time we would strongly advise you to get a J.B.L. Cascade, which is the only perfect appliance ever devised for efficiently cleansing the colon and lower intestines. It is the invention of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, who is a specialist on Internal Bathing. The J.B.L. Cascade is shown and explained at Warne Drug Co., where you can receive an interesting book called "Why Man of To-day is Only 50% Efficient." It will tell you facts about yourself that you probably never realized before, or write Tyrell's Hygienic Institute, 163 College Street, Toronto.

What the Local Playhouses Have to Offer—News of the Movie World.

"BROKEN BLOSSOMS" AT THE GRAND

Of extraordinary interest not only to lovers of the motion picture, but likewise to all who appreciate the highest in art in its various manifestations, is the announcement of the Grand Theatre that it has secured David Wark Griffith's superb screen creation, "Broken Blossoms," to be shown in the Grand on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Never has a motion picture been accorded a reception comparable to the triumph that has followed every showing of this production. Newspapers have devoted column after column to its beauties and wonders. Everywhere its success has been instantaneous and it is safe to say that in bringing "Broken Blossoms" to our city, the management of the Grand has to its credit the biggest accomplishment in artistic entertainment that we have yet enjayed.

Mr. Griffith, it will be remembered together with Mary Pickford, Charie Chaplin and Douglas Fairbanks, early in 1919 organized United Artists Corporation— popularly known as "The Big Four"—for the making and marketing of their own productions. It is through this organization that "Broken Blossoms" is being placed in the theatres of the country

The story of "Broken Blossoms" Mr. Griffith adapted from a tale by Thomas Burke called "The Chink and the Child" which is part of that author's famous volume "Limehouse Nights." Around this story, and we speak from the most alluring yet pitiful, beautiful, yet tragic love story ever filmed. It has become habit, almost, to look upon a Griffith production as something more than a moton picture, yet even the most ardent admirers of the art of this master of the films did not dream of the wonders that he would reveal in "Broken Blossoms."

And of acting, let a word be added. Lillian Gish as "The Girl" has reached a height of dramatic interpretation the like of which has never been seen on the screen before. This little artist has labored faithfully, steadily, with an understanding marvellous in one so young, and ow she comes into her full glory in "Broken Blossoms." "The Chink" is played by Richard Barthelmess and to his work the critics have paid high tributes likewise. To the telling of the love story of "Broken Blossoms" it is said that both Miss Gish and Mr. Barthelmess have brought a never-to-be-fogotten artistry. Donald Crisp plays the part of "Battling Burrows," the brute on whom fatherhood has been forced, and his portrayal of a difficult role with rare talent and strength, completes the triangle of chief characters in the story.

"Broken Blossoms" should prove the crowning achievement in the splendid gallery of film presentations that we have enjoyed at the Grand. A special program has been prepared, including the music which Mr. Griffith personally arranged and some of which he composed. All in all, we look forward with keen anticipation to the Grand's presentation of the Griffith masterpiece, for a film that has been so sensationally successful elsewhere is assured of more than a hearty welcome in Peterborough.

AMERICAN STYLES FOR WOMEN

Square Toe French Shoes Not Adaptable for Feet of American Women—American Styles are Practical and Lead the World.

(Statement.. Issued by The.. National Shoe Retailers' Association).

American shoes are famous throughout the world as being the most beautiful and artistic extant and they are generally regarded as the standard of style in every country. The models now being shown are authoritive, and those coming out for the Spring of 1920, which are in course of making, are authenic and approved by the Style Committee of the National Shoe Retailers' Association of America.

The feet of American women are now and always will be the best dressed feet in the world.

We do not recommend or advise the wearing of the extremely short vamped and blunted widened toe models now being exploited by a few opportunists who are again taking up the old and abandoned stage lasts with extreme short vamps of many years ago, endeavoring to bring them out as French models. These styles never were and are not now considered artistic, and would simply be reproductions of abandoned types of footwear.

They are also detrimental and injurious to the feet because the toes are forced into the ends of the shoes, and are pressed there so tightly, by the weight of the wearer against the end of the toe, that the ball joint of the foot is thrown out of line, and the development of corns and bunions and ingrowing nails results. In addition to this, abnormal development of the tarsal joint will be brought about.

The demand for this type of shoe is being created because it is being worn by French girls who have come to this country within the past few months. It has also been photographed and worn at exhibitions by manikins making exhibition displays for French dressmakers.

It is presumed that ordinary French girls are wearing these shoes on account of the high prices of other styles in France, and were compelled to allow their feet to be photographed with this very ordinary style of footwear, which has never been adopted by the real Parisian society women, who conform to high class American shoe styles and toe shapes, and are now wearing them.

At the present cost of production—shortage of labor, shortage of materials, and slow delivery of lasts, etc.—to bring back into fashion this antique style of footwear would be detrimental instead of enterprising to the entire trade who are now stocked with modern and beautiful American styles of other types. Departure from them now would bring about too radical a change in styles, so much so that it would be suicidal from all points to introduce this style of shoe generally. It has always been sold by a few dealers in this country, and the limited few who so desire can obtain such footwear from specialty stores who have thrived on it for years. Fundamentally it could not be accepted as anything new by the trade.

In order to demonstrate the absurdity of this type of footwear dealers are advised to keep in reserve a few samples of short vamp shoes for comparison with American styles, which on account of their good fitting qualities do not require straps over the foot to hold them on.

The Styles Committee of the National Shoe Retailers' Association has put its stamp of disapproval on them as not being in vogue, or even fashionable or stylish for the present mode of dress, and urges that the American woman also put her stamp of disapproval on them as not being artistic, as not being practical, and as not being anything new for her to recognize as fashionable. It would mean to her a change of all her shoes to extreme short vamps, a great extravagance which is not necessary at this time of high cost of shoe production, but to rest assured that if she continues to adopt and purchase as many of the artistic and beautiful shaped modern American styles of footwear as her needs require, she will continue to be the best shod woman in the world.

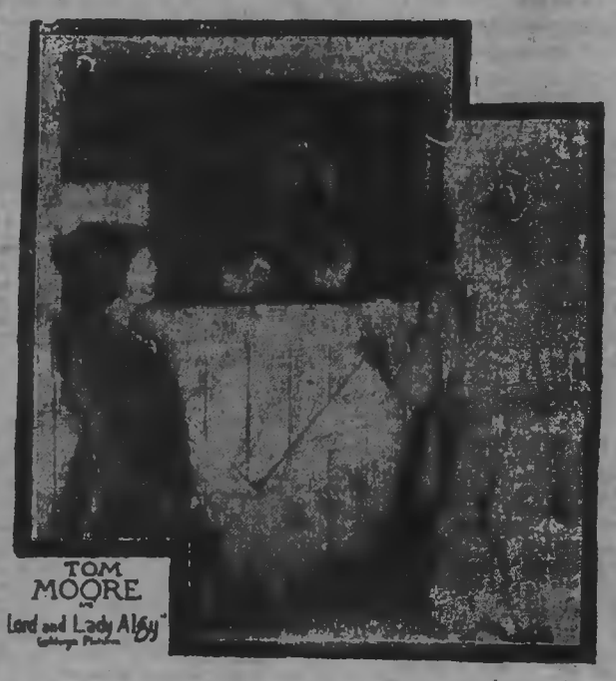
A Smooth, White Skin That Defies Weather

During the coming months of biting winds and intense cold, you who would keep your skins smooth, white and velvety, should turn your attention to mercolized wax. Nothing else will so effectively remove a chapped, roughened or discolored surface. By gradually absorbing the weather-beaten cuticle, the complexion is kept in perfect condition, and even the beauty of expression appears more pronounced.

If your skin be blotchy, pimply, freckled, coarse, sallow or over-red, why not shed it? One ounce of ordinary mercolized wax, to be had at any druggist's, will completely transform the most unsightly complexion in less than a fortnight. Use the wax nightly, like cold cream, washing it off mornings.

"LORD AND LAD ALGY" PRESENTS TOM MOORE IN FILM VERSION OF FAMOUS RACING PLAY

Tom Moore is following the footsteps of one of the world's greatest actors. His newest picture, "Lord and Lady Algy," which will be shown at the Allen Theatre for three days, commencing Monday, is the picturized form of the play of the same name which served William Faversham as a starring vehicle for several of his American tours.



Although the story does not preach the evils of betting, the tragic moments are brought about by Lord Algy's loss of his entire fortune on the running of the famous English Derby.

"Lord and Lady Algy" has many impressive scenes besides the magnificent race track spectacle. A masked ball presents all the characters in various disguises, and culminates in the hero's making a fool of himself by coming there in a half-intoxicated condition.

Naomi Childers, as Lady Algy, gives a decidedly graded and intelligent interpretation of a coldly beautiful but warm-hearted English aristocrat. The rest of the cast, including Kate Lester, William Burress, Alec B. Francis, and Mabel Ballin, are all given many chances to contribute especially fine individual performances.

"LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD"

"Little Red Riding Hood," F. Stuart-Whyte's fourth annual English pantomime, will be the offering at the Grand for two nights commencing Monday, Dec. 1st.

Produced, as it has been seen, upon a scale of grandeur never before attempted outside of Drury Lane, "Little Red Riding Hood" promises to prove the one biggest spectacular success of Canadian theatrical history, and its coming to this city may be regarded as an unparalelled event.

The action of the piece is divided into fourteen gorgeous scenes, each one a masterpiece of lights and color, presenting a kalidoscopic panorama of Fairyland and the tales of Mother Goose.

While the thrilling story of Little Red Riding Hood forms the central theme of the plot, the other favorites of childhood days have not been overlooked, and the long cast of characters includes, Little Boy Blue, Little Bo Peep, Little Jack Horner, Little Tommy Tucker, Jack and Jill, Margery Daw, Peter Piper, Old Mother Hubbard and her Dog, Old King Cole, a wonderful Fairy Queen, who rules over them all, and last, but not least, the naughty Wolf, who nearly turns it all into a tragedy instead of an joyous comedy.

There are twenty new song successes, which have been written especially for Mr. Whyte's production, among them being, "The Village Blacksmith Rag," "Love Me Just the Same," "When I Paint Your Pretty Face," "If I Could Care For You," "In Lovers Lane," "Songs of Yesteryear," "There's a Wild Wolf Waiting For Every Good Little Girl," "The Officers Mess" and a timely novelty number, "On Strike."

The company include Miss Zara Clinton, who was the principal "boy" of "Aladdin," "Robinson Crusoe" and "Cinderella"; Miss Dorothy Mackay, a dainty little Scotch lassie of eleven years, who plays the name part; Mr. Johnny Osborne, of the London Hippodrome and "Zig-Zag" fame; Mr. Will Hallet, the famous animal impersonator from the Drury Lane, and Mr. John V. Barrett-Lennard, who is always a favorite in Mr. Whyte's productions.

The supporting company has been chosen from the foremost pantomime artists in England and the big beauty chorus is of Mr. Whyte's picking. Which means living dreams of glorious girlhood, dressed in the most wonderful costume creations that the world's greatest modistes can conceive.

To miss seeing "Little Red Riding Hood" would be doing yourself a personal injustice.

Any banana may be used for making marmalade.

BURGLARS STOLE EIGHT SACKS SUGAR

Eight one hundred pound sacks of sugar were discovered by Mr. William Bowdy, Cobourg Road, secreted on his farm. He at once reported the matter to the police and Constables Colwill and Harvey remained on the watch all night for the thieves to come along for their booty. Evidently the burglars were tipped off as neither of the constables had a single visitor. The sugar has been returned to the owners so the thieves in this instance had all their work for nothing.

"ARTHUR C" HAD TOUGH VOYAGE.

(Bobcaygeon Independent).

The big "Arthur C" of the John Carew Lumber Co., of Lindsay, arrived in port this week from Buckhorn, with two scows of wood. The captain, Mr. Ed. Smith, reported a pretty tough voyage, as they encountered miles of ice in the narrows, and ploughing through new ice will soon cut a hole in a boat. They were taking a big chance. They were delayed here on account of the steam punt being sunk, so it had to be floated before they could proceed on their way to Lindsay, but they are reported to have got along all right.

REPORT MURDER RAMPANT IN ALL PARTS OF SIBERIA

MONTEAGLE OFFICERS TELL HARROWING TALES OF LAWLESSNESS.

KOLCHAK MENACED.

FORTY DEAD BODIES PILED LIKE CORDWOOD.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 20—British troops and Russian wives, Czecho-Slovak refugees, Japanese and Russian freight, and tales of the domestic chaos in the unfortunate Siberia, arrived by the C.P.O.S. liner Monteagle last Sunday.

According to the officers of the ship there is little law and order in Vladivostok and less in parts of the country. Murder is rampant. There is a killing every half-hour in the seaport. In one house there were forty dead bodies piled crosswise, two and two, like cordwood set up to dry.

While the Monteagle was in port, the Cossacks murdered General Fedorhoff. He was giving a reception at his home when an automobile, filled with Cossacks, came and told him he was under arrest. They took him away and later his body was found just outside of the town.

Officers of the military party on the ship report that Kolchak is not in an enviable position, and that Germans and Austrians are flooding into the country. Kolchak is not too popular, his army is ill-equipped, untrained and poorly paid. Both Bolsheviki and Government troops still carry out the thorough system of killing prisoners whenever obtained.

Overrun by Germans.

Regarding the influx of Germans and Austrians, one of the officers stated that the situation he found in Irkutsk two or three months ago was illustrative of the general conditions in Russia. Every car and taxi driver in the city was a German, while the stores were filled with German and Austrian clerks. It appears that the hordes of prisoners, taken by the Russians during the war, were released when the revolution came. All of these, with the exception of the Austrians and Germans, started for home as soon as possible. The Germans however, remained. In addition, there had been an influx of German commercial men during the past few months, most of them being passed through by the Bolsheviki leaders.

"There will be war and trouble in Russia for thirty years," said one officer. "I think it will continue until Germany or some other powerful country controls and establishes a strong government."

Martens Tells of Murders.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—"The Russian revolution was my life," Martens declared in telling the joint executive committee investigating radical activities in this State the story of his relations with Russian Bolsheviki. He appeared before the committee under arrest for contempt after having refused on Saturday to submit to examination or to supply correspondence with his Government. He maintained that his persona and his papers were entitled to diplomatic immunity.

The tale of the plot against the Romanoffs, which covered many years, was brought out by questions put to Martens by Deputy Attorney-General Berger.

Martens stated that upon his arrival in Berlin he was pressed into the German military service and served in barracks.

"On what grounds did the German military authorities press you into the army?" he was asked.

Because my father and mother were German citizens, he replied.

On leaving the army he entered the Charlottenberg Polytechnical Institute in Germany, he said, and later became an engineer in the employ of a Hamburg firm. For twelve years he was engaged in propaganda work plotting the overthrow of the Russian Government, from Germany, he said. During this period, he testified, he conferred with Lenine and Trotsky, in 1901, in Switzerland, and in 1905 in Berlin. Part of the propaganda was hatched in France and Switzerland, he added.

He was organizer of the Russian workmen in the Revolution in Russia in 1905, he said, and added that his activities were not interfered with in Germany.

To Overthrow Capitalist Regimes.

Archibald E. Stevens, associate counsel for the committee, asked Martens if it was not true that the Soviet Republic wishes to overthrow all capitalist governments.

"That is their wish," replied the "Ambassador." "They wish to change the capitalistic system to the socialistic system."

A letter addressed to American workmen by Nicolai Lenine from Moscow, August 20, 1918, also was read into the records. It stated that "The revolutionary proletariat of America, insofar as it is an enemy of American imperialism, is destined to perform an important task at this time."

Claimed Terrorism Justified.

In substance, the letter charged that the use of terroristic methods are justifiable in the cause of the proletariat and it is cited that class struggle has inevitably taken the form of civil war.

"If I understand this portion of the letter correctly, it is a statement that terror has been employed by the Soviet Government," said Mr. Stevens.

Martens admitted that such was the case and added that 1,500 commissaire or police officials had at various times been executed in Soviet Russia.

WHY Does Your Head Ache?

Headaches, sick or other kinds, don't happen to people whose livers are busy and whose bowels are as regular as a clock.

Thousands of folks who used to have headaches say this is the way they removed the cause:

One pill at bedtime, regularly. Larger dose if there's a suspicion of biliousness or constipation.

JUDGE SHAVES BEARD, CAN'T GET INTO CLUB

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Justice Bartow S. Weeks, of the Supreme Court, had his beard, which he had worn for 20 years, shaved off, leaving only his moustache. Friends who had known him for years were unable to recognise him.

He went to the Manhattan Club, where he is an active member, and was stopped by the doorman. He gained admittance by asking to see William Penny, clerk of the Supreme Court. Mr. Peny failed to recognise him. Justice Weeks asked Penny for the name of the second man indicted in the criminal anarchy prosecution, and Penny, thinking that he was a too inquisitive reporter, indignantly replied:

"Why, that man is not arrested yet and I cannot tell you anything about it. The only man who can give you that information is Justice Weeks."

Arthur G. Meyer, a member of the extraordinary grand jury, was at the club. Justice Weeks approached him and said, "Mr. Meyer, what did the grand jury do to-day?"

"You mustn't ask me that; I am a member of that jury," said Mr. Meyer, sternly.

"I know it. I appointed you," said Justice Weeks, whereat every one laughed.

Justice Weeks' friends were wondering what kind of a reception he would receive from his family at Cape Vincent, where he has gone to recuperate.

WILL IT COME TO THIS?

With a wild shriek the train dashed through the country station without pausing.

"I say, porter," cried a startled passenger, waiting at the station, "isn't that the 4.15 to Newton? Why didn't it stop here?"

The porter shook his head.

"It don't stop here now, sir," he explained. "The lady engineer driver has quarrelled with our station mistress."

RESPONSIBILITY RESTS WITH THE GOVERNMENT

PROGRESS IS BEING MADE, REPORTS THE SECRETARY OF LABOUR

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (by Ralph F. Couch).—Responsibility for the settlement of the coal strike today rests with the Government, according to Thomas T. Brewster, chief of the coal operators.

"We shall not increase our offer of a twenty per cent. wage increase unless the Government tells us to," said Browster.

"Our demand for a forty per cent. increase represents our irreducible minimum," said John L. Lewis, president of the Miners.

"Progress is being made," said Secretary of Labour Wilson.

Get Rid of The Cough That Sticks

Some coughs seem hard to shake off—stick right to you in spite of all you do to get rid of them.

Those are the kind of coughs that are dangerous—that weaken the lungs so that the germs of consumption find a ready foothold.

We know of no remedy that will cure stubborn coughs— coughs that won't let go—like Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

It allays the inflammation, soothes the irritation, and heals the diseased mucous lining of the lungs and bronchial tubes.

Mrs. Leo. Allen, Petit de Grat Bridge, N.S., writes:—'Last winter I had an awful cough that kept me in the house for over two months. I tried several cough remedies, but got no relief. I was almost discouraged when a grocer here offered me a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. After taking that one my coughing began to cease. I took two more and they cured me completely."

Get the genuine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup; put up in a yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 25c. and 50c.; manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

NEGLECTED COLDS Lead to Consumption

Unless a complete cure is effected the inflammation passes rapidly to the throat bronchial tubes, and then to the lungs.

You can't make new lungs any more than you can make new fingers or a new nose—hence consumption is practically incurable.

But Catarrh can be cured, except in its final and always fatal stage.

Catarrhozone Guaranteed to Cure

The purest balsams and the greatest antiseptics are sent to every spot where catarrhal trouble exists — germs are killed, foul secretions are destroyed, nature is given a chance and cure comes quickly.

Colds and throat troubles can't exist if the pure healing vapour of Catarrhozone is breathed — sneezing and coughing cease at once, because irritation is removed.

Use Catarrhozone to prevent —use it to cure your winter ills—it's a pleasant, safe, and guaranteed in every case.

Two sizes, treatment, large size, guaranteed to cure, price $1; small size, 50c; sample size, 25c.; sold everywhere.

Voice Of The People

Peterboro, Nov. 21 1919.

To Editor of the Examiner

Dear Sir—In reference to the heirs of the Quinn millions, the Misses Quinn have not as good claim as Edward Quinn, 129 Rubidge street, as their father is dead which makes their claim weaker.

Besides this three other brothers of Ed. Quinn survive, namely Michael Quinn, Cobourg. His Honour Magistrate John Quinn, of Wisconsin and James Quinn last heard of in Texas.

Edward Quinn did not himself claim to be sole heir to the Quinn fortune as was stated in the paper he being out of town at the time the reporter called at his home.

(Signed) Mrs. Quinn and family

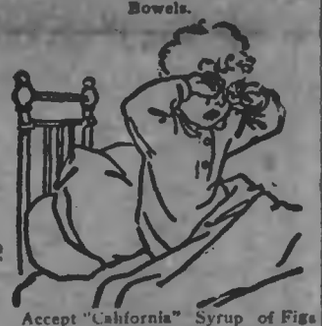
"GLORIANNA."

The great New York musical comedy success, "Glorianna," which plays at the Grand to-day, matinee and evening, ranks with such successful vehicles as "Katinka," "High Jinks," "You're in Love," and "Somebody's Sweetheart." As a matter of fact it was the same composer of those now famous musical comedies, who is responsible for the music that so illuminates the production. The composer, Rudolf Friml, together with Mrs. Catherine Chisholm Cushing, who wrote the book and lyrics, have collaborated on a musical comedy that is still the talk of the theatrical world. The lines are clever, and written for laughing purposes, which are well served inasmuch as the audience is kept in a continual uproar, while the music is enchanting and catchy.

"SYRUP OF FIGS" CHILD'S LAXATIVE

Look at Tongue! Remove Poisons From Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

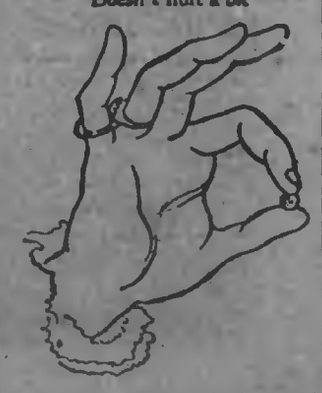


Accept "California" Syrup of Figs only — look for the of California on the package, then you are sure your child is having the best and most harmless laxative or physic for the little stomach, liver and bowels. Children love its delicious fruity taste. Full directions for child's dose on each bottle. Give it without fear.

Mother! You must say "California."

WITH FINGERS! CORNS LIFT OUT

Freezone is magic! Corns and calluses lift right off— Doesn't hurt a bit



A few cents buys a tiny bottle of the magic Freezone at any drug store. Apply a few drops of Freezone upon a tender, aching corn or a callus. Instantly that troublesome corn or callus stops hurting, then shortly you lift it out, root and all, without any pain, soreness or irritation. These little bottles of Freezone contain just enough to rid the feet of every hard corn, soft corn, corn between the toes and the calluses on bottom of feet. So easy! So simple. Why wait? No humbug!

Worthwhile charity isn't so much the giving of material substance; it is charitable thinking in regard to our neighbours. Right and good thoughts concerning those about us will help to bring the good and true into our own lives. On the other hand, if we listen to slanderous gossip and repeat the tales to others we can-

WINDSOR STATION ILLUMINATED FOR PRINCE'S VISIT.

The electrical illumination of the C.P.R. Windsor Station at Montreal in honor of the Royal visit, on which electrical engineers and decorators were at work for over a month, evoked favorable comment, and Mr. J. W. Bell, the superintendent of the building, who designed and supervised the erection of this elaborate decoration, was congratulated on the result of his effort. No fewer than 7,762 individual lights were used in this display, which follows the general outlines of the huge edifice, including the two towers. In order to connect the lamps with the seventeen switches, there is a mile and a quarter of wire. In the Prince of Wales' Feathers, which are 13 feet 6 inches in height, there are 242 lights, while the two maple leaves on St. Antoine street and Osborne street, each 12 feet high, have each 145 lights, while there are 55 lights in each of the four illuminated crowns. The electrical decoration is supplemented with a display of flags, 450 in number, twelve long streamers 31 feet each in length, and 69 shields each 4 feet high.

PRINCE PRESENTED WITH STRAWBERRIES PICKED ON OCTOBER 2.

If His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales had any preconceived idea that Southern Alberta had grown nothing this year owing to the drought, he probably has reason to change his mind after being presented at Lethbridge with a four-pound box of most luscious strawberries packed on Thursday morning from his own garden by John Hamilton, who owns one of the farms on the C. P. R. Ready-made Farms Colony, 18 miles east of the city. The fruit was the ever-bearing variety and as fine in color, texture and flavor as any grown in the middle of the season. It remained for the Coaldale district to supply the royal table with fresh strawberries picked in October.

Adriatic Situation

UNDERCURRENT DIRECTED AGAINST ITALIAN MONARCHY.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The situation of the Adriatic as a result of Gabriele D'Annunzio's campaign has reached a grave crisis.

Private advices leave no doubt that he is determined to annex Dalmatia and attack Montenegro.

The Jugo-Slavs are stated to have concentrated troops and to be prepared to resist aggression.

A still more alarming report says a Republican undercurrent directed against the Italian monarchy exists among D'Annunzio's forces. It is not known, however, whether the insurgent poet-leader shares the reported ambition of this military element to attack the Government.

MUCH TIN METAL COMES FROM CORNWALL MINES

Tin is used in such vast quantities and for so many purposes that we are apt to forget that but a small proportion of what we use so lavishly is found in its natural state on the American continent. What we should do if the produce of the mines in other parts of the world were prevented from coming here it is hard to conceive.

Our empty tin cans are thrown away with as little concern as if an inexhaustible supply of the raw material were at our very doors. Yet this is not so.

The greater part of the world's supply of tin comes from Cornwall in England, where the mines reach far under the sea; Banka, in the East Indies; and Malacca, in Southern Asia—all many thousands of miles away from Canada.

Before iron and steel came into use tin was mixed with copper to make bronze utensils, tools, and weapons of war and the chase. In the twentieth century with all our great iron forges and steel manufactories more tin is used than ever.

There is no substitute for it, and dear or cheap, the people of a modern city would find it as hard to live without tin as did men of the Bronze Age. Try to find out how many articles made of tin there are in your house.

JAPANESE WIVES CALL HUSBAND "THE HOUSE"

In the New East (Tokio), there is given an entertaining list of things "the Japanese to differently" from ourselves. For example:

Ladies sit with their hands folded, palms upward. Every lady shaves. Ladies never brush their hair; they only comb it.

It is polite to make a noise with the mouth when eating certain food Ladies, however, rarely do so, as they are supposed to suppress their feelings.

When we speak of a thimbleful Japanese speak of a sparrow's tear. Number three is always lucky, excepting in takuwan (pickled radish) To offer a person three pieces would be rude.

We speak of putting a thing on the fire to cook. The Japanese speak of putting the fire through it ("hi wo tosu").

A man never wishes his wife "good morning" first. She greets him and he replies. A woman never speaks of her husband as such; she speaks of "the house."

MANY WAR BRIDES WISH THEY HADN'T

British Girls Are Now Repenting Over Marriages.

LONDON.— A special bureau, in Horseferry road, Westminster, is grappling with one of the most pathetic of the .past-war problems. It is called the "Soldiers' Wives' Section."

There were many romances in England while Canadian, American and Australian troops were pouring through on their way to the various fronts.

Some of them were rash; others promise lasting happiness.

The aftermath of the rash ones keeps the bureau busy.

Young wives with babies in their arms call every day; letters pleading for help are numerous. Men write from Australia that they see that their war marriages were foolish.

Sometimes the Australian wives write giving their view of their husbands' British marriage.

In cases where the husband is willing to receive his wife and she is willing to go to him, funds are provided by the Government.

It is said ahat many girls refused to leave England when their husbands were ordered home. What they want now is alimony.

A special divorce law has been drawn up to enable an English wife to obtain freedom from a husband in Australia.

Included are the German treaty and the League of Nations, the Lodge reservation, declaring the war ended, half a dozen other treaties growing out of the war, the Mexican situation and many reconstruction questions; domestic matters pressing for attention, including the return of the railways, development of the merchant marine, legislation to stamp out Bolshevism, reorganization of the army on a peace basis, establishment of the naval policy, tariff legislation, development of public lands and natural resources, encouragement of Americanization and the appropriation of several billions of dollars to run the government through the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1920.

In addition to this programme, Congressmen must participate in the political campaign which will get under way soon after the Christmas holidays. One third of the senate and the entire House of Representatives must stand for re-election.

PLEASED WITH THE DOUBLE PLATOON

ONLY ONE MAN HAS LEFT EMPLOY OF DEPARTMENT SINCE IT WAS ADOPTED.

The only fault Chief Grange of the Fire Department has yet found with the double platoon system at the Fire Hall is that it had not been in force since he succeeded Chief Howard. The men, he said to-day, are pleased with the new order of things. It not only gives the men some time at their homes, which they were practically debarred from previously, but so arranges the work that the men on duty at the Hall are always busy.

Since the new system came into force in March, not one man has left the service of the Department.

The Chief also proudly stated that since his regime, which he undertook nearly three years ago, only five men have left the employ of the Department.

REV. R. E. SPENCE A VISITOR HERE

Rev. R .E. Spence, of Hamiota, Man., who represented the Western Conferences on the executive committee of th Methodist Book Room, Toronto, at the meeting last Wednesday, came down to Peterborough on Thursday to visit his mother and sister, Mrs. H. A. Fife, with whom he has been staying while in town. He left for Toronto on Saturday evening, and will attend the Forward Movement in Massey Music Hall on Monday and Tuesday. He expects to leave for the West to-morrow evening. He has been favuorably impressed with the lovely weather prevailing in Toronto and Peterborough. It is in very marked contrast with the cold winter weather in Manitoba.

MILK PRODUCERS FIX NEW PRICES

EIGHT AND A HALF AND NINE CENTS FOR THE WINTER MONTHS.

At the meeting of the executive of the Milk Producers' Association, held on Saturday evening at the close of the regular meeting, the following prices were adopted:

Eight and a half cents a quart for the months of November and December.

Nine cents a quart for the months of January, February, March, and April.

This agreement was made between Mr. G. A. Gillespie, of the Peterborough Milk Products Company and the Milk Producers' Association.

The same terms apply to other distributors in the city.

The prices quoted are for the milk delivered o the distributing plant in the city.

Though the prices above are lower than the producers had decided to sell for a spirit of compromise was abroad mainly through the influence of Mr. Stonehouse President of the Dominion Dairy Association and they decided to accept the lower prices. Mr. Gillespie who was present agreed to pay the above prices.

WILL INCREASE THE PRODUCTION OF LIVE STOCK

SMALLPOX GETTING WORSE IN THE CITY

DR. A. W. M'PHERSON ADVISES VACCINATION AS A PREVENTATIVE.

In discussing the smallpox situation in the city, which he admitted is becoming somewhat serious, Dr. A. W. McPherson, M.O.H., stated at noon to-day that while seven cases are actually placarded in the city he is satisfied that there are any number of light cases allowed to run at large or being treated as chicken pox.

Practically all the cases which have been reported so far are in the Isolation Hospital and the majority of the cases are mild. One, however, has become serious and the victim has at least fifty pits on his face.

Dr. McPherson urged the necessity of vaccination, which he stated is an absolute preventative of the disease. Take, he said, the case of a wage earner and his family. Should a member of his household fall a victim to the disease his vaccination will absolutely indemnify him and he would, after a thorough fumigation of his clothes, be allowed to continue his work. From a standpoint of dollars and cents, outside of the question of common sense, it is, therefore, a wise step to take.

He said that the symptoms of the disease vary. For the first three days the patient generally feels ill and develops pains somewhat like grippe, and is generally compelled to go to bed. On the fourth day, however, the rash, which is so insidious that most people mistake it for fever, appears.

Asked if there are any preventative measures which might be taken, Dr. McPherson said, emphatcially, "Yes, vaccination."

WILL REDUCE THE PRICE OF COAL IN THE OLD COUNTRY

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Sir Auckland C. Geddes, Minister of National Service and Reconstruction, announced in the House of Commons to-day that the price of coal for household use would be reduced ten shillings per ton, beginning with 1st December.

The reduction will solve the question that has been the cause of much agitation in the Labour Party for a long time.

DEFALCATION IS CHARGED AGAINST GUISE-BAGLEY

SAID TO HAVE MISAPPROPRIATED MONIES ENTRUSTED TO HIM—PERMITTED TO ARRANGE HIS OFFICE AFFAIRS TO-DAY—RESIGNS FROM LAW SOCIETY.

Alleged misappropriation of trust funds is the latest development of the investigation into the tangled and troubled affairs of Mr. James G. Guise-Bagley. Persons whose money and property and business papers Mr. Bagley had handled or held in his possession, took alarm at the first reports of the exposure of his liquor operations and immediately set about to recover their funds or records. In this way it was learned that certain funds could not be located. It is stated that $8,000 belonging to one woman is missing and unaccounted for, and writs are being issued against Mr. Bagley for other charges of defalcation.

After spending the week end behind the bars at the police station, he was permitted to go to his office this morning in charge of Detective George Cookman for the purpose of settling urgent business details and of trying to put his upset office in order. Lawyers and other citizens crowded the rooms in the building at the corner of Brock and Water street demanding papers, records, title deeds and other legal documents which Mr. Bagley held, some of them having been obtained from Mr. Burnhamand Mr. Robert Ruddy when Mr. Bagley succeeded them and secured their practice. Farmers and others anxious for the safety of their deeds, wills and various records joined the group, and some of the lawyers in particular recovered and carried away armfuls of elastic bound and bulky documents. The scene was suggestive of moving day.

Resigns From Law Society.

It was learned this morning that Mr. Bagley had forwarded to the secretary in Toronto his resignation as a member of the Law Society of Upper Canada. In connection with his standing as a barrister, it was further declared that Mr. Bagley had never passed the prescribed examinations, but had been made a barrister by a private Act of the late Government of Ontario.

Five Charges of Theft.

This morning Mr. Bagley was remanded until Thursday after being arraigned in Police Court on five charges of theft, as follows:

That on 26th March, 1919, he took, stole, and carried away 300.00 belonging to Helen Thompson, and on the same day $330.00 entrusted with him by Lottie J. Thompson; that in July, 1919, he stole $1,000 from Lottie J. Thompson, and another $1,000 from Helen Thompson; and that on 16th August, 1919, he stole $1,212 from Gertrude Thompson.

It is alleged that these sums were placed with Mr. Bagley to be used as mortgage loans, and upon inquiry it was found that the money had been diverted to some other purpose.

Chief Thompson gave the information that Bagley did not obtain mortgages for clients, and hence it is charged that he misappropriated these funds.

PETERBORO MOTHER RECEIVES A MEDAL

THE D.C.M WAS WON BY HER SON, WHO DIED IN MILITARY HOSPITAL.

Among the medals which the Prince of Wales was to present recently at Kingston was one to a proud and bereaved mother, Mrs. E. Hargrove, of McGill Street.

However, the notice did not reach Mrs. Hargrove in time to attend the presentation, so the medal was forwarded to Mrs. Hargrove, with a letter from the Prince of Wales, which Mrs. Hargrove received from the Prince himself, and which she prizes very highly.

The medal was won by her son, the late Pte. Michael Edward Hargrove "for conspicuous bravery" in the field. Pte. Hargrove was a stretcher-bearer with the 5th C. M. R.'s when he won the medal, and was wounded so severely he died in a London military hospital on 12th December, 1918. He had seen nearly four years' service, and had previously been wounded three times.

The Letter

Kingston, Nov 12 1919.
To M. s. E. Hargrove,
31 McGill street.

In forwarding this decoration the General Officer commanding desires me to express he greatest appreciation for the services of this gallant soldier and I am also directed by the Honourable the Minister to express his most sincere personal appreciation for the services of so brave a man.

On my behalf please accept my sincerest compliments that you are a relative of so brave a man.

AUTOMOBILE FAILED TO LEAP THE CHASM

(United Press.)

LONDON, Nov. 24.— An unrehearsed incident occurred recently in the making of an English film. The car did not gain sufficeint momentum to leap the gap in the ravine and crashed 100 feet from the platform from which it was supposed to jump the chasm. The fall did not disconcert the camera operator, however, for he got his picture as the automobile dropped into the ravine, and it is realized that it didn't deter the actor from making another attempt later, when the car cleared the gap.

HOPE HELD OUT FOR THE CREW

STEAMER FOUNDERS IN TERRIFIC GALE ON LAKE SUPERIOR.

(Canadian Press.)

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Nov. 24.—Hope that at least some of the members of the crew of eighteen of the lumber laden steamer "Myron," owned by O. W. Blodgett, of Bay City, which foundered near Whitefish Point in a terrific gale which swept Lake Superior Saturday and yesterday, would be rescued, was held out to-day by marine men here and captains of steamers who passed this port. It was believed that some of the crew who escaped from the foundering steamer might drift ashore and be revived by patrolling coast guard, despite their long exposure and terrible buffeting by the great waves. Wreckage from the Myron continued this morning to come ashore in great quantities, including parts of cabins and upper works, while the entire bay is strewn with the lumber cargo of the boat and of her consort, the Mistec, which was reported to have gone into shelter by an unidentified steamer.

THE TRINITY CHOIR GUESTS AT BANQUET

On Thursday evening, Nov. 20th., the Ladies Aid of Trinity Church entertained the choir at a banquet in the S. S. Hall, Reid street, in a magnificent style.

Toasts were given for the King, Choir and Ladies Aid which were heartily responded to, after the election of Officers for another year took place.

The pastor in commenting on the work of the choir during the past year spoke in glowing terms of the splendid services rendered Sunday after Sunday during Divine worship and how much he appreciated the efforts of every member of the choir and hoped that the good work they were engaged in would be an inspiration and a blessing to all who worship at Trinity Church.

CONCRETE COFFINS USED IN BRITAIN.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Owing to a prohibitive price of wooden coffins, substitutes of concrete have been delivered for the burial of poorer people.

Up to a few weeks ago many cemetery authorities declined to sanction the use of concrete coffins, but in many industrial quarters conditions have become so acute that the embargo has been withdrawn, and they are now constantly used.

Concrete coffins answer the purpose admirably, and are much lighter than wooden ones.

It sometimes happens that the favours thankfully received are very unthankfully forgotten.

Trouble In Italy

RUMOURS OF THE WILDEST CHARACTER ARE IN CIRCULATION—MAY AFFECT MONARCHY.

"MARCH FORWARD"

(Canadian Press.)

ROME, Nov. 24.— Rumors of the wildest character regarding the possibility of a very serious crisis involving not only the Cabinet, but also the reigning House of Italy, are in circulation as the openng of parliament, set for December 1st, approaches. The Socialists, proud of their recent victory, are eager to continue what they call their "march forward." The old and more authoritative members of the party, however, such as Deputy Turati, leader of the Intransieganta, Deputy Trevera and Signor Modigliana are against any excesses. The new elements which have entered the Socialist parliamentary group are declared to be animated by revolutionary sentiments and to favour an extreme policy which, in their opinion, will inevitably lead to the advent of Bolshevism in Italy.

Plans for the uprisings in various parts of Italy, particularly along the Adriatic Coast, have been found on men recently arrested.

Premier Nitti, who has been watching carefully all the movements of Gabriele D'Annunzio and his followers, has succeeded in checkmating intrigues and breaking up arrangements for the seizure for the Revolutionists of extensive stores.

ADVANCE SALE FOR Y.M.C.A. MINSTRELS

SHOW SAID TO BE IMPROVED BY ONE HUNDRED PER CENT.

Due to the creative genius of Mr. F. D. Lee, the Y. M. C. A. Minstrels have developed a novel method of advertising. In several stores on the main streets are big framed cards, containing eight pictures of these imposing personages who will provide fun and amusement for all those in attendance at this wonderful spectacle. The spirit of fun and jollity concentrated in these dark-skinned joymakers is so infectious that their pictures afford the greatest amusement to passers-by. Next Thursday the public will enjoy hearing this witty and humorous bunch at a place where the cops won't tell them to quit warming the streets and where laughter will flow freely and copiously.

The advance sale has exceeded expectations and broken all records. The box office opened to the subscribers this morning and will be open to the public to-morrow at 10 a.m.

Mr. Asa Huycke reports that the show is fully a hundred per cent. better than last year and such being the case a crowded house may be expected. In future Peterboro will look forward to the annual appearance of these minstrels.

A chorus of nearly one hundred male and female voices comprises the cast. Eight of the cleverest, wittiest darkies from the cotton fields of Peterboro, have volunteered to give the audience eight dollars worth of fun and amusement for every dollar spent in admission.

Look for the reader in to-morrow's paper. The best is yet to come.

AMERICAN NOTE WAS CONSIDERED

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. — The United States Government's note, demanding the immediate release of William O. Jenkins, the American Consular Agent at Ales, Puebla, is understood to have been considered by the Mexican Cabinet last Friday, the State Department announced to-day.

Governor Cabriera, of Puebla, was present, but the Department's advices did not say what action, if any, was taken.

WILL NOT RELEASE HUNGER STRIKERS

(Canadian Press.)

DUBLIN, Nov. 24.—Official notice was given here to-day that no more prisoners will be liberated, conditionally or unconditionally, for hunger striking, and that hunger strikers must hemselves be responsible for the consequences of their act.

If was also anonunced that there would be no further amelioration of the prison treatment given any prisoner convicted under the Defence of the Realm Act.

This notice is regarded very seriously in Irish political circles.

The favorite pastime of Vice Admiral Sir David Beatty is writing letters to his friends.

MANY DIFFICULTIES CONFRONT DISTRIBUTOR OF MILK IN THE CITY

CAUGHT IN FLYWHEEL OF GASOLINE ENGINE

(Special to The Examiner.)

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 24.—David Shillington, a young farmer of Harley village, is dead, following injuries received when he was drawn into the flywheel of a gasoline engine. The unfortunate man had been chopping grain, and while going to shut off the engine he tripped and fell against the wheel. A projecting pin in the shaft of the wheel caught in his clothing, gripping the young man and throwing him around the wheel, his head hitting the floor with such violence that his skull was fractured.

DEATH LIST IS PLACED AT 28

HORRIBLE TRAGEDY WHEN A DANCE HALL IS DESTROYED BY FIRE.

(Canadian Press.)

VILLA PLATTE, La., Nov. 24. — With all persons in the building at the time accounted for, the complete list to-day of those who lost their lives in the dance hall fire here Saturday night was announced at 28. About three hundred persons were guests at the dance on the second floor of the two-storey frame building and in addition to the heavy death toll, scores were badly burned or seriously hurt in the mad rush to escape through one narrow exit.

MARSHALL THOUGHT HE WAS PRESIDENT

TOLD WHILE ADDRESSING GEORGIA MEETING THAT WILSON HAD DIED

(Canadian Press.)

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 24. — The address of Vice-President Thomas Marshall came to an abrupt end at the Auditorium last night when a false report was made to the effect that President Wilson had passed away at Washington.

The Vice-President was in the midst of his speech, which was being made under the auspices of the Order of Moose of Atlanta.

At this juncture Charles J. Haden, aprominent Atlantan, stepped to the side of the Vice-President and informed him that a 'phone message had just been received that the President had passed away in Washington.

The Vice-President stopped speaking and bowed his head, an action which was followed by all who were within hearing distance. Then Mr. Marshall said:

"I cannot bear the great burdens of our beloved Chieftain unless I receive the assistance of everybody in this country."

Then Mr. Marshall went to the 'phone and called up the Associated Press, only to learn that the news was incorrect.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL ATTENTION!

A SPECIAL MEETING OF THE TRADES COUNCIL IS CALLED FOR WEDNESDAY EVENING AT 8 O'CLOCK. BUSINESS OF IMPORTANCE AND OF INTEREST TO ALL MEMBERS WILL BE DISCUSSED.

A. J BOLWELL, Pres.

MR. E.H. STONEHOUSE ADDRESSED THE PETERBORO MILK PRODUCERS ON SATURDAY EVENING—FAVOURED PASTEURIZED MILK.

FIXING PRICES

"Be reasonable" was the keynote of the meeting held in the Board of Trade rooms on Saturday evening by the Milk Producers' Association of Peterborough. This injunction was not exemplified in the length of time the meeting lasted as it was after eleven o'clock before the main meeting concluded and the executive committee met in solemn conclave to make another attempt to fix the price of milk for the winter season. If the Milk Producers' Association expect to have many more meetings they will have to shorten them up or they will be slimly attended. While milk producers and distributors may have courage enough to get up in the middle of the night in order to meet the demands of the industry, few of them will relish the prospect of sitting in a super-heated room for well on to four hours even to discuss the pros and cons of their trade. This expresses the sentiment of many of them. A few of them shortened up the Saturday evening meeting by falling asleep for a portion of the session.

Mr. R. B. Rogers presided and the chief speaker of the evening was Mr. E. H. Stonehouse, president of the Toronto Milk Producers' Association, and chairman of the Dominion Dairymen's Association. About thirty milk producers and distributors were present, including Mr. G. A. Gillespie, of the Peterborough Creamery.

Dairying Industry.

Mr. Stonehouse in the course of an address lasting two hours discussed the dairying industry, past, present and future. He said the industry has expanded rapidly during the past four or five years so far as Ontario is concerned. Milk in powder and other manufactured forms can be shipped and used in all parts of the world without loss or depreciation. Mr. Stonehouse said that all milk products in a manufactured form should be plainly marked so as to protect the consumer. He knew of one brand of milk powder on the market which was manufactured from skim milk. This, the speaker claimed, created unfair competition.

Turning to the distribution of milk, the speaker said there was a time when the distributor was looked upon as an enemy. Time has changed this viewpoint.

Fixing Prices.

"In fixing the price of milk we must not pass the safety line," said the speaker. In all towns and cities there are women's organizations ready to set up an outcry. All we demand is a

CARPENTERS REBUILT STRUCTURES OF CAMP

Workmen Killed Time by Razing New Buildings.

CAMP SHERMAN, Chillicothe, Ohio.—So many carpenters were employed in the construction of Camp Sherman that when they had nothing else to do they were put to work taking screen doors off and then putting them on again, according to testimony given to a Congressional subcommittee here by W. B. McCorkle, of Chillicothe, who was employed as a carpenter during the construction of the cantonment.

McCorkle also asserted that on a number of occasions carpenters were ordered to build barracks, only to tear them down and build them over again. They did this whole days at a time, he asserted.

The "cost-plus" plan on which Camp Sherman was built is under investigation by the committee. Contractors were paid actual costs of construction plus a percentage for their profit.

ASQUITH DECLINES TO RUN.

Sir John Simon Becomes Liberal Candidate in His Stead.

LONDON.—Sir John Simon, former Secretary for Home Affairs, who was defeated in Walthamstow in the last elections, has been selected as the Liberal candidate for the House of Commons in the Spen Valley by-election. Herbert Hirst, President of the Unionist Association, will probably be a candidate, and Tom Myers, Labourite, who opposed the late Sir Thomas Whittaker at the last election, also is seeking election.

Strong pressure was brought to bear on Herbert H. Asquith, the former Premier, to enter the race for the seat, but Mr. Asquith declined.

OPENING OF "TOYMAN'S SHOP" IN RICHARD HALL & SON'S

A MERRY CHRISTMAS FEAST FOR CHILDREN AND A PEEP INTO THE WONDERFUL PACK OF SANTA CLAUS.

"Toyman's Shop," on the third floor of Richard Hall & Son's big, radiant Christmas store, was opened up on Saturday morning with a most varied and interesting display of amusing, practical, and instructive playthings for the kiddies. An animated procession of the little folks, and some grown-ups as well, started soon after it became known that "Toyman's Shop" was open, and crowds trooped up to the third floor double quick, going "over the top" like little husky, hustling Canadians, to see what Santa Claus had brought.

From the time visitors enter the big holiday decorated store on the ground floor until the "Toyman's Shop" is reached, a beautiful Christmas spirit pervades every department of the beautiful premises. A strikingly pleasing and effective red and green colour scheme predominates in each of the four beautifully-dressed floors—the festoonings, decorations, and lighting effects for which had been under preparation for some weeks previous. Skilful and expert hands and brains have been busy putting on an elaborate holiday dress for the Christmas trade, which cannot fail to evoke admiration. Practical activities breathe the atmosphere of prosperity and good cheer, and the attractions and usefulness of this store is immensely widened in scope. The stocks are magnificent, both in variety and character, while the entire interior has been transformed into a treasure house of gifts—a Mecca for the Christmas shopper—with lights glowing and twinkling among garlands and evergreens, lending a charm to the Christmas novelties and gift-giving suggestions brought from all over the world.

Merry "Toyman's Shop."

But it is the "Toyman's Shop" the reader is invited particularly just now where the effort to bring joy and happiness to the enraptured minds of the little folks, bubbling over with thoughts of Santa Claus, have accomplished so much in so dexterous and alluring a manner. Who would have thought there ever could be found so many kinds of toys as are collected here? Canada contributes a larger share than ever before; and it may be readily taken for granted that Santa Claus will be one of the hardest worked chaps in Peterborough from now until Christmas Eve. No eight-hour day will be sufficient this Peace Christmas.

Dolls of every name and nature, every shape and size, big dolls and little dolls, walking dolls and talking dolls, dressed dolls and undressed dolls, to help fill the little stockings and cause juvenile delight.

Electric trains, railway cars, electric toys, kiddo cars, Teddy bears, rocking horses, coasting sleighs, doll carriages, games of various kinds, metal toys, and wooden toys, in many ingenious devices and combinations.

You ought to see the splendid toy called the "Erector," for teaching the the boys in building bridges, towers, aeroplanes, machine shops, and other steel models. The "Erector" will furnish loads of amusement every day of the year for many a youngster mechanically inclined. See the wonderful train on the track. Wind it up and off it goes on its journey around its curved track.

Then there is the bookstalls, filled with juvenile stories, the A B C books and blocks, the doll swings, the doll carriages, animal designs, with clever combinations, and many other things it would take far too long to write about. Special mention must be made of a very pretty display of toys in the north show window of the store, included in which is a lovely large doll, with natural hair and curls, reposing in a cosy white bed, covered with a handsome green silk bedspread; also an attractive little china closet or sideboard, decorated with pretty coloured china. These are said to be the handiwork of invalided French soldiers—the whole suggestive of what there has been prepared to fill the little empty stockings.

"There's an empty stocking hanging
From many a little bed,
Where a God-blown dream hangs over
Each sleeping curly head;
And the vision gathers nightly
Of a day that's soon to come,
Where little feet should patter
To the music of the drum."

MILK DISTRIBUTOR FINDS RETIRED FARMER A HARD MAN TO DEAL WITH A CASE IN POINT THAT WAS BROUGHT UP AT THE MILK PRODUCERS' MEETING ON SATURDAY EVENING.

Mr. John Hodson of Otonabee, a distributor of raw milk in the city, disagreed with the figures produced at the meeting of Milk Producers held Saturday evening, which indicated that raw milk was responsible for a higher mortality rate among infants. Mr. Hodson pointed out that he gave his four children all the milk they could drink and "they have never cost me a penny for doctors bills" said Mr. Hodson. The reason so many children die, he said, is because they never get enough of it.

Mr. E. H. Stonehouse said that the per capita consumption of milk in Toronto was three quarters of a pint.

"I find the retired farmers in the city the hardest to deal with" said Mr. Hodson. He told of one instance where a retired farmer and his wife together with four children ranging in ages from three to ten years, refused to purchase even a pint of milk to-day.

"Milk is too dear. We have a can of condensed milk in the house and we are using that," they said.

"What about your children? Don't they need milk?", replied Mr. Hodson.

"They are too big", was the reply.

"Well I am a little bigger than they are and I need milk", was Mr. Hodson's reply.

DEER HUNTERS RETURN HOME.

Messrs. Dixon Best, Charles Gladman, Martin McFadden, and Batiste Audette, returned to the city on Friday, from Bakersley with the alloted number of deer. The party reports excellent shooting, the deer being particularly plentiful in that section of the country.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Protect the fruit trees against mice and rabbits.

Farm drainage dates back to the days of ancient Rome.

Neglected farm machinery during the winter months means delay next season.

Ice houses should have a couple of windows or a ventilator to draw off the heat.

It will take at least three years before the poultry flocks of France will be fully restored.

In conserving the manure, bear in mind that the poultry house provides the most valuable material.

In order to secure the heaviest possible yield of seed from clover thrash only in dry weather.

Beekeepers lose from one-tenth to one-half their colonies annually by failing to protect them properly.

Make allowance for surface drainage in the orchard. Standing water in the early spring will cause great injury to fruit trees.

The live stock industry will not have discharged its full duty until it has placed upon every farm in the land pure-bred sires of all farm live stock.

Care should be taken in burning farm rubbish to keep the fire on as small an area as possible, in order that the least possible humus be destroyed.

In reviewing the sheep market, meat and wool, during the past year there seems to be little doubt that this class of live stock is one paying big dividends.

Two of the most essential things in feeding calves are regular feeding hours and a uniform temperature of the milk. Neglect of either of these will surely lead to trouble.

When an ungraded sample of grain is sown the plants produced from the large seeds have a considerable and adverse influence on the plants produced from the small seeds.

A good water supply, a complete sewage disposal plant and effective heating and lighting systems constitute the four prime utilities of the farm home, the foundations of safe, comfortable living.

Portions of nine Indian reserves in the prairie Provinces, comprising 68,000 acres, have been secured by the Soldier Settlement Board of Canada, and will be made available for soldier settlement.

Japan is to have its first live stock exhibition next cherry blossom season at Uyeno Park, Tokio. Special attention will be paid to sheep and cattle, and exhibitors from all over the world are welcome to space.

At the Lacombe station, Alberta, it has been found that the stock-carrying capacity of land seeded to Kentucky Blue Grass for pasture purposes is at least double that of similar land, under natural grasses.

Good stock is absolutel essential and most people now realize that pure-bred stock has many advantages over other mongrel stock. Furthermore, the pullets must be fully well matured to be most profitable.

A compression tank for the farm water system not only provides a higher pressure than the open tank, but gives better satisfaction during the winter months, as it is practically immune from frost when properly installed.

Anyone whose ambition leads toward becoming a master breeder should study his lessons well. If he but consider wisely the methods that have brought success to breeders of years gone by he will find signboards aplenty pointing the way she should advance.

With a scarcity of clover in the extensive dairy districts of the East, including the Philadelphia territory dealers on the Kansas City markets are being called on for large quantities of choice quality alfalfa. Indicative of the board demand for alfalfa is the fact that the legume represents a cost of around $45 to $50 a ton by the time it reaches the Eastern shipping points.

IN THE SHADOW OF HIS WINGS.

21st Psalm.

How blest is the soul, that has found a retreat,
When rude chilling blasts of adversity beat,
A Fortress secure, what time, trouble is nigh,
Neath the sheltering wings, of the
Father on high.
In that refuge serene, he shall not be afraid,
Of the snare of the fowler, tho' subtily laid,
No terrors disturb, his sweet slumber
at night,
Nor at noonday, the arrow's swift
venomous flight.
Ne'er phantom filled, darkness, his heart shall dismay
Nor sudden destruction that wasteth by day,
Tho pestilence, sweeps o'er the land
far, and wide,
And thousands are falling a prey
at his side.
Misfortune, and evil, around, he may may see,
Yet safe from the scourge, shall his dwelling place be,
For God's mighty angels, obeying
His will,
In their hands, will uphold him,
and shield him from ill.
Because, firm is his trust, in His
Heavenly throne,
And pledges His promise, forever to keep.
Those, who on Him rely, in peace, perfect and deep.

Tobacco Habit Dangerous

says Doctor Conner, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital. Thousands of men suffering from fatal diseases would be in perfect health to-day were it not for the deadly drug, Nicotine. Stop the habit now before it's too late. It's a simple process to rid yourself of the tobacco habit in any form. Just go to any up-to-date drug store and get some Nicotol tablets; take them as directed, and lo! the perplexing habit quickly vanishes. Druggists refund the money if they fail. So sure is Nicotol to do as claimed, and so confident is Dr. Conner that it will, that he has arranged a special announcement by Doctor Conner soon to appear in this paper. It tells of the danger of tobacco poisoning, and how to avoid it. In the meantime try Nicotol tablets; you will be surprised at the result. $0

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1919.

HUNTING NEWS.

Mr. William Buller has had considerable success in the north. He believes in "still hunting."

A NEW TOPIC.

The municipal elections will soon be crowding the Drury government off the front pages of the newspapers.

STOCKINGS NOT EMPTY.

With all the Victory Bonds Peterboro bought there still seems to be enough money left for Christmas presents.

ALWAYS WINS.

The tip to buy your Yuletide gifts early may not be very new but is still good. The early shopper is always a winner.

HIS ONE REGRET.

The Prince of Wales sails for home this week, doubtless deeply grieved that he has to go back and tell his royal father that he did not get a chance to see Peterboro.

FREE SKATING RINKS.

The parents of Peterborough's youngsters are hoping that the City Council will be as generous in providing free skating rinks for the youngsters as the finances will permit. There is no finer exercise for the little folks; there is no healthier form of recreation during the cold weather than skating. The larger rinks afford accommodation for the older children, but many of the youngsters are unable, for obvious reasons, to take advantage of the facilities they offer and for them free open air rinks would be a boon. The cost of operation is small in comparison with the dividends of good health and sturdier children they would earn, and each section of the city should, if possible, be provided with a rink. It is the furnishing of such facilities for sane public recreation that a city gains for itself the reputation of being a fine place in which to live — a reputation which transcends almost any other description that could be used.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING.

Every year along about this time it is customary for the newspapers to deliver a lecture to their readers upon the desirability and good sense of early Christmas shopping. This anual sermonette may perhaps be looked upon as unnecessary by those who have long ago found out for themselves the advantage of making their purchases before the "last awful week," but alas there are many who read and do not heed which makes it a yearly duty to remind the offender that they will find shopping conditions much more desirable at the beginning of December than a day or two before Christmas. Stocks are larger, the choice is better, there are no finger marked goods, the clerks are better able to give you attention, and you help them, help the merchants and help yourself by buying early.

Peterboro shops are teeming with suitable gifts; the advertisements are full of helpful suggestions and there is nothing to be gained and much to be lost by postponing the inevitable shopping until the mad rush of the last few days of the Christmas buying season.

THE VETERANS AND POLITICS

The Examiner is sorry to find that in some quarters, at least, the articles that have been appearing in these columns recently on the proposed entrance of the G. W. V. A. into the political arena have been construed as attacks upon the Association itself. Nothing was further from the intention of this paper, which, in the desire to save the G. W. V. A. from what The Examiner regards as a mistaken policy, gave publicity to some of the obvious objections to the proposed course. It is evident, however, that this attitude has not been seen in the light of the motive which inspired it, and in order that there may be no further misunderstanding over this question as far as The Examiner is concerned, the discussion will come to an end with the present article.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children
In Use For Over 30 Years
Always bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

There is one point, however, that has not been brought out and which the public should understand. The present agitation to have the G. W. V. A. enter politics is not merely a local affair. A referendum vote is being taken throughout all the branches of the Association in the Province on this question, and the same procedure will undoubtedly be carried out throughout the Dominion. The local Association, as a loyal branch, will, of course, have to abide by the decision of the majority, no matter what that decision may be, so that the local vote, however it may be cast, will only be a factor in the general result.

It has been said that The Examiner has opposed the entrance of the G. W. V. A. as a body into politics because of political reasons. That charge is rubbish. This paper has taken the liberty of advising the G. W. V. A. to remain aloof for the sake of the Association itself. There could be no logical objection raised to the desire of the returned soldiers to be represented in municipal, Provincial, and Dominion Governments. But that desire could be more effectively achieved by the organisation of an Independent Soldiers' Party to which all returned men could ally themselves, regardless of what particular soldiers' organisation they happened to belong. By following such a course, there would be no necessity of the G. W. V. A. as an organization entering the political arena, nor would that Association have to make the sacrifice of prestige and public support that direct political action on its own initiative would entail.

The local vote on the question takes place on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week. The Examiner has endeavoured to set forth the objections to the proposed action. In doing so, it has laid itself open to misunderstanding of its motives and of its sympathy for the G. W. V. A. That such has been the case is regrettable, but there accompanies it the consoling consciousness that anything that has been written here on this subject was inspired simply, solely, and unreservedly in the hope of being able to do a little service for a body of men who have done a great service for Canada.

CHOOSING A MAYOR.

Within a few weeks the electors will have the heavy responsibility upon their shoulders of selecting the Chief Magistrate of the city for the coming year. The words "heavy" and "responsibility" are used advisedly, the duty of choosing a mayor for a city of 20,000 people, is a more important obligation than the indifferent attitude adopted towards this civic task by many citizens in the past, perhaps, indicates.

Like many other Canadian municipalities, Peterboro has been careless in its choice of civic governors, not only in regard to filling the mayor's chair, but in selecting aldermanic boards. Many citizens have failed to exercise the franchise at municipal elections, and of those who did take the trouble to vote many have marked their ballots with more attention to the popularity of the candidate than to his fitness for the position. Men, who if they had been engaging some one for their own private business, would never have dreamed of employing a man lacking in ability and initiative, have unhesitatingly voted for such a man for the responsible position of Mayor.

What qualities should a candidate possess who may be considered as having a legitimate claim to the support of the ratepayers in his ambition to act as Peterboro's Chief Magistrate? Thoughtful citizens who ask themselves that question, would include in their answer among others, these attributes. The Mayor of Peterboro should first of all be a man whose public career has been without reproach. He should be a man whose ideal is public service; not in the interest of any one class, but for all classes, who will neither be too big nor too small for the position; who has enough experience in business transactions to enable him to intelligently grasp the details of the big propositions that must be dealt with; who is able to comport himself on public occasions with the dignity and bearing that his position calls for. He need not be an orator but he should be able to express himself lucidly at events in which the Chief Magistrate is expected to take part. He should be a man who has not hesitated to take a decisive stand on public questions; a candidate who has been a "trimmer" or a "wobbler" on matters on which it was doubtful on which side public opinion stood, is almost certain to be lacking in moral courage and decision in the mayor's chair as he was out of it. Finally, he should accept office, if elected, with determination, firm-based upon the desire that his term as Chief Magistrate, shall be marked by definite progress towards a better, cleaner, more home-like city, a city where the community spirit shall be encouraged and developed, a city from which as far as possible, class jealousy, and misunderstanding, shall be banished, a city which outsiders shall view with envy and its own citizens with pride.

Cynics may say with the farmer, who gazed open-mouthed at the camel in the circus, "There ain't no sich animal." But they are wrong. We have men in Peterboro in all the different walks in life who can measure up to the specifications outlined in this article. One of them is needed in the Mayor's chair next year. It is a period of business, industrial and social disturbance and unrest which calls for strong men in civic affairs. In the past few months some of our Ontario rivals have been moving forward at a pace that is leaving Peterboro far behind. Windsor, Kitchener, Brantford, Oshawa, are in a flood tide of prosperity. Hundreds of Peterboro citizens are working in the latter town who should be employed at home. None of the rival cities have as much to offer manufacturers as Peterboro, but we need a hustling, live, business-like civic government that will keep this city where it should be, marked with capital letters on the map of Ontario, and unless we get into office men with the necessary "pep" and business intelligence to put this city over, we will have to be content to see Peterboro merely hold its own, instead of taking the lead.

It should be the resolve of every citizen, who has a love for Peterboro, to leave no stone unturned to see that the Mayor's chair is filled next year by a man who possesses the qualities necessary for the responsibilities of his position.

DEFINITE.

A young Swede in South Dakota, who had been sent out to collect bills for the general store, returned with this report:

"In January?" repeated the proprietor, surprised. "Why, he never set a date before. Are you sure he said January?"

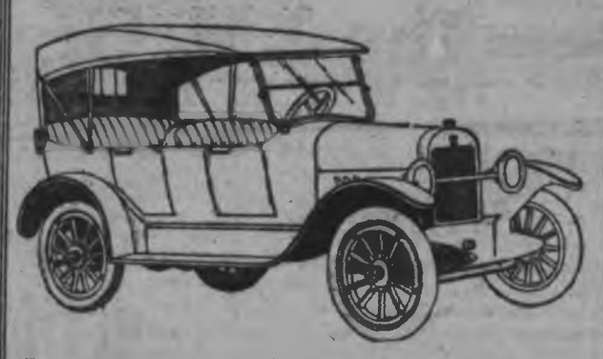
BRISCOE Hill Climbing



IT is when you climb a hill that your car shows the kind of a heart it possesses.

The average car—slowed down to make a curve half-way up a hill—will not "pick up" again on the final ascent. But the Briscoe will. The Briscoe Motor responds to your call for a spurt—and up, up, up you go—a steady flow of power answering your foot pressure on the gas lever—and you finish that long climb triumphantly "on high." The efficiency of the Briscoe Motor has been demonstrated in several ten-day, non-stop test runs, in one of which a record of over 29 miles to the gallon was established.

In less spectacular fashion, the Briscoe Motor is proving its economy and efficiency by year-in, year-out serbice, on all sorts of roads, and under all sorts of conditions.

PLANNING A NEW LIFE

CHAPTER CXXIV.

Neil had 'kept the faith.' Never had I been so proud of my husband, never loved him so dearly as when he had sacrificed the larger opportunity because he thought it not right to leave the man who had befriended him, but who would have still been his friend had he done so. The last vestige of working for his own selfish aggrandizement had disappeared. He was a man to be proud of, to love.

"Why didn't you tell me of Chase's offer?" I asked later in the evening.

"Because I had decided not to accept it, and discussion was useless."

"But Neil it shows you are —that you have reinstated yourself, doesn't it dear?" I seldom mentioned that time of trouble.

"Yes, Bab. If only I could forget it myself. I feel so small, so mean when I think that I once put my ambition before family, friends, even honesty. I have tried to make recompense, if I live long enough I may cease to think of that time with such poignant regrets. I hope so."

"He hath done what he could," I quoted. "Do you remember that passage in the Bible. "No one could do more than you have. No more could be required. Let us not talk about it again Neil. Let us begin now after the war to live a new life. So many have been changed by what has happened dear; many more than we imagine will begin to count their real living from the time we demobilied. We will do so too. We have each other, our health, our darling boy who is growing more manly every day and five thousand a year. Why Neil we have so much for which to be thankful that we should be ashamed to allow a single regret to enter our minds now that we have really done all humanely possible to make things right, denied ourselves in every way to make good. Try and be happy now dear —for my sake, and for Robert."

"I will, Bab! You have the right idea. Powers has been mighty nice to me lately, and has asked after you every time I have seen him. He's the kind who has no use for a man who isn't straight, but who is willing to help a man who tries to do right I guess. I know you felt awfully hurt at one time because they dropped us. I imagine they would not do it now."

"No, I don't think they would. But I have no social aspirations Neil, not of the kind I used to have. A few friends, as father said, and those in our own walk of life, those right here where we live, are all I crave now. What I do want is to own a home. Suppose we save enough to buy a lot and then as soon as we can build a nice little home of our own, and furnish it. That would be heaven."

"The very thing that has been in my mind. But you have been so economical, so willing to go without I thought I would not mention it for a while. You need clothes, and a rest from housework. I feel guilty when I see you working so hard."

"Well you needn't! haven't you worked hard too? I'll get a dress or two and a hat. But I can wear very simple things down here. They won't cost much. Suppose we walk around to-morrow night after you come home and commence looking for a lot."

"All right. It suits me."

The next afternoon the postman brought me a letter in a strange but somteway faintly familiar handwriting. It was from Blanche Orton. She was in Italy, had been there most of the time during the war, 'doing my bit as best I could' she said. Then she told me her news:

"I am to be married, to Count — He is charming, about my age, and while his fortune has been diminished by the war, he still has enough. And my dear Mrs. Forbes I love him. I can see you smile. I know you must think of me as the most mercenary creature alive. I used to be. But no one could go through this war and not lose something of selfishness.

"I often think of you, of your husband. He was one of the cleverest men I ever have known. And you— I haven't words to say what I think of you. He will some day find a chance to come into his own again, then you will have your reward. I saw a man from New York the other day who told me of what he did through the war, how he worked, and that he had paid his debts in full. I have always felt guilty because of the part I played (for money) although I never knew that stock was sold without investigating the properties. I tell you this because I want you to think as well of me as you can.

"Remember me to your husband, kiss that darling big boy of yours for me. I sign myself for the last time, Blanche Orton."

JAPS DO NOT ADMIRE DOLLS IN NEW DRESSES

There are those in Japan who regard with disfavour, despite their excellence in the eyes of foreigners, the dolls wearing the "latest thing" in costume. These dolls, they say, represent the decadence of the ancient Japanese art of doll making. They are quite overdone. They lack the simple art of the Japanese doll of an earlier period. They are nothing but window mannequins. The criticism seems to be founded on fact, for although there are some who maintain that doll-making is still one of the Japanese fine arts, no modern doll-maker seems to have succeeded Kisaburo Matsumoto, with whom ended, in 1880, the doll-making traditions of the pre-restoration period. More than that, the modern theatre and now the motion pictures have supplanted the puppet shows that long provided a fine incentive to the men who made dolls for them, and created a great number of dolls which everybody recognized as characters in the national drama. The older dolls, moreover, were not dressed in real clothes, but painted to represent different styles of costume; and a finished doll, like any other work of art the world over, was expected by the connoisseur to reveal something of the personality of the artist. No wonder the mannequins in the shop windows look to some Japanese like the decadence of a fine art.

BISMARCK'S HEIRS TO SUE TO HOLD UP HIS MEMOIRS.

BERLIN.—The heirs of Prince Otto von Bismarck, the "Iron Chancellor," purpose to take legal steps to halt publication of the third volume of his memoirs on the ground that the publishers plan to violate Bismarck's provision that the volume be in no way curtailed, says the "Tagliche Rundschau."

The publishers, the heirs declare, intend to omit letters from the former Emperor, for the publication of which no permission has been given by the deposed monarch.

MRS. PICKFORD ALSO SUED

Child's Death Under Her Auto Basis of $50,000 Action.

NEW YORK, —When Mrs. Charlotte Pickford, mother of Mary Pickford, was entering the Supreme Court, for the trial of the suit by Mrs. Cora C. Wilkening against Miss Pickford to recover $108,000 as ten per cent. of the proceeds of a contract with Adolph Zukor in 1915, which the plaintiff alleges she negotiated, Mrs. Pickford was served with a summons in a suit for $50,000. The action is brought for the death of Ellen Reynolds, who was run over and killed by Mrs. Pickford's auto on election night at Sixty-seventh Street and Amsterdam Avenue.

Mrs. Wilkening was cross-examined during part of the day and repeated her statements that she caused Mr. Zukor to increase the payments to Miss Pickford by showing the other producers were willing to pay her $10,000 a week. Mr. Zukor testified in a deposition that the chief reason why Miss Pickford's earning power increased was the development in the motion pitcure industry. He said that when he began producing $1,000 was the largest weekly sum paid to any star and his largest salary was $500 to Miss Pickford. She is expected to take the witness stand to-day before Justice Platzek.

Teach the Children to Save

Habits are acquired early in life. Children, who are taught the value of money and the habit of saving, grow up into good business men and capable women.

The easiest way to teach children to save, is to start a Savings Account for each child ($1.00 each is sufficient). After a child has saved another dollar to make an additional deposit, he or she will have a better appreciation of just what a dollar stands for, and how much work and self-denial it represents.

CHEERFUL WORKERS HELD SOCIAL EVENING

Cheerful Workers' Bible Class of St. James' Methodist Church Hold Social Evening.

On Thursday evening, Nov. 20th, the Cheerful Workers' Bible Class of St. James' Methodist church gathered at the home of their teacher, Mrs. J. N. Welbourne, 218 Reid street, where, after the business of the class was discussed, a very talented programme was rendered, consisting of singing, orchestra selections and a reading entitled, "A Night in a Sleeper" by Miss Barrie, addresses by Mr. Chapman and Mr. Prest, after which refreshments were served, and a vote of thanks tendered Mr. and Mrs. Welbourne for the enjoyable evening.

Among those present were Rev. and Mrs. Chapman, Mr. Prest, Supt. of the Sunday school, and Miss Barrie, of London street, who was president of the Cheerful Workers for a number of years.

WORK REFUSED IN LONDON.

Plenty of Jobs, but £1,500,000 Asked for Unemployment Doles.

LONDON.—Unemployment doles were the subject of debate in the House of Commons when Sir Robert Horne, Minister of Labor, asked a supplementary appropriation of £1,500,000 for unemployment payments. Labor members had made it known they intended to attack the Government for the suppression of doles for civilians.

The Minister of Labor said the present rate of unemployment was only 2.6 per cent., or about one-half the average for the fifteen years preceding. He insisted there was a large quantity of employment available if the workers would accept it. He had no fear for the future as the country was facing a period of prosperity which would enable Great Britain to bear lightly the colossal burden resting on her shoulders.

KICKED ABOUT SMELL.

LONDON.—Labourers at Goole harbour refused to handle quantities of horse flesh which arrived for shipment to Belgium, because of its smell and condition, and insisted on their refusal when a bonus of 5s per man was offered.

In pre-war days old horses were shipped in thousands to Belgium for food purposes, and the traffic was frequently condemned, chiefly on the ground of humanity.

Since the war ended and trade with Antwerp was resumed, there has been a big demand for horse flesh. The animals are now killed in England, quartered and frozen, before being exported to the Continent.

A FRIEND TO THE AGED

When men and women get past middle life their energy and activity, in many instances, begin to decline, and their general vitality is on the wane.

The heart action is weak and uncertain, and the nerves become more or less unsteady. Little sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off than formerly, and here and there evidences of a breakdown begin to appear.

Those who wish to maintain their health and vigor, and retain their energy unimpaired, should use

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They will help to keep the fires of youth aglow, prevent debility and decay, and ward off the mental and physical decrepitude of advancing years.

They brace up and invigorate the nervous system, improve the memory, make the heart beat strong and regular, and impart such a sense of buoyancy to the entire system that, though the years may be creeping on, the spirits and energies may be kept young and vigorous.

A FISH STORY WITH A MORAL

(Editorial from Chicago Herald and Examiner.)

Put one hundred men on an island where fish is a staple article of sustenance. Twenty-five of the men catch fish. Twenty-five others clean the fish. Twenty-five cook the fish. Twenty-five hunt fruit and vegetables. The entire company eats what thus is gathered and prepared.

So long as everybody works there is plenty. All hands are happy.

* * * * * *

Ten of the allotted fish catchers stop catching fish.

Ten more dry and hide part of the fish they catch.

Five continue to catch fish, but work only part of the day at it.

Fewer fish go into the community kitchen.

But the same number of men insist upon having the same amount of fish to eat as they had before.

The fifty men who formerly cleaned and cooked the fish have less to do owing to the undersupply of fish. But they continue to demand food.

Gradually greater burdens are laid upon the fruit and vegetable hunters. These insist upon a larger share of fish in return for their larger efforts in gathering fruit and vegetables. It is denied them, and soon twenty of the twenty-five quit gathering fruit and vegetables.

But the entire one hundred men continue to insist upon their right to eat.

The daily food supply gradually shrinks. The man with two fish demands three bananas in exchange for one of them. The man with two bananas refuses to part with one for fewer than three fish.

Finally the ten men remaining at work quit in disgust. Everybody continues to eat. The hidden fish are brought to light and consumed. Comes a day when there is no food of any kind. Everybody on the island blames everybody else.

What would seem to be the solution? Exactly! We thought you would guess it.

For we repeat that you can't eat, buy, sell, steal, give away, hoard, wear, use, play with or gamble with WHAT ISN'T.

MANY DIFFICULTIES CONFRONT DISTRIBUTOR OF MILK IN THE CITY

fair price all along the line. In this we must consider the interests of the producer, the distributor and the manufacturer of milk products. All these agencies are linked together and there must be a complete understanding. There has been a tremendous outcry against the high cost of living. Some blame the producers and others blame the distributors. In the city of Toronto we used to have two hundred and fifty private distributors and now the business of distributing Toronto's milk supply is vested in about ninety, the majority of whom are large companies doing business on a large scale. Two of these companies were recently held up by their employees for wage increases. The management of the two companies took the employees into their confidence and plainly told them how far they could go in granting the men's demands. If that was exceeded they would have to close their doors. The men accepted a compromise offer. Illustrating the difficulties the distributors have to contend with we have the case of one large company who lost in one year alone, fifteen thousand dollars in broken bottles. The distributor in Toronto is between the upper and nether millstones. His position in other cities is very little better if any. Unless something is done many of them will have to go out of business. If this is the case the producers will suffer by reason of a restricted market for their products. Personally, I do not see any remedy unless the producer himself takes over the distribution of his product.

Pasteurized Milk.

"In Toronto," said Mr. Stonehouse, "not one quart of milk is distributed without being pasteurized, unless it is certified milk from an inspected dairy, in accordance with the regulations of the Health Department. This has had the effect, as in all other cities where milk is pasteurized, of reducing infant mortality. I have personally inspected many of the villages and districts within a radius of one hundred miles of Toronto, where milk is procured, and in a great many instances have found the milk filthy. In a great many cases the quality of the product is low. It is up to the producer to see that a high quality is maintained and in this connection to eliminate all scrub stock from his herd. Another difficulty confronting the distributor is that the producers of Ontario produce an uneven supply of milk. For two or three months in the year the market will be flooded with milk, and as the season advances the supply will taper off to almost nothing. In the light season the manufacturer and distributor has to carry about the same overhead as in the heavy season. There is only one way we can cope with this condition and that is to pay on a basis of winter shipments. Another question that will have to be dealt with in the near future is the differential between various milk products. The extended use of milk products has a tendency to do away with the cheese industry.

Profiteering.

The farmers and milk producers have frequently been accused of profiteering. A recent investigation failed to reveal any evidence of profiteering and in fact it was shown that many producers were producing milk at a loss. Mr. W. F. O'Connor, in spite of his promise to reduce the cost of mill feeds, has been unable to do so. Grain feeds should be the subject of a searching investigation. What is the use of sending millers to investigating the cost of millfeeds? asked Mr. Stonehouse. The whole course of the recent investigations by the Commission has been a farce, he added.

Speaking of the growth of the producers' associations throughout the country, the speaker said the associations have come to be recognized as a bargaining medium between the producer, manufacturer and distributor. The members were urged to be loyal and stick together for the good of everybody concerned.

The future.

In conclusion, Mr. Stonehouse said the future for the dairying industry was bright, with prospects of a larger market due to the expanding overseas trade. The speaker also urged a policy of consideration for the consumer. The attitude taken by some of the women's organizations whenever an increase in the price of milk is announced is dangerous. Representatives of two prominent women's organizations and labour, agreed at a recent meeting of the Fair Price Board that the producers were acting very fairly in the matter and were not profiteering. At the present time milk is being produced near the border line of profit and loss. When we make our new arrangements in the spring we hope to remedy this condition.

Mr. Stonehouse predicted that the time would soon come when the producer will be paid on a basis of butter fat. At a recent meeting of the producers in Toronto, Mr. Stonehouse recommended that a price of $9.10 per can be adopted. Some wanted $9.85.

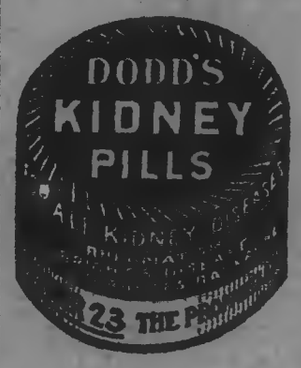
Better Production.

Warden John McIntosh said he hoped for better production. "Let us be reasonable in all cases and nine times out of ten we will win out," said Mr. McIntosh in moving a vote of thanks to Mr. Stonehouse.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie said he agreed with what Mr. Stonehouse had said regarding the many difficulties of the distributor. Mr. Gillespie has been in the milk business for a period of twenty-five years and in both the capacity of producer and latterly as a distributor. Mr. Gillespie agreed with Mr. Stonehouse that the recent attempts at price fixing was a farce. He also said he had spent thousands of dollars in a plant to pasteurise milk and make it safe for the consumer. To secure the pasteurization of milk, Toronto had spent thousands of dollars to force what Mr. Gillespie had inaugurated voluntarily in Peterborough.

Unfair Competition.

In this effort he was forced to compete against raw milk which did not cost as much to produce. Mr. Gillespie said he wanted to co-operate with the producer in every way possible. Speaking of the fluctuation in the amount of butter fat, he related instances occurring within the past few days in which he had delivered to his plant milk ranging in butter fat from 2.9 to 5.1. "The low man," said Mr. Gillespie, gets just as much money for his milk as the high man. I am strongly in favour of paying for milk on a basis of butter fat. Last winter it cost me from five to fifteen dollars a day to build up the milk to a standard of 3.25. A can of milk sent to Toronto a few days ago testing lower than 3.25 was shipped back to the producer. They expect me to take the poor milk and pay the same as for good milk."



DISCUSS KAISER'S TRIAL.

British Said to be Insisting on It, While Other Allies Weaken.

LONDON.—The Daily News lobby correspondent, referring to the visit of English law officers to Paris and the discussion there of the projected trial of the ex-Kaiser, says it is believed that Great Britain is pressing for handing over the ex-Kaiser for trial in London but that certain differences of opinion among the Allies exist on the subject.

The Daily Express lobby correspondent writes similarly, declaring there has been for some time a distinct weakening on the part of certain Allied Powers regarding the trial of the ex-Kaiser, while Great Britain is taking a strong line in favour of effect being given to the treaty in this respect.

PULL ELEPHANT'S TOOTH BY JERK OF LONG ROPE

It does not require much imagination to realize that pulling an elephant's tooth is something of an engineering as well as a dental job.

An example of this was when Albert, one of the biggest elephants in the Ringling herd at New York, had refused to eat, and the circus veterinary found a great tooth cavity which was beyond remedy by filling.

The tooth that was giving Albert so much discomfort was as large as a man's fist. After a liberal dose of cocaine had been injected, forceps as big as ice tongs were clamped to the tooth, a rope attached to the forceps, and a squad of trainers made ready to supply the pulling power.

At a given signal the trainers gave a tremendous pull, and out came the huge tooth.

In this sort of dental work the unknown quantity lies in what the elephant will do. Albert had been taken out of the menagerie to prevent panic among the rest of the herd in case he developed an inclination to object to the process. However, he underwent the ordeal calmly, and as soon as his jaw was dressed he was conducted back to his stall.

Suffered With Boils Past Five Years

Boils are simply a breaking out of bad blood and anyone who has suffered from them knows how sick and miserable they make you feel. Just when you think you are cured of one another seems ready to take its place and prolong your misery. All the poulticing and lancing you can do will not get rid of them.

While the skin appears to be the cause of the irritation the real disease is rooted in the blood and to get rid of these painful pests it is necessary to get right at the seat of the trouble.

When the blood is purified, cleansed and vitalized by Burdock Blood Bitters, the boils will quickly disappear, you misery is at an end, and health and strength come back again.

Mr. Robert Johnson, Barkway, Ont., writes:—"I hav suffered very much, during the last five years from boils, having as many as five at once I tried different remedies without any relief. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters which I did and after taking just one bottle I have had no more boils."

A SIMPLE METHOD TO REMEDY RHEUMATISM

AGE DOES NOT INTERFERE IF TREATMENT IS PROPERLY FOLLOWED

Many persons contend that there is no sure remedy for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Neuritis, or their kindred diseases, but don't be biased: draw your own conclusions from the proof submitted.

Over two years ago, William Nesbitt, of 113 John St., Toronto, Ontario, was attacked by Rheumatism. Mr. Nesbitt was 53 years of age at the time and he feared the worst. After trying many remedies and prescriptions without obtaining relief he took a friend's advice and used Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules. Result—to-day Mr. Nesbitt says, "He hasn't lost a day's work since nor feels Rheumatism any more."

Mr. Nesbitt gives the entire credit for his recovery to T.R.C.'s. Profit by his experience. Try them.

Education Against Tobacco.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 20.—The policy of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union against tobacco will be one of education, not legislation, delegates attending the "Victory convention" asserted here. It was emphasized, however, that the action of the convention yesterday in voting down a resolution advocating an anti-tobacco legislative campaign, does not mean the union has relaxed in any way its fight against nicotine.

SALTS IF BACKACHY AND KIDNEYS HURT

Stop eating meat for a while if your Bladder is troubling you.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

SACRED HEART CHURCH PASSES TENTH MILESTONE

ANNIVERSARY WAS CELEBRATED YESTERDAY—TOTAL DEBT OF THE PARISH REDUCED FROM $89,500 TO $8,000 IN TEN YEARS—BISHOP O'BRIEN THANKED THE CONGREGATION FOR THEIR CO-OPERATION.

REVIEWED DECADE OF PROGRESS

The tenth anniversary of the opening and dedication of the church of the Sacred Heart was solemnly celebrated on Sunday by a general communion of nearly the entire congregation and also by pontifical high mass and vespers sung by His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, the first pastor of the church from which he was called to the episcopacy succeeding the late Bishop O'Connor. Rev. Thos. O'Donnell, president of the Catholic church extension society preached the sermon at Vespers and Bishop O'Brien addressed a large congregation at high mass, reviewing the progress of the church during the ten years that have just ended, particularly emphasizing the demonstrated fact that a new church brings greater honor and glory to God and more love and happiness into the lives and homes of the people. In this connection His Lordship incidentally referred to the growing need of another church in the city intimating that he already anticipated further expansion.

"I rejoice with you to-day and congratulate you upon the tenth anniversary if this beautiful church", said Bishop O'Brien, "Ten years ago almost to the day, November 21st., this church was opened and blessed by the late Bishop O'Connor. We can scarcely realize that ten years have come and gone, that about one-third of the average age of men has passed away since this church was opened. That event marked the beginning of a new era of Catholicity in this city Previous to that there was only one church, the cathedral. Many of the people had to walk a long distance and mass on week days for most of them was out of the question. If you could go to communion now and then you were doing well. You had no opportunity of visiting our Lord except on Sundays. You were simply on the confines of Catholicity, so to speak. Now God's glories are sung in your midst day after day and you have opportunities you did not enjoy ten years ago. God is now dwelling in your midst, Jesus Christ is one of your neighbours. He is at the very doors of the great majority of you and thanks be to God you have not been slow to make use of your opportunities. During my four years here I observed that the good members became better, the tepid became warm and good and the careless, responding to the gentle mercy of God, became members of this church."

Has Traditions Now

Bishop O'Brien recalled the beginnings of the church and parish of the Sacred Heart, how the people had assisted in a financial way and availed themselves of the church in their midst. The first Friday devotions had been built up. "If this devotion to the Sacred Heart is what it is, it is because of the proposal of a pious member of this parish that the church of the Sacred Heart should lead in devotion to the Sacred Heart. So this devotion took root", His Lordship continued. "It grew, and showed its influence at the Cathedral and it is growing in the church of the Immaculate Conception. It is a pleasure to recall the numbers who made the stations of the Cross and who received Holy Communion, and how you encouraged your children by word and by example to receive communion. And it was not only the women who used to crowd the church on first Fridays, but often the men outnumbered them. I hope this blessed tradition shall continue. Ten years ago you had no traditions. This was a new church, and everything about it was new. You had nothing to go by then, how you have traditions, and, thanks be to God, beautiful traditions after ten years' existence as a parish."

An Example to Others.

Bishop O'Brien spoke of the example that had been given to those who had moved into the parish. All the graces and blessings God had bestowed would never be known, nor the glory given to God from one more centre of worship in the city. It should be the ambition of every Catholic to co-operate in building a new house for the worship of Almighty God, even though it might not be absolutely necessary. In the old countries people who loved God because He was God, built only beautiful parish churches, but also scattered chapels in His honour throughout their cities.

"This church has contributed to the honour and glory of God", said His Lordship, "and all those who contributed to it must rejoice to-day that the knowledge of God that has been given to your children here, also in the sacraments received and masses offered up. It must be a joy to every one of you, even as it is to me to co-operate in your joy.

For Salvation of Souls

There are two reasons, then, why we should be anxious to see the Catholic church multiplied. In the first place for the honour and glory of God, and secondly to multiply the salvation of souls. It had been proved here that the more the church multiplied the more the salvation of souls multiplied. Since the formation of the parish of the Sacred Heart and the opening of the church there were more communions at the Cathedral than there were ten years ago, the financial state of the Cathedral had not suffered and the church was as well filled at the three Sunday masses as when ten years ago there was only the one parent church. "What had been and can be done here for God's honour and glory is the net result of building this church" said Bishop O'Brien affirming that the same was true of the church of the Immaculate Conception erected five years ago. "If there were another church and I have in my mind's eye another church I assure you that in the same way it would bring greater blessings to the people and honour and glory to God."

Debt Seemed Hopeless

Ten years ago the debt seemed stupendous, and in view of the cost it seemed folly to undertake the founding of the parish. When it was first thought of in 1907 Bishop O'Connor set aside the Sunday collections at the Cathedral for the building fund. In the years 1908 and 1909 this plan of financing was continued. The church of the Sacred Heart was begun in 1908 and when completed on November 21st., 1909, it had cost up to that date $68,627.02. On January 1st., 1910, five weeks after the opening, there was paid off as a result of the assistance from the Cathedral $32,641 ,of which $1,500 was raised by the new parish in those weeks.

One of the Finest in Province

This left a net debt of $36,000. Since the opening of the Church improvements and addition had been made until it was now one of the finest church properties in the province. The lot east of the church was bought, a new organ installed, the basement was fixed up and a splendid fence built. These additions had raised the total expenditure in the parish to $81,007.02, Although the old debt of $10,000 remained on the Sacred Heart school, only $500 of the cost of its enlargement remained unpaid and another $500 balance on St. Joseph's school in Otonnabee. Thus all that remained of the total debt of $89,500 was about $8,000.

"We are told that the dollar is only worth 43 cents", said Bishop O'Brien "If that is the case you have a plant, to use that term, valued at $150,000 at the least. I am sure that the work couldn't be done now for $150,000. All this has been accomplished by the late Bishop O'Connor's system of giving help from the parent parish. As you had helped in building up the Cathedral, so in turn the Cathedral helped you for five years, three years before and two years after this church was opened. You have seen the results of the Cathedral, and I trust that if ever a new parish is formed that you will assist it as generously as you were assisted."

$8,000 Debt Remains.

Referring to the financial details of the Sacred Heart parish, Bishop O'Brien recalled that the net debt on January at 1910 was $36,000. The improvements cost another $12,320 and the two schools $7,000, making a toeal of $55,380. Within the same period $47,380 was paid off thereby reducing the debt to practically $8,000. The people of the parish had wiped out their debt since January 1st 1910 at the rate of approximately $4,700 a year.

Grateful for Co-operation

"This accomplishment is worthy of every commendation", Bishop O'Brien remarked, "and I am grateful to you for the co-operation you gave me and also to Father O'Brien during his tenure, I am very sorry that he can't be with you to-day. He will have to undergo an operation on his throat at the hospital to-morrow."

His Lordship referred to the method of envelope collection which had been largely helpful in paying off the debt. After the envelope plan had been started the collection increased on the first Sunday in January 1911 from $38 to $76.80. That contribution had been kept up and enlarged. The annual social had been invariably successful, not only in the social life of the parish but also as a financial aid. The system of borrowing from the members of the parish was begun in 1913, and whatever debt the diocese owed was to the members of the diocese. Canada was borrowing from its own people on the same plan. That was exactly the system followed by the Episcopal Corporation which repaid loans on demand.

The Seminary Fund.

Speaking of the seminary collection, which he inaugurated, Bishop O'Brien said that six years ago there was not one student from the diocese in the seminary. To-day there were twenty-three young men in St. Michael's college, not all of whom were preparing for the priesthood, and eight or nine at St. Augustine's seminary. The object of the seminary fund was to help worthy young men who had not the means to pay for their course at college. "During the last five years it was heart breaking to realize how short of priests we were", said His Lordship. "You have had one young man ordained for the priesthood, and I hope you will many others. There are others too who might be priests if they would listen to the voice of God. It is the hope of every Catholic family to give one son to God and to the church. Therefore encourage vocations for the priesthood. And our young women also, there should be more of them going to Mount St. Joseph to carry on the splendid work of our schools, hospitals and institutions for the orphans, the poor and aged."

Missionary Work.

Bishop O'Brien also discussed the Church Extension collection which had been begun throughout the diocese. The missionaries in the northwest would have to be assisted or they would be forced to leave the field. The new settlers lacked the means and advantages provided in the east, and the west was so impregnated with materialism, socialism and agnosticism that there was a danger of Catholics being led astray. The early history of the Catholic church just as the early history of America was the history of the church. In this connection Bishop O'Brien mentioned Bishop Tache, Father Lacombe and other early missionaries. The Extension society was formed to assist the Catholics of western Canada until they were self-sustaining.

Speaking to the young people, Bishop O'Brien said there should be more marriages in the parish. He hoped the young people would take the resolution to live in the state for which God intended them, if not called to the religious life, then in the married state. The old families hadn't much means in the beginning but they were comfortable to-day. They were blessed in a temporal as well as in a spiritual way." I hope that the young men and women will realize their duty and embrace the married state at the proper age", His Lordship said. In conclusion, he was mindful of the missing faces of those who were now in God's kingdom. The anniversary however, should strike a triumphant note recognizing that the church of the Sacred Heart had made it possible for the departed members to attend mass regularly, to receive the sacraments more frequently and otherwise to work out their salvation.

VANITY BOXES

Recently evacuations in Italy have unearthed many toilet articles used by women of the Etruscan period, long before the Romans came into power. Among these are vanity boxes, very much like those of the present time. These were carried on a slender chain that fastened to the girdle of the Etrurian belles, and contained sweet-scented pomades and other "beautifiers" with which they were accustomed to dab their classical faces from time to time.

One of the most interesting relics of this faraway day is a hand mirror, shaped exactly the same as those of our time. But instead of glass the Etrurian women were compelled to depend upon a surface of highly burnished copper for a glimpse of their loveliness.

Articles similar to those found in the Etruscan tombs have been discovered at various times in Egypt, Assyria, and elsewhere, but this recent find is a notable one because of the excellent state of the articles and their variety.

Pioneer Women of the Pen

By JEAN BLEWETT

(Christian Guardian)

It is Ike Walton, is it not, who says "Doubtless God might have made a better berry than the strawberry, but doubtless God never did." Applying this thought to the subject in hand, we say that doubtless God might have made a better human creature than a good woman, but doubtless God never did. Send me where you will—in to-day's race of progress, or in the fragrant mist and quiet of the forest home of yesterday, and you find a world infinately better because of her progress in it.

To me the paying of a tribute to our pioneer woman is a labor of love. They were the salt of the earth. A Canadian author writing in an American magazine of late heaped praise upon our women war-workers. "They are the descendants of the big-hearted women who settled our country," he said, "and who would have given quite as freely had they had it to give." They did have it to give. And they gave it. What did they give? To begin with a beauty of face and form which we who come after them have not yet succeeded in equalling. You may wonder that we speak of beauty first, but we love to think of them taking their wild rose coloring, their steadfast eyes, their sweetness and their shining into the far-away corners of a new world. Courage was theirs to give. And they gave it. Did they fear the silence of the great woods, the loneliness that seemed a presence in and about the log house in the clearing? Nay, they made friends of these things.

A trail that half the world may follow still
To homes of peace and prayer by vale and hill.

They gave comradeship. And comradeship was needed in the big lone spaces. In the little house they stayed, but their blithe spirit went with their men folks to the clearing away of the trees, the brush burning, the breaking of the soil. They were real momemakers. With them housekeeping hearts were indeed happiest. They stayed right there. There was no place else to go—big social gatherings, clubs, conventions, week-end visits, these were things unheard of. They made of the home a spot in which to train children in the way they should go. They knew in their loving wisdom that betweenthisearth and the city beautiful there was no other place where this training could be done so effectually.

There was a time when we gave this subject as title: "Women Pioneers in Canadian Literature." But wisdom comes with the years, and having been informed, many times and oft, that we have, so to speak, withdrawn our forces from the heights and encamped them in the valley under the modest banner, "Pioneer Women of the Pen."

As a proof that the sex has not been behind hand in all that concerns the progress of this country, we would mention the fact that the first Canadian novel was written by a woman. Almost as soon as the lilies of France gave place to the lion of St. George in the Citadel of Quebec, Mrs. Brookes, wife of the garrison chaplain, published a work entitled "The History of Emily Montague," and dedicated it to the new governor.

Susannah Moodie was among the first of our women writers. Lord Dufferin said of her: "In the foundation of Canadian literature this talented woman laid a stone of beauty."

That she was a writer of note who came to Canada is good, that she was one of six prodigies is better still. The foundation went on with activity. Her eldest sister, Elizabeth, was a magazine writer and editor. Agnes produced histories and novels. Jane Margaret, religious verse. Catherine (Mrs. Parr Traill) many botanical works and several novels. Susannah Moodie began by writing stories for children. In her early twenties two important (to her) events took place, the publication of her first book of poems, "Enthusiasm," and the meeting in London with Lieutenant Moodie of the 21st Fusiliers.

The story of this love affair, marriage and arrival in Canada, the settling upon a forest farm ten miles north of Peterborough, the hard work and harder times that followed all this would make interesting reading if we had but space for it. To deter other old-world people of their own class from following their lead and adventuring into a life for which they were quite unfitted, Mrs. Moodie published years later "Roughing It in the Bush." Besides her books, her serials and articles, this wonderful woman made a real home of "the house in the clearing." She took on herself the care of the seven children that blessed her union with Lieutenant Moodie—of these two died; one in infancy, the other, a bonnie boy of five, being drowned in the River Moira. In a London magazine she published several serials dealing with the life as she found it. We can well imagine how true to life were the pictures she drew, for she desired above all things that people should know what they were coming to when seeking the new world. But it is safe to say that what Mrs. Moodie set down as sober fact, was accepted by her old world readers as "delightful fiction." "Flora Lindsay," "Life in the Clearings," "Mark Huddlestone," "The Gold Worshippers," "Geoffrey Moncton," and "Dorothy Chance," were some of her books.

Catherine Parr Traill, sister of Mrs. Moodie, was the first of the six Strickland sisters to begin writing. Her father, Thomas Strickland, married twice. His first wife was a niece of Sir Isaac Newton, his second Elizabeth Hanover, who bore him six beautiful daughters, five of whom, as we have already chronicled, became well known authors. Catherine Parr Traill, nee Strickland, was born in 1802, and named after the last queen of Henry VIII. Writing of this item to a friend not long before her death, she said: "But a queen's name meant little or nothing to me, an I rebelled at spelling Catherine with a 'K.' In my youth all who loved me called me 'Katie.' The first and happiest years of my life were spent at 'Stowe House,' in that loveliest of lovely valleys, Waveney."

Of this happy period her clever sister, Sara, wrote: "The Katie as my father loved to call her, was the pet of the household. She was a fair, soft, blue-eyed little darling. My father loved her passionately. From her babyhood she always sat at his right hand, and no matter how irritable he might be from the gout, to which he was a martyr, he never spoke a cross word to 'the Katie.'"

"The Blind Highland Piper" was her first story. "The Young Emigrants" and "Sketch Book of a Naturalist" followed. She married Mr. Thomas Traill on May 13th, 1832, and sailed almost immediately, to make a home in Canada.

In her "Backwoods of Canada" Mrs. Traill pictures her arrival and her life for the first few months in the new land. This is her first Canadian book. Its circulation was wide. When the rebellion of 1837 broke out the husband, who was a half-pay officer, had to leave her alone.

"I said good-bye to my husband at dawn," writes Mrs. Traill, "and before night my maid left me—she had a lover, and must keep him home from the war. The man-servant had to follow to see after his people, so there I was alone in the bush with three small children. Jamie, the four-year-old, had to roll in the logs for the fire. This we managed to do until a neighbor came to help."

"Lost in the Backwoods" and "Afar in the Forest" were written about this time. "The Canadian Crusoes" was produced when the family had moved into the small log house on the shores of Rice Lake. After the purchase of "Oaklands," and the settling them, came the "Guide to Emigrants," which found a place in the "Library of Useful Knowledge."

The family now numbered nine, five girls and four boys. In 1857 the home was burned to the ground with its treasures of books, prints, and valuables. Mr. Traill's death soon followed.

In 1884 Mrs. Traill published her valuable work, "Studies of Plant Life in Canada," "Forest Trees and Wild Flowers of Canada."

She was a tireless worker, and she kept her youth till the end. On one occasion she said, with her rare, sweet smile, "I cannot understand the woman who cannot write a little volume without being threatened with nervous prostration. When I had written diligently for twenty-five years I kept my silver wedding with the pen. When I had written fifty I kept my golden wedding. At the end of seventy-five years of work I held my diamond jubilee, and cried in full faith:

"God's in His heaven; all's right with the world."

ENGINEER GIVES OUT THE FACTS

THOMAS JENNINGS MAKES AN ACTUAL GAIN OF SEVENTEEN POUNDS.

"The best proof that I can give that Tanlac was the right thing for me is the way it has relieved my suffering and built me up," said Thomas Jennings, the well known transfer engineer employed at the Rock Island railroad shops, living at 501 C Avenue, North, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, while discussing the medicine recently.

"At the time I began taking Tanlac," he continued, "I weighed only one hundred and twenty pounds, but I now balance the scales at one hundred and thirty seven, making an actual gain of seventeen pounds, all from the use of five bottles of the medicine. I was suffering from a bad case of stomach trouble and a general run down condition and the results of a severe spell of typhoid fever last fall. In fact for about two years I had been suffering from gas on my stomach and pains all through my head. I could not eat without suffering from indigestion afterwards and I had lost weight until I was almost a living skeleton. I had gotten to the spot where I could hardly keep going.

"Seeing Tanlac so highly endorsed I got a bottle and had not taken but a few doses until there was a decided change in my feelings. I have taken five bottles now and am simply feeling like a brand new man. My pains have all left me and I can eat just anything that I want without the least trouble with my stomach. I am feeling just fine and no one could see the wonderful change Tanlac has made in me and doubt it being a great medicine. If I ever need medicine again I will certainly get Tanlac for I know now what it will do. I am telling all my friends about it, and gladly recommend it to anyone who wants the best."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

MOTHER

By EDITH BURR

Are you sitting alone
On this your natal night,
All cosey from autumn's moan
In the glow of the firelight?
And is the fire a frame
For many a passing face
Now gone from worldly fame
To a happier biding place?
And as the fire grows dim
Do you feel a sorrow near?
It fills your cup to the brim,
Yet, oh! the sorrow is dear.
It left a touch on your face—
A tender shadow there;
As a bit of rare old lace
A gown makes wondrous fair.
May each birthday you live
But add another grace
To heart and soul, and give
Yet greater charm of face.
O fairest, full-blown rose,
With flagrante linger near—
The fondest flower that grows
To bless with joy each year!

BACK TO THE OLD TIME MAKES BETTER NERVES

"Now that we have returned to the old time, I want to tell you that we will have a people with better nerves," said a well-known doctor. "People got in the way of stealing that hour. They evaded nature's rule persistently in the belief that they were fooling old Father Time, when at the same time the only ones who were being hoodwinked were themselves. Many persons who were in the habit of going to bed at 11 o'clock at night would yawn when the clock's hands pointed to 11, remark that it really was only 10 o'clock 'by rights,' decide to use fully the hour that they believed was being stolen from them and wait up until it generally was after 12 when they got tucked between the sheets.

"In the morning, though, they had to settle up, as nature cannot be cheated so easily as humans. Feeling the lack of the hour's sleep to which they had been accustomed, the time evaders would be compelled to desert their comfortable beds.

"Some persons gain the erroneous impression that sleep can be carried over like figures in addition and substraction, such as by sleeping late on Sunday, once in a while they can make up for what they have lost. It takes something like a serious ailment to disabuse their minds of the idea. Losing sleep is like drawing on principle instead of interest in a bank. Its effects are felt in later life if not before.

"I know of some persons who are sleeping under the daises now that would be alive and well if they had not tried to put it over on nature on the sleeping game. Most of them were victims of influenza and pneumonia."

In conclusion the doctor said, with a twinkle in his eye:

"Those who will gain doubly are the wives of many of the victims of lost sleep. The latter have been having a battle every morning to get their husbands out of bed so that the men would not lose their jobs, and after they had performed the unpleasant duty they have had to stand such growls and accumulated peevishness that it was a relief to them when their better halves rushed to work after gulping what they could with the limited time they had left for eating after being late in rising."

STRANGE FIRE ON CHARLOTTE STREET

STOVE PIPE HOLE MISTAKEN FOR CHIMNEY HOLE.

Mistaking a stovepipe hole in the ceiling for a chimney hole, Mr. J. Bick, 108 1-2 Charlotte street, proceeded to instal his heater and set it in action yesterday at 6.45 o'clock p.m. In a very few moments, however, the attic over his apartment flooded with smoke, and neighbours, thinking the buildings was on fire, summoned the Department. Chief Grange was nonplussed on arrival as he could detect no fire, and the novel installation of the stove was beyond his reasoning powers. He decided a short circuit must have occurred in the attic, and cuting a hole through Mr. Bicks' ceiling, commenced a well rewarded investigation. Mr. Bick assured him that he had used the stove before, but not for so big a fire. Had, the Chief said, the fire been any larger and sparks allowed to fly, the whole building, which belongs to Mr. Harper, of Lakefield, would probably have gone.

SIMPLE AS A, B, C. TRY IT TO-NIGHT FOR YOUR NERVOUSNESS

Worn out, tired in the morning, you lack the energy and ambition to work as of old. This means nerve decay — nerves that are starved for the want of good, rich blood.

It's blood nourishment that vitalizes the nerves. Your blood is thin, weak, watery. It's filled with poisons that hang on because your kidneys don't filter properly.

See here, fix up your kidneys, put new life in your livers, and you'll feel like new in a short time.

To do this, you must use Dr. Hamilton's Pills, they make life look bright and pleasant because they restore harmony and vigour to the organs that need repair.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills warm the blood and fill it with nutriment that's bound to build you up, that's sure to lift your weakness, that invariably does make joyous, robust Good Health.

Think of it, youthful strength lots of nerve force, plenty of red blood surging through your veins isn't this reason enough for your using Dr. Hamilton's Pills? Sold in 25c. boxes by all dealers.

DERBY STAGED IN LOS ANGELES FOR TOM MOORE'S "LORD AND LADY ALGY"

The traditional days of the London Derby were revived in Los Angeles during the production of "Lord and Lady Algy," Tom Moore's newest picture to be shown at the Allen Theatre for three days, commencing to-day. With its array of dapper jockeys in their vari-coloured attire, the shouting grandstanders and the British aristocrats, the scene was one of the most lavish ever offered to the screen, and during its production, offered a series of thrills, ranging from the point where one jockey was thrown from his horse and nearly killed, to that where a magnificent horse broke his leg in leaping a low picket fence.

In staid Los Angeles horse-racing is a thing unthought of, and? bookmaking is prohibited. The jockeys, however, many of whom were recruited from the old Bay District track at San Francisco and from the Tia Juana course at Tia Juana, Mexico, while they were unable to ride a horse for a purse, nevertheless contracted a number of bets among themselves. Hence it was more than dangerous to be on a horse inasmuch as a rival or two were likely to dovetail their opponent, throwing him to the ground and severely injuring him.

During the finish of one of the races, with a score of riders tearing down the track in front of the camera one rider was suddenly seen to pull up on his horse, lose his balance in the saddle, and fall to the ground. His horse, frightened by the accident, tore ahead of the others, and shaking his head wildly, jumped a low fence at the edge of the track. On the other side was a pool of muddy water, in which the animal slipped ,breaking his leg. It had to be shot.

With a number of the best horses in California taking part in the scene, including mounts from the exclusive racing colony at Santa Barbara, Coronada, Belvedere, Piedmont, the race lacked none of the realism of the famous London Derby.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"GLORIANNA."

"Glorianna," the Cusing-Priml comedy with music, which was the Saturday attraction at the Grand, proved an unexpectedly enjoyable production. Local playgoers had heard little about the offering but on trial it revealed itself as meritorious as many other productions which came more widely heralded. The music having been written by Rudolf Friml, who gave us "Katinka," "High Jinks," and other successes, was naturally tuneful and bright, while the plot, taken from Mrs. Cushing's comedy, "A Widow by Proxy," afforded some laughtable complications. The title role was admirable taken by Miss Muriel Rastrick, well remembered as the winsome star of "The Bride Shop," last season. Miss Rastrick in addition to being a comedienne of ability, has a pleasing soprano that is well employed. She is ably assisted by Mr. Jimmie Guilfoyle, a clever comedian, who has also been here before and who is responsible for many a laugh. A number of specialties interpolated into the comedy, add to the enjoyment. Mr. Charles Weston contributed a couple of comic songs and recitations that go over well and Messrs. Simpson and Foley are responsible for some eccentric dancing that is above the average. Another clever dancer is Miss Marie Kennedy. The small chorus is pretty and well gowned, and altogether "Glorianna" is a bright little attraction.

Beginning to-night and continuing Tuesday and Wednesday, with daily matinees, the Grand will offer a remarkable double bill with D. W. Griffith's film master-piece, "Broken Blossoms," and the Hawaiin musicians, in the musical offering, "A Night in Honolulu."

Few People Know This

Large doses of pills for the liver are not as efficient as small doses.

The big dose purges its way through the system fast, but does not cleanse thoroughly.

The small dose (if right) acts gently on the liver, and gives it just the slight help it needs to do its own work, and do it well.

Take one pill regularly, until you know you are all right.

"THE LUCK OF THE NAVY"

"The Luck of the Navy," a dramatic success which has been running for nearly two years in London, and presented by the original London company, headed by Percy Hutchison, comes to the Grand on Saturday (matinee and evening), 6th December, under the management of F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest. "The Luck of the Navy" is a thrilling naval play, which was acted at four leading London theatres in succession. It enjoys the honour of having been commended by Queen Mary, who, with the Royal Family, witnessed a command performance given by Mr. Hutchison and his company last October.

The cast, all-English, is a notable one, and includes Miss Muriel Martin-Harvey, daughter of the well-known English actor. Mr. Hutchison is a leading actor-manager of London and well known as the nephew of the late Sir Charles Wyndham.

"LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD"

The one biggest event in Canadian theatricals this winter will be F. Stuart-Whyte's fourth annual importation of English pantomine, Red Riding Hood", which comes to the Grand for an engagement of two days commencing Monday December 1st with a matinee Tuesday.

Mr. Whyte's present company, which was assembled in England last summer, including some of the foremost pantomine artists of the English stage, who are now on their first visit to Canada, where they will be well remembertd by thousands of returned soldiers and others who have been in England during the past several years.

In addition to the two principals of the three preceding pantomines, Miss Zara Clinton, who plays "Boy Blue" and Mr. John V. Barrett-Lennard, who will be sen as "Old King Cole", there are Miss Dorothy Mackay, who will appear in the title role Mr. Johnny Osborne, the famous "dame", as "Mother Hubbard", and Mr. Will Hallett, the famoupa portrayer of animal characters from the Drury Lane.

As in Mr. Whyte's former pantomin e productions, the performance will be divided in two parts comprising eleven scenes in all. The first setting is that of the Village Blacksmith Shop, where the various characters, Boy Blue, Bo Peep, Red Riding Hood, Jack Horner, Tommy Tucker, Jack Stout, Marjorie Daw, Jack and Jill, Peter Piper, Old Mother Hubbard, Old King Cole, the Fairy Queen and Weird Wolf and introduced.

The action then shifts to Mother Hubbard's Cottage, and then to the Enchanted Forest, where the wonderful transformation scene from Autumn to Winter takes place. Here is staged the magnificent Ice Carnival, which brings the first half of the performance to a close.

The second parts opens up in a beautiful moonlight scene. Lover's Lane, whtre the moon becomes loquacious and tells of the many romances he has seen in this sylvan glade since time immemorial. Following this bit of fantasy the plot emerges at Grannie's Bedchamber, where the poor misguided Wolf mets his untimely end at the hands of the brave Woodchoper. This is followed by a fanciful song heaven, where the sweet melodies of yesteryear go after they are cast aside on this earth. Then comes a series of scenes showing how peace was celebrated in different quarters, and finally The Palace of the King of Hearts, where everybody is made happy and the pantomime comes to a close amid a veritable riot of gorgeousness and color.

"THE ROCKY ROAD TO DUBLIN"

"The Rocky Road to Dublin," which is to be presented by Barney Gilmore and his excellent company at the Grand Opera House on Saturday, matinee and evening, is a charming Irish play of laughs and thrills. There is a heart interest story of love between a young Irishman and a girl of aristocratic birth, and a scheming English nobleman, also in love with the girl. The lines are keen, bright, and witty, and the fun is clean and wholesome. "The Rocky Road to Dublin" is now in its tenth season of success, and affords Mr. Gilmore an opportunity to display his good humour, his ready Irish wit, and his vocal abilities. He is a natural Irishman above all things, and does not at any time attempt ridicule. During the action of the play Mr. Gilmore will sing "And She Sat in the Low Back Car," "Let's All Help the Irish Now," "I Loved you, Kate, in Ireland," and many other favourite songs.

An excellent supporting company, including Miss Helen Evily, surrounds Mr. Gilmore, and an enjoyable trip to Old Erin is assured every one who sees "The Rocky Road to Dublin."

SPORTING COMMENT

Johnny Dundee, the New York lightie, is out to beat Jack Britton's longevity record as a boxer.

Forty-five round boxing bouts are to be held at Sonora, Mexico, just across the line from Bisbee.

Quite a few wrestling critics are of the opinion that Joe Stecher, the Nebraska grappler, is in championship form.

Eddie Casey and Eddie Mahan, two of Harvard's football wonder workers, hail from the same town, Natick, Mass.

The major leagues closed early this season, but a large number of the big leagues kept right on playing through the month of October.

Football teams of St. Mark's and Groton, two of New England's best-known prep schools, have met annually for the past 30 years.

Tim Hendryx and Dixie Davis, stars of the Louisville Colonels, will most likely be pastiming in the big circuit next season.

Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champion, is in hard training at San Francisco with the expectation of re-entering the ring in the near future.

World's series games always have their goat as well as their star. Right now Claude Williams, the White Sox pitcher, seems to be the Angora.

According to James J. Corbett, ex-heavyweight champion, he is going to try a comeback at the age of sixty—and that birthday is seven years away.

The Naval Academy football team may stop off at Philadelphia to see the Penn-Cornell game on Thanksgiving Day, and then proceed to New York to meet the Army eleven two days later.

Western football followers would like to see a gridiron contest between the winner of the "Big Three"—Harvard, Yale and Princeton—and the champions of the Western conference.

It is now denied at New Haven that Yale and Pennsylvania will meet on the gridiron next Fall. It is now a quarter of a century or longer since football teams of these two universities came together.

Polly McLarry is to have another trial in the majors next season as a first baseman for the St. Louis Cardinals. He played a great game for the Binghamton International league team last season.

Little doubt that Champion Jack Dempsey's next big fight will be with the winner of the Jot Reckett-Georges Carpentier battle. But from all account neither the English nor the French champion is likely to bother the hard-hitting Dempsey a great deal.

MANY NEW CURLERS ALREADY APPLIED FOR MEMBERSHIP

LAST YEAR'S PLAYERS REMINDED OF TIME LIMIT ON DEC. 1ST.

The number of applications for membership already received by the Curling Club promises a bigger and busier season than ever when the frost comes to stay for the winter. The old members are reminded that their fees must be handed in before December 1st. Among the applicants are forty prospective new members, whose names will be put up for balloting in the regular way. From the present prospect the curlers will probably reach their limited membership weeks before the ice is ready for the first games. Everything promises a most successful season, beginning a usual on the first of December, when the rink will be re-opened. The committee of management has already gone over the list of curlers with a view to arranging the rinks as soon as possible and other preparatory details will be worked out at once.

Voice Of The People

Sir,—I notice in the city of Brantford and in some of the other towns that the Board of Health have taken up the question of the sanitary condition of the milk supply, and the facts set forth are truly appalling in the matter of the death rate among babies. Just a few items to verify this statement will be sufficient for the present:

For 1915, in Brantford, for every 1,000 children born—106 died.
For 1918, in Brantford, for every 1,000 children born—128 died.
For 1910, in Toronto, for every 1,000 children born—157 died.
For 1917, in Toronto, for every 1,000 children born—81 died.
For 1917, in Chicago, for every 1,000 children born—105 died.
For 1917, in Reading, Pa., for every 1,000 children born—203 died.
For 1917, in San Francisco, for every 1,000 children born—57 died.

In Brantford up to date, also in Toronto in 1910, in Reading, Pa., no supervision or very little was put in force, and there was only a limited supervision in Chicago. But in Toronto they have now a fairly good oversight, and note the difference in the death-rate of the little ones. In San Francisco they have a most perfect system, and no milk is allowed to be sold that is not sterilised.

What do our women's organisations think of this state of affairs?—Yours truly,

Publico.

FIXING THE PRICE OF MILK

Board of Commerce Says it Cannot Be Done.

To the Editor:—

For the benefit of those persons especially women, who for the want of somtthing better to talk about rant about the milk producers as profiteers I wish to commend the enclosed statement from the Board of Commerce, Ottawa. The price of feeds and labor is three and four times the pre-war prices and the price of milk is only about double which will give the above mentioned people something to figure out.

Yours truly.
Milk Producer.

OTTAWA, Nov. 21.—The Board of Commerce has issued the following statement:

"The Board of Commerce is in receipt of a number of applications on behalf of the various cities and towns objecting to the prevailing prices of milk and to recently-made raises in price.

"Being convinced that the present price level in various localities is the derect result of the high cost of millfeeds, concerning which a price-fixing jurisdiction has been conferred upon the Canadian Wheat Board the Board of Commerce caused application to be made to the Canadian Wheat Board for a reduction in the selling price of the millfeed in question. This application was refused.

"The Board of Commerce, which has no price-fixing jurisdiction, but instead, a profit-fixing jurisdiction, accordingly finds it necessary to state that it is unable to control the advancing price of milk and milk products, other than by way of supervision of profits of producers and distributors. In the opnion of the board, the affording of real relief lies in other hands. Indeed its efforts attempted on behalf of the consumer have ben resented, and its jurisdiction to concern itself with the matter of milling products, has been denied.

"Under the circumstances hereafter, whenever special application is made to the board for a review of the various profits of producers and distributors, the Board will, to the best of its ability, and as early as possible after the request, investigate and declare as to profits made, but it can assume no responsibility for the result when and if, after investigation is made, it finds itself unable to declare otherwise than that the profits charged are reasonable and just.

"There cannot be cheaper milk until the price of mill-feed, such as bran and shorts, is substantially reduced."
